IN POOR HEALTH, GOODRIDGE MAN TAKES OWN LIFE

J. P. Ferdinandson Leaves Note Saying He Dreaded Becoming Burden.

Found Hanging From Beam in Winton-Nichols Warehouse Last Friday Morning.

Was Father of Eleven, Nearly All of Whom Are Grown Up—Buried Here.

J. P. Ferdinandson, 57 years of age, manager of the Winton-Nichols company's lumber yard at Goodridge, committed suicide by hanging in the warehouse of his employers last Friday morning. The funeral was held yesterday forenoon, interment being in Greenwood cemetery in this city.

Ferdinandson left the house in the morning apparently in his usual condition, according to members of the family. He had been in poor health for more than a year and at times was inclined to be despondent over his inability to improve. Near the noon hour a son was sent to the warehouse for some purpose and came upon the body of his father hanging from a beam. He had thrown the rope over the support, climbed upon a pile of windows leaning against the wall and jumped off. When found one of his feet was barely touching the floor.

Leaves Large Family.

Ferdinandson was the father of 13 children, 11 of whom, together with the wife, survive him. The children are nearly all grown up and a number are residents of distant parts.

Ferdinandson had resided in Goodridge for about five years, being previously employed at the saw mill in this city. He was a man highly regarded by his employers and neighbors, all of whom sympthize deeply with the family in their sorrow.

PIONEER KILLED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Henry Norland, Well Known Here, Meets Death When Team Becomes Unmanageable.

One of the pioneers of Northwestern Minnesota passed away last week when Henry Norland was killed in a runaway accident near Rainy River. Mr. Nordlund had been at work clearing on his son's homestead and was on his way home when he met his death.

Deceased was one of the early settlers of this section of the state. He was general foreman for the Crookston Lumber company and was with the Shevlin companies for years, during which time he constructed three large mills for the latter company. He also constructed the large dam in Red Lake river near St. Hilaire and was one of the foremen on construction of the first paper mill at International Falls as well as on the Shevlin-Clarke mills at Fort Frances.

Mr. Norland served two terms as county commissioner of Polk county. When Red Lake county was set off from Polk Mr. Norland became the first sheriff of the county and served for two terms. He took a homestead in the Rainy River district in 1901 and lived there until he moved to Spooner in 1906. Since 1910 the family has lived on the Canadian side near Pinewood.

Senator Naplin to Speak On Issues of Campaign

Senator O. A. Naplin will speak on state issues at the school house in District 94, six miles west of St. Hilaire, Sunday, Oct. 17, at 2:30 p. m. The women voters are especially invited to be present as the meeting has been arranged by the Women's Nonpartisan club of Wylie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Satre, who had spent a brief period visiting with friends at Minneapolis, returned to their home at Roseau Monday morning.

HODGSON TALKS TO GOOD CROWD ON LIVE ISSUES

Democratic Candidate For Governor Makes Decidedly Favorable Impression Here.

Is in Favor of Adopting a Sensible and Reasonable Tonnage Tax Measure.

Mrs. H. A. Patterson Appeals to Women to Equip Selves For Their New Duties.

Laurence C. Hodgson, mayor of St. Paul, may not be elected governor of Minnesota on the second of November, but he convinced a large audience in this city Monday evening that a far greater mistake could easily be made. He is a captivating speaker and held his hearers at the auditorium interested to the very end of his discourse. State issues formed the principal subject for his remarks, but he also touched upon the national situation and the questions to be decided by the voters in the larger field.

Mr. Hodgson's speech was more along broad humanitarian lines than the general run of campaign addresses. He was sufficiently specific when discussing the prominent issues confronting the people at this time, but every now and then he would take his hearers on an excursion into fields having little to do with politics and prove that for all his hard-headed reasoning along these lines there is in his composition considerable of the poet and dreamer.

Favors Tonnage Tax.

Mr. Hodgson favors a tax on iron ore, but it is a somewhat different tax from that ordinarily advocated. He stated that the bill vetoed by Gov. Johnson was a very unsatisfactory measure and that it would never have stood the test of courts. He believes, however, that the iron mine owners should be forced to pay their just share of taxes and advocated the passage of a law providing for a levy on profits. All costs in any way connected with the production of iron ore should first be deducted from its total value, he said, and a tax collected on the profits. In this manner the owners of these profits, residing for the most part in Pittsburgh, New York and Chicago, would be forced to return to the state their just share of what has been taken out.

Square Deal For All.

Farmers of Minnesota must be given an opportunity to find a greater return for their investment of time and labor, said Mr. Hodgson. Too much is lost between the producer and consumer and systems must be devised that will provide more adequate return for the one and a lower ultimate cost for the other.

The speaker made a strong plea for more advance child welfare laws and also more stringent regulations against child labor. He said the people themselves were the state and not a few men elected to interpret and enforce the laws. Consequently the most important task confronting civilization at this time is the enactment of laws that will make people better and happier. The widows' pension bill is one of the measures in which he has deeply interested himself and pledged his continued support to that measure.

A better system of inculcating Americanism in our foreign population is one of the greatest needs at this time, said the speaker, and we are more vitally interested in the carrying out of this particular mission than in the outcome of the experiment now being tried out in Russia.

Favors League of Nations.

A discussion of the League of Nations was not possible in the time allotted to him, said Mr. Hodgson, and he referred to it but briefly. The claim that American boys would be sent across the sea to fight to uphold the contention of some other nation is, however, so palpably erroneous that it is strange any credence has been given it among thinking people, said Mr. Hodgson. He explained away the assertion that the United States would have but one vote where England has six, showing that each of the major countries signing the pact would have the same representation.

Appeals to Women.

Mrs. H. A. Patterson of Mankato, who preceded Mayor Hodgson, spoke to the women in the audience, urging them to give serious thought to the new duties confronting the sex now that the ballot has been won. She asked them to consider every phase of the questions now before the people as well as the records of men asking for their suffrages. She paid a fine tribute to the record of Governor Cox and held him up as a splendid example of progressive statesman. The greater part of her remarks, however, were devoid of party suggestion and were aimed at arousing in the women who heard her a desire to participate in the affairs of the country intelligently and patriotically.

Dr. G. A. Penney, who acted as chairman of the meeting, in introducing Mayor Hodgson, said that the Democrats refused to be led astray as they were two years ago and would stick to their own candidates, be the result what it would.

About 20 men and women prominent in local Democratic circles occupied the stage.

World's Series Games.

The Times, as usual, furnished dope on the world's series baseball games by telegraph and the result of each game was flashed on a bulletin board by innings. This service was greatly appreciated by the baseball fans of Thief River Falls, of whom there are a considerable number.

Another Fine Rain.

Summer weather still prevails in Northwestern Minnesota and on Tuesday this section was favored with a gentle, warm rain. The extra moisture is of great assistance to farmers who are doing their fall plowing and also increased materially the visible supply of soft water in cisterns.

American Legion Dance.

Elmer J. Eklund Post of the American Legion will be hosts this evening at a public dance to be given at the auditorium, Thief River Falls. Good music has been secured and everybody is invited to turn out and have a good time.

LOCAL BANKS PAY SOLDIER BONUSES

Will Advance Money at Once, Charging Nothing For the Accommodation.

Through the efforts of the local post of the American Legion, Pennington county returned service men will now be enabled to secure their bonus money from the state without any difficulty. Post officers have been informed by all bankers in the city that the latter stand willing to do anything in their power to help the men realize on their claims as early as possible. They therefore announce that they will pay the bonuses properly certified to, charging for the service $3.75 for each hundred dollars. This sum represents no profit to the bank as none of the bonds sold to raise the money is kept by them. These are again turned over to large buyers in the East who at the present time are not anxious to accumulate five per cent paper, even though it is backed by the state of Minnesota.

The proposition is open to all ex-service men in the county and the necessary blanks are obtainable from G. Howard Smith. Relatives and friends of soldiers or sailors who have left the county may secure blanks for the absentees by applying to Mr. Smith. They are requested to bring the applicant's bonus number when applying.

It is estimated that a total of $45,000 will be paid out in Pennington county for war bonuses. The state cannot take up all the claims at once and it may be some time before all are satisfied. In the meantime the interest received on the amount realized by taking advantage of the banks' offer will be greater than the discount asked by the banks for securing the money at once. There is no interest on delayed claims so the men will gain nothing by allowing the money coming to them to remain in the hands of the state.

This action is taken by the banks solely in the interest of the ex-service men. As a business proposition there is nothing about the proceeding that appeals very strongly to the financial man.

EDUCATORS TO HOLD MEETING NEXT WEEK

Busy Sessions to Be Held at Warren For Three Consecutive Days.

The teachers of Northwestern Minnesota will [illegible] at Warren on Oct. 21, 22 and [illegible] the annual sessions of the Northwestern Minnesota Educational association. Teachers' conventions assume an unusual importance this year. Educational ideas are changing very rapidly, the gist of change being the desire to make schools more practical. The convention at Warren will therefore be of unusual importance. A big attendance is planned for.

Some of the principal speakers will be Attorney Albert B. Chalkfield of Duluth, who has an extensive experience in Americanization work and who will use as his subject, "Americanization as a Process of Reciprocal Adjustment and the Role That the American Educator Plays in This Process." Dr. Everett Lesher of Minneapolis will speak on "The Heritage of the Pilgrim Fathers." The Pilgrims landed in America three hundred years ago and this will be a very timely topic. President O. M. Dickerson of the Moorhead Normal school will speak on Thur[illegible] afternoon.

The program will be full of very interesting things and this year's convention of the N. W. M. E. A. promises to be a hummer. Supt. W. A. Ziegler of the Thief River Falls schools is secretary-treasurer of the association.

Farmer Sells For $11,[illegible]90; Started Out With Nothing

Henry Nygaard and family leave Thief River Falls today for Richville, where Mr. Nygaard will go into the garage business, and with them goes $11,000, the proceeds of a sale of the family homestead near Grygla. He worked intelligently and improved his holdings until they were worth the above amount to some other man. Henry has done

EXPLAINS FULLY STATE PROGRAM FOR GOOD ROADS

Senator P. H. McGarry and Fred D. Sherman Hold Two Meetings in County.

Amendment No. 1 Provides Most Equitable Plan For Permanent Relief.

City Auto Owners Favorable Though They Part Greater Part of Cost.

Wet weather and heavy roads kept many people living in the country away from the good roads meeting held at the auditorium on Tuesday evening. The audience greatly appreciated the explanation of the purposes of the Babcock law, known as Amendment No. 1, given by Senator P. H. McGarry of Walker, father of the law, and Fred D. Sherman, former emmigration commissioner of the state. Mayor John Bratrud, who presided, said in introducing the speakers, that the message they had for the people was of greater importance than any other matter coming before the voters of this state at the next election.

Senator McGarry stated that the evident intention of the first road laws enacted in this state was to make the farming population stand all the cost of their construction. Under the constitution at this time it is almost impossible to get any road measure through unless its purpose is camouflaged. We can raise in the neighborhood of eight million dollars per year for roads under our present laws, but as matters now stand almost the entire amount will fall on the farmer and home owner.

Purpose of Amendment.

Amendment No. 1 would remove this danger from the small property owner and distribute the cost of road building among the owners of motor vehicles by the application of a tax graduated according to the horsepower of the vehicle employed. The average of such tax has been placed at approximately $18.

There are at the present time 320,000 motor vehicles in Minnesota and this will be increased by about 60,000 during the present year. This will provide about $7,200,000 for roads. Besides there will be the federal aid due the state and this will bring the total amount up to $10,000,000. No greater sum than this can possibly be expended in any one year, said Senator McGarry.

Laterals Will be Benefited.

It will be possible, said the speaker, to hand back to the counties all the moneys raised under the Dunn one mill tax in a short time and this money can then be employed in the construction and maintenance of the lateral roads. As the matter now stands all taxes collected under the Dunn law are applied to state roads, leaving counties and townships to maintain all side lines.

Bring in Settlers.

Mr. Sherman spoke briefly, his remarks being designed to call attention to the value of good roads as an advertising feature in securing settlers. The first thing any person looking for a place to locate wants to know is the condition of the roads in the neighborhood. With the program outlined for Minnesota the state could offer inducements such as are held out by no other state. Adoption of the amendment will mean an advance in farm values all over the state and the rapid development of the present waste places.

At the close of the addresses a number of questions were asked by those in the audience, Senator McGary explaining the points that have been obscure or misunderstood.

Meeting at Goodridge.

On Wednesday evening a rousing meeting was held at Goodridge. The school children formed a procession and at the head of an improvised band marched to the hall. Farmers from the eastern section of the county were present in large numbers and gave every indication of being enthusiastically in favor of the proposed plan.

The visit of Senator McGarry and Mr. Sherman has given Amendment No. 1 a decided boost in this section and it is perdicted that there will be a good majority for its adoption on Nov. 2.

Fifty Fine Lots to Be Sold at Auction Monday.

An unusual sale will take place on Saturday when the United States Real Estate and Development company, will dispose of 50 choice building lots in this city at public auction. The property to be sold was until recently owned by Olaf Tessum and is located on the Jefferson highway just north of the fair grounds. The plot has been surveyed, platted and divided into choice residence lots. Every lot will be sold and nothing held in reserve. There will be music by the band during the afternoon and one lot will be given away free during the sale.

This will afford an excellent opportunity for any person who wishes to secure a building lot either as a home site or an investment to secure same at his own price. There is considerable interest in the matter and a good crowd will no doubt be on hand.

THE TRUTH!
It takes real expert sales makers to bring a real sale to a satisfactory termination as far as the public is concerned. When other merchants who—by the way—try to copy our methods, but are unable to copy our results, have made a rank failure with sales companies, there must be something wrong. Furthermore the undersigned are NOT working on commission. Some concern deliberately tells a falsehood when it says: "We don't employ expert sales makers," etc., when it is a proven fact it had a sales conductor employed very lately and those merchants

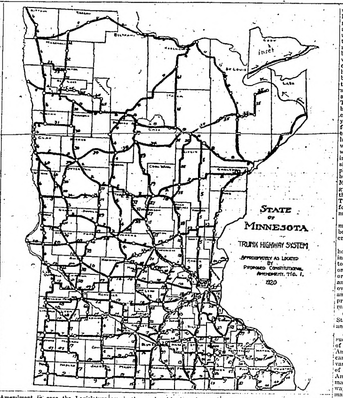
PURPOSES OF AMENDMENT NO. 1 MADE CLEAR IN PAMPHLET BY STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Explains Fully Every Detail of Proposition by System of Questions and Answers—Plan of Financing Made Clear—Map of Proposed Routes.



State of Minnesota
Trunk Highway System
Approximately as Located by Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1
1920

To The Citizens of Minnesota:

The Minnesota Highway Improvement Association, Inc., is an organization formed to do the publicity work, and to carry on a state-wide campaign in behalf of the pending Constitutional Amendment No. 1, known as the Babcock Road Plan.

The people of Minnesota have never been called upon to vote upon any question of greater importance and value to the entire state than that of Amendment No. 1.

We have now come to a time when the biggest question before the American people is that of "good roads." Every state in the Union is entering upon the construction of a far better class of roads than have heretofore been built. New inventions in travel and transportation have made it absolutely necessary that we change the character of road building for the highways of the states.

The Federal Government is appropriating $100,000,000 annually to be paid to the various states as Federal Aid in a national effort to encourage the states to enter immediately upon a nation-wide program for the substantial improvement of the road systems of the entire nation. Minnesota's share at this time in this annual appropriation is $2,600,000. But the Federal Government requires that the State of Minnesota expend a like amount in the building of good roads, otherwise the Federal Government refuses to turn over that vast sum of money to the State of Minnesota. If we do not meet the conditions of the Federal Aid law within two years, then Minnesota's share would revert to the Federal Government to be appropriated out to other states which do comply with and meet the conditions of the Federal law.

It is necessary that the people of Minnesota amend the Constitution so as to permit the state authorities to take advantage of and actually construct the roads duly selected to become the beneficiaries of Federal Aid. Under the Constitution of Minnesota at present, the highways are built and maintained by counties and local authorities. Amendment No. 1 authorizes the State of Minnesota to take over the main highways of the state and make of them a great State Trunk Highway System. The amendment also gives the Legislature authority to levy a special tax upon motor vehicles and thereby raise the money necessary to build and maintain such State Trunk Highway System.

The time has come when the State of Minnesota must do her part in building and maintaining roads. The burden has become too great for the counties and the townships. A new source of taxation simply had to be discovered in order to construct and maintain a road system which would meet the absolute demands of present-day travel and transportation. There are some roads in the State of Minnesota that are purely local or township roads and should be under the jurisdiction of the townships. There are other roads that may be properly described as county roads, and they should be under the jurisdiction of the county commissioners. Then there are other roads that may properly be designated as state roads, they are the main traveled highways of the state, they are the roads that bear the greatest burden of travel and transportation, and it is only proper that the entire state should construct and maintain those state roads.

Under our present Constitution, however, the State of Minnesota is not permitted to build roads, the State of Minnesota is not permitted to levy a special tax upon motor vehicles, or any other kind of property to pay for building and maintaining roads other than the one-mill tax. Any special tax levied by the state upon any kind of property other than the one-mill tax (which was secured by an amendment to the Constitution) would go into the general fund and not into a special road building fund.

Amendment No. 1, however, will give to the State of Minnesota full authority to build roads, to levy a special tax upon motor vehicles, and to pay for the building and maintaining of the duly selected state roads.

The following questions and answers cover the information desired by the average citizen to enable him to vote intelligently upon Amendment No. 1:

Q. When do we vote upon Amendment No. 1?

A. At the General Election, November, 2, 1920.

Q. Will the Amendment appear upon a separate ballot?

A. There are four amendments to be voted upon, entitled Amendment No. 1, Amendment No. 2, Amendment No. 3, and Amendment No. 4. These amendments are all printed on a separate pink ballot. Amendment No. 1 will read as follows:

"Amendment to Constitution by adding thereto a new article, to be known as Article 16, for creating a trunk highway system; authorizing the taxation of motor vehicles to create a fund for the construction and improvement of the same; authorizing the enactment of laws providing for the issuance of the bonds of the state, and the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds.

Yes .... No. ...."

Q. Does the Amendment to the Constitution designate the routes that are to be taken over by the State and made into durable, hard-surfaced roads?

A. The Amendment designates 70 different routes aggregating nearly 7,000 miles of roads.

Q. Are such roads a part of the general road system of Minnesota today?

A. The duly selected roads are the present main highway roads throughout the State of Minnesota.

Q. Will those roads connect up the main cities, towns, and villages of the State?

A. Those nearly 7,000 miles of selected roads intended for a State Trunk Highway System will connect up the principal cities, towns and villages of the State, thereby affording such centers of population and intervening and adjacent communities a reasonable means of communication each with the other and other places within the State. A map showing the designated roads has been prepared and a copy thereof is printed in this issue.

Q. Who introduced the law providing for this Amendment?

A. It was introduced in the Senate at the last regular session of the Legislature by Senator P. H. McGarry of Cass County, and in the House by Oscar Swenson of Nicollet County. It was approved February 21, 1919.

Q. What was the sentiment of the members of the Legislature in regard to this Amendment to the Constitution?

A. The McGarry Bill was passed in the Senate by practically a unanimous vote. In the House it was slightly amended and passed by a vote of 118 for to only 7 against. As amended it was repassed in the Senate by a vote of 58 for to only 3 against.

Q. Does Amendment No. 1 require the issuance of bonds? If so, in what amounts?

A. The Amendment permits the state to issue bonds to the amount of Ten Million Dollars annually. Any legislature, therefore, could provide for a bond issue not to exceed Twenty Million Dollars. Each succeeding legislature could likewise provide for a similar issue. Thus bonds might be issued by legislatures indefinitely, provided that at no time are there more than Seventy-five Million Dollars of outstanding, or unpaid bonds. In other words, the Amendment permits continuous road building and maintenance, through bond issues, requiring only that the liquidation of the bonds shall never be more than Seventy-five Million Dollars behind the total issue.

Q. Why would it be necessary or even advisable to issue bonds at all, if the present number of motor vehicles will produce a Road Fund above Five Million Dollars annually, with the seeming certainty that it will rapidly increase to Six Million, then Seven Million, and even up to Ten Million Dollars?

A. Those who have given most careful consideration to Amendment No. 1 agree that, in all probability, there need be no issue of bonds. They believe the motor vehicle tax would provide all the funds that would be needed or that could be judiciously expended in road building,—especially during these times when there is a scarcity of both labor and materials for road building purposes. It might be advisable to issue a small amount of bonds to repay those already issued by the counties, as provided in the Amendment. The entire matter of bonds, or no bonds, will be placed with the respective legislatures.

Q. Did the representatives of the people by such nearly unanimous vote express the wishes of their constituents?

A. So far as the opinions of the people of Minnesota can be learned there is practically no opposition to the passage of Amendment No. 1; on the contrary, public sentiment generally is in favor of the Amendment.

Q. Will the building of those 7,000 miles of hard-surfaced roads increase the taxes upon property in Minnesota?

A. The taxes will not be increased upon any property other than that of motor vehicles. Section 3 of the Amendment provides that the Legislature may provide for a special tax upon all motor vehicles, and that the money thus secured shall constitute a special road building fund, to be expended only in the construction and maintenance of the roads designated in the constitutional amendment, or upon such additional roads as may later become a part of the designated State Trunk Highway System.

Q. What will be the average annual tax upon motor vehicles necessary to provide the funds with which to construct those 7,000 miles of durable, hard-surfaced roads?

A. It has been carefully estimated that the average annual tax will be about $18.00 per car. That, however, is a matter for the Legislature to decide after they are given authority under the constitutional amendment to levy such tax at all.

Q. What is the number of motor vehicles in the State of Minnesota at the present time upon which such tax could be imposed?

A. The official records of the State of Minnesota show that there were 208,689 motor vehicles in the State on the first of April, 1919, and 268,094 on the first of April, 1920, an increase of 59,405 automobiles in one year.

Q. What will be a fair annual increase in the number of such motor vehicles?

A. It is fair to presume that the annual increase will be at least 50,000 cars.

Q. What average number of motor vehicles is taken into consideration in making calculations that an $18.00 average tax will be sufficient to liquidate the bonds and interest thereon as provided for under the Amendment in case the Legislature should decide it advisable to issue any bonds?

A. An average of 300,000 motor vehicles has been used as a basis for such computation. Such number of cars would bring in an annual income into the road building fund of $5,400,000, which would be a sufficient sum to retire within 30 years at the rate of $10,000,000 annually for a period of 10 years, and leave a surplus of more than $20,000,000.

Q. Will the Amendment permit the extension of the designated State Trunk Highway System?

A. The Amendment expressly makes provision for such extension to meet the reasonably expected demands of the State within a few years' time.

Q. What would be the result if there should be a greater increase in the number of motor vehicles?

A. No one at the present time can foretell just how rapidly the number of motor vehicles will increase in the State of Minnesota. There are those who believe that such vehicles will more than double the present number within the next few years. However, such increase would simply enable the state to liquidate the bonded indebtedness within a shorter period of time, to accumulate a proportionately larger surplus, or to increase materially the mileage of the State Trunk Highway System.

A new automobile is completed every few seconds of every working day in the year. A new auto truck is completed every few minutes of every working day of the year. The factories cannot meet the demand for automobiles and auto trucks. At present they are more than three million cars behind in filling orders. These cars and trucks are largely taking over the work heretofore performed by millions of horses, and there will be a demand for increased production until it is fully met. It is very reasonable that Minnesota should have not less than 750,000 licensed motor vehicles within the next ten years. A small average annual tax upon such number of cars will provide means for building in Minnesota just the sort of highways we shall need for travel and transportation purposes.

Q. Could the surplus moneys be used to build or construct roads other than those designated as part of the State Trunk Highway System?

A. No. The road building fund could be used only for the purpose of building durable, permanent roads, all of which would have to be first designated and made a part of the State Trunk Highway System.

Q. Would any of the moneys raised by Township and County levies and by State Aid, be used in the construction or maintenance of the State Trunk Highway System?

A. Not a dollar of the moneys as now raised by State Aid, County and Township levies could be used in the building, or in the upkeep of the designated State Trunk Highway System.

Q. What is the amount of money received annually from such State Aid, County and Township levies?

A. For the past two years it averaged nearly $15,000,000 for each year.

Q. What would this money be used for?

A. Exclusively in the building and upkeep of county and local roads. Such fund would be sufficient to construct an average of more than 2,000 miles of first-class graveled highway every year. The towns and villages which are not in the Trunk Highway System would speedily obtain first-class graveled highways leading therefrom to one or more of the Trunk Highway roads. Therefore, within a very short time every village and town in the State of Minnesota would either be located upon the State Highway System, or upon a good graveled road, thus affording them and also their adjacent communities a reasonable means of communication each with the other and other places within the state.

Q. What part of the moneys obtained from Township and County levies and State Aid, has been used in the construction and upkeep of the main highway roads, which, under the Amendment, would be taken over by the State?

A. It has been estimated that from 65 per cent to as much as 80 per cent of all the moneys raised heretofore in the State of Minnesota by Township and County levies and from the State Aid Fund, has actually been expended upon the roads that would be taken over by the State of Minnesota under Amendment No. 1 and made into the State Trunk Highway System.

Q. Would not, therefore, Amendment No. 1 enable the counties and local authorities to very greatly and rapidly extend good roads in other parts of the State.

A. Most assuredly. The local and county authorities, after the passage of Amendment No. 1, would have all this vast amount of money to spend on local roads. It would enable the county road building authorities to lay out, construct, improve, and maintain, at least five times as much additional road mileage as they can do under the present system of road building.

Q. Are not a number of counties building, permanent, hard-surfaced roads at the present time under the direction of the State Highway Commissioner, to be paid for by the counties themselves and are not such county improvements a part of the designated State Trunk Highway System?

A. A number of the counties are building sections of the proposed State Trunk Highway System under the direction of the State Highway Commissioner and in strict conformity to what would be required in road building after the adoption of Amendment No. 1. Those counties have been bonded to raise the necessary funds. They have taken such step anticipating the passage of Amendment No. 1, which provides for the repayment to the counties of all the moneys raised and expended by them in building sections of the proposed State Trunk Highway System. Such action on the part of the counties enables the state in this indirect way to enter at once upon the construction of the proposed State Trunk Highway System and also to obtain Minnesota's share of the Federal Aid which is given to those states that expend a like amount of money in durable, permanent road building.

Q. Are automobile owners in favor of Amendment No. 1?

A. Judging from the activities of automobile owners as expressed through their automobile associations and automobile clubs, and by individuals who own a number of automobiles, also from those who own and operate automobile trucks, they are among the most enthusiastic supporters of Amendment No. 1.

Q. Why are automobile owners, anxious and willing to be taxed to pay for building nearly 7,000 miles of durable, hard-surfaced roads?

A. Experts in all lines of automobile activities have made careful estimates of the cost in wear and tear of automobiles, in the consumption of gas, oil, and tires, and in the time required in travel; (a) upon durable, hard-surfaced roads (b) upon graveled roads; (c) upon dirt roads (d) and upon poor roads. These experts find that durable, hard-surfaced roads will save the automobile owners at least three times as much as it will cost them to build and maintain such roads. Therefore, automobile owners only ask that we pass Amendment No. 1 in order that they may be permitted the privilege of paying for these designated 7,000 miles of main traveled highways. Motor vehicle owners realize that they have created the demand for durable, hard-surfaced roads and agree that the creator of a demand should bear the entire cost of the thing demanded.

Q. If therefore the automobile owners are willing to pay for 7,000 miles of hard-surfaced roads, and people who do not own automobiles will not be taxed at all for such construction and maintenance, who is, or who can be against the Amendment?

A. It is not expected that many persons will actually vote against Amendment No. 1. There is no organized opposition to the Amendment, But the history of all past attempts to amend the Constitution of Minnesota has shown that a majority of the voters do not vote at all upon amendments. It has always been necessary to wage a great publicity campaign to obtain the most necessary or desirable amendments to our Constitution. Every person who does not actually vote for the Amendment, and every person who does not vote at all upon the amendment, is counted as voting against it. To illustrate: Suppose there are 400,000 votes cast on November 2, 1920, in the State of Minnesota. To pass Amendment No. 1, at least 200,001 votes must actually be cast in favor of Amendment No. 1 to secure its adoption, even though not a single vote be cast against it. In other words, the Amendment can be adopted only by a majority of all the voters in Minnesota actually voting "Yes" upon the Amendment.

Q. What is the attitude of the farmers of Minnesota on Amendment No. 1?

A. Highly favorable. Good roads are more vitally essential and profitable to farmers than to any other class of people. Good roads passing through or near a farming community at once adds greatly to the value of the farm lands; it makes such community readily and cheaply accessible to markets, it brings it in touch with the interests and institutions of the villages, towns, or cities near by. The up-to-date, progressive farmers of Minnesota are therefore in favor of Amendment No. 1, and a very large majority of them are most active in securing its adoption.

Q. Will the farmers who live at some distance from this proposed State Trunk Highway be in favor of the Amendment?

A. Every farmer in the State of Minnesota should be in favor of Amendment No. 1. Whether he lives on one of the proposed highways or ten miles or more away should make no difference in the matter, because good highways in any state increase the total value of all lands in the state. The fact that Amendment No. 1 will permit all the moneys received by township and county levies and from the State Aid to be used exclusively in building local and county roads, should make every farmer in Minnesota an enthusiastic worker in behalf of the amendment, because it will enable the local and county authorities to get roads to the more distant farming communities in much less time than under the present plan of road building.

The state roads will add greatly to the value of nearby farm lands, and such increased fund, as well as a larger State Aid fund under the one-mill tax, all of which will be devoted to extending the county and township roads. In other words, the farmers who are so greatly benefited by nearness to the state roads, will pay taxes on increased values to help pay for improved roads for all other farming communities.

Q. What is the attitude of labor on Amendment No. 1?

A. We have reason to believe that labor will endorse Amendment No. 1 at its forthcoming state convention in an enthusiastic manner. In fact, the Executive Council of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor at a recent meeting unanimously passed a resolution in favor of Amendment No. 1. Every laboring man in the state should be in favor of Amendment No. 1. Practically all of the money that will be expended in building the proposed State Trunk Highway System will go to labor in one form or another. Labor must grade the highways, labor must make the concrete, labor must prepare the sand and gravel; make the brick, the blocks, and such other material as may be used in the road structure, labor must transport all the material after they manufacture it; labor must actually build the highways. Labor, therefore, will receive practically all of the money expended in the building of the highways. A very small amount will be required to pay those who plan the roads, who supervise their construction, and who work and earn in any capacity other than that of labor. The additional demand made for labor in the building of these highways, extending over a period of many years, will prevent severe competition for work in the shops, mills, and factories. Where there is a dearth of labor, good wages must be paid; where there is a surplus of labor, wages go down. Therefore, labor is interested in every legitimate proposition that will give continuous employment at fair wages. No other business enterprise in the State of Minnesota can be looked upon with greater favor by the laboring classes than that of building a great State Trunk Highway System to be paid for and maintained by those who own motor vehicles.

Q. Is it not a fact that laboring men also in largely increasing numbers are becoming automobile owners?

A. It is a fact; and it is to be hoped that their numbers will rapidly increase, and that every man who toils, whether in shop or factory; upon public road building enterprises, or elsewhere, may become not only an owner of his own home, but an owner of an automobile, so that he and his family may enjoy the many privileges and advantages which good roads confer upon any people.

Q. Are the business men of the State in favor of Amendment No. 1, and if so, why?

A. We do not believe there is a successful business man in the State of Minnesota who is not in favor of Amendment No. 1. Any person who cannot comprehend the multifold advantages which will come to the State of Minnesota through the passage of Amendment No. 1, is not a business man. The true business man is always in favor of all enterprises which make for the upbuilding of a state, a city, a town, a village, or a community. The business man of today realizes that if he would express himself to his fellowman, it must be by means of service, unselfishly and enthusiastically rendered. The man who today lives selfishly within himself, who conceives that his ideas are the only ideas, that his family is the only family, that his children are the only children, that his generation is the only generation, that his ambitions and his concerns are the only concerns, that should or need interest him, is a most despicable representative of the human race. Happily, Minnesota does not contain many such persons among any class of her citizens, and therefore no organized effort against the great public good of Amendment No. 1 is likely to appear in our state.

Q. Will not the building of the State Trunk Highway System greatly increase the use of auto trucks?

A. Most decidedly. Auto trucks will become the short-haul freight cars of the state. Steam freight cars cannot possibly compete with them. The auto trucks can go where the steel cars cannot. On good roads the auto cars can travel at much less expense and carry ton for ton on short hauls much cheaper than freight cars can possibly do so. The auto truck will help solve the serious and pressing transportation problem in the State of Minnesota. It will put the farming communities into immediate and continuous touch with urban centers of population. It will therefore prove a blessing to the agricultural communities by giving them a market, almost at their doors, and it will bring the products of the farm quickly and cheaply to the dwellers of the cities and towns. The auto truck is to play a mighty important part in solving the great questions of production, transportation, and distribution. The day of a greatly extended steam transportation system has passed. We are entering an age of rapid, cheap, efficient, serviceable auto truck transportation, especially for state and local commerce. Greater efficiency and time saving demand the passage of Amendment No. 1.

Q. What is the attitude of the County Commissioners towards Amendment No. 1?

A. At a state-wide conference of county commissioners and county auditors, held in St. Paul April 8th, and in Minneapolis April 9, 1920, a conference which was attended by nearly 500 of those officials, and in which every county in the state was represented—a resolution in favor of Amendment No. 1 was adopted by an almost unanimous vote. The County Commissioners and the County Auditors are active in support of Amendment No. 1. The County Commissioners have charge of road building in their respective counties. They have never been given a fair opportunity either to build or to properly maintain the highways under their control, for lack of sufficient funds. They have been, too often, the subjects of unjust attack by some of their disappointed constituents, who expected good roads without ample funds. Under Amendment No. 1, the most expensive roads to build and maintain will be taken over by the state, and the County Commissioners, for the first time, will be given all the funds derived from township and county levies, and from the one-mill State Aid tax, with which they can enter upon the construction and improvement of the real county and township roads.

Q. Are those who represent the professions—teachers, doctors, lawyers, ministers, and others, in favor of Amendment No. 1?

A. We have yet to learn the name of a single member of any of those professions who is actively opposing Amendment No. 1.

Q. Is any policial party organization opposing Amendment No. 1?

A. No. On the contrary, the leading men of all political parties are actively supporting the Amendment.

Q. In a word, what is the one great purpose of Amendment No. 1?

A. It gives the people of Minnesota the right to enter upon the building of the kind of roads which the motor vehicles have made absolutely necessary—which must be built or Minnesota will become a laggard, a slacker state in the Union. However, Minnesotans may safely be trusted to do their duty in this matter as they have always done their full duty in the past. When you vote for Amendment No. 1, you are voting for a greater Minnesota. You are voting (in the words of Daniel Webster), to develop our resources, build up our institutions, promote our own great interests,—you are doing something worthy to be remembered.

Badly Scratched Up When Ford Car Makes Flip-Flop

Al. Severson, employed by the Model Steam laundry, turned over in the road near St. Hilaire Tuesday morning with a Ford delivery car. He sustained a few scratches and bruises but was fortunate in escaping serious injury. The car was somewhat smashed up, losing the windshield, a fender and a few other minor parts which go to make up a complete Tin Lizzy.

Severson was coming up behind a car driven by a young boy and was about to pass when the boy put out his hand to indicate that he intended to take a side road leading to a farm house. This forced Al. to make a sudden turn to the right to prevent a collision and the momentum of the car turned it completely over when this maneuver was attempted.

Sugar Beet Crop Now Being Harvested and Shipped Out

Farmers in the vicinity of Thief River Falls who raised sugar beets this year are now busy harvesting and shipping their crop. Wagon loads containing from two to three tons of beets each are coming to town thick and fast, weighed up and loaded into cars for shipment. Two carloads were sent out yesterday and it is estimated that the total crop for this vicinity will be about 15 carloads.

The success of this year's crop far exceeds all expectations and it is certain that next year a much larger acreage will be planted. An effort is being made by County Agent J. J. McCann to have 300 acres planted to beets in Pennington county next year.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Vocational Education.

The Bureau of Vocational Education reports that the Iowa State Board for Vocational Education, in addition to its part-time classes for painters and machinists, is now conducting part-time dull-season courses in agriculture in four counties at nineteen different centers. The classes are open to persons more than fourteen years of age, who are engaged in farming and who can-not take advantage of the regular vocational agricultural courses. They are in session five days a week for ten weeks. It is also noted in School that the packing companies of the Chicago stockyards are conducting educational work for the boys and girls of its office force. The school has the approval of the state educational authorities and is in part at least maintained by federal funds granted under the terms of the Federal Vocational act. The Chicago Board of Education, which is collaborating with the company in this educational work for its employees, provides two high school teachers to take charge of the instruction given. Rooms, equipment and supplies are given by the company. In New York State the State Federation of Labor is making efforts to bring trade apprenticeship within the scope of the recently enacted part-time school law of New York state, through definite apprenticeship agreements in each trade.

Part-time schools will be established in Minnesota by the next Legislature. Watch for further announcements of this new type of schools.

The Presidential Candidates on Education.

The Bureau of Education has made public statements made to the bureau, signed by Senator Harding, Governor Cox, Ex-Secretary Roosevelt, and Governor Coolidge. In his statement Senator Harding says:

"I think it is highly important that we contemplate the cause of education from the national viewpoint. I do not mean thereby that there shall be a national trespass upon the right of states in matters of education, but I do think it is exceedingly important to get the broader viewpoint of the nation. We have been making notable progress in coming to the realization of the importance of our public schools and are coming to a wholesome awakening about their need of more generous support. One can only feel amazement that we have been so tardy in coming to a realization of the scant consideration given to the teachers in the American public schools and we have been remiss in understanding the limitless possibilities of our public school work."

Governor Cox writes:

"We hear much these days about the work of reconstruction, and yet in the plans that are made for it we do not observe a vigilant attention to the very base of our whole civilization, the schools themselves. When we measure the service rendered by the schools we can not escape the belief that society is not making sufficient contribution for their support. In both city and country there is need of an entirely new plan of financial aid. Next to this it seems to me that your Congress ought to awaken such an interest as would set in motion a fixed purpose, nation-wide, of giving to every state a modern rural school code. If necessary, the federal government ought to interest itself in surveys where they are needed. We have evidence of an approaching crisis in the matter of food supply. We need more acreage under cultivation and more people in the country, and yet we must remember that the drift will continue toward the cities unless the children on the farm are given educational advantages similar to those in the cities. This is the solution. It has been demonstrated in Ohio, where more than 1,000 modern high schools have been built in the cornfields. From them the pupils go into our state university. As I understand it, you are dedicating your congress to the very necessary purpose of stirring the lay mind into an awakened appreciation of the help which must be given to our school system. It is one of the very vital needs of the hour."

Latest Educational Study.

(By Leonard P. Ayres.)

The state of Montana has the best all-round public school system in the United States, according to results of a comparative study of state school systems made public by the Russell Sage Foundation. The report assigns second place to the schools of California, third place to those of Arizona, fourth to New Jersey, and fifth to the state of Washington.

These findings are contained in a report by the Department of Education of the Foundation. The volume is entitled "An Index Number for State School Systems" and the author is Dr. Leonard P. Ayres, director of the Foundation's Department of Education.

Among the surprising results of the study is the fact that the school systems of our territorial possessions, such as Hawaii, the Canal Zone and Porto Rico, have higher ratings than those of many of the forty-eight states. That of Hawaii is better than those of the majority of American states. According to the tables of the report, the Hawaiian school system ranks just above that of Illinois and just below that of Nebraska. The schools of the Canal Zone are in twenty-eighth place, just below those of Kansas and above those of South Dakota. The schools of Porto Rico are in 42nd place, above those of Virginia and below those of West Virginia. Ten Southern states have records poorer than that of Porto Rico.

All the results are computed from

THIEF RIVER LADS ARE BADLY BEATEN

Crookston Football Squad Downs Locals in Exciting Game Here Sunday.

In an exciting battle staged at the fair grounds last Sunday, the local city football team was defeated by a like aggregation from Crookston. The score at the end of the game stood 26 to 0 in favor of the visiting team. There was a great deal of rag chewing throughout the game and one referee became disgusted and quit.

The Crookston lads are all former stars in high school and college athletics and proved too heavy and too fast for the locals. Perry Johnson of the Thief River Falls team played a brilliant game, and at one time made a long run which brought the ball to Crookston's 20-yard line, but a series of fumbles soon ruined Thief River's chance of scoring. Later in the game Johnson made another fine run but was stopped on the opposing team's 15-yard line.

LOAN MEN DECLARE THIEF RIVER O. K.

Officers of Northwestern Building Association of Fergus Falls Here on Visit.

Elmer E. Adams, president, and Robert Hannah, secretary, of the Northwestern Building association of Fergus Falls, paid Thief River Falls a visit last Saturday. The gentlemen were on their annual tour inspecting the loans of the association, which loans its funds in something like forty towns and villages in northern Minnesota. They make these annual tours not only to look over the loans, but to study conditions and ascertain the degree of prosperity in the various towns and villages.

Messrs. Adams and Hannah made a thorough survey of the city in company with H. S. Dahlen of the First and Peoples' State bank, who is their representative here and looks after their loans. They were very much pleased with the growth and prosperity of Thief River Falls, although they found it was very short of homes, and they believe if Thief River Falls is to continue to grow more homes must be built the coming year.

Mr. Adams stated that there had been a decided letting up in the building of homes in northern Minnesota during the past two years on account of the high cost of materials and the difficulty in getting the labor, but he says he thinks this situation is improving very rapidly. Materials have come down and he has been informed that cement, which has been so difficult to get this season, will be plentiful in the spring. While money in general has been scarce, the Northwestern Building association, on account of its monthly receipts, has ample supply and is in a position to take care of all who desire to borrow in Thief River Falls.

After making an inspection of the city, Mr. Adams and Mr. Hannah left for Mahnomen, Detroit and Fergus Falls.—adv.

COMPLETE LIST OF CANDIDATES FOR STATE JOBS

Secretary of State Schmahl Sends Complete Ballots to County Auditors.

New Farmer-Labor Party Fails to Have Electors Placed on State Ballot.

Two Women Candidates Are in Race to Compete With Men For Honors.

Minnesota's complete state ballot has been made up and samples are now in the hands of county auditors. It is no longer subject to change, either by withdrawal or addition of new names.

Voters in this state will have a choice among five presidential candidates at the November election. There are W. G. Harding, Republican; James M. Cox, Democrat; W. W. Cox, Industrial; Eugene V. Debs, Socialist, and Aaron S. Watkins, Prohibition.

Four For Governor.

Four candidates are in the field for governor of Minnesota. They are J. A. O. Preus, Republican; L. C. Hodgson, Democrat; [illegible] Olmpstead, Independent, and Peter J. Samson, Socialist.

Five candidates aspire for the position of lieutenant governor, as follows: Louis L. Collins, Republican; James P. McDonnell, Democrat; G. H. Hubbell, National; George H. Mallon, Independent, and Lillian Friedman, Socialist. The last named is one of the two women candidates on the state ticket; Lilly J. Anderson, Farmer-Labor candidate for secretary of state being the other.

Five For Secretary of State.

There are five candiates for secretary of state, although the Nonpartisan league has made no effort to get this office via the independent route. Those on the ballot are Mike Holm, Republican; Frank C. Burmaster, Democrat; Lily J. Anderson, Farmer-Labor; John M. Copeland, National, and J. H. Hirt, Socialist.

Four men are in the race for state treasurer, the following having signified their desire of being placed in charge of the state's strongbox: Henry Rines, Republican; John P. Wagner, Farmer-Labor; H. F. Leuders, Democrat; P. H. Phelps, Socialist.

The battle for the attorney generalship is a three-cornered fight, the principals being Clifford L. Hilton, Republican, the present incumbent; R. A. McGuat, Democrat, and Thomas V. Sullivan, Independent.

For Other Offices.

For railroad and warehouse commissioner O. P. B. Jacobson, Republican, is a candidate for re-election, in opposition to Ralph W. Robinson, Democrat, and Tom May, Socialist. Two men are to be voted upon for justice of the supreme court, these being placed on the ballot without party designation. They are Homer B. Dibell and George L. Siegel. The latter has the endorsement of the Nonpartisan league.

Minnesota voters desiring to support Parley P. Christensen, candidate of the Farmer-Labor party for president, will not have an opportunity to register their choice because of the fact that this list of electors was not filed with the secretary of state within the time limit prescribed by law.

STATE SEAL QUOTA IN QUARTER MILLION

Average of Ten Cents Expected From Every Inhabitant Before Next Christmas.

Minnesota's annual Christmas Seal Sale is on, organization of special committees to conduct the 1920 drive for funds with which to continue the fight against tuberculosis and other diseases being under way in every county in the state, it was announced recently by the Minnesota Public Health Association. The goal of the 1920 Christmas Seal Sale in this state is a $250,000 fund, each county concentrating its efforts upon selling at least 10 cents worth of the famous penny health seals or the equivalent in health bonds for every one of its residents.

Last year Minnesota invested approximately $160,000 in health through the purchase of Christmas Seals and Health Bonds, leading all states in the Mississippi Valley in per capita sales. This fund, spent chiefly through the county public health associations, is being used to educate the men, women and children of Minnesota in health needs and for actual preventive work.

"Disease never quits—Neither does Minnesota!" is the war-cry of the public health crusaders who are determined to surpass last year's record by obtaining the largest per capita sale of Christmas Seals of any state in the union. The intensive selling drive is from December 1 to 10.

More than half of the counties already have appointed seal sale directors and are completing their campaign organizations.

Federal Chief in Jail For Violation of Liquor Laws

R. B. Leady, recently appointed prohibition enforcement group chief for North Dakota, was arrested last Friday on a charge of violating the prohibition laws. He was placed in the Cass county jail by the United States marshal in default of $5,000 bail.

The charge preferred against Leady is "transporting intoxicating liquor in violation of the Federal prohibition laws and conspiracy to commit a crime against the Federal government."

Leady's arrest followed the arrest at Sioux Falls, S. D., of Theodore Musgjerd, who recently resigned from the North Dakota prohibition enforcement force, for alleged violation of the prohibition statute.

COUNTY ASKED TO HELP IN S. A. DRIVE

Quota For Pennington Placed at $2600 in Salvation Army Campaign.

County conventions of men and women who will assist in the raising of funds to enable the Salvation Army to continue its activities throughout Minnesota will be held during the next ten days. These gatherings are for the purpose of perfecting machinery to insure the raising of $268,050 from October 11th to 18th. The week will be known as Salvation Army Service Week.

Each county has been asked by the Advisory Boards to raise a certain sum. This money will be used for the various Salvation Army institutions, bureaus and departments; for statewide relief, for distress and for extending the service of the Army to all sections. Pennington county's apportionment has been set at $2,600.00.

The plan to raise a fund for the Salvation Army followed a convention of County Advisory Boards held in Minneapolis several weeks ago. The social and moral conditions of the state were discussed and the necessity of immediate action was pointed out. The delegates voted unanimously to use the facilities of the Salvation Army to bring about a change in conditions and to relieve distress.

What would your grandfather have though if you had [illegible] told him lispingly in 1876 that in 1920 women would vote because they could and men [illegible] up because they couldn't.—Pittsburg Sun.

Dairy Cattle Judging Team of Boys at Chicago

Two Hennepin county boys, Victor Anderson and Walter Nesbitt, both of Eden Prairie, and James Welch of Norwood are representing Minnesota among boy and girl club members from all over the country who are attending the big National Dairy show in Chicago. All their expenses are being paid by the Minnesota Livestock Breeders association which is cooperating with the agricultural extension division in carrying forward this work. These boys won their spurs in the annual dairy cattle judging contest for club members at University Farm. Roy Bodin of Cannon Falls, was fourth in the contest; Orvin Dale of Albert Lea, fifth; Clifton Smith of Cannon Falls, sixth; Elmore Morrison of Copas, seventh; Lester Coyle of Thief River Falls, eighth. The all around state livestock judging contest for boy and girl club workers will be Livestock Show at South St. Paul Nov. 17 to 19. Boys and girls from 22 counties—44 juniors in all—will take part in the judging of cattle, hogs, sheep and horses. The winning three will have their expenses paid to the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago November 27

Why is it necessary for so many, especially of the upper classmen, when not in the presence of the fairer ones, to indulge in the pastime of punctuating every statement with a flow of profanity? This is a question which has been revolving in our minds for a long time. Why this infamous, prehistoric practice among those who are known as the cream of human society, the college students? From experience and observations we know it is not an essential or even desirable trait of an athlete nor does it as far as our limited range of observation extends raise the individual or individuals in the eyes of their fellowmen.—Gustavian Weekly.

School Loyalty.

School loyalty is a student's love and respect of the school he attends. It is best shown by using his time as has been prescribed by conducting himself in a manner to please his teachers, and by being courteous to all. The effect on after life is very great. He will naturally be loyal to any man or firm for whom he works and others with whom he works and others with whom he comes in contact. His character will be strengthened to resist the temptations of life, and he will be honored and respected by all who know him.

Chapel.

Monday morning the students at the Lincoln high school had the privilege of hearing an address by Mayor Hodgson of St. Paul, who was in the city in the interests of his election to the governorship of the State of Minnesota.

Mr. Hodgson spoke interestingly on the great opportunities open to the younger generation during the reconstruction period which is following the great war. He scrupulously avoided politics, but said that it was not the government but each individual that will make this nation.

A Girls' Glee club was organized by the music instructor, Miss Johnson, Tuesday evening. About twenty-two girls were present, mostly Sophomores and Juniors. All the voices were tested and the regular work of the glee club will begin next week.

It is also Miss Johnson's intention to organize a Boys' Glee club and she hopes to have the work along this line begun as soon as possible. From the two clubs will be picked a mixed chorus.

Intelligence Tests.

Intelligence tests are being given to all students in the grades, from the first to the eighth inclusive.

The purpose of these intelligence tests is to grade the children according to their mentality. These same tests have been given to thousands of students previously and a certain standard has been set for each grade. A student is marked according to his class in school. An upper classman would be expected to answer the questions more intelligently than one below him. If a fourth grader can write as good a paper as the average fifth grader, he deserves, according to his mentality, to be put in that grade.

Superintendent Ziegler's plan is to divide each grade into two divisions, A and B. In this way a student will not be required to spend one whole year in one grade, if he is able to make it in less time. There will be two promotions during each year and if a student is not able to make one grade in a year, he might make it in one and a half years instead of spending two years in one grade. This method of grading students according to their mental development should prove to be a good plan.

Marshmallow Roasts.

One of the greatest all-school social events for the year took place Friday evening, Oct. 1, when the student body of the Lincoln high school, chaperoned by several members of the faculty, gathered at Squaw Point for a marshmallow roast.

Friday morning at chapel the Senior class president announced that the Seniors had planned a marshmallow roast in which the entire school was invited to take part. The class presidents all accepted the invitation on behalf of their respective classes and it was decided that all should meet at the high school at 7 o'clock.

At the appointed hour scattered groups of pleasure seekers began to arrive at the picnic grounds. Wood was gathered for five fires, and marshmallows were roasted until each one's appetite was satisfied. A number of upper classmen discovered a Freshman, and proceeded to "initiate" him. Freshman after Freshman was found and forced to "run the gauntlet," and few, if any, escaped. Games were played around the dying campfires until ten o'clock, when the happy, singing groups started for home.

The idea of a high school festival of this kind originated in 1917, but was dropped until the Senior class of 1921 took action. It is hoped that this annual festival will be held every year, as it will do a great deal towards developing school spirit, and school spirit is of far greater importance than class spirit.

Harold Leslin.

Harold Leslin, an eighteen year old member of the Sophomore class, died last week after about two months of sickness. He had first been taken to the local Physicians hospital but later sent to St. Paul, where he was at the time his death occurred. His home was near Goodridge, where he leaves parents, brothers and sisters to mourn his departure. The burial took place Tuesday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, Rev. Barackman officiating, and six of the local high school boys acting as pall bearers.

The Sophomore class extends its sympathy to parents, relatives and friends.

Bread Club.

Thursday evening at 7 o'clock the old members of the "Bread Club" entertained the new members at the Lincoln high school. Those present besides the members were, Miss Patrick, Miss Poppitz and Mr. Ziegler.

The evening was spent in singing and telling stories and a general good time was reported.

High School vs. Alumni.

Tuesday afternoon a football game was put on by the high school squad and the alumni.

The game itself was slow and tiresome but was extremely good practice and scrimmage for the high school squad. The alumni scored two touch-downs, which were all that were made, throughout the game. The final score was 12 to 0.

W. ROPER ON FOOTBALL A NATIONAL INSTITUTION

W. W. Roper, prominent Philadelphia lawyer and coach of Princeton, has written the following article on football as a national institution:

Gen. Leonard Wood told me last week that he hoped to see this year's Harvard-Princeton game. "I thoroughly believe in the spirit," said he, "because the men who played it made good in the war."

High praise, but anyone who had watched and played and known the game over a stretch of years would have known intuitively that any good football player would make about the best imaginable material for a good soldier. More, any man who had caught the essential spirit of the game from the stands or sidelines would have in him the quality out of which hard, clean, manly fighting not for self but for a cause is pretty apt to come.

I believe in football not merely as a good game to play and watch, but as a splendid preparation for life. The successful man is the one who can fight through adversity, who can take punishment and come up smiling, who is never beaten till the whistle blows. Football demands that sort of courage, and it develops and strengthens that quality in every man who plays it even reasonably long or well.

In its effect on the men who play it is seems to me that there is not any possible basis in fact for disapproval of the game. To be sure the football man probably comes in for more minor injuries than the baseball player. Bruises, all sorts of knocks, painful but not serious, are part of his regular routine. One of the fundamental features of the game is that the players must disregard these minor injuries and keep on playing as if they had not happened. It is essentially a game of personal contact, and where you have personal contact there is of course a possibility that someone will be hurt, but under the present rule the probability of serious injury has been practically eliminated.

The football player has to develop initiative and resource. Football is not cut and dried. The unexpected is about the only thing one ought to expect. No two plays are alike, and they vary so infinitely and so rapidly that no coach or trainer can foresee any great proportion of field emergencies. He can only train his men to think quickly and to act as quickly as they think. Every player under tremendous excitement and nervous tension, surrounded by fifty thousand screaming partisans, has to keep cool or be beaten as the price of failure. Football is condemned by people who know little or nothing about it, as a contest of beef. It is, in sober reality, the keenest sort of battle of wits, in which quick thinking and quick acting will beat out slow thinking and slow acting nine times out of ten. A stupid man is hopelessly out of his element on the football field.

The team which gets its men into every play is the team that wins. The team that puts its faith in individual stars, however, is pretty apt to lose. Cooperation, pulling together, ever sacrificing self for the common good, is mere routine in football. Every good player has to learn to subordinate himself and work for the good of the team, even if that means self effacement.—Gustavian Weekly.

The New Farm Hand—Gasoline Power

THE average ownership of automobiles for 1919 was one car to every 14 persons in the United States. But in making this average, the states outside the Middle West (including the states of the east, with their congested city traffic) showed but one car for every 19 persons.

The states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) such as Kansas, showing one automobile for every 8.9 persons; Iowa with a car for every 7.8 persons; or South Dakota, with a machine for every 8.3 persons—raised the national average.

The people of the Middle West—preeminently the farming section of the nation—own about one-half the motor cars of the country. The major portion—almost 65% of these Middle Western cars are farmer-owned. Investigation has further proved that over 75% of the Middle Western farmers bought their cars, not for pleasure, but for business.

Gasoline-power is the new hired hand on the farm. To maintain the continuous operation of this power is one of the leading services rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

To increase the nation's food-supply, the farmer must depend upon his gasoline supply. Someone must continually anticipate production difficulties, overcome transportation delays, so that his tractor and his truck and his car may operate whenever the plowing, cultivating, seeding, harvesting, housing or marketing of his crops must be done.

It was to insure dependability in supply of petroleum products to the consumer as well as to lower their prices, that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) built up its "cycle of service", carrying its products from the refinery direct to the consumer. All savings effected through this efficiency in organization are passed on by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to the consumers of its products.

MOST people know that the musical enjoyment which they get out of a phonograph depends upon one thing. That thing is the phonograph's realism.

This picture shows the best way to test a phonograph's realism. Miss Betsy Lane Shepherd, the famous soprano, is standing beside the New Edison, and singing in direct comparison with the New Edison's RE-CREATION of her voice.

185 audiences, aggregating more than 100,000 people, have actually heard this comparison. None could distinguish between her living voice and its RE-CREATION.

This is one of the phenomenal records of realism. The New Edison holds all other records of realism, too, because no other phonograph attempts this comparison-test—or could sustain it.

You try it this way

—the way we use in our store!—the Realism Test! Test the New Edison's Realism against the pleasure you know music can bring.

Tell us what kind of voice or instrument gives you truest musical enjoyment. Listen while we play your favorite on the New Edison. The Realism Test will enable you to gauge whether the New Edison's RE-CREATION gives you all of this enjoyment.

This is your test! It will help you determine what the New Edison's Realism means, in terms of your own musical enjoyment.

DO NOT EXPECT TOO MUCH.

The general decline in prices will be hailed with delight by the buying public. Our people stood the pressure a long time but at last seem to have rebelled. There is no guesswork as to what caused the recent downward trend of prices. There are two reasons, one is that the public quit buying and the other that the banks refused to extend loans to wholesalers and manufacturers. It becomes necessary to move stock fast and this could only be brought about by a general slashing.

There is no indication of a wild break or general upsetting of conditions and there are well-posted authorities who assert that the present price level cannot be maintained for any length of time. They hold that basic costs—material and labor—have not been reduced and that until this is brought about no lasting relief from high prices can be expected.

The profiteer and speculator is being hit hard and there is general rejoicing over the fact. To the extent that final costs were represented by what went to this gentry the decline will in all likelihood be permanent, but this will not make any startling difference in the net result.

A return to pre-war conditions except by gradual stages would mean unemployment, panic and bankruptcy. This must be avoided at all costs as the public would suffer vastly more if such conditions prevailed than is the case at present. Men must be kept at work and the big problem is how to maintain the present wage level, at least approximately, and at the same time cut costs to the ultimate consumer. Manufacturers say that it can be done by the speeding up of individual production—that is, higher efficiency in the turning out and handling of goods. They realize that adjusting wages downward is going to be a difficult matter and dread the time when such course will be necessary. That labor would suffer in the event of a general breakdown of prices is certain and this is something the buying public should take into consideration.

Chances are that the present is a good time to buy everything that is needed. There is not much likelihood of prices falling farther at this time and consequently nothing is to be gained by waiting. By buying normally at the reductions now offered our people will be helping to stabilize conditions, keep the wheels turning and hold men at their jobs.

Right now the merchants of Thief River Falls are unloading their stocks at big discounts. Our advice would be for everyone to take advantage of the fact. By so doing we will be contributing our share toward keeping things on an even keel.

UNWARRANTED LIBERALITY.

The members of the Pennington County Agricultural association present at the meeting on Saturday evening knew just what they were doing, perhaps, but if such is the case they have the best of the rest of our population.

It is all very well to pay for such services to the association as are necessary in order to keep it functioning properly, but this does not mean that salaries must be provided for men who do not want them. The proceedings Saturday evening were a joke—at least a considerable part of them had better prove a joke for the good of the fair in the future.

During their spasm of liberality the members not only voted to raise the pay of the secretary to $500 for services performed during the year, increasing his stipend from $300, but they put the president and both vice presidents on the pay roll at $200 each, and did so after the three officers last mentioned had protested against any such action being taken.

The services of these officers are perhaps worth the money called for, but where is it coming from? Some source of revenue not now visible will have to be discovered or the fair board will find itself broke at the close of its exhibition one of these fine summers. One day of bad weather will do it; a refusal on the part of those who have heretofore supported the fair to come forward with their contributions will have the same effect. How are the fair managers, for instance, going to approach the county commissioners for the annual donation in the face of the action taken Saturday? How much will the city council of Thief River Falls contribute when it is known that there is a fixed charge against the association of $1100 for salaries? How will the business men who have in years past generously contributed toward the upkeep of the organization feel about it? Does anyone think for a minute that they will continue the practice in the face of such preposterous performance? Vice President Fred Beerbower stated at the meeting that the business men of Thief River Falls have made the fair what it is. They can probably also unmake it if such proceeding becomes necessary.

President Herbert Fuller said that no man holding that office had ever yet asked for a salary and he was absolutely certain that he was not going to start the practice. Both vice presidents said they would give back the amount provided for their services if it were forced on them, but how about future officials?

What was the object of this sudden attack of large-heartedness, anyway? No one seems to know. The result is not so hard to figure out.

TALKING TO HOME FOLKS.

That the people of Thief River Falls and surrounding country are taking an unusual interest in the issues of the political campaign now in progress is evidenced by their attendance at the meetings so far held here. Never have speakers been able to get out such good crowds—and all sides seem to be treated alike in this respect. Up to date not much has been done for the national ticket, state and local issues having been emphasized.

Next Wednesday there is a rally at which the speaker will in all probability choose a wider field. Congressman Halvor Steenerson comes here for the purpose of addressing the voters at that time and he will no doubt meet with a reception similar to that accorded others.

Mr. Steenerson was in congress all the time the late war was in progress and knows of the measures taken to put the United States in combat trim. He doubtless has well-defined ideas as to how best to get back to normal again, and these will be interesting to his constituents. Mr. Steenerson may also be expected to go quite extensively into matters of particular interest to the people of the district at this time, and of these there are quite a number.

The Ninth district congressman has served the district long and well. He is at the head of one of the most important committees of congress and will remain there in case the Republicans are successful in keeping control, which seems most likely. It cannot be gainsaid that he is in a position to be of even greater value to the district in the future than in the past by reason of the prominent position he now occupies.

At any rate come out and hear him. He has not delivered an address here since early in the war and he is no doubt in a position to explain many of the things that have happened since that time. Remember he is your congressman and that what he thinks and says is of direct interest to you.

HE'S THE WINNER AGAIN.

Marketing conditions are far from satisfactory to the ordinary farmer these days. Prices for his produce, particularly grain and potatoes, have taken a decided slump—in fact those who must sell at once are compelled to do so at an actual loss.

In an average year the wheat price would not appear so bad, but in this section many farmers were forced to buy seed at a very high figure, the labor cost has been far above the average all through the growing season and everything that he has bought has been far above normal. Had the price of his commodity held where it was a year ago he would not have much more than broke even. As it is he is decidedly up against a hard proposition. The potato grower is in the same fix. Seed cost all the way from $6 to $12 per bushel when he planted last spring and to this must be added the unusual expense attached to caring for the growing crop. Unless he has storage facilities the outlook is far from cheering.

Dairy product prices are still holding up well and with the winter season coming on there is not much likelihood of a drop. The man with the milk herd is fortunate in more respects than one, particularly in this section. He is not hit by the general decline and besides secured an excellent fodder crop for the winter. He faces no serious falling off in the size of his cream check and need not worry over the feed problem during the time that his cattle must be housed. While as a general thing his position is the most secure of all our husbandmen, this year he is decidedly the winner.

The situation again shows the need for more dairy cows on the farm. The man who depends on grain or other field crops is liable to disappointment even under the most favorable circumstances while there is very small likelihood of the stock owner ever getting caught. This fact is coming to be generally recognized and our farmers are turning to cattle more and more every year. Conditions such as those confronting our farm population at this time will have the effect of boosting this industry and will serve to correspondingly depress those who still cling to the old method.

The dairy cow is the salvation of this section. Year in and year out she will prove the dependable standby for the man who pins his faith to her.

The Babcock Amendment.

(Crookston Press.)

Vote "Yes" on the good roads amendment to the Minnesota constitution. That is the advice of this paper to its readers, its owners and supporters.

The amendment in itself commits the state to nothing but a good roads program and opens the way to inaugurate that program. If the plan as proposed by Babcock is feasible and if automobile and truck owners and those most directly concerned are willing or can be made to bear the greater part of the expense, then that would seem fair.

Whether cement roads are laid, or some other form of hard-surfaced highways are built, is left to the legislature upon the advice of the highway department and its engineers. If concrete is the material finally decided upon as likely to give the people of Minnesota the most enduring system of year-around roads, then that is the kind we should have if they can be paid for without imposing too heavy a burden of taxation.

The hundred million dollar bond issue provision, which to make it legal in reality constitutes a lien upon all the property of all the people, may be the feature you disapprove. Yet no bond issue will be necessary if the figures of the highway department are correct in estimating the amount that can be raised by a direct tax upon automobiles and other motor vehicles. That phase of the good roads proposition is also left for final decision to the legislature. And the right kind of legislature will not saddle the taxpayers of the state with a bond issue carrying staggering interest totals if by any means they can build good roads otherwise.

So there is nothing to the good roads proposition but to send men to the legislature who are honest and who will protect the best interests of the people in this and in all other matters. Elect men who are not tied up in any way to the old political machines, either of state or county, and who will not vote on any proposition according to any dictate other than that of their own conscience.

As Bill Sees It.

Additional Routes.

Whenever, either by reason of the creation of a new county, or by reason of the change of the county seat of any existing county, any city or village not a county seat at the time of the adoption of this amendment is lawfully constituted the county seat of any county, the legislature is authorized to add to the trunk highway system such additional routes connecting such newly constituted county seats with other county seats and other points in the state.

When after at least seventy-five (75) per cent of the total number of the miles of the routes embraced in the trunk highway system hereinbefore specified shall have been constructed and permanently improved, the legislature shall have authority to add new routes to such trunk highway system; provided, however, that no such new routes shall be added until and unless the funds available for the construction, improvement and maintenance of such additional routes shall be sufficient therefor in addition to the construction, improvement and maintenance of the several routes hereinbefore specifically described.

Section 2. There is hereby created a fund which shall be known as the trunk highway sinking fund. Said fund shall consist of the proceeds of any tax imposed on motor vehicles as herein authorized. The moneys in said fund shall be used for the payment of the principal and interest of any bonds which may be issued under the authority of this article; and any moneys in excess of such requirements shall be transferred to a fund which is hereby created and which shall be known as the trunk highway fund. The trunk highway fund shall be used solely for the purposes specified in Section 1 of this article, and when duly authorized by legislative enactment to reimburse any county for the money expended by it subsequent to February 1st, 1919, in permanently improving any road hereinbefore specifically described, in accordance with plans and specifications therefor approved by the commissioner of highways.

Section 3. The legislature is hereby authorized to provide, by law, for the taxation of motor vehicles, using the public streets and highways of this state, on a more onerous basis than other personal property, provided, however, that any such tax on motor vehicles shall be in lieu of all other taxes thereon, except wheelage taxes, so-called, which may be imposed by any borough, city or village. Any such law may, in the discretion of the legislature, provide for the exemption from taxation of any motor vehicle owned by a non-resident of the state, and transiently or temporarily using the streets and highways of the state. The proceeds of such tax shall be paid into said trunk highway sinking fund.

Section 4. The legislature may provide by law for the issue and sale of the bonds of the state in such amount as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of section 1 of this article, provided, however, that the amount of bonds which may be issued in any one calendar year shall not exceed, in the aggregate, ten million dollars, par value, and provided, further, the total amount of such bonds issued and unpaid shall not at any time exceed seventy-five million dollars, par value. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be paid into the treasury of the state and credited to the trunk highway fund. Any bonds so issued and sold shall be for a term not exceeding twenty (20) years. They shall not be sold for less than par and accrued interest and shall not bear interest at a greater rate than five per cent per annum. In case of the trunk highway sinking fund shall not be adequate to meet the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds authorized by the legislature as hereinbefore provided, the legislature may provide by law for the taxation of all taxable property of the state in an amount sufficient to meet the deficiency, or it may in its discretion, appropriate to such sinking fund moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Section 5. Any and all provisions of the constitution of the state of Minnesota inconsistent with the provisions of this article, are hereby repealed, so far, but only so far, as the same prohibit or limit the power of the legislature to enact laws authorizing or permitting the doing of the things hereinbefore authorized."

PURPOSE AND EFFECT OF AMENDMENT.

The purpose of the proposed amendment is to establish and provide for the construction and maintenance of a system of roads and highways in the state of Minnesota to be known as "The Trunk Highway System." The effect of the proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to establish and authorize the enactment of laws, providing for the construction, improvement and maintenance by the state of the highways described in a general way in the amendment, which highways are to be more specifically and definitely located in a manner to be prescribed by law, but any such law must provide that in fixing a definite location of the various routes there shall not be any deviation from the starting point or termini described in the routes set forth in the amendment, nor shall there be a deviation in the fixing of the routes from the various villages and cities named in the amendment, and through which the routes are to pass.

If the amendment is adopted, the legislature will be thereby authorized to provide by law for the issuance and sale of the bonds of the state to raise money for the creation of a "Trunk Highway Fund" to be expended for the construction of the roads embraced in the trunk highway system. The legislature cannot, however, issue bonds in any one year exceeding in amount of the par value thereof the sum of $10,000,000, nor can the aggregate of all outstanding unpaid bonds ever exceed $75,000,000. Bonds cannot be sold for less than par or bear interest at a greater rate than five per cent per annum.

The adoption of the amendment will also confer on the legislature authority to levy a tax on motor vehicles, using the public streets and highways, on a more onerous basis than other personal property is taxed. The proceeds of such tax will be credited to the Highway Sinking Fund, which is to be used to pay bonds issued as above; any surplus in the Highway Sinking Fund not needed for the retirement of bonds to be transferred to the Trunk Highway Fund. Motor vehicles taxed by any law passed by the legislature under the amendment, will not be subject to any other tax, except that a wheelage tax may be imposed on such vehicles by any borough, city or village, if they see fit to do so.

In case the tax on motor vehicles is not sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the bonds issued, the legislature, in case of the adoption of the amendment, will be empowered to provide by law for the taxation of all the taxable property of the state in an amount sufficient to meet the deficiency, or it may, in its discretion, appropriate to such Highway Sinking Fund any moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 2.

Chapter 531, Session Laws of Minnesota for the year 1919, proposes an amendment to section 7 of article VI of the constitution of the state of Minnesota. Said section now reads as follows:

"Section 7. There shall be established in each organized county in the state a probate court, which shall be a court of record, and be held at such times and places as may be prescribed by law. It shall be held by one judge, who shall be elected by the voters of the county for the term of two years. He shall be a resident of such county at the time of his election, and reside therein during his continuance in office, and his compensation shall be provided by law. He may appoint his own clerk where none has been elected; but the legislature may authorize the election, by the electors of any county, of one clerk or register of probate for such county, whose powers, duties, term of office and compensation shall be prescribed by law. A probate court shall have jurisdiction over the estates of deceased persons and persons under guardianship, but no other jurisdiction, except as prescribed by this constitution."

The amendment simply proposes to substitute the word "four" for the word "two" so that the sentence prescribing the duration of the term of office of probate judges will, if the amendment is adopted, read as follows:

"It shall be held by one judge, who shall be elected by the voters of the county for the term of four years."

The purpose of said amendment and its effect, if adopted, will be to make the term of office of judge of probate four years instead of two.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 3.

Chapter 532 Session Laws of the state of Minnesota for the year 1919, proposes an amendment to Section 1 of Article IX of the constitution of said state. Said section now reads as follows:

"Section 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200, for each household, individual or head of a family, as the legislature may determine: Provided, that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

If amended said section will read as follows:

"Section 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer thereof, tools, implements and machinery and all real and personal property owned by county agricultural societies and used for holding agricultural fairs, to such an extent and in such manner as the legislature may determine. Taxes may be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations which taxes may be graduated and progressive and the exemption of a reasonable amount of income from taxation may be provided, and such taxes may be in lieu of taxes on any class or classes of personal property as the legislature may determine: Provided that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and, provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

The purpose of said amendment is to empower the legislature to enact laws, to such an extent, and in such a manner, as it may determine, exempting from taxation household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer, tools implements and machinery, and all real and personal property owned by county agricultural societies and used for holding agricultural fairs; and to authorize the imposition of graduated and progressive taxes on incomes, privileges and occupations.

The effect of the amendment, if adopted, will be to accomplish the purpose above indicated, to-wit: to authorize the enactment of laws by the legislature:

FIRST: Providing for the exemption from taxation, to such an extent and in such manner as the legislature may determine, of household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer, tools, implements and machinery, and all real and personal property owned by county agricultural societies and used for holding agricultural fairs.

SECOND: Providing for the imposition of graduated and progressive taxes on incomes, privileges and occupations.

PROPOSED LAW RELATING TO THE TAXATION OF RAILROAD PROPERTIES.

Chapter 223, Session Laws of the state of Minnesota for the year of 1919, proposes an amendment to section 2226, General Statutes Minnesota 1913, and provides that said amendment shall be submitted to the people of this state for approval or rejection at the 1920 general election. Said section now reads as follows:

"Section 2226. Every railroad company owning or operating any line of railroad situated within, or partly within this state, shall, during the year 1913, and annually thereafter, pay into the treasury of this state, in lieu of all taxes and assessments, upon all property within this state, owned or operated for railway purposes, by such company, including equipment, appurtenances, appendages and franchises thereof, a sum of money equal to five per cent of the gross earnings derived from the operation of such line of railway within this state.

On or before August 15, 1913, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending June 30th, next preceding, and the said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and be payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on September 1st, next thereafter.

On or before February 15, 1914, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending December 31st, next preceding, and said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on March 1st, next thereafter; and the payment of such sums at the times hereinbefore set forth shall be in full and in lieu of all other taxes and assessments upon the property and franchises so taxed; provided nothing in this act shall be construed as modifying any agreement entered into between any municipality within the state and any railroad company relating to the payment of local taxes or assessments.

The lands acquired by public grant shall be and remain exempt from taxation until sold or contracted to be sold or conveyed as provided in the respective acts whereby such grants were made or recognized."

If amended as proposed it will read as follows:

"Section 2226. Every railroad company owning or operating any line of railroad situated within or partly within this state, shall, during the year 1913 and annually thereafter, pay into the treasury of the state, in lieu of all taxes upon all property within this state owned or operated for railway purposes, by such company, including equipment, appurtenances, appendages and franchises thereof, a sum of money equal of five per cent of the gross earnings derived from the operation of such line of railway within this state.

On or before August 15, 1913, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending June 30th, next preceding, and the said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on September 1st next thereafter.

On or before February 15, 1914, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending December 31st next preceding, and said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on March 1st next thereafter; and the payments of such sums at the times hereinbefore set forth shall be in full and in lieu of all other taxes upon the property and franchises so taxed.

The lands acquired by public grant shall be made and remain exempt from taxation until sold or contracted to be sold or conveyed as provided in the respective acts whereby such grants were made or recognized."

Under the present law the gross earnings tax paid by railroad companies is in lieu of all other taxes and assessments upon property owned or operated for railroad purposes. Under the proposed amendment such tax will be in lieu of taxes only and railroad companies will become subject to assessments for local improvements in the same way that private persons and corporations, not paying a gross earnings tax, are subject to such assessments.

The purpose of said amendment is, and its effect, if adopted, will be to subject railroad companies, paying gross earnings taxes, to the payment of assessments for local improvements.

Yours respectfully,
CLIFFORD L. HILTON,
Attorney General.

Weekly Market Review.

(By Quinn-Shephardson Co., Minneapolis.)

From extreme inflation the pendulum of trade swings toward extreme decline. A stiffening of prices of late is noted which apparently was influenced to some extent by agitation from the producing sections in protest against such precipitous markets.

Buying confidence for the moment is lacking, based on the belief that there is a super-abundance of feed in the country and that, although statistically there appears to be a probably serious shortage of wheat on the present rate of export, the shortage, if one developes, should not become manifest until later in the season and that in the meantime unsatisfactory foreign exchange rates creating comparatively high prices overseas may force reduction of European buying and disprove what is now a theoretical shortage. For the immediate domestic trend of wheat prices, the importation of large Canadian supplies is also disturbing and has accelerated the reduction.

As always the market is super-sensitive to all news and largely under the influence of the present unsettled world conditions, so that foreign exchange, or in other words, the final price at the European ports, is a consideration of great importance in effecting an increase or decrease in the disposition of our surplus.

In view of the corn and oats production exceeding last year's surplus by what will probably be about 500 million bushels and the more or less headlong declines in woolens, rubber, steel, leather, cotton, coffee, sugar, lumber, automobiles and what not, the decline in course grains is not so astonishing. A readjustment was inevitable.

The sudden, sharp and drastic decline, is for the present demoralizing trade, making timid buyers and unwilling sellers. We continue of the belief that the producers holding ability and edtermination to market grains at a price more reasonably near the cost of production is a factor that should not be ignored and will continue to prevent further material decline and in fact influence values slowly upward, depending of course upon resumption of the normal demand. On technical grounds alone the markets should be entitled to a fair re-action.

A downward readjustment is considered by most authorities in the long run as highly desirable for everybody including the producer, but there is no denying that the need of normal marketing from first hands is right now of a paramount importance.

Mr. Mortenson, an aged bachelor residing about four miles east of here, met a tragic death this week. He was found by neighbors standing upright in about four feet of water at the bottom of his well—dead. How long the man had been dead is not known. That he had died from exposure and not drowning also was evident. It is thought the old man accidentally fell into the well and being unable to get out or secure help remained there until death overtook him.

Why You Are Sure of Certain-teed Roofing

After all, you can't afford to take a chance on roofing. Protection from the weather is too necessary to make a risk worth while.

That's why so many wise buyers insist on Certain-teed.

You know that Certain-teed is weatherproof, fire-retarding and spark-proof. You know it is guaranteed for 5 to 15 years, according to weight. It has never been known to wear out on the roof.

But more than that, you know that it is made by a company which owes its tremendous business to the absolute reliability of its product—a company that will not link its name to inferiority.

Private Brands Allow Big Profits

Certain-teed can be sold by any reliable dealer, but some dealers prefer to sell private brands. Many of these private brand dealers base their choice solely on the fact that they can take a bigger profit on private brands.

Profits on Certain-teed are fair, but they cannot be stretched, because too many dealers handle it and the price is too well known.

In addition to the risk of paying excessive profits for private brands, you know nothing about them—how long they will last—who made them.

You can see why buying Certain-teed is logical. You buy a known value instead of a lottery ticket.

Any responsible dealer can get Certain-teed for you quickly from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse or jobber. He gets it when he wants it and he gets what he wants. He can afford to sell you at a fair price.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

CEMENT MAY BE MADE BY STATE IN OWN PLANTS

Hennepin County Highway Improvement Association Urges Plans as Road Aid.

State Constitution Permits Cement to Be Made For Use on Public Roads Only.

Abundance of Material Said to Be Available For Turning Out Product.

A state owned cement plant to utilize natural deposits of shale rock in Minnesota and to provide cement for the construction of trunk roads under the proposed Babcock plan, Amendment No. 1 is the first proposal of the Hennepin County Highway Improvement association, formed last week.

The suggestion went forward to the officers of the state association in a statement by R. H. Benham, elected president of the county organization.

Shortage of Cement.

"Because of the shortage of cement and the fact that some of the cement companies have pulled out of Minnesota, the officers and directors of the Hennepin County Highway Improvement association are considering the feasibility of a state owned cement plant and respectfully suggest this project to your organization," he said.

"It is said there are quantities of shale rock in Minnesota, suitable for cement manufacture and it is proposed to utilize this resource to offset the difficulty now experienced in getting cement for road work.

"In spite of the fact that more than 2,500,000 barrels of cement were shipped into the state this year even with the existing shortage, the state highways system was able to get only about 100,000 barrels, something like 4 per cent of the total.

Rail Facilities Blamed.

"It is understood that the shortage is caused more by the lack of railroad facilities than by any other one factor, but there is little hope that this condition will be remedied in time to give the highways the cement they require.

"Even though the cost of making the cement in a state owned plant may not cut under that of private enterprise, it will be worth while to have the product when and where it is needed for the [illegible] improvement of the state's trunk roads."

Fifty Organizations Represented.

Officers of the association were chosen at the first rally of the county campaign for the amendment, a dinner at which representatives of 50 civic, commercial and religious organizations united for four weeks of intensive vote gathering.

R. H. Benham, secretary of the Dan Patch line, is president of the association; O. E. Johnson, secretary of the Calhoun Commercial club, secretary, and Miss Maren Michelet, a Minneapolis teacher, vicepresident. Miss Michelet is a sister of Wilhelm Michelet of Thief River Falls. State Senator W. F. Brooks, who presided at the meeting until the election of the president, opened the discussion of campaign plans with a defense of the amendment as "the best law ever presented to the voters of Minnesota."

No Room for Politics.

"There are no politics in it," he said. "No one has an axe to grind."

Poor roads have been responsible for actual retardation of American civilization, Miss Michelet said.

"All good government," she said, "is based on the church and the school. There is no better means of perfecting them than by building good roads. In pioneer days, farmers' wives lived most of their days within the four walls of their cabins. Statistics show that more farmers' wives have gone insane than any other class, because they have been shut off from the rest of the world.

"Because we have no good roads, children have had to go to school through the slush and snow. Many a time teachers have been unable to get to the school buildings; many a time in inclement weather, mothers and children are kept away from church.

"How are we to have a united community and a united country if we cannot have social intercourse?

"And how are we to have social intercourse if we cannot have good roads?"

Mr. Benham outlined plans for teaching Minneapolis voters, and impressing them with the fact that upon good roads depend not only comforts and pleasures, but education, progress and the cost of living as well.

Alderman J. D. Williams, speaking for the amendment, said it would afford labor a place to turn to in case of "slack times," by making work available to thousands.

Other speakers were C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, who detailed the provisions of the proposed law; L. H. Nord, A. O. Devold, J. T. Elwell, Rev. J. M. Cleary and John Holman of Mankato.

Mrs. Minnie Schrapel.

Word was received by friends the latter part of last week of the death of Mrs. Minnie Schrapel at Raymond, Kan., where she had resided with her son since early last spring. The particulars of her death are not known at this time. Mrs. Schrapel had for many years resided in this city and had a host of friends who will be grieved to learn of her death.

Harold Leslin.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the Presbyterian church over the body of Harold Leslin, son of H. R. Leslin, residing on the Red Lake reservation. The young man's death occurred at a St. Paul hospital, the cause of death being an abscess of the liver.

Deceased was born in Illinois in 1903, being 17 years old at the time of his death. Harold was a member of the Freshman class of the local high school and the class attended the services in a body to show respect to a classmate who was dearly loved. Rev. R. L. Barackman, pastor of the church, conducted the funeral service. Interment took place in Greenwood. The deceased is survived by his father and seven brothers and sisters.

IT HELPED HER FROM THE START

"I Certainly Bless the Day I Began Taking Tanlac," Says Mrs. Carter.

"I spent nearly the whole of last fall in bed in a terribly rundown condition, following a bad attack of the influenza, and could find nothing that would relieve me until I took Tanlac," said Mrs. Irma Carter, of 2706 Iglehart Avenue, St. Paul, Minn.

"I no more than got over one attack of severe cold and sore throat than I would come down with another. Bad weather aggravated my trouble and I was simply miserable. My appetite failed and my stomach was in such poor condition that everything I ate bloated me up with gas and I had terrible pains in my chest and kept getting worse all the time.

"I read so much about Tanlac that I finally got a bottle and it helped me from the very start. The pain was gone before I had even finished the first bottle. I have taken four bottles now and my appetite is so keen that I am eating like I'd been starved. I have been relieved entirely of bloating and all other signs of indigestion, and have already gained nine pounds in weight. I am enjoying good health again and certainly bless the day I started on Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's drug store, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, and at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm.—adv.

YOUNG MAN DIES WHEN CAR LEAPS TO RIVER BELOW

Arthur Nustvold Victim in Accident on Wednesday at Squaw Point Bridge.

Automobile Leaves Road and Pins Driver Beneath in Red Lake River.

No Contributing Cause Found for Peculiar Accident—Was Known as Good Driver.

Arthur Nustvold, 18 years old, met a tragic death yesterday afternoon in an automobile accident which occurred near the Squaw Point bridge over Red Lake river east of the city. The young man, who resided with his mother on a farm in Agder township, was returning to his home from Thief River Falls and apparently lost control of the car just after crossing the bridge. The car, a new Ford, left the road and went over the edge of the embankment into the river below. The driver was pinned beneath the automobile and drowned before help arrived on the scene.

Was Experienced Driver.

The dead man had driven an automobile for several years and was considered a very efficient and careful driver. No reason can be assigned for the car leaving the road at this point as the roadway is smooth and dry and there is no curve at this particular place. Tracks left by the car would indicate that the machine made a gentle turn off the road and there was nothing to indicate that an effort had been made to get it back onto the highway. The most plausible theory advanced is that the young man became absorbed in thought and allowed the car to leave the road before he realized what was taking place.

Dead When Found.

No one was near when the accident occurred and it is not known just how long a time elapsed before the overturned car was discovered by passersby, but as nearly as can be reckoned it must have been at least half an hour. The car was at once removed and the victim taken from the water and carried to the roadside. Coroner Froehlich was notified and arrived within a few minutes. Examination showed the man had met his death through drowning and that he had been dead for some little time when found.

The body was removed to the Larson undertaking rooms, where it is being prepared for burial. The funeral will likely be held on Saturday, with interment in the Excel township cemetery near the unfortunate young man's home.

Widowed Mother's Help.

Arthur Nustvold was the eldest son in a family of four children and with his mother, Mrs. Gena Nustvold, had operated the home farm in Agder township since the death of the father several years ago. He was a steady, industrious young man and his untimely and sudden death comes as a severe shock to his mother, sisters and brothers.

The young man owned a Chevrolet car which he had driven for two seasons, but yesterday he made the trip to town in a Ford belonging to his brother-in-law, John Klungnes. He had driven this car considerably, however, and Mr. Klungnes does not believe he lost control of it through being unfamiliar with the machine. The car figuring in the accident was not seriously damaged, a broken windshield, bent fenders and a twisted front axle apparently being the extent of the injuries.

CLUB LUNCHES ARE POPULAR FEATURES

New Departure Inaugurated Today and Noonday Meeting Converted to Forum.

An open forum is being held this noon following the regular club lunch at the commercial club rooms. This offers a diversion from the short talks at the preceding Thursday gatherings of club members, merchants, professional men and farmers.

Several matters are to come up for discussion today among which is the report of the committee recently named to solicit funds for the Highway Improvement association and a report by the secretary of the club on what has been learned from the state game and fish commission regarding game fish and fishing in the Red lakes and Red Lake river. Regarding the latter matter it is understood the state authorities have no jurisdiction over the waters which are wholly within the reservation. Carlos Avery, state game and fish commissioner, may be a speaker at one of the future club lunches to give some valuable information on the subject.

The speaker a week ago was Fred D. Sherman, former state immigration commissioner. He gave a very good talk on the many advantages of the proposed Babcock amendment and advanced many new points regarding the workings of the law.

Baked beans, scalloped potatoes, beets, bread and butter, coffee and pumpkin pie is the menu at today's lunch and it is being greatly enjoyed by those present.

Elks Initiate Unusual Class Here Friday Night

One of the largest classes ever initiated into an Elks lodge in Minnesota was taken into Thief River Falls herd on Friday evening when about 50 fawns had the antlers attached. The occasion was of such unusual nature that the auditorium was rented for the purpose of putting on the work and for the entertainment afterwards.

As usual a most enjoyable time was had. The officers put on the secret work in a manner both pleasing and impressive, old and new members complimenting the degree team very highly.

After the ceremony proper a lunch was served which was greatly enjoyed by all, the hour being late because of the length of time necessarily consumed in the essentials.

Republican Headquarters.

The Republican women of Thief River Falls have established an information bureau in the Gilbert Sandum building on Main avenue. Chief among the objects of the venture is the dissemination of information among women voters and someone will be on hand every afternoon and evening to answer all questions and to furnish all desired information on political subjects. The bureau will be in charge of the Women's Republican club of Pennington county, of which Mrs. J. J. Richter is president Mrs. Andrew Bottelson secretary, and Miss Effie Hamry, chairman.

Sewer Work Progressing.

Coolsnet Bros. & Drees of Marshall, who were awarded the contract to construct the storm sewer system decided upon by the city council as part of the paving project, arrived last week with their machinery and crew. A good start has already been made with the work and barring delay the job will be completed in record time. The contractors were forced to remain idle Monday and Tuesday of this week because of delay in the arrival of a shipment of sewer pipe.

THE SEASON'S BIG FOOT BALL TUSSLE

Bemidji High School Comes Here For Contest Next Tuesday Afternoon.

The football classic in this section is always the game between the Thief River Falls and Bemidji high schools. As a general rule this contest comes off somewhat later in the season, it being deemed advisable to give both teams a period of drilling before the big day, but this season the matinee will be staged on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 26, at 3:30 o'clock.

Coach Tommerassen has been whipping his bunch into shape by hard work and steady practice and does not fear the outcome, although every member of the team knows that there is a hard tussle in sight. For some reason the Thief River Falls school would rather beat Bemidji than any other team in the district, it being recognized that the neighboring town always has a husky and clever bunch to go up against. The game will be a hummer from the word go and those who are followers of this fine sport will miss something worth while if they fail to be on hand.

STIRRING INTEREST IN STOCK PAVILION

Effort Being Made to Secure Remainder of Pennington County's Quota.

Nearly all the members of the Red Lake Flood Control and Conservancy commission were in the city last evening for the purpose of attending the Steenerson meeting and are staying over today for a session at the court house. The work of the commission is progressing very satisfactorily and Congressman Steenerson in his speech told of what has been done to further the matter in Washington.

Chairman C. G. Selvig of the commission will also take this opportunity to do a little missionary work for the Red River valley livestock pavilion at Crookston. He is very anxious that Pennington county shall fill its quota of $2,000, only $185 of which has so far been subscribed. He is meeting with livestock men from all sections of the county this afternoon and hopes to get a campaign under way that will clean the matter up.

Following are the sums raised to date by the different counties in the district: Norman, $2300; Marshall, $2250; Kittson, $2750; Red Lake county has also subscribed its full quota. Roseau and Clearwater are the only ones, besides Pennington, that are now in arrears. Mr. Selvig is confident that as soon as a campaign can be gotten under way the matter will be cleared up.

Elks' Initiation Dance.

The entertainment committee of the local Elks' lodge is already making plans for the big initiation dance to be given Dec. 17. The affair will be a combined dance, card party, reception and musicale. A special invitation will be extended to out-of-town members and their ladies.

McCrum Transferred.

John Wesley McCrum of this city, who has been stationed in New York as a member of the receiving ship crew, has been transferred to the U. S. S. Yakona, according to a notice received at The Times office from Commander C. C. Krakow.

STATE MAY OWN CEMENT-MAKING PLANT, OPINION

Decision Will Remove One Serious Objection to Adopting Amendment No. 1

Counties and Townships May Also be Supplied With the Product at Cost.

Would Remove Danger of Delay Through Shortage of Surfacing Material.

Good Roads Amendment No. 1 is sure of the 'yes' votes of all believers in state-ownership, as the result of the recent opinion by C. Louis Weeks, deputy attorney general, that its adoption will authorize the state to build and operate cement-making plants.

Although the proposal to hard-surface 200 miles of the trunk highway system each year will require less than 650,000 barrels of cement annually, the ruling is such that the capacity of state-owned plants need not be limited to that small output.

Public Supplies at Cost.

The state may supply counties, cities and townships with cement at cost for local road building and other needs, according to the opinion which now has the force of law, provided the amendment is passed. Mr. Weeks adds that it may be found that the state-made cement can be sold to private parties, but reserves his definite conclusion on that feature pending further consideration. While the use of public funds for private purposes is prohibited, he explains, it may be that sales of any "surplus" from a state cement plant to private parties may be justified on the ground that they are only "incidental" to the economical and proper production of cement by the state itself.

The opinion is viewed by many as an important step—an "entering wedge"—in the direction of state-ownership development in general. It is regarded as of special importance by officials.

Called Good News.

"Mr. Weeks' ruling is good news for this department," said Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner. "Several weeks ago we began with the assistance of instructors in the university school of mines, a broad survey to locate on state lands if possible, the shale needed for cement making. That was before it was made plain that Good Roads Amendment No. 1 carries with it the required authority for the establishment of state-owned and operated cement plants.

"Now there is far less possibility that road building will have to be curtailed as it is this year to release cement for farm building.

"We are confident that the merits of the good roads plan and the good judgment of the people of the state will result in the adoption of Amendment No. 1 by a big majority and that will bring also the authority for the state cement plants.

Now Pushing Investigation.

"State demands alone are comparatively small but the addition of county, town and city needs will take the output of at least one good-sized plant. The investigations are being speeded up to avoid delays in reporting to the legislature on this phase of the plan."

Senator Iver J. Lee of Glenwood, one of only ten of the 187 members of the 1919 legislature who voted against the Amendment No. 1 bill, after obtaining the opinion, announced that "the talked-of plant has a strong bearing on people's attitude towards the Amendment No. 1."

The subject first claimed official attention last June when Governor Burnquist referred to Commissioner Babcock a proposition from a London firm relating to state-owned cement plants and the investigation was started immediately.

HOLT LOSES OUT IN FIRST BATTLE

Judge Grindeland Grants Restraining Order Asked for by Middle River Residents.

Through an oversight on the part of someone the village of Holt was not represented at Warren last Monday when the time came for hearing on the application for an injunction prohibiting the county auditor from placing the county division matter on the ballot. The people of Middle River had applied for an injunction intended to prevent the Holt citizens from getting the matter before the voters at this time, and they seem to have been successful in the first skirmish.

According to the Holt partisans, the hearing should come off today before Judge Grindeland. Instead it was held on Monday and no one was present to defend the position of Holt. Judge Grindeland therefore granted the application for an injunction and ordered the county auditor not to include the subject as one of those to be ballotted upon.

There seems to have been a mixup somewhere and the people of Holt are convinced that the matter will be straightened out as soon as they can get a hearing before the court. In the meantime there is quite a lot of excitement in the neighboring village.

HON. HALVOR STEENERSON

County Treasurer Busy.

County Treasurer John Gullingsrud has been extremely busy during the past week making out receipts for the last half of the real estate taxes for 1919. These taxes must be paid before Nov. 1 in order to avoid a ten per cent penalty and most people throughout the county seem determined to save the ten per cent.

Holstein Breeder Coming.

J. A. Kilpatrick of Milwaukee was in the city last Saturday enroute to Middle River, where he has extensive land holdings. Mr. Kilpatrick is a large breeder of Holstein cattle and is making plans to come to this section next spring to engage in the stock raising business. He is making an effort to dispose of his Marshall county land and if successful in doing this he will secure a Pennington county farm.

CONTEST BEGUN FOR PROBATE JUDGE JOB

Peter C. Wold Will Try Conclusions With Lars Backe, the Regular Candidate.

There is going to be a contest for county office in the coming election after all. Peter C. Wold of Highlanding township, prominent farmer and former county commissioner, has started out to capture the office of judge of probate via the sticker route and from now until election time a spirited campaign will be carried on throughout the county to boost his candidacy. Mr. Wold was induced to make the run by members of the Nonpartisan league and he has the endorsement of that organization.

Lars Backe of Thief River Falls is the only candidate who filed for the office in the regular way and his is the only name which will appear on the ballot. No opposition having developed earlier in the campaign, it was generally supposed that he would be elected without opposition. This program, however, did not appeal to everyone and Mr. Wold was induced to enter the campaign. Mr. Wold's backers will attempt to secure his election through the use of stickers to be placed on the ballots by the voters.

ELKS WILL FROLIC ON ELECTION NIGHT

Prepare to Enjoy Themselves While Waiting to Hear Result of Balloting.

Thief River Falls lodge of Elks is going to have a little jollification for its members on the evening of Nov. 2—and the session may possibly extend a short distance into the morning of Nov. 3. It all depends on how long it takes for the result of the election to become known.

A comedy will be put on at the Lyceum theatre at 11 o'clock. The name of the production is "The Political Hash House and Midnight Frolic." The play was written by Bro. Snowball Jack Owens of Cincinnati, is one of the most famous comedy successes of the year and will be presented by an all-star cast and Broadway Beauty Chorus. As rapidly as news of the election is received it will be given to the audience. The returns will be relayed by tireless messengers from the office of The Times, the Elks having arranged to use this paper's exclusive Western Union service.

After things have progressed sufficiently far to prove without a doubt who has been elected president of the United States—along about two o'clock in the morning—the Elks will repair to their lodge room for a Dutch lunch and smoker.

Farm Boy Classes Start With Bright Prospects

A good sized class of farm boys enrolled Monday morning in the agriculture and mechanics course, to be conducted at the Thief River Falls high school for six months. Much interest is shown in this department and it is likely that a large number of farm boys will be enrolled in the classes within the next few weeks. Most of the boys are still very busy on the farm, which accounts for them not being able to take up their studies at this time.

Mechanics are taught in the forenoon under the supervision of M. A. Schmitt. During the afternoon the time of the new classes is devoted to agricultural subjects, with F. A. Tripp as instructor. Present indications are that this branch of the high school will do a very valuable work during the coming term.

CROWDS LISTEN TO STEENERSON DISCUSS ISSUES

Congressman Talks to Large Audience at Final Rally in Thief River Falls.

Strikes From Shoulder and Leaves no Doubt as to Stand On Questions.

Mrs. J. E. Brandrup Makes Eloquent Plea for National and State Tickets.

A large audience greeted Congressman Halvor Steenerson and Mrs. J. E. Brandrup, speakers at the Republican rally held last evening at the auditorium in this city. The audience was largely composed of women, nearly half of those present being recently enfranchised voters of the feminine sex. Farmers and their wives were present in considerable numbers, proving that all classes take a deep interest in political questions at this time.

Talented Woman Speaker.

Mrs. Andrew Bottelson acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers. In a few well chosen words she introduced the first speaker of the evening, Mrs. J. E. Brandrup of Mankato, who spoke for nearly an hour on national and state issues.

Mrs. Brandrup began her speech by paying high tribute to the ability of Mrs. J. M. Bishop of Thief River Falls, who is prominently identified with the women's Republican organization in Minnesota. The speaker gave a brief history of the Republican party from its formation up to the present time, showing how the party has always been a leader in progress and a pioneer in every movement of unquestioned benefit to the country.

Discusses League of Nations.

The speaker then gave a characteristically Republican discourse on the league of nations, criticizing the Wilsonian brand in no uncertain terms and lauding in an emphatic manner the substitute or revised league proposed by Senator Harding and other prominant statesmen of the Republican faith.

State matters also were touched upon briefly by Mrs. Brandrup and she covered her subject very thoroughly considering the short time at her disposal. The speaker denied that the tonnage tax is an issue in this state, asserting that all three candidates for governor are strongly in favor of such legislation.

Denounces Nonpartisan League.

Mrs. Brandrup made a strong attack on the Nonpartisan league, following the usual anti-league style of accusing its leaders of being Socialists, I. W. W.'s and other terrible things. She made an urgent plea to the Democrats to join with the Republicans in saving the state from the clutches of these monsters, insisting that Mayor Hodgson, Democratic candidate for governor, has no chance whatever of being elected.

The speaker made a very favorable impression and held the close attention of her audience all the way through.

Steenerson Next Speaker.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson was the next speaker on the program. He started out by giving a very comprehensive and interesting review of the principal work done in congress during the past four years, showing how the Republican minority had been helpless during the first two years and how a great deal of beneficial legislation had been enacted since the Republicans gained control of the house and senate two years ago.

Mr. Steenerson dwelt at length on problems confronting the nation during the war and on the immense task of the reconstruction period. He criticized the Democrats for their extravagant appropriations and showed how the Republicans had been successful in reducing these vast expenditures upon their return to power.

The Railroad Question.

The speaker explained in detail the railroad question. He told how and why the roads had been taken over by the government and went into a lengthy explanation of railroad legislation since the return of the roads to private ownership.

Mr. Steenerson explained fully the anti-strike feature of the famous Esch-Cummins bill, claiming that in reality no attempt had been made to take away the right of the men to strike. He insisted, however, that the labor board created for the purpose of arbitrating disputes between employers and employes is a highly practical solution of the labor problem and reduces the probability of strikes to a minimum. The speaker also denied that the government guarantees the railroads any given return on their investment, but stated that in revising rates upward the intention had been to allow the roads a fair profit.

Makes Co-Operation Plea.

The congressman then proceeded to discuss co-operation among farmers. He gave it as his opinion that through co-operation the farmer will eventually be enabled to remedy the many marketing difficulties which now confront him. A law will soon be passed, the speaker stated, which will make it possible for farmers' organizations to obtain seats in the chambers of commerce of the Twin Cities, Duluth and Chicago, thus giving them an opportunity to have a voice in the final disposition of their grain.

Mr. Steenerson also mentioned briefly the federal aid for roads and incidentally put in a good word for the proposed Babcock good roads amendment. He asserted that good roads, telephones and rural mail routes give the farmer all the advantages of the man residing in the city and should go a long way in making country life more desirable.

Advocates Protective Tariff.

One reason for the present unsatisfactory condition of the grain market, according to Mr. Steenerson, is the fact that wheat may be shipped into this country from Canada duty free. With the unfavorable exchange rate between the two countries this results in large quantities of wheat being shipped here from Canada, inevitably glutting the American market. He asserted the first step of the Republicans, if returned to power, will be a protective tariff to remedy this evil.

The speaker also insisted that the same condition is responsible for the unreasonably low wool market. Large quantities are being shipped in from other countries in competition with the product of American wool growers, said Mr. Steenerson, and this has forced prices downward.

Touches on Flood Control.

A subject of vital importance to people in the Red River Valley is flood control and the work so far done along these lines was thoroughly explained by Mr. Steenerson. He stated that a comprehensive plan is now under way through which this matter may successfully be inaugurated, the bill providing for the work being ready for consideration at the next session of congress.

Mr. Steenerson closed his speech by saying that as soon as the government resumes the construction of federal buildings, Thief River Falls will be in line for such a structure. Since the beginning of the war, the speaker said, no federal buildings have been erected anywhere.

C. G. Selvig, president of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, spoke for a few minutes at the close of the meeting, and urged the re-election of Congressman Steenerson for another term.

MOONSHINE WHISKEY OUTPUT IS REDUCED

Sheriff LaBree Finds Remains of Complete Still in Highlanding Township.

Acting on information supplied by people living in that vicinity, Sheriff LaBree on Tuesday paid a visit to a point near the river in Highlanding township, where it had been suspicioned "homespun" liquor was being distilled. The sheriff found the place all right but the bird he wanted had flown for other parts, evidently having a premonition that something was about to happen to him. A quantity of mash and other evidence left behind gave ample proof of what had been going on there, but all other paraphernalia, including the tent in which the work had been carried on, was gone.

Little is known concerning the man who is suspected of having used the distilling equipment but there is no dearth of evidence to prove that a plentiful supply of his product has been consumed in the vicinity. It is also claimed that an occasional sample of the beverage has found its way into Thief River Falls. However that may be, something must have given the moonshiner a hunch and he made his getaway before the arrival of the sheriff.

LOTS GO LIKE HOT CAKES AT AUCTION

Public Sale Conducted in Tessum's Addition Proves Big Success.

The auction sale of lots conducted by the United States Real Estate and Development company in Tessum's addition to Thief River Falls last Saturday proved to be an unqualified success. A large crowd was on hand when the sale opened and remained until the last lot was placed under the auctioneer's hammer.

A total of 225 lots, or approximately 20 acres, were sold during the afternoon and as a result this addition to the city of Thief River Falls will soon be materially improved. While not all of the purchasers expect to erect homes on the lots purchased, a large number of them will do so in the near future. Several tracts were purchased by people who wish to secure desirable garden plots and next year will see a large part of the 20-acre tract under intensive cultivation.

Mrs. C. J. Olson, 313 State avenue south, held the lucky number and won the free lot in the drawing conducted during the afternoon. The highest price paid for a lot at the sale was $102.50 and from this the purchase price ranged downward to a few dollars.

Successful Labor Meeting.

The newly organized Central Labor union held a successful meeting Monday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall. Regular meetings of the organization will be held hereafter on the third Monday of each month at the above place and all members of organized labor in Thief River Falls are urged to bear this in mind. At the next meeting, which will be held Nov. 15, a social gathering will be held at the conclusion of the business session, to which the women folks will be invited. Eats will be furnished by the members and a good time is anticipated.

TIMES AGAIN TO FURNISH SERVICE ELECTION NIGHT

People of Neighborhood Will be Kept Posted on Outcome at Paper's Expense.

Princess Theatre Chartered and the Public Will be Admitted Free.

Special Arrangements Made for Returns From Nation, State and County.

The people of this section are invited to The Times' party on the night of election day. Returns from every section of the country will be received over the wires of the Western Union at the paper's expense and arrangements have been made to secure the county returns by long distance telephone.

The Princess theatre has been rented for the occasion and everyone will be admitted free as soon as the dispatches begin coming in. All the details have not yet been worked out, but it is probable that the regular movie program will first be run after which those who wish to do so may remain for the returns.

Four years ago The Times followed the same plan, the only difference being that the auditorium was rented for the purpose at that time. The voting for the entire city will this year be done at the auditorium and the building is therefore not available. The only alternative was the theatre and this was secured by special arrangement with Manager Brumund.

The returns will begin coming in about 10:30 o'clock at night and open house will be kept until everything that can be learned by morning has been received. It will be remembered that four years ago everyone went home fully convinced that Hughes had been elected and that it took three or four days for the result to become definitely known, the complete returns from Minnesota and California being necessary before the matter could be decided.

Make your plans in accordance with this program and be among those who get the returns first. There will be no charge of any kind.

POULTRY FANCIERS PLAN ANNUAL SHOW

Exhibition to be Staged at Thief River Falls November 22, 23 and 24.

The Pennington County Poultry association is making great preparations for the poultry show to be held in Thief River Falls on November 22, 23 and 24. The show will be held at the auditorium and prospects are that the large building will be taxed to capacity to house the exhibits. Pennington county is rapidly coming to the front as a producer of high grade poultry, a fact which has amply been demonstrated by the high quality of exhibits at all shows held during recent years. The show this year will be larger and better than any of its predecessors.

An effort is being made by the officers of the association to secure from the state game and fish commission its exhibit of game and fish which are natives of the state. This is an excellent educational feature and will add greatly to the interest of the poultry show.

The present officers of the Pennington County Poultry association are L. H. Lawrence, president; J. J. McCann, secretary, and Mrs. H. C. Woolson, treasurer.

NEW STATE ROAD IS PLANNED IN COUNTY

Project Backers Propose to Establish Highway Between Oklee and Roseau.

People residing in the eastern part of the county are active in a movement for a new state road for that territory. The plan is to connect with the Jefferson highway at Oklee and to proceed northward to the trunk line at Roseau, passing through Red Lake, Pennington, Marshall and Roseau counties. The proposed road will pass through Goodridge and the people of that village are naturally much in favor of the move. A. C. Tvedt, a pioneer Goodridge business man, is prominently identified with the well organized effort to secure the road.

It is asserted by those in favor of the plan that the new road would shorten the distance between Oklee and Roseau by at least 50 miles. The road would connect with east and west roads to Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls and the Indian reservation, Holt and Grygla, Middle River and Gatzke and would provide a main outlet for all four counties. Besides the terminal points the only market place with railroad connections is Goodridge. All other points are inland towns, 15 to 25 miles from a railroad. Motor truck traffic between Grygla and Goodridge is very heavy and the road improvement is badly-needed there. A state road is already established from Grygla westward.

FOSSTON FOOT BALL STARS HERE SUNDAY

Thief River Falls City Team Scheduled for Hardest Battle of Season.

Next Sunday the football fans of Thief River Falls and vicinity will be given another chance to receive a few thrills. On the afternoon of that day the local city team will take on the notoriously strong Fosston city team at the fair grounds and those who are in a position to know state that it will be a battle royal.

The Thief River Falls team has been materially strengthened since the game with Crookston a couple of weeks ago and this, together with some hard practice, makes the boys feel they have a chance to put it all over the visitors next Sunday. It is asserted by the local management that this will be the fastest game of football ever played in the Northwest—and that's going some. Among the stars in the Thief River lineup may be mentioned Perry Johnson, Guy Johnson, Dudley and Holzknecht, who will play the back field. This bunch should be able to hold down the enemy if anybody can.

The game next Sunday afternoon will be called at three o'clock sharp and it is hoped that a good crowd will be on hand to boost for the home lads. Fosston always sends a loyal gang of rooters with its team when it plays away from home and they will be here in all their glory next Sunday.

New Rules Promulgated For Legion Annual Dues

At the second national convention of the American Legion in Cleveland, Sept. 27-29, the committee on finance and dues returned a report, which was passed by the convention as follows:

That the National dues of the American Legion for bonafide new members joining the Legion on or after October 1, 1920, and prior to December 31, 1920, be $1.25, which will pay the National dues of such members until December 31, 1921. State dues are $1 and dues for local post have not yet been determined.

This means that each new member who joins the local post between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31 of this year will pay only twenty five cents for National dues for the remainder of 1920 and one dollar for National dues for 1921, the total of $1.25 to be paid on joining. This covers subscription to the American Legion Weekly until Dec. 31, 1921. This proposition should prove attractive to the ex-service men who are being sought as prospective members.

SALVATION ARMY TO INCREASE ACTIVITY

Plans For Work in State Nearing Completion—Drive For Funds Successful.

Contingent upon the success of the Salvation Army financial program in Minnesota, which calls for the raising of $268,050, plans that have already been completed at divisional headquarters in Minneapolis, in pursuance with the policies outlined in the 1920 home service program, will be inaugurated throughout the state at the earliest date possible.

"With the successful functioning of the program, the Salvation Army's activities will be wide-spread in their scope, and will extend to every township in the various counties of Minnesota on a larger scale than ever before attempted," said Colonel William S. Barker, divisional commander.

Returns received to date indicate that Minnesota will reach its apportionment. County chairmen are bending every effort to secure reports from their workers in the rural districts, and when these are turned in the present total will be increased considerably.

"Everywhere county workers have expressed a determination to continue the drive until their quota is reached. Despite the handicap of an insufficient number of workers, we have every assurance that the loyal co-operation and support of the citizens will enable Minnesota to reach its goal," said Henry C. Hanko, chairman of the state advisory board.

"While but few counties have reached their quotas, quite a number are nearing the goal and expect to go over the top before the close of the week," he added.

LOCAL SCHOOL TEAM DEFEATS CROOKSTON

Football Warriors Take Old Enemy to Camp in Snappy Game on Saturday.

Just to prove that they have been doing some practicing and are rapidly getting into real form, the Thief River Falls high school football team last Saturday afternoon defeated the Crookston high school team by the decisive score of 32 to 13. The game was played at the fair grounds in this city.

The contest was full of excitement from beginning to end and furnished plenty of thrills for the spectators. The Thief River boys had the heavier aggregation and took the offensive from the start, holding their opponents to two touchdowns. It was a clean-cut game and the locals showed up to much better advantage than in previous contests this season. Diligent practice has been the rule among the Thief River lads for some time and it is getting results.

With the spirit and the ability displayed by the Thief River lads on Saturday continued throughout the season, they have an excellent chance of winning the district championship. The local schools never have had a better team than the one now representing the institution. The boys have some strong teams to go up against before winning the championship, however, and cannot afford to rest on their oars.

MR. SCHUSTER COMES TO THE FRONT.

Tells His Friends and Neighbors of His Experience.

Every Thief River Falls resident should read what Mr. Schuster says, and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?

Chas. Schuster, 622 St. Paul Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are just as advertised. My back has been bothering me for a long time and I couldn't bend over without pain across my loins. Some mornings I couldn't get out of bed my back was so sore and stiff and I was obliged to get up nights on account of kidney weakness. As soon as I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had relief and I have felt better ever since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Schuster had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

Drive to Complete Quota For Pavilion Determined

The campaign for the Red River Valley live stock pavilion is going on apace. On Tuesday C. G. Selvig, C. C. Strander, J. D. McPhee and W. E. McKenzie met in Ada to interview the people of central Norman county, where the association has many ardent boosters but where no concerted drive has yet been launched. Prominent farmers from both the eastern and western parts of Norman county met with the local men.

Marshall, Red Lake, Pennington, Clearwater and Roseau counties have unpaid quotas that will be secured the next ten days. Kittson county is nearly over the top. There is considerable work yet to be done both in Crookston and in Polk county but the determination to see the project through is present, which assures success.

Attention, Painters and Decorators.

Get the spirit, "I can succeed." Our school can raise your wages whether you are a dollar-a-day man or a dollar-an-hour man. Devote a little of your time to studies, which is equal to adding to your stock in dollars and cents. Anyone who looks for an increase in salary must devote some time to learning, and only the one who "knows" is the one who gets the good jobs. This is true and you cannot get by.

Now in order to help you to get started to increase your present knowledge and your wage earning capacity, apply to Mr. Schmitt at the industrial building near the high school. He has the experience of a good number of years in that trade and has worked out a course that will fit your needs.

Respond promptly; you cannot afford to waste your time. An evening class will be organized soon, and if we get a reasonable number of applicants or beginners who may come right from the city or country or nearby towns, an all-day trade school will be arranged for. o21

Speaks to Railroaders.

J. H. Lensted of Minneapolis, connected with the railroad men's legislative organization, spoke to a small audience at the Princess theatre last Friday evening. The speaker reviewed the political situation from the standpoint of organized labor and strongly urged his fellow workers to support Dr. Shipstead and the other independent candidates for state office.

On Friday evening last at the residence of S. M. Poston, the Epworth League of the M. E. church tendered a reception to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Poston and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Seltau, these young couples having been recently united in the bonds of holy matrimony. After a fine lunch had been served and merry games indulged in, the newlyweds were presented with a piece of cut glass as a token of appreciation on the part of the League.

J. O. Linde returned the first of the week from Chicago, where he had been in attendance at the wedding of his son, Colman J. Linde, to Gracia Loraine Lockrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Lockrey of that city, which took place on Tuesday, Oct. 12, at 8 p. m. The groom has for some time been in the employ of a large construction firm at LaSalle, Ill., as a structural engineer and the newlyweds will make that city their home. The wedding is the culmination of a romance which begun when Mr. Linde was a member of the navy and stationed at Great Lakes during the war.

Austinson-Dahle

August Austinson of Steiner and Belle Dahle of Thief River Falls were united in marriage Tuesday afternoon at the Zion Lutheran parsonage, Rev. George Larson officiating in the presence of Palmer Dahle, a brother of the bride and Minnie Ahlstrom. The newly married couple will make their home near Steiner on a farm.

Entertains at Dinner.

W. A. Barnard was host to a company of his friends on Monday evening and entertained them at a dinner party at the Evelyn hotel. Following the repast the guests repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Christianson, where the hours were spent at cards. Mrs. Christianson won highest honors for the women and F. C. Niclai took first place on the men's side. Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Niclai, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mabey, Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Mellby, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Mogensen, Dr. and Mrs. L. P. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. BonDurant, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Christianson, Miss Laura Forde and Miss Johnson were the guests.

Loken-Owen.

A marriage of particular interest to local people is that of George Loken of this city to Miss Mildred Owen of Alexandria which occurred at the latter place on October 12. Both are prominent members of the younger set, the bride having been employed here for the past two years as stenographer for the Prichard Co., while the groom is one of the enterprising young business men, having for the past eight years been connected with the Loken Bros. Department Store. After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Loken will return to this city and will be at home after Nov. 1, at their residence, 708 Knight Ave. N. The Times joins their host of friends in extending congratulations.

Community Girls' Meeting.

An unusually large attendance marked the opening of the club season for the Community Girls on Monday evening. Not only was the attendance large but a congenial spirit and enthusiasm existed which plainly showed that the members would have many good times this winter as well as accomplish a great deal of work in connection with the club. The evening was opened with a short program which consisted of a reading by Miss Una Nelson, a vocal solo by Miss [illegible] and a violin selection by [illegible] Holmberg. This was followed by a business session. Mrs. E. M. Stanton's interesting report of the convention of Women's clubs at Northfield was read. The remainder of the evening was spent in getting acquainted and in dancing. Delicious refreshments served by the executive board concluded a most pleasant evening.

SAYS IT WAS HIS MAIN BUSINESS

Minnesota Farmer Makes Trip of Many Miles to Renew His Supply of Tanlac.

"I've come to town today on business, and the main part of it is to get more Tanlac," was the statement made by Alfred Bauer, a prosperous farmer living at Buhl, Minnesota, while in St. Paul recently.

"I had always been a strong and healthy man until two years ago, when my stomach and kidneys got all out of order and I have been gradually getting worse ever since. My appetite went back on me and I fell off in weight until it scared me. The little I ate turned against me and caused gas to form on my stomach so bad I could hardly stand it. My kidneys worried me continually and my back hurt terribly and I was subject to awful weak spells. Every few days I had to take something for constipation and I often had severe dizzy spells.

"About five weeks ago I started taking Tanlac and actually it has built me up so fast I don't feel like the same man. Why, my troubles have all been completely stopped and I can't tell there was ever anything the matter with me. I never had a better apetite than I have now and I enjoy three big hearty meals every day without a sign of stomach trouble. My kidneys are in fine shape and I never have any more pains in my back. I am not constipated any more and don't know what it is to have a dizzy spell. I have picked up several pounds in weight and feel as strong as a mule. My health is as good as anybody's and Tanlac is what gave it to me."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's drug store, at Oklee by John H. Gassman and at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm.—adv.

The Gasoline Situation in 1910 and Now

IN 1910 there were approximately 400 thousand cars in the United States.

To operate these cars there was available a gasoline production of 750 million gallons, or, approximately, 1875 gallons per car.

In 1919 there were more than 7 million cars and trucks operating in the United States.

To supply these engines there was available, according to Bureau of Mines Report, 3 billion, 957 million gallons of gasoline, or, approximately, 565 gallons per car.

In neither case has consideration been given to the demand of tractors, stationary gas engines, or the gasoline required by the arts and industries. Nor have we considered the large volume of this product shipped abroad annually.

The above figures are presented so that you may visualize one of the problems the petroleum industry has been called upon to solve in the past decade.

In 1910 the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) marketed about 20 percent of the gasoline output of the United States, or approximately 150 million gallons. In 1919 this Company sold about 640 million gallons of gasoline, or about 17 percent of the total for that year.

It has been the task of the 7 men who manage the affairs of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for the 5124 stockholders, not one of whom owns as much as 10 percent of the total, to expand the organization not only to keep pace with, but to keep ahead of the extraordinary and persistent demand for gasoline.

How well they have succeeded is illustrated clearly by the fact that in the 10-year period above mentioned, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has taken a leading part in increasing gasoline production 440 percent, while crude oil production increased only 94 percent.

A Good Time To Repair

Now that harvest is over, the farmer has time to look around and see to getting things snug for winter. He will find that many things need looking after and will need something in the way of building material.

That's where our service will stand him in hand. No order too small to receive our most careful consideration and none too large that we cannot fill it from the stock on hand.

WARREN G. HARDING
Your Kind of Man and—

The Next President of the United States

The Next President.

As certain as anything can be, in this world, is the election of Senator Harding.

To readers of this newspaper, the many family groups to which it comes a regular welcome visitor, Senator Harding's face shines as that of a friend.

Senator Harding, your next President, is your kind of man. You see him, hear a few words, and you know it.

He was born in a small town, has lived there all his life, lives there now, and will live there again when he leaves the White House with his work for the country done.

How He Lives.

He lives as you live, simply, in the old fashioned American way.

The main residence street in any little American town, boasts half a dozen homes more elaborate than Senator Harding's, and many as good.

Millions of men, believing in this country, devoted to its government, SATISFIED with the UNITED STATES, believe that the United States is able to deal with its own problems, and settle its own questions free from outside assistance or interference.

Those millions of men are men of the same sort as Senator Harding.

What Kind of Man.

Harding is a big American in physical size, thanks to vigorous farming ancestors. He is a big American also in heart, in understanding, in sympathy and in simplicity.

You read his speeches and know that he does not imagine himself created to tell all the world what to do. He believes in, and he understands the American people, his friends, the citizens of his own little town, Marion, Ohio, and the dwellers in thousands of other towns like it.

Your Servant, No Autocrat.

After you have elected him, you will find in Senator Harding an earnest, conscientious, straight thinking servant of the people, not an autocrat, but a man respecting the traditions of American government, and the Constitution of the United States.

Senator Harding understands that the people will elect him to be President of the United States, not President of the whole world. He will know that he is employed by the PEOPLE of this country to look after the interests of THIS country.

Born on a farm, living all his life close to farmers, he knows and sympathizes with the problems of the farm. Living in the average American way, in the average American small town, he knows the problems of the average American. He understands the printers he employs, and he knows their trade and sets type as they do.

His Ambition.

Senator Harding has no ambition to be called a political superman, or RULER of America. It is his ambition to be known as a good American, a faithful servant of those that trust him.

National politics are discussed this year less than at any election since the republic was founded. Why? Because men do not discuss, to any great extent, that which is DEFINITELY SETTLED.

And this national election is definitely settled as you read this. YOU know it.

But it is important that demonstration of the popular will should be of the most overwhelming kind. Therefore the good citizen will do what he can to increase the vote for Harding, should there be any doubtful votes within reach of his voice.

It is almost ludicrously difficult to find a man or woman that intends to vote the Democratic ticket this year.

But if you do find one, show him or her this picture of the next President. And express in your own way the reasons that inspire you to approve and vote for him.

What is Senator Harding's outlook upon life? It is YOUR OWN.

Read these extracts from one of his recent speeches:

> "This government is your government, not that of somebody who is placed in office."
>
> "You clothe us with authority. We are pleased to execute your will. And one reason I want the Republican party in power once more is because we are responsive to the will of the people of the United States and do not try to tell you that what one man thinks is necessary."

No hallucination there, no idea that Harding was made to rule, and YOU, who read this newspaper, made to be ruled, or preached at from above by your own elected servant.

The duty of the American, whether he be President or simple citizen, is not complicated in Mr. Harding's mind. He says:

> "As I said at the outset, government is a very simple thing, government is only the regulation of our relationships to one another. The government's first task is the protection of the minority against autocracy, or the domination of the majority that sometimes forgets the rights of the minority."
>
> "I am preaching the gospel of popular representative government in the United States, a government that does not know any class anywhere in all this Republic."

In his speeches and in his daily life, running for the Presidency or running his country newspaper, Senator Harding is just an everyday American neighbor. This is what he says, as he bids farewell to a crowd of friends:

> "I am very happy to see you all this morning. As I have said, I want you to know me, and I am delighted to know you. We are going to work together for the good of the United States, and we are going to hold America first in all our thoughts and in all our actions."

Women Voting.

Women especially have reason to congratulate themselves on the fact that Senator Harding will be the next President.

Their sons are taken in war. Their husbands and fathers are taxed to pay for war. They spend the lonely hours of dreadful anxiety, while the son is away.

They, above all, are interested in having for President such a man as Senator Harding.

He does not believe that foreign powers should be allowed to conscript American boys for war beyond the seas.

He does not believe that a Foreign Council should send to America for men and money to settle wars not of our making.

Senator Harding does not believe that this country should be taxed to finance the ambitions or the land greed of foreign nations, and as he believes, so the earnest men and women of this country believe.

When you cast your vote for Senator Harding, you will vote for YOUR KIND OF MAN, the intelligent, straighforward, unpretentious American citizen. President Harding will be an American President, not an international President.

You will have in the White House a man of constructive mind, a plain American with no dreams of world dominion, but with a settled determination to restore normal conditions and normal prosperity to this country.

After the War.

After a war that has destroyed old conditions, cost many lives, squandered many billions in reckless extravagance and dishonesty, and weakened respect for the Constitution, you need for President a straightforward, constructive American.

And you will have such a man in the White House after the 4th of next March, for after that the President of the United States will be Warren G. Harding, your kind of man, one that you would gladly trust with your own affairs, and the affairs of your country.

C. M. Evenson & Sons
Thief River Falls, Minn.

To the Voters of the 65th Legislative District:

Having at the request of my friends, filed as a candidate for reelection as Representative of this District, I hereby announce my candidacy, and respectfully solicit your support and vote. In doing so, I refer you to my past record which I believe to be fully consistent with my platform of two years ago.

As Agriculture is the basic industry of our country, and the Farmer the mainstay of the nation, I favor and shall, if re-elected, give my hearty support to all measures tending to benefit the Farmer and to promote the farming industry—as anything that will contribute to the welfare of the Farmer, will in a like degree benefit all the people of the District.

I am a firm believer in co-operation, and favor such co-operative laws as will enable the farmer to co-operate to best advantage both in the line of production as well as marketing—to the end that the middle-men's profit may as far as possible be eliminated or minimized, so the farmer may receive the fullest rewards for his labor that he merits.

I favor Farmers' State Hail Insurance at the lowest rate consistant with sound business policy.

I favor a reduction in the freight charges of common carriers, believing the present high freight rates as exorbitant, and discriminating to the farmer; and I also favor the compulsion of the Railway companies to live up to the State law of 2 cents per mile for carrying passengers.

In order that true prosperity may be had, it is necessary that the operation of the manufacturing industries in the Cities should go hand in hand with the production on the farm, and that the laborer who operates the wheels of industry should also be contented and prosperous. Such honest legislation should therefore be had as will tend to promote the welfare of the working class—laws that will give the laborer just redress for just grievances.

I am in favor of a just State Workmen's Compensation insurance. I believe in the right to collective bargaining.

"Ignorance breeds crime," while education edifies and uplifts, and is the foundation upon which our Government rests. I therefore favor such laws as will tend to foster and promote education, and favor such liberal appropriations for school aid as may be necessary for the proper education of our youth. I favor such reasonable salaries to teachers as will tend to induce more students to prepare themselves for teachers, and to the end that the teaching profession may be kept in a high degree of proficiency.

In the event that Amendment No. 1 should carry, I favor the enactment of most stringent laws governing the work to be performed thereunder, as well as the disposition of the funds thereby created—laws that will most effectually eliminate all possible graft, to the end that a dollar's worth of good roads will be received for every dollar expended.

I favor a State Budget System, and that the State government be run in an economic business way, to the end that the tax burden of the people may be lightened.

I favor a just and equitable tonage tax—such as will make the mining corporations pay their just share of the taxes.

I was born on a farm in Goodhue county, this state, more than fifty years ago, and, with the exception of seven years spent at St. Olaf's College, Northfield and eight years as Deputy Clerk of Court of Polk county, (when Red Lake and Pennington counties were a part thereof) I have always been engaged in farming, and have been a resident of this District for more than 20 years, so am thoroughly acquainted with, and in sympathy with the needs of the District, and if re-elected it shall be my endeavor to serve the District faithfully, and to give every measure due and careful consideration, so as to be able to vote intelligently to the best interest of the District and the State.

Respectfully submitted,
MARTIN O. SORTEDAHL.

GOVERNOR JAMES M. COX.

From a photograph taken at Seattle, Wash., during the Democratic Candidate's recent visit to the Pacific Coast.

JIMMY'S COAT.

Take a slant at Jimmy's coat,
Tiger-striped, as you will note;
Murpheyesque in lines and hue,
Taggart-like in motif too.

How can he proclaim he's dry
With this garb to shock the eye?
Tailors wouldn't dare to put
Such a thing on "Pussyfoot."

Jimmy's raiment harks us back
To the festive racing track.
Can't you hear the "bookies" shout
And the whispers of the tout?

Needn't tell us where he's at—
Wet or dry—his coat tells that.
Bryan took one slant at it,
Then his heart curled up and quit.

—CARLTON FITCHETT.

Cox Wiggles and Wobbles.

BY SCOTT C. BONE.

Candidate Cox, recklessly charging that the Republican party had set out to corrupt the electorate by raising a fund of $15,000,000 with which to "buy the presidency," has been utterly confuted by the facts.

Instead, it has been completely established that the goal fixed by Chairman Hays was only one-fifth that amount, or $3,000,000, with contributions rigidly limited to $1,000, and that never before has a campaign fund been so free from the taint of corporate, sinister or sordid influences.

That an overtaxed, overburdened and weary country, paying the cost of incompetence, incapacity and extravagance in governmental affairs and maladministration at Washington, would welcome relief at any price legitimately expended may be taken for granted.

But only in the wild dreams of Candidate Cox—who stands committed to Wilsonism and the wastefulness of Wilsonism, with everything that Wilsonism typifies and implies—has any such expenditure as Candidate Cox charged ever been remotely conceived or for a moment contemplated.

Even his foremost newspaper champions—organs of the international banking crowd which favor his candidacy because, with equal rashness, he promises that if elected he will go into the Wilson League of Nations—editorially admit that his slush fund charges have proven groundless.

Candidate Cox's credibility as a witness has similarly been damaged by the wet and dry issue confronting him.

To the indisputable proof that the New Jersey Liquor Dealers' Association is appealing for funds to elect him as a "pronounced wet" he replies that the liquor interests of Ohio never contributed to any of his campaigns.

Yet a sworn statement, signed by the secretary of the Ohio Liquor Dealers' Association and on file in the secretary of state's office, shows that that organization contributed a substantial sum out of its treasury to the Cox campaign of 1916.

And in the face of it all, having withstood for months, in silence, William Jennings Bryan's denunciation of him as a "wet" and unfit to run for president, Candidate Cox, with characteristic audacity, now assures a North Dakota crowd that "I have always voted dry!"

Imagine Boss Murphy, Boss Taggart, Boss Brennan and that Youngstown Apostle of Light and Uplift, Ed Moore, contriving the nomination at San Francisco of a candidate who had "always voted dry!" Imagine it, if you can!

Shade of John Barleycorn! What a spectacle is presented in American politics!

OLD AND NEW COX SLOGANS.

Washington. — The following interesting interview with Governor James M. Cox of Ohio was published in the hotel column of the Washington Post four years ago—viz, on July 29, 1916:

"Ohio is not the only state where the people are shouting the praises of the President for having preserved peace in the United States. Our honor has remained unsullied. The slogan 'He Kept Us Out of War' will be the most effective argument the Democrats can use in the campaign. Americanism has been pre-empted by the President, and every other problem of national import has been met squarely and satisfactorily."

This tends to show the caliber of Governor Cox. With him it is anything to win, any sort of a catch phrase, slogan or anything to deceive or fool the people.

HARDING TO THE FARMERS.

Senator Harding's speech to the farmers of the country, delivered at the Minnesota State Fair, is commendable not only for the subject matter and the constructive statesmanship which it contains, but for the calm and dignified tone which prevails throughout the entire address. Nothing could more thoroughly impress intelligent people with the difference in the senator and his opponent and their qualifications for the presidency than Senator Harding's comprehensive discussion of the agricultural problems of the nation and the solution which must be applied to them and the political harangue delivered at the same place by Governor Cox.—Sioux City (Ia.) Journal.

"PARTY FACES DISASTER"—GORE

Senator Thomas Gore, Democrat, of Oklahoma, who was defeated for renomination through the influence of the White House because of his opposition to the League of Nations, plainly indicates that he proposes to continue his fight upon the league. The blind senator says:

"The paramount issue is to avert disaster; nobody favors the league that understands it.

"The women of Maine have read it. It is no wonder about the women. It is no marvel about the mothers. They are not willing to mortgage the pound of flesh nearest their hearts.

"They are not willing to sign this bloody bond which is a first lien upon the life of every boy beneath the stars and stripes.

"He was blind indeed who had not already seen the black shadow of the Maine elections visioned upon the horizon."

BACK PORCH CAMPAIGN TO BE BEGUN SOON BY WILSON.

Washington. — Gradually being pushed to the rear by the progress of the canvass it is now announced that President Wilson is to wage a "Back-Porch" campaign. The local evening papers announce this fact and say that the plan is being discussed by the Administration leaders. It may even come within a week, some of these leaders believe. Edmund H. Moore, who managed Governor Cox's pre-convention campaign, is given credit for this rear attack on the Harding method of using the front porch.

KEPT OUT OF WAR, NOW SERVES COX

Publisher's Son Escaped Military Service Through Democratic Nominee's Influence.

Young, able-bodied, rich, a strapping big fellow, who ~~possessed all the physical~~ equipment of an American soldier, save, evidently, heart, Robert P. Scripps was kept out of the war through Administration influences.

He was exempted.

The local draft board of Butler County, O., rejected his plea and held that there was no valid claim for his exemption and that he should surely don a uniform and shoulder arms, but Secretary of War Baker's law partner, Tom Sidle, was employed to save the youthful slacker. Governor Cox took a hand in the case, and finally, by White House decree, he went scot free.

His multi-millionaire father, E. W. Scripps, controlling owner of the Scripps League of Newspapers and the Newspaper Enterprise Association, a powerful combination, threatened to overthrow the Administration rather than permit either of his sons to answer the call of Uncle Sam.

Administration Exempts Slacker.

Having helped to re-elect Woodrow Wilson President on the issue, "He kept us out of war," the elder Scripps demanded that his sons be kept out of war. And the Administration kept them out.

Young Robert Scripps, who had never done any real newspaper work, was given the title of Assistant to the Publisher of the Scripps League of Newspapers to create an excuse for his exemption. Finally he was ordered home from Camp Sherman by Governor Cox, after he had been in uniform for ten days.

All these facts and more of an equally astounding and discreditable character were brought out by the Kenyon Senatorial Committee, which subpoenaed young Scripps to Washington to explain his activities in the present campaign.

Now Supporting Cox.

He is today editor in chief of the Scripps League of Newspapers and the Newspaper Enterprise Association and is putting out daily pink propaganda sheets of a lurid and sensational character in support of the candidacy of Governor Cox.

Samples of these sheets were submitted to the committee, and Senator Reed, Democrat, frankly denounced the propaganda as "rot" and manifested extreme impatience and disgust with the young man's loose talk about a "Senate oligarchy" and criticism of the Supreme Court.

Young Scripps, although he did not fight for his country in 1917-18, insisted that he was doing it all through love of country and in the "public interest," without any pay from the Democratic committee or thought of obligation for keeping him out of war.

The draft-dodging aspects of the case, as brought out at Washington, are not unlike those of young Bergdoll of Philadelphia, which resulted in a Federal prosecution for conspiracy to evade the draft.

Fifth Cousin Roosevelt devoted his speech at Providence, R. I., to a defense of eight years of Democratic administration. Six weeks is a very short time for doing much along that line.

The Cox slogan seems to be "Misrepresentation Without Relaxation."

NIGHT DRIVING SAFE

A NEW INVENTION, the HEAD LIGHT GOGGLE, no matter how bright the approaching light, it gives a clear unblinded view of the road in front of and on the side of the approaching car. CATTLE MARKET AND HOGS STILL LOWER General Tendency Downward With Receipts Normal, Sheep Receipts Reduced.

South St. Paul, Oct. 18—The local supply of cattle last week was practically the same as the previous week totaling around 30,000 cattle and 6,000 calves. A slumpy dressed meat trade at Eastern consuming centers, light demand from the country for stockers and feeders and lower outside markets especially at Chicago resulted in a lower market locally. The general market closed 25 to 75c with spots at $1.00 lower. Beef steers sold from $6.00 to $12.25, with bulk of common and medium grades which predominated in the supply, from $6 to $8.50. Cows and heifers sold largely from $4.50 to $6.50, with a few sales on up to $8.00 or more. Canners sold from $3.00 to $3.75, very few above $3.50 at the close. Cutters brought $3.75 to $4.50. Bulls went mostly at $4.00 to $6.00 for bologna, with a few beef bulls on up to $7.00 or better. Veal calves declined 50c per day, beginning Tuesday, closing top being $13.00, with best heavy calves at $7.00 to $7.50. Feeders sold largely from $5.50 to $9.50, with choice kinds higher. Stockers brought mostly $4.50 to $6.50, with a few up to $8.00 or better.

Declines were noted in the hog market on early days of last week, and some of the mixed and in-between classes showed a loss of 25c or more for the week. Tops held right at the $14.75 mark, with general bulk of all sales in a range of $14.00 to $14.50, and straight packing sows mostly from $13.50 to $14.00. Country demand for pigs was healthy and prices held practically parallel with hogs, one extra fancy load topping the week's trade at $15.00, with bulk of good feeders at the close from $14.00 to $14.50.

Sharply lighter supplies of sheep and lambs were received at leading centers last week and the trade naturally anticipated some advance in values. Warm weather cut into the consumption of lamb and mutton, however, and live prices closed steady to 25c lower. Good and choice native lambs sold largely at $10.25 to $10.75 with Dakota topping at $11.00. Cull lambs went at $6.00 to $6.50, mostly. Feeders sold from $11.00 to $11.50 for good kinds. A few choice ewes topped at $5.25 with bulk of good kinds at $5.00 and culls $2.00 to $3.50, canners $1.00 to $1.50.

Weekly Market Review.

(Quinn-Shepherdson Co. Minneapolis)

Except for a fair upward re-action in wheat the markets during the week have reflected nothing new of consequence.

Wheat holds the center of the stage and its trend should influence the action of coarse grains, the large yields of which are admittedly well discounted in price, at least for the present. It is considered probable that coarse grain prices will continue hesitant awaiting developments of a change in attitude of both the country seller and the cash buyers who are now deadlocked in refusals of one to sell and the other to buy.

Broomhall, a recognized world's statistical expert, cables that European crops of wheat and rye this year total 1,294,000,000 showing a decrease of 30 million bushels from the previous year, which probably accounts for our unusually heavy exports thus far.

Technically wheat is in a stronger position than ever. The government's report reducing the spring wheat crop from 262 million in July to 218 million for October was a tremendous drop and approaches our prediction of August 6 that final returns should not be over 225 million.

European wheat requirements are estimated at 620 million and non-European import needs 40 million, a total of 560 million. About 600 million was exported to Europe last year but it is stated that port stocks in the United Kingdom are now 29 million, whereas only 12 million was accumulated there during the corresponding time a year ago. Against these requirements of 540 million it is estimated that North America, including the carry-over from last year, can supply about 400 million. The key to the situation therefore may be said to be in the condition of the growing crops in Argentine and Australia. It is the concensus of opinion that India's exportable surplus will be of no material proportions. Favorable yields in the Southern hemisphere should insure a sufficiency of world's needs and bring about a quicker return to lower living costs, while an unfavorable turn in the news may be expected to create higher levels that can be held down only by Europe's inability to pay the price.

From all appearances, the entire nation is in concert to enforce lower prices and it must be plain even to the casual observer that the present year is an unfavorable one for purchases based on the expectation of higher values later. The fact remains, however, that all grains have had long and severe declines with a large volume of short sales outstanding that must be met with actual shipments of grain from the country where the holding tendency of the producer is determined and very much of a factor in preventing a normal movement. Moreover American prices, especially coarse grains, are now such as to compete with or undersell the usually cheaper Argentine offerings, and a resumption of corn and oats export sales, therefore, can be expected momentarily.

Rural Carrier Examination.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the County of Pennington, to be held at Thief River Falls on Nov. 13, 1920, to fill the position of rural carrier at Thief River Falls and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other postoffices in the above mentioned county. The examination will be open only to citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a postoffice in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. Both men and women, if qualified, may enter this examination, but appointing officers have the legal right to specify the sex desired in requesting certification of eligibles. Women will not be considered for rural carrier appointment unless they are the widows of U. S. soldiers, sailors, or marines, or the wives of U. S. soldiers, sailors or marines who are physically disqualified for examination by reason of injuries received in the line of military duty. Form No. 1977 and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington.

There is a vacancy at present on Route 2 and the salary for this route is $2,010 per annum.

EVERYBODY HAPPY AND NOBODY HURT

Being a Short and Punchy Version of a Long, Long Story —It's Different.

Women voters, as well as men, may read with interest this brief explanation of a vitally important subject that is taking much space in newspapers:

"Road funds of $16,682,000 were spent last year by Minnesota counties and towns. From 65 to 80 cents of every dollar—probably more than $10,000,000 of the total—was used to maintain and improve main highways. Not more than $7,000,000 and possibly nearer $5,000,000 was spent on the local or farmers' roads.

Minnesota proposes to get more than $26,000,000 of road money next year and more each succeeding year, all without increasing taxes or issuing bonds. Here are the approximate figures:

Tax receipts	$17,000,000
Automobile license fees	6,300,000
Federal aid	2,840,000
Total	$26,140,000

The state proposes next year to take over the main highways and with license funds and federal aid money to maintain and improve them as traffic, availability of materials and other conditions demand. The fund provided will be ample, officials state, in view of the scarcity of labor and materials and because liberal appropriations made by local authorities, sometimes at the expense of the other roads, have put many main roads in good condition.

Counties and towns will be left $17,000,000 of tax funds for upkeep and improvement of local roads, without main highway demands to take three-fourths of it as before. They will concentrate all efforts and have far greater funds for the building of the best lateral roads.

Every road will be a good road—everybody happy and nobody hurt, for automobile and truck owners who must pay the extra cost favor the plan because of the big savings on car upkeep, tires and gasoline that good roads make possible.

But more than half the men and women voters must vote 'yes', on Amendment No. 1 on the pink ballot at the November 2 election to put the new plan into effect. Otherwise Minnesota probably will stay stuck in the mud, and also, may be forced to raise road taxes and sell bonds to keep from becoming completely interred.

Editorial.

There are many students who attend school just for the sake of having somewhere to go; and as day after day passes, nothing is accomplished. With only a few exceptions, everyone has some ambition in life, so why waste your time? The few exceptions are the ones we do not care for in our high school, because they are there as "draw-backs" to the rest of the students. Why does the city provide for schools and teachers? Just because it is a custom? No, because an education is what everyone strives for and every parent does everything within his means to give his children the best education possible. Why should we not all appreciate an opportunity and stop and realize what we would be without an education?

What's the matter, Seniors?

Do you remember how much that word "Seniors" meant to you when you were a Freshman? It was your one aim to become, thru hard and persistent effort, a "Senior." You were even willing to take the scoffs and slams, to which Freshmen are subject, that you might some day be a member of this class.

But now that you have reached that goal how different it seems. Some of us have perhaps acquired what might be considered a fairly good education along lines of history, mathematics, languages, etc.

Has our education been so narrow and limited as to exclude responsibility? Of what value is a knowledge gained from books if we have not learned to face our duties, instead of shirk them?

In this respect our class is lacking; that is, there is a tendency toward throwing all the responsibility on a few conscientious workers, while the rest either criticize or show a lack of interest.

Not only is there a lack of responsibility but also of class interest. Class spirit instead of increasing has been sadly diminishing. If the Senior class shows no such spirit what can be expected of the Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors? If you're a poor booster for your class, you're naturally a poor booster for your High School. Don't let your enthusiasm drop because somebody's else does. Even if things don't turn out just as you wished, keep your spirit up and you'll be of real value to your class.

We don't want our High School to be dead and "Pepless," so let's see the Seniors arouse some enthusiasm.

Our school paper was brought into being with two aims in view; to strengthen the relationship between the school and the public and to develop a greater school spirit. How is this paper to affect us personally unless we are directly associated with it to some degree? Only a few can be members of the publishing staff, so the rest of the school must furnish material for the paper. Voluntary contributions do not bring about the desired result. Only a few will write and the paper is thus apt to become "all the work of the best students, rather than the best work of all the students."

"By our deeds shall they know us." If we, the students, put out a good school paper, the public will think that we are really accomplishing something here. If the Journalism class is to furnish all the material as well as print the paper, its name must be changed from "High School Progress" to "Journalism Progress," as it will not represent the whole school but one small class.

The only way to make our school paper a success is to make writing for it a part of the English work. In most classes newspaper writing so closely resembles the ordinary English work that it may be introduced without unbalancing the English course. If each student is expected to hand in some material within a specified time, he or she will at least try to write something, and as the paper requires quite a variety of articles, it should not be impossible.

Newspaper writing also has an appreciable educational value. It is safe to say that every student in high school will in later life be either a newspaper writer or a newspaper reader. Those who enter the journalistic field will find their experience here of great advantage to them and the average newspaper reader will better appreciate a good article if he during his by-gone school days attempted to produce something similar.

Mass Meeting.

Friday afternoon at 2:30 a mass meeting was held for the football game on Saturday and also to elect a yell leader. Manager Smithers was in charge of the meeting.

Edward Fiterman was elected yell-master and Nora Lindquist assistant. The new leader then led the high school in some yells. Later different football men were called upon to speak and those responding were "Tiny" Evenson, "Curly" McDaniels and Russell Anderson. Their talks were of much interest and stirred lots of enthusiasm among the students.

Next Mr. Tommerassen talked. He brought out the point that to win a team must be backed strongly by the students. Unless it is no team can win and is not expected to.

The purpose of these mass meetings is to create pep and spirit among the students. After all what's the use of them if we don't benefit by them? We all know that our High School has the spirit, pep and loyalty and we have a real football team to boost. But how can we expect them to win? How? By seeing every face in this High School on the side lines.

Debate in Farm Management.

Last Friday four members of the Farm Management class gave a debate before the Public Speaking class. The topic for discussion was "Resolved That in Pennington County Dairy Farming is More Profitable Than Grain Farming." The participants in the debate were: Louis Kassa and Burton Aarnes, representing the affirmative; Chester Doles and Lester Coyle, the negative. The Public Speaking class acted as judges, giving the decision to the negative.

On Friday afternoon at 3:30, the members of the Bread Club, accompanied by the Misses Poppitz, Patrick and Johnson, went out to the Sanitorium to visit one of the former members, Hazel Senate. They carried a picnic supper and camped about half a mile from the Sanitorium. The members went up to the Sanitorium in groups of three or four at a time. Only the old members were allowed to go in.

Jokes.

Proof: A piece of writing paper, an ink-lined plane, an ink lined-plane, a slope up, a slow pup, a lazy dog.—Science and Invention.

"Willie, you must stop using such dreadful language," said his mother. "Where in the world did you learn it?"

"Why mother," replied the boy, "Shakespeare uses it."

"Well then," said the mother, "stop playing with him."—The Student.

Oh Tests

I enter joyously.
I nod and smile at everyone.
I sharpen my pencil.
I take one look at
The impending disaster on the board.
Cold shivers assail me.
Ye Gods! It is too much.
I write feverishly.
I chew my pencil
And scratch my head.
I shiver and fall
In a dead faint.
I guess I — — —
Flunked.

—The Student.

Consider This.

(Manitou Messenger)

There was once a freshman whose ambition was more towering than his physique. He donned some padded clothing and betook himself to the football field to win honors and glory. but before the day was done they gathered him together tenderly and carried him to a haven of mercy where he might regain his former appearance. He never became a football player. HE BECAME A BOOSTER FOR LIFE!

"Support the team," is the challenge heard on every hand. Permit us to suggest a few other planks for the student body that wants a winning football team: Study the team; watch the team practice; sympathize with the team; know the team. These things done, the support will come spontaneously and whole-heartedly.

How many students pause to consider the time and energy spent by each member of the squad in order to fit himself for the team? How many pause to consider the physical agonies often endured—the black eyes, the broken noses, the inexpertly extracted teeth, the "charley horses" and all the other things? Every scrimmage brings its bumps and bruises and the glory comes but seldom.

Let the student consider these things and then ask himself if he is taking sufficient interest in the team. For those who are still apathetic there ought to be special classes in physical training, that they might go through the experience of the aforementioned freshman.

Y. M. C. A. Address Is Given By Helen Weeks

(Manitou Messenger)

"Our college women must be the torchbearers of the civilization of the ages," stated Helen Weeks in addressing the Y. W. C. A. last Thursday evening on the subject, "What the World Can Expect of the College Woman." The speaker stated that thruout the ages we see the profound influence of women and in proof of the assertion cited examples from Biblical times down to the present age.

"The world is full of opportunities," stated the speaker further. "In the various fields of activity now open to women, it is of paramount importance that she remain true to her trust, that she fulfills her duties to the best of her abilities. It is woman who must instill those high ideals of citizenship for which America has always stood; it is for the women of the nation to set that standard by which she shall be judged. The world calls the college woman to leadership. Let us be leaders for that which is good and true."

Miss Weeks is an alumnus of the Lincoln High School. She graduated with the class of 1917 and is now a senior at St. Olaf's.

A Normal Girl's Creed.

Finish every day and be done with it. ~~You have done what you could.~~ Some blunders and absurdities no doubt creep in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day, begin it well and serenely and with not too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense. This day is all that is good and fair. It is too dear, with its hopes and invitations to waste a moment on our yesterday.

An Honor Fitly Bestowed.

(Minneapolis Daily News.)

The Minneapolis Board of Education has done a graceful and fit thing in deciding to name the school for crippled children, "the Dowling school" to do honor to Michael J. Dowling of Oilvia, Minn.

Mr. Dowling is himself physically handicapped as few men ever are who live to tell the story and to overcome the fact by sheer courage, optimism and force of will. Caught in a biting snowstorm when he was a boy, he lost both legs, the better part of one arm and part of the hand on the other arm. Despite this fearful maiming he won for himself a good education and became unusually successful in business.

It would be vain to try to point to another man anywhere who should be a greater inspiration to crippled children to make the most of themselves in the battles of life. Mr. Dowling performed incalculably good service in bearing words of cheer during and since the war period to men who were maimed on the field of action. He is a living, aggressive example of what a boy or a man can do when bereft of some of the best tools nature gave to him.

Knowing Mr. Dowling as we do, we can think of no honor he would appreciate and value more than that of having his name attached to an educational institution, and especially to a school for the training of children who, like himself, must go through life lacking some of the physical advantages that are possessed by the average American boy and girl. The greater good from this honor, however, will be to the pupils in the schools and to all men and women who admire the grit that overcomes and conquers.

School Principals Meet.

Last Wednesday afternoon the principals of the various grade schools met at the Lincoln high school with Supt. Ziegler for the purpose of forming policies to be followed the coming year.

The uniformity of work in the schools was the first thing taken up. It was decided that the teachers of each grade from all of the schools of the city should meet together and unify their work so that a child might go from one school to another without losing any time. The first grade teachers met on Monday, Oct. 11; the second grade teachers on Tuesday the 12th; the third grade teachers on Wednesday the 13th; the fourth grade teachers on Thursday the 14th; the fifth grade teachers on Friday the 15th and the sixth grade teachers met on Monday the 18th.

At this meeting it was also decided that the last Monday of October be set aside as Mothers' day. On this day all of the Mothers might visit the schools and see samples of their children's work which will be on display in the different rooms. This will naturally give each student a desire to make his work the best so that it might be on display. In this way a contest would be created in as much as each child would strive to have his work the best and would also make the child do better work.

A large attendance of parents and friends is expected on this day.

Sophomore Wiener Roast.

In accordance with tradition, the Sophomore class of the Lincoln High School held its annual wiener roast at Squaw Point, Monday evening, Oct. 1.

The Sophomores, chaperoned by several members of the faculty, gathered at the Central school at 7:15 o'clock, and marched in a body to the picnic grounds on Squaw Point. A roaring campfire was built, over which the wieners were roasted. Games were played until ten o'clock, when, after taking due precautions that the fire was extinguished, the happy "Soph's" departed for their various homes.

Northrup News.

The presence of a football among the boys and a volley ball among the girls, has stirred up a great deal of excitement on the Northrup play grounds. Our football stars of tomorrow are already in the field.

Oct. 29 will be Mother's Visiting Day. Mother's of the grade children will be invited to attend school if they desire.

Each of the grades has taken up a small collection amounting to about 45 cents in order to subscribe for the Red Cross Magazine. If the collection amounts to more than 45 cents, the proceeds will be donated to the Junior Red Cross fund.

The attendance at the Northrup school is about 325 pupils.

A change was made last week in the Freshman class directory. The following are now the officers of the class:

Class Advisor—Mr. Tripp.
President—Robert McGinn.
Vice President—Elsie Blair.
Secretary—Melvin Engelstad.
Treasurer—Herbert Keene.
Sergeant-at-Arms — Harriet Morgan, May Roberts.

Bread Club Reception.

Last Thursday evening the Bread club gave a reception at the Lincoln High School for the twelve new members and new advisor.

Upon entering the building the guests were all decorated with some advertisement. After a song of welcome had been sung by the old members, five minutes were allowed to all for the guessing contest. Harriet Morgan won the first prize for having the largest number correct and Mr. Ziegler captured the booby prize. Miss Poppitz played a piano solo and our president stated the purpose of the club and gave a brief account of the week that she spent at the State Fair where she baked in the final contest. Ruth Hoppa gave a reading and after a speech had been given by Mr. Ziegler, a dainty luncheon was served.

The following are our new members:

Miss Johnson, Club Advisor; Evelyn Lund, Eleanor Werstlein, Margaret Williams, Esther Lunsetler, May Roberts, Margaret Melgaard, Hazel Krause, Harriet Morgan, Virginia Clemens, Edith Novak, Gladys Koldcn, Odlenn Bakke.

We are proud to know that we have one of the best clubs in the State of Minnesota.

A Piece of Blue Paper.

While sitting in the den on the day after Christmas I was aroused from my reading by the shrill note of the mailman's whistle. Springing from my chair I rushed to the door, because Christmas presents often come late. The postman handed me a large envelope with my name typewritten on the face. I tore it open and out fell a piece of blue paper. It was a blue-print of a hidden lake of oil in southeastern California. I opened the letter that came with it and read:

"Dear Mr. Langdon: You have never heard of me or seen me. Your father never talked of me when he was at home. In our school days and trials through life we were the best of friends. This letter will introduce me and I sincerely hope that you and I will become the greatest of friends. At your dear father's death bed he gave this blue-print to me to give to you when you were twenty-one. He is the only one who knew of this lake of oil and now it is yours, and it is worth millions. Come at once and come prepared to make your home out here.

Sincerely yours,
S. H. SIMS.

I sat in a chair dumfounded. I wasted no time in preparing myself to leave and in two days I was on my way to my future home. The fourth day of my trip found me in San Diego shaking hands with my new friend, Mr. Sims.

The next day we made preparations for the journey out to the lake of oil. The third day, by following the instructions of the blue print, found us making our way through a narrow passage that led 'way down to the bottom and inside of a mountain. When we finally reached the bottom, we had only to walk two or three feet and there before my dazzled eyes was the lake of oil worth millions to me.

I sat down on a rock and thought and thought. I was satisfied with my hidden treasure and so rose and we climbed up and out of the mountain.

Having absolute confidence in my friend, I left it for him to have the oil taken out of the mountain, and I returned to my home in the East.

Some months later Mr. Sims wrote and said the oil had been taken out and that more was coming up thru the ground. He also said I had nothing to worry about any more. I put the letter back in the envelope and retired to my room for a good night's sleep.

Shorthand Contest.

The two divisions of the first year Shorthand class engaged in a contest last Friday to see which of the two divisions would obtain the better average in a quiz on the chapter just completed.

The results were very creditable: the "A" division obtaining an average of 94.3, and the "B" division an average of 92.6. Only three students received marks lower than 90. The highest individual marks in the "A" division were those of Gladys Maland and Augusta Beiswinger, while in the "B" division Lillian Eide and Mildred Hauglid headed the list.

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

Fill Your Blood With Iron If You Want To Be Strong
WITH PLENTY OF ENERGY AND POWER

Says Physician—Explains How Organic Iron Like Nuxated Iron Often Increases the Strength of Weak, Nervous, Run-down People In Two Weeks' Time.

You cannot expect to forge ahead in life with plenty of energy and power if your blood is thin and watery any more than you can hope to run an automobile on water instead of gasolene. It takes pure, red blood—rich in iron—to keep the human machine working right. Without iron your every action lacks power, your red blood corpuscles die by millions, the strength goes from your body and you drop among the weaklings and failures.

"But when such men and women supply the right kind of iron to their blood, a most surprising change often takes place," says Dr. John J. Van Horne, formerly Medical Inspector and Clinical Physician on the Board of Health of New York City. "The weak, colorless blood which had been moving sluggishly in the veins becomes rich and red and courses through the body, building healthy tissue, giving renewed force and increased strength. Without this rich, red blood with plenty of iron in it, there can be no physical perfection or force to carry on one's work. Yet to take the wrong kind of iron may prove worse than useless just as the wrong sort of food will often fail to give the proper nourishment. Organic iron—Nuxated Iron—by enriching the blood and creating new blood cells, strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the muscles and helps instill the whole system with fresh vigor and endurance whether the person be young or old. I strongly advise every man or woman who is fagged out by worry, work and other strains to build up strength, and health by taking organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for I consider it one of the foremost blood and body-builders, the best to which I have ever had recourse."

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.) New York and the Westchester County Hospital says: "I have strongly emphasized the great necessity of physicians making blood examinations of their weak, anaemic, run-down patients. Thousands of persons go on year after year suffering from physical weakness and a highly nervous condition due to lack of sufficient iron in their red blood corpuscles. To supply this iron deficiency and to help build stronger, healthier men and women, better able physically to meet the problems of everyday life, I believe physicians should at every opportunity prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for in my experience it is one of the best tonic and red blood builders known to medical science."

If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day for two weeks, then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron, which is recommended above, is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. Each tablet of genuine Nuxated Iron is stamped as follows: N I and the words Nuxated Iron are stamped into each bottle, so that the public may not be led into accepting inferior substitutes. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

THE AMENDMENTS.

There is hardly a chance that Amendment No. 1—which is the Babcock good roads law—will fail of passage at the coming election. The intention of this amendment is so well understood that an overwhelming majority in its favor is practically assured. Its passage will mean the finest highway system in the country for Minnesota within the next ten years.

The second amendment on the ballot is not of such great general importance but should be adopted nevertheless. It proposes to make the term of the probate judge in all counties four years instead of two as at present. This is the only office in the county to which the two year law now applies and it would long ago have been changed were it not for the fact that the constitution provides the length of time such official shall serve. For this reason it is necessary for the people to approve the proposition.

Number three on the ballot is the income tax amendment and provides that household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer, tools, implements and machinery may be exempt from taxation. In place of such taxation it is proposed that taxes may be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations, such taxes to be graduated and progressive with a reasonable amount exempted, as is the case with the federal income tax.

The fourth amendment deals with the taxation of railroad property for local improvements. At present the only tax paid by railroads is collected on their gross earnings and they are exempt from all other levies. This amendment provides that in addition to the gross earnings tax the companies shall bear their proportionate share of the expenses of local improvements such as sewers, paving and street upkeep.

There is no question but what all of these amendments will carry if the voters give the matter the proper amount of consideration. For some reason but little has been said about the last three propositions but they are worthy of the most careful study. In another section of The Times today the texts of all amendments are given in full. The voters should read them over carefully and thus acquaint him and herself with their intention.

THE SUGAR BEET EXPERIMENT.

A carload of sugar beets is every day being shipped from Thief River Falls to the refinery at Chaska. The beets are of the finest quality and bringing the top price.

When early last spring it was suggested that a number of our farmers put in small plots of beets as an experiment there were those who scoffed at the idea, referring to it as another fad which would amount to nothing in the end and in the meantime take attention away from really important matters. As often happens, the scoffers have been proven wrong.

There are farmers who do not hesitate to say that they are making more actual money on their beet crop than on anything else produced on the farm this year. Beets to the value of $95 were taken from one acre near Thief River Falls and this will leave a very tidy balance after all expenses are paid. Not in a single instance has the experiment proved a disappointment and every man who tried the crop this year is ready to contract for a larger acreage next season.

The sugar refining company offers to furnish labor and seed for 300 acres in 1921, thus multiplying by three the acreage contracted for this year, and contracts covering half this amount have already been applied for. Trained laborers can be had who will care for the crop at a total cost of $28 per acre and seed will be furnished at fifty cents per pound. This insures a low production cost as compared with other crops, with the further advantage that it is not collected until after the beets are harvested. No spraying or treating for insects is necessary and the beet stands either drought or wet weather better than any other crop that can be planted.

There is a great future for the sugar beet in this section and those who go about its cultivation intelligently and with the intention of following it up will be amply repaid.

NEED THE ENCOURAGEMENT.

In every department the Thief River Falls high school stands high among the institutions of the state. Not only is this true so far as it pertains to general school work, but extends to athletics as well. Consequently it is somewhat difficult to understand the slight interest taken by our citizens in the doings of the students in the field of sport. We seem to be mildly pleased when our team wins and that is about all there is to it. Very few seem to think it at all necessary to show up at these contests and give the boys the encouragement their presence is bound to lend.

It is time we took a different view of the matter. We have athletic teams that invariably give a good account of themselves but no one outside of the school seems to realize the fact. This is not very encouraging either to the contestants or instructors. Also it gives outsiders the impression that the town is rather dead.

Let's change all this. Get out and root for your school team the same as the people of other cities. The boys are worth encouraging to that extent at least. Begin by attending the big game with Bemidji high next Tuesday afternoon. You will see something worth while in the way of playing and will besides be showing your good intentions.

RESPONSE SATISFACTORY.

That the buying public was in need of merchandise of different kinds but was holding off in the hope that prices would come down is proven by the success attending the different mark-down sales now being carried on all over the country. The better newspapers everywhere are announcing price-cutting sales and reports generally are to the effect that the response is most satisfactory.

In Thief River Falls the merchants early saw the need of making reductions and in some instances cut prices to the bone with one slash. Results have more than justified their action. Never in the city's history have so many goods been moved in so short a time. This applies particularly to wearing apparel of all kinds, these being the lines in which the heaviest cuts were made.

There is no likelihood of things going lower at this time. In fact the tendency is all the other way. Winter is coming on and there will soon be an increased demand for seasonable goods. The warm weather has caused many to hold off in making their purchases but they are facing the probability of paying higher prices later on. This looks like a good time to buy. At least this is the advice handed out by those who are in a position to observe the signs.

One noticeable feature of the present downward trend is the fact that the drop has not been progressive. The cut in most instances was made all at one time and there has been no change since. If this indicates anything it is that the bottom for the present time has been reached and that those who are holding off on their buying in the hope that prices will fall still lower are making a mistake.

Buy what you need at the low prices now prevailing in many of the Thief River Falls stores. A glance over the advertising columns of The Times tells you where the best bargains are to be obtained.

Railroads and Special Taxes

(Minneapolis Journal)

The Constitution of Minnesota provides that there shall be levied upon the railroads of this state a gross earnings tax in lieu of all other taxes and assessments.

An amendment will be voted on in the coming election, by the adoption of which the assessment of railroads for their share of special taxes will be made possible.

Courts have interpreted the law against assessments as covering special assessments, so that it is necessary to adopt this amendment in order to effect this just reform.

Every property owner pays what is known as a regular tax. In addition he pays special taxes for such things as sidewalks, sewers or pavements, when the improvement has been made in front of his property.

The railroad has been exempt from this tax.

We believe any fair analysis of the tax law would make the railroads liable for special taxes. It is perfectly clear that under the gross earnings system the railroad is free from the regular tax, but it is equally clear that the railroads should not be free from special taxes.

There are some surprising situations in the State due to the inability of towns to complete needed special work because the railroad cannot be taxed for its share. In Duluth, there are about twenty miles of streets where the railroads own the frontage on one side and which cannot be paved because the railroad cannot be compelled to pay and the other taxpayers cannot pay the share of the railroad. There are a long list of country towns where improvements are delayed because of this anomalous situation.

The railroads profit by increased valuation of their property just as other property participates in growth value, therefore the railroads should pay special taxes regardless of the law substituting a gross earnings tax for regular taxes. The railroad only has to pay a special tax once, just as the property owner has to pay once. While one citizen is paying a paving tax, another citizen may not be paying any. It would be the same with railroads.

The Constitutional Amendment should be voted for very generally and as it requires a majority of all the votes cast to adopt an amendment it will be necessary for voters to take an interest in the matter and not hurry away from the polls without voting for this amendment.

The Good Roads Amendment and the Railroad Amendment for Special Taxes should be adopted beyond any question.

WILSON ASKS FOR WHEAT PRICE FACTS

Asks Trade Commission and Department of Agriculture to Investigate Matter.

President Wilson has requested Governor Allen of Kansas to forward to the federal trade commission any information he has tending to indicate that the recent decline in wheat prices was due to unfair practices or competition or to other artificial causes.

A letter to this effect, sent by Secretary Tumulty, was in answer to many appeals for government action looking to an embargo on Canadian wheat. These were referred some time ago to the commission and the department of agriculture. Secretary Tumulty's letter to Governor Allen said:

"The president has received your telegram of October 6 which refers to the wheat situation and he has received others of a similar tenor. He recognizes the importance of the questions you raise and has instructed the federal trade commission and the department of agriculture to look into the matter at the earliest possible moment with a view to determining what if anything can be properly done. In the meantime he will appreciate it if you will be good enough to forward to the federal trade commission any information in your possession which in your opinion tends to indicate the recent decline in wheat prices is due to unfair practices or competition or to other artificial causes."

Wheat made a big advance in price after the news became public that President Wilson had asked Governor Allen of Kansas for information that might indicate the fall in the value of wheat was due to any artificial causes. December delivery ran up 13 cents to $2.21 and closed unsettled at $2.17½ @$2.18½.

Right from the start Spurs let you know what you're smoking. Plain as day, on the back of the package, it says: "In Spur Cigarettes the good tobaccos from the Orient are properly mixed with Burley and other home-grown tobaccos."

In your language that means "good old-time tobacco taste." Haven't you just been hankering for it?

These good tobaccos are rolled in satiny, imported paper—and crimped, not pasted. That's something to know, too. In smoker's talk, crimping means "easier drawing, slower burning, better taste." Examine a Spur and see how it's made.

And as the finishing touch, Spur's fragrance and freshness are sealed and delivered in a three-fold package—rich brown and silver.

American Legion Notes

Ex-Service Men, 'Ten-Shun!

Do you realize that every ex-service man who went into the service in good health and with teeth in good condition and who upon discharge or since discharge finds health or teeth impaired while in service—that the Government offers you the best possible medical and dental attention that money will buy?

Do you realize that if you entered the service in an impaired physical condition and with poor teeth, and during your time in service your condition was aggravated or made worse, that you are entitled to the same service free of any cost to you?

Do you realize that the Elmer J. Eklund Post of The American Legion has made an investigation of the standing of the doctors and dentists employed by the government and the reputation of the hospitals used and have found them to be the best that money will buy?

Do you realize that the government gives you transportation to St. Paul and Minneapolis for your medical attention and operations and buys your berth and furnishes you with your meals and sends you free of cost to the best hospitals and furnishes you with hotel accommodations during examination and convalescence?

Do you realize that the Government pays you your wages when you lose time in travelling for the purpose of being examined and that it pays your wages during the time that you are in the hospital?

Do you realize that the Elmer J. Eklund Post of the American Legion has blanks on hand and will assist you free of charge in making out your papers and advising you through all of the red tape required to perfect your claim?

Do you realize that the state headquarters and national headquarters have men hired to put these claims through and who are on the ground to fight for your rights whether or not you belong to the American Legion?

Do you realize that the American Legion furnished you with blanks and arranged with local attorneys to fill them out free of charge, arranged for Victory Button blanks and filled them out free of charge, and secured Victory Medal blanks and arranged with the local banks to have them fill them out free of charge?

Do you realize that the local post of the American Legion made the arrangements with the local banks to secure for you immediate payment of your bonus claims?

Do you realize that the American Legion will fight any of your legitimate battles to secure any of your rights?

Do your realize that the service men of this county have taken advantage of their organizations efforts by the hundreds whether or not they belonged to the local post?

Do you not think that it is about time that you become a part of this great organization and joined the Elmer J. Eklund Post No. 117 of The American Legion? If so, see the secretary in the McGinn block, Thief River Falls, Minn.

Additional Routes.

Whenever, either by reason of the creation of a new county, or by reason of the change of the county seat of any existing county, any city or village not a county seat at the time of the adoption of this amendment is lawfully constituted the county seat of any county, the legislature is authorized to add to the trunk highway system such additional routes connecting such newly constituted county seats with other county seats and other points in the state.

When after at least seventy-five (75) per cent of the total number of the miles of the routes embraced in the trunk highway system hereinbefore specified shall have been constructed and permanently improved, the legislature shall have authority to add new routes to such trunk highway system; provided, however, that no such new routes shall be added until and unless the funds available for the construction, improvement and maintenance of such additional routes shall be sufficient therefor in addition to the construction, improvement and maintenance of the several routes hereinbefore specifically described.

Section 2. There is hereby created a fund which shall be known as the trunk highway sinking fund. Said fund shall consist of the proceeds of any tax imposed on motor vehicles as herein authorized. The moneys in said fund shall be used for the payment of the principal and interest of any bonds which may be issued under the authority of this article; and any moneys in excess of such requirements shall be transferred to a fund which is hereby created and which shall be known as the trunk highway fund. The trunk highway fund shall be used solely for the purposes specified in Section 1 of this article, and when duly authorized by legislative enactment to reimburse any county for the money expended by it subsequent to February 1st, 1919, in permanently improving any road hereinbefore specifically described, in accordance with plans and specifications therefor approved by the commissioner of highways.

Section 3. The legislature is hereby authorized to provide, by law, for the taxation of motor vehicles, using the public streets and highways of this state, on a more onerous basis than other personal property, provided, however, that any such tax on motor vehicles shall be in lieu of all other taxes thereon, except wheelage taxes, so-called, which may be imposed by any borough, city or village. Any such law may, in the discretion of the legislature, provide for the exemption from taxation of any motor vehicle owned by a non-resident of the state, and transiently or temporarily using the streets and highways of the state. The proceeds of such tax shall be paid into said trunk highway sinking fund.

Section 4. The legislature may provide by law for the issue and sale of the bonds of the state in such amount as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of section 1 of this article, provided, however, that the amount of bonds which may be issued in any one calendar year shall not exceed, in the aggregate, ten million dollars, par value, and provided, further, the total amount of such bonds issued and unpaid shall not at any time exceed seventy-five million dollars, par value. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be paid into the treasury of the state and credited to the trunk highway fund. Any bonds so issued and sold shall be for a term not exceeding twenty (20) years. They shall not be sold for less than par and accrued interest and shall not bear interest at a greater rate than five per cent per annum. In case of the trunk highway sinking fund shall not be adequate to meet the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds authorized by the legislature as hereinbefore provided, the legislature may provide by law for the taxation of all taxable property of the state in an amount sufficient to meet the deficiency, or it may in its discretion, appropriate to such sinking fund moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Section 5. Any and all provisions of the constitution of the state of Minnesota inconsistent with the provisions of this article, are hereby repealed, so far, but only so far, as the same prohibit or limit the power of the legislature to enact laws authorizing or permitting the doing of the things hereinbefore authorized."

PURPOSE AND EFFECT OF AMENDMENT.

The purpose of the proposed amendment is to establish and provide for the construction and maintenance of a system of roads and highways in the state of Minnesota to be known as "The Trunk Highway System." The effect of the proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to establish and authorize the enactment of laws, providing for the construction, improvement and maintenance by the state of the highways described in a general way in the amendment, which highways are to be more specifically and definitely located in a manner to be prescribed by law, but any such law must provide that in fixing a definite location of the various routes there shall not be any deviation from the starting point or termini described in the routes set forth in the amendment, nor shall there be a deviation in the fixing of the routes from the various villages and cities named in the amendment, and through which the routes are to pass.

If the amendment is adopted, the legislature will be thereby authorized to provide by law for the issuance and sale of the bonds of the state to raise money for the creation of a "Trunk Highway Fund" to be expended for the construction of the roads embraced in the trunk highway system. The legislature cannot, however, issue bonds in any one year exceeding in amount of the par value thereof the sum of $10,000,000, nor can the aggregate of all outstanding unpaid bonds ever exceed $75,000,000. Bonds cannot be sold for less than par or bear interest at a greater rate than five per cent per annum.

The adoption of the amendment will also confer on the legislature authority to levy a tax on motor vehicles, using the public streets and highways, on a more onerous basis than other personal property is taxed. The proceeds of such tax will be credited to the Highway Sinking Fund, which is to be used to pay bonds issued as above; any surplus in the Highway Sinking Fund not needed for the retirement of bonds to be transferred to the Trunk Highway Fund. Motor vehicles taxed by any law passed by the legislature under the amendment, will not be subject to any other tax, except that a wheelage tax may be imposed on such vehicles by any borough, city or village, if they see fit to do so.

In case the tax on motor vehicles is not sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the bonds issued, the legislature, in case of the adoption of the amendment, will be empowered to provide by law for the taxation of all the taxable property of the state in an amount sufficient to meet the deficiency, or it may, in its discretion, appropriate to such Highway Sinking Fund any moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 2.

Chapter 531, Session Laws of Minnesota for the year 1919, proposes an amendment to section 7 of article VI of the constitution of the state of Minnesota. Said section now reads as follows:

"Section 7. There shall be established in each organized county in the state a probate court, which shall be a court of record, and be held at such times and places as may be prescribed by law. It shall be held by one judge, who shall be elected by the voters of the county for the term of two years. He shall be a resident of such county at the time of his election, and reside therein during his continuance in office, and his compensation shall be provided by law. He may appoint his own clerk where none has been elected; but the legislature may authorize the election, by the electors of any county, of one clerk or register of probate for such county, whose powers, duties, term of office and compensation shall be prescribed by law. A probate court shall have jurisdiction over the estates of deceased persons and persons under guardianship, but no other jurisdiction, except as prescribed by this constitution."

The amendment simply proposes to substitute the word "four" for the word "two" so that the sentence prescribing the duration of the term of office of probate judges will, if the amendment is adopted, read as follows:

"It shall be held by one judge, who shall be elected by the voters of the county for the term of four years."

The purpose of said amendment and its effect, if adopted, will be to make the term of office of judge of probate four years instead of two.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 3.

Chapter 532 Session Laws of the state of Minnesota for the year 1919, proposes an amendment to Section 1 of Article IX of the constitution of said state. Said section now reads as follows:

"Section 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200, for each household, individual or head of a family, as the legislature may determine: Provided, that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

If amended said section will read as follows:

"Section 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer thereof, tools, implements and machinery and all real and personal property owned by county agricultural societies and used for holding agricultural fairs, to such an extent and in such manner as the legislature may determine. Taxes may be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations which taxes may be graduated and progressive and the exemption of a reasonable amount of income from taxation may be provided, and such taxes may be in lieu of taxes on any class or classes of personal property as the legislature may determine: Provided that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and, provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

The purpose of said amendment is to empower the legislature to enact laws, to such an extent, and in such a manner, as it may determine, exempting from taxation household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer, tools implements and machinery, and all real and personal property owned by county agricultural societies and used for holding agricultural fairs; and to authorize the imposition of graduated and progressive taxes on incomes, privileges and occupations.

The effect of the amendment, if adopted, will be to accomplish the purpose above indicated, to-wit: to authorize the enactment of laws by the legislature:

FIRST: Providing for the exemption from taxation, to such an extent and in such manner as the legislature may determine, of household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer, tools, implements and machinery, and all real and personal property owned by county agricultural societies and used for holding agricultural fairs.

SECOND: Providing for the imposition of graduated and progressive taxes on incomes, privileges and occupations.

PROPOSED LAW RELATING TO THE TAXATION OF RAILROAD PROPERTIES.

Chapter 533, Session Laws of the state of Minnesota for the year of 1919, proposes an amendment to section 2226, General Statutes Minnesota 1913, and provides that said amendment shall be submitted to the people of this state for approval or rejection at the 1920 general election. Said section now reads as follows:

"Section 2226. Every railroad company owning or operating any line of railroad situated within, or partly within this state, shall, during the year 1913, and annually thereafter, pay into the treasury of this state, in lieu of all taxes and assessments, upon all property within this state, owned or operated for railway purposes, by such company, including equipment, appurtenances, appendages and franchises thereof, a sum of money equal to five per cent of the gross earnings derived from the operation of such line of railway within this state.

On or before August 15, 1913, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending June 30th, next preceding, and the said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and be payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on September 1st, next thereafter.

On or before February 15, 1914, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending December 31st, next preceding, and said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on March 1st, next thereafter; and the payment of such sums at the times hereinbefore set forth shall be in full and in lieu of all other taxes and assessments upon the property and franchises so taxed; provided nothing in this act shall be construed as modifying any agreement entered into between any municipality within the state and any railroad company relating to the payment of local taxes or assessments.

The lands acquired by public grant shall be and remain exempt from taxation until sold or contracted to be sold or conveyed as provided in the respective acts whereby such grants were made or recognized."

If amended as proposed it will read as follows:

"Section 2226. Every railroad company owning or operating any line of railroad situated within or partly within this state, shall, during the year 1913 and annually thereafter, pay into the treasury of the state, in lieu of all taxes upon all property within this state owned or operated for railway purposes, by such company, including equipment, appurtenances, appendages and franchises thereof, a sum of money equal to five per cent of the gross earnings derived from the operation of such line of railway within this state.

On or before August 15, 1913, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending June 30th, next preceding, and the said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on September 1st next thereafter.

On or before February 15, 1914, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending December 31st next preceding, and said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on March 1st next thereafter; and the payments of such sums at the times hereinbefore set forth shall be in full and in lieu of all other taxes upon the property and franchises so taxed.

The lands acquired by public grant shall be made and remain exempt from taxation until sold or contracted to be sold or conveyed as provided in the respective acts whereby such grants were made or recognized."

Under the present law the gross earnings tax paid by railroad companies is in lieu of all other taxes and assessments upon property owned or operated for railroad purposes. Under the proposed amendment such tax will be in lieu of taxes only and railroad companies will become subject to assessments for local improvements in the same way that private persons and corporations, not paying a gross earnings tax, are subject to such assessments.

The purpose of said amendment is, and its effect, if adopted, will be to subject railroad companies, paying gross earnings taxes, to the payment of assessments for local improvements.

Yours respectfully,
CLIFFORD L. HILTON,
Attorney General.

Weekly Market Review.

The sharp slump in prices for grain and stock may have an important effect upon the development of Minnesota farm lands, judging from various reports received during the past week from bankers throughout Minnesota for the weekly review prepared by The Merchants' National Bank of St. Paul and The First and Peoples' State Bank of Thief River Falls.

Farmers from Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Kansas, Nebraska and other states have made one or more visits to Minnesota since September first. Several have been quoted as declaring that they are considering purchase of Minnesota farms for several reasons. They hoped to dispose of their highly developed farms at top prices and buy land in this state at considerably lower figures. Development of Minnesota's road system, convenience of satisfactory markets, fertility of lands and other favorable reasons were touched upon.

Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa farmers have been observing the progress which is being made along purebred cattle and hog lines. While it is a fact that tight money conditions throughout the state have caused breeders to be conservative in their purchases they have improved their herds since the county fairs started. Auction sales have started. Sales have been numerous at what buyers termed "reasonable prices."

Many interesting notes regarding Minnesota activities were contained in the bankers' reports. Serious forest fires in Northern counties were extinguished by two heavy rains. A silver fox farm, said to represent an investment of $50,000, has been started in Goodhue county. Many farmers had bumper apple yields and they disposed of the windfalls for about 25 cents a bushel, on the average, to automobile "bargain seekers." A Blue Earth farmer who purchased a tract of land last year sold it for $230 an acre, which meant a profit of $7,700. Some banks in Southern Minnesota have increased the interest rate on time deposits to five per cent. Money continues to be extremely tight, with farmers holding their grain. A number of stock breeders have shipped cattle and hogs. Pooling of wool has been resumed. A recent offer for the Minnesota wool in storage was declined. Several counties have organized poultry associations and a score of county shows are planned for mid-winter. Several cities have included appropriations for parks in their 1921 budgets. Community market sales proved a popular innovation in smaller cities. Merchants have had bargain days at the same time. The car situation seemed to be generally satisfactory. Duluth reported improvement on the coal situation and transportation facilities. Farmers who had bumper potato crops are storing them or selling them at the roadside. A number of cities which spent considerable money for paving this summer, have collected part of their investment from reckless drivers.

BEMIDJI SOLDIERS OBSERVE ARMISTICE

Big Celebration to be Staged on Anniversary of World War's End.

Armistice Day, November 11th, is to be celebrated at Bemidji by one of the greatest celebrations ever planned for this section of the state, according to advance notes being received by local ex-service men.

The program as it now stands provides for a big parade at 10:30 on the morning of November 11th. Whistles will announce the event and it is expected that the wild scenes of two years ago will be re-enacted. Following the parade all ex-service men, whether members of the Legion or not, are asked to register and be arranged so that they may be recognized at the various attractions. At 1 o'clock an address will be delivered, but the speaker has not yet been secured. At 1:30 a football game will be played to which all ex-service men will be admitted free.

At 3:30 comes the big event of the day when twenty-six fast rounds of boxing will be staged at the Armory. The main event, as has been previously announced, will be between Dick Franklin of Bemidji and Farmer Lodge of Minneapolis. There will be ten fast rounds in this event. Tommy Tibbits of Bemidji and Gene Dwyer of Hibbing, will put on the semi-windup, there will be a first preliminary of six rounds the contestants to be Chub Frost and Young Peterson who entertained the crowd at a previous exhibition.

After the fight card there will be free supper and smoker at the Association rooms for all ex-service men. In the evening a big dance is to be given at the Armory. This is under the supervision of the Auxiliary and a big time is being arranged for. Carnival features are to be introduced.

Good bills are being provided for at the Bemidji theatres for both afternoon and evening to provide entertainment for those who do not care to take in the athletic events.

LOCAL DEALERS DO BUSINESS IN OPEN

(Copyright.)

One of the stock excuses of the man who orders goods from a mail order house is that there are many things that he wants that the local merchants do not carry in stock, and that it is necessary for him to send away from town to get them.

This explanation may be all right on the theory that a poor excuse is better than none, but it fails to pass muster when it is subjected to a little scrutiny.

Ask the man who offers this as an excuse for his dealings with the mail order man why he does not go to the local merchant and ask him to order the articles desired if they are not to be found in the merchant's stock. The merchant will very gladly do this, and the merchant and customer will both profit. The merchant can sell you whatever you desire at as low a price as the mail order house can make you on goods the same quality and he can make a small profit.

The customer will profit from the transaction, because he will be dealing with a merchant who stands back of the goods that he sells, and who is easily accessible in case the articles purchased do not prove to be all that the customer had expected.

Give Home Merchant Preference.

Why not try this plan the next time you need something which you cannot find in any of your home stores? The merchant in the average sized town cannot carry in stock everything that all of the people in his town may want at all times. It would require a capital many times larger than the average merchant can command to do this, but he does the best he can. He ordinarily does carry in stock at all times many things for which there is no general demand, in order that he may meet the needs of his customers to the greatest possible degree, but there is a limit to his purchasing ability. He is always ready and willing, however, to make every effort to meet the demands of the community. Why not, then, give him the preference over the far-distant mail order man if you must have something which is not to be found in the local stores? He will do the business in a satisfactory manner, give you as quick if not quicker service and more satisfactory treatment, and the chances are that he will give you better values for the money. Finally, whatever profit is to be made off the transaction will stay at home and do its bit toward meeting the merchant and his town and, incidentally, yourself, more prosperous.

No business can be transacted as satisfactorily at long range as it can when the two parties to the transaction meet face to face. The only exception to this rule is in the case of the mail order man himself, who can transact his business with greater success to himself at long distance than he could if he had to meet his customers face to face. That is the reason that he does business by mail instead of selling to the people in his own city. If the goods which the mail order man advertised in his alluring catalogues were the bargains that he represents them to be, he would not have to go outside of the confines of his own city to sell all the goods he could possibly obtain. But the average mail order house not only does not make any effort to sell goods in its own city, but will not sell to anyone residing within the city limits. The mail order man does not want to meet his customers face to face. He can do business better so far as he is concerned if his customer is some hundreds of miles away from his office.

Does Business in Open.

The man who sells goods over the counter, on the other hand, does business in the open. He cannot hide behind a corporate name or talk to a displeased customer from behind the locked doors of a private office. He knows that he must face the music in case he is a party to any transaction that won't stand the light of day. He knows that he must satisfy every customer with whom he may be dealing or he will lose not only that customer but probably others who will soon know all the facts if he does not do the square thing by any one of his patrons.

There is no reason in the world for any person to send his money to a mail order house because he cannot find the article he wants in his local store. The local merchant is in business for the very purpose of getting you what you want. He has the information that will enable him to get what you want and to get it as quickly as you could get it from a mail order house. It is only fair to him to give him the chance to make such profit as any dealer would make off the transaction and it is only fair to yourself to keep that profit at home rather than to send it away to some far distant city from which it will never return.

Obituary

Anton Mortenson.

On Saturday, Oct. 9, through an accident, occurred the death of Anton Mortenson, an aged bachelor residing in New Solum township, Marshall county. Mr. Mortenson was found dead in a well, having stepped thru the cover and landing on his feet at the bottom. Death evidently was caused from the shock or exposure as the water in the well was not sufficiently deep to reach to the waist of the dead man.

A message was sent to Martin Johnson, a nephew and nearest relative, who arrived Wednesday from Grantsburg, Wis. Mr. Mortenson was born near Trondhjem, Norway, in 1839 and was 81 years of age at the time of his death. All surviving relatives, with the exception of Mr. Johnson and a niece, Mrs. Gust Johnson, of Rush City, reside in Norway.

Funeral services were held from the Larson undertaking parlors at Thief River Falls last Thursday afternoon, Rev. O. J. Lundell officiating, with interment at Greenwood cemetery.

John Wennberg.

John Wennberg of Clearbrook died in this city on Oct. 19, from cerebral hemorrhage at the age of 66 years, 6 months, 13 days. Deceased was born in Sweden and immigrated to the United States 30 years ago, having been engaged in farming in the vicinity of Clearbrook for a number of years. Funeral services were held at the latter named place on Oct. 22.

Peter Bernhard Larson.

On Oct. 19 occurred the death of Peter Bernhard Larson of Holt from bronchial asthma from which he had suffered for ten years. Deceased was born in the state of Minnesota on Aug. 27, 1881 and at the time of his death resided on a farm near Holt. His body was shipped to his former home at Kensington, this state, where funeral services will be held Oct. 23.

Card of Thanks.

SEAL SALE TO HAVE DOUBLE IMPORTANCE

Fight Against Tuberculosis Will Be Carried on With Renewed Energy.

As preparations for the 1920 Christmas Seal sale are being made in every county in the state, attention of Minnesotans is centered upon the Double Barred Cross, the emblem of the world-wide fight against tuberculosis, which is eighteen years old today.

To mark this notable "birthday" in the public health movement, the most comprehensive health educational campaign in the history of Minnesota will be conducted during the coming year, officials of the Minnesota Public Health association announced.

A state-wide demand for improved public health legislation will be made by the citizens in every community through their county public health associations, whose work is financed by the sale of Christmas seals and Health Bonds.

The Scarlet Double Barred Cross was originated in October, 1902, by Dr. G. Sersiron of Paris, at the conference of the International Anti-Tuberculosis association. Four years later the cross became the emblem of the National Tuberculosis association in the fight against "white plague" in the United States. Since that year the annual death rate from tuberculosis in this country has steadily decreased.

Minnesota is to raise $250,000 of the national 1920 Christmas Seal fund. County quotas are on the basis of 10 cents per capita. The sale will be conducted in every community in the state between Thanksgiving day and Christmas day.

Drainage Report Completed.

Herbert A. Hard, drainage engineer and flood control commissioner of North Dakota, has submitted to the interior department at Washington his report on the flood situation as it pertains to the Traverse reservoir project. This report has been published by the governmen [illegible] available for perusal in a short time by those interested. In a communication to Daniel Shaw of this city Mr. Hard says that the report is the most complete and comprehensive document dealing with the question ever submitted to the federal authorities.

Recommendations of the New York Federation of Labor Concerning the Education of Apprentices.

The New York State Federation of Labor at its Birminghamton meeting adopted the following report on apprentice training:

It is no longer practical or possible to train the apprentice of today like the all-around mechanic of the past, so the schools, in cooperation with the unions and the employes, must provide the training and information which can not be secured on the job.

As the number of apprentices allowed in any trade or industry is based upon the natural growth and development of the trade, the committee advises local unions to reject any proposals which should be made for shortening the term of the apprentice training on account of attendance in continuation school classes. The purpose and intent of the law is to secure all-around mechanics and to avoid the half-baked variety now being developed in some industries as the result of the intensive competitive production and highly specialized industry.

The organized trades can strengthen their position economically and mechanically by insisting upon this education and trade training in the schools as one of the essential requirements for membership to the end that the work of the unions in cooperating with their employers and the educational authorities may be guided along uniform lines.

The following form of agreement is recommended with whatever changes or modifications will meet with the requirements of the trade and industry:

1. The parties to this agreement hereby pledge themselves to cooperate with the public school authorities to foster the education and vocational training of the apprentices in the ---- trade to the end that each apprentice shall become a thorough mechanic, with the requisite knowledge of the science and physics of the trade; instruction in mechanical drawing, the mathematics and mechanical processes of the trade, and the manipulation of the tools of the trade. Attention

civics, history of the industry, Americanization, and such other subjects as seem proper to develop the technical, moral and patriotic standards that make for good citizenship and sturdy manhood.

2. Apprentices must have reached the age of sixteen years and passed the eighth grade in school before entering the trade. Preference shall be given to boys who have attended---- trade classes in a public vocational school. Apprenticeship shall cover a period of ----years.

3. The----------Employers' Association agrees to allow apprentices four hours off each week with pay to attend a continuation school during the school term.

4. ----------Union will withhold membership in the union from any apprentice failing to attend such continuation school.

5. Attendance shall be for the full term of----years (subject to the approval of the school authorities for shall also be given to the study of

[illegible] tenth and twentieth [illegible]

6. The parties to this agreement shall each nominate two of their [illegible] board to cooperate with the Board of Education on matters affecting the welfare of the apprentice group.

STIRRING CLOSE IS CERTAIN FOR CAMPAIGN HERE

All Parties Will Make Last Appeal to Voters During the Next Few Days.

Workingmen's Nonpartisan League Speaker to Deliver Address on Sunday.

Frank Jeffers Comes Friday and Mrs. Bishop Will Speak Monday Evening.

A last appeal is to be made to the voters of Thief River Falls and vicinity by speakers representing different shades of political opinion during the remaining days of the campaign. Three meetings are scheduled to take place before the voter is finally permitted to use his own judgment and indications are that there will be a rousing response at each session.

The first on the program is Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls, Democratic candidate for congressman. He will be at the Princess theatre on Friday evening for the purpose of discussing the issue from the viewpoint of his platform associates. Mr. Jeffers enjoys a wide acquaintance in this neighborhood, being one of the pioneers of Red Lake county and his old friends as well as many others will be anxious to hear what he has to offer.

Will Address Workingmen.

O. J. Nelson, a speaker for the Workingmen's Nonpartisan organization, will speak at the Princess theatre at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He appears under the auspices of the Central Labor Union of Thief River Falls, and has been speaking for the candidates endorsed by labor generally all over the state. He is said to be a fine talker and will no doubt be greeted by a capacity house.

While this meeting is in charge of the union men of the city, an invitation is extended to every voter to be present, it being particularly desired that the women turn out. As Mr. Nelson is expected to speak on behalf of the candidates supported by the Farmers Nonpartisan league a large number of that organization in the neighborhood are expected to be on hand.

Mrs. Bishop Closes Here.

The campaign will be closed for the Republicans at the auditorium on Monday night. Mrs. J. M. Bishop of this city, and Mrs. Ida Sparks Clark of Cokato, will be the speakers. While Mrs. Bishop has been making addresses for the Republican ticket in other parts of the state for some time, this will be the first opportunity her own townspeople have had of hearing her. Reports from the cities in which she has appeared show that she is regarded as one of the ablest women orators heard in the state this year.

It is expected that D. P. O'Neill, former state senator from this district and now a member of the state board of grain appeals, will also be at the meeting for the purpose of addressing his old neighbors.

NO SALARIES FOR BOARD MEMBERS

Former Action Rescinded at Meeting of Stockholders Held Friday Evening.

The adjourned stockholders meeting of the Pennington County Fair association was held Friday evening in the Commercial club rooms. Owing to action taken at this meeting the association will hereafter be governed by a board of directors empowered to conduct its affairs in accordance with their best judgment, which plan should go to produce a smoothness of action heretofore lacking. It was determined that the board should consist of but seven men, who were elected as follows: President, Herbert Fuller; first vice president, Albert Johnson; second vice president, Fred Beerbauer; treasurer, L. A. Lampert; directors, V. C. Noper, Emil Griebstein and Daniel Shaw.

The stockholders rescinded the action taken at a former meeting whereby additional salaries were voted to officers.

The board of directors will hold its first meeting at the Commercial club rooms this evening at 8:30, at which time action will be taken which should put plans for the coming year well under way.

Frank Jeffers to Speak At Princess Friday Night

Although it is hardly necessary for Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls to come to Thief River Falls in order to acquaint the voters with the fact that he is a candidate on the Democratic ticket for congress, yet he is going to deliver an address at the Princess on Friday evening. Mr. Jeffers is almost as well acquainted here as in his home city and will no doubt be given a pleasant reception. While his chances of election are not of the best, yet Mr. Jeffers has an interesting way of setting forth his views and there is no danger of his hearers finding the meeting dull.

Elks Will Know Election Results Before They Quit

"The Political Hash House and Midnight Elks' Frolic," will be presented for the entertainment of Thief River lodge of Elks as they await the election returns at the Lyceum theatre on Tuesday evening, Nov. 2. The election returns will be furnished through the courtesy of The Times. As is typical of all "Midnight Revues" the doors at the Lyceum will not be opened for the Jolly Elks' official gathering until 11 p. m., but once they are opened—nuff said! Along in the wee hours of the morning of the 3rd, or directly the approximate results of the election are known, a dutch luncheon and stag smoker at the Masonic hall will serve to send both Republican and Democratic Elks to their beds in a pleasant frame of mind.

Local Odd Fellows Join Cantonment at Detroit

A number of the members of Riverside Encampment, I. O. O. F., will go to Detroit next week for the purpose of joining the Cantonment, the highest degree in the order. It is the intention later on to apply for a charter for the uniform rank for Thief River Falls and previous acquaintance with the work will then be very desirable. Those who intend making the trip are: F. C. Dablow, John Gasow, B. F. Umland, V. F. Robarge, Joseph Holmes, Albert Carlson, Ole Hedalen, N. J. Anderson, R. F. Spencer, Arthur R. Berg, Percy Favrow and Albert Stenberg.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO BEMIDJI ON NOV. 11

Elmer J. Eklund Post Will Join Neighbors in Celebrating Armistice Day.

The Elmer J. Eklund Post of the American Legion will hold a meeting at the Thief River Commercial club rooms at 8:30 Friday evening to arrange for a special train to carry them to the Armistice Day celebration at Bemidji. It will require 125 passengers to make up the special train and a round-trip fare of $5.79 will of necessity be charged. Owing to the shortage of railway equipment an advance of eight per cent over the usual rate is required by the railroad, the total cost of chartering a special being $723.81.

Any and all service men, whether members of the legion or not, are cordially invited to make the trip. It is suggested that mothers, wives and sweethearts be urged to accompany members, for Bemidji promises a real time to all who attend the celebration. As the special train can only accomodate 140 passengers, it will be a question of "first come, first served" and it will be well to make reservations early. The train will leave Thief River Falls at 7:30 a. m., Nov. 11th and on its return will leave Bemidji at 12:00 p. m. The Legion post of Bemidji, having taken over charge of all arrangements for the day's mammoth celebration, will send three members to the meeting held here on Friday evening whose purpose will be to invite and induce every former service man to take part in the armistice day festivities.

Up to the present time the Elmer J. Eklund Post of this city, has received very little support or encouragement from the citizens of Thief River Falls and surrounding territory, is the claim made by post officials and they do not expect to make any plans for a local demonstration or celebration on Armistice Day of this year.

Coal Prices Cannot be Definitely Fixed as Yet

It would seem that the price of coal has reached its apex but indications are that it will continue to climb. On Tuesday evening the city council voted to purchase one carload of screened and washed coal from the Minneapolis Bridge company but no definite price could be set. Mr. Helseth, representing the company, states that the grade of coal in question is at present being delivered for $15 per ton and that future cars will undoubtedly be higher in price. The dock companies at Great Lakes ports offer no specific price and seem loath to move any coal now on hand. The dealer or consumer can only put in an order which is filled in its proper turn at the price prevailing at time of loading.

Sectional Educational Meeting at Hazel Hall

There will be a sectional educational meeting held at Hazel hall on Saturday evening, Nov. 30, at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Teachers' Progressive league in Districts No. 148, 6, 221, 12, 133, 125 and 154. Talks on child welfare, health of the child, school improvement and boys' and girls' work will be given. Lunch will be served and music furnished by the St. Hilaire orchestra. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend this meeting.

Progress at Mavie.

Mavie is fast becoming a thriving village. Rev. E. O. Sabo, formerly of Grygla and now pastor of Lutheran congregations in the towns of Kratka, Highlanding, Silverton and Germantown has settled in the new Lutheran parsonage at Mavie. James Hruby's new bungalow is nearing completion and a short time will see Mr. Hruby and family comfortably installed therein.

LOCAL BANKERS CHOOSE M'GINN FOR PRESIDENT

Thief River Falls Man Will Head Organization During Coming Year.

Many Important Matters Discussed at Annual Meeting Tuesday Evening.

Decide to Finance Sending of Livestock Exhibit to Next State Fair.

The annual convention of the Pennington County Bankers Association was held at the First and Peoples' State bank in this city on Tuesday evening. Twenty-five members, representing the ten banks of the county attended in spite of the fact that the recent rains have left the roads in poor shape for automobile driving. Money conditions, rates of exchange, and many other subjects pertinent to the banking industry were fully discussed and with equal benefit to all who attended. Of the many bankers organizations the county association is undoubtedly the best means to an end in securing the utmost co-operation between the local banks and the banking public.

Farm Topics Chief Interest.

While many subjects were discussed, members of the association were chiefly interested in those pertaining to the development of the dairy resources of the county. They are confident that Pennington will ultimately figure prominently in the history of the dairy industry with the foremost counties of the state.

Great pride was expressed in the strides being made by the county Guernsey Breeders' association and in the fine showing made at numerous state and county fairs during the past season by the animals shown by individual members of that organization. Many ribbons were won for Pennington county both at state and nearby county fairs.

Election of Officers.

Robert McGinn, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' State Bank of Thief River Falls and former vice-president of the organization, was elected president for the ensuing year to succeed H. S. Dahlen. Nick Bundlund, cashier of the Farmers' State bank of Goodridge, was elected to succeed Mr. McGinn as vice-president. Thomas H. Smith, cashier of the Farmers' State bank of Mavie, was re-elected to the office of secretary-treasurer.

Resolution Adopted.

Before adjournment the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, The Pennington County Guernsey Breeders' association and its members individually have met with such success in their efforts to develop pure bred Guernsey herds in Pennington county, and

"Whereas, The Guernsey breeders of Pennington county went to considerable expense and trouble in exhibiting their herds at this year's fairs, and,

"Whereas, The Guernsey cattle exhibited by Pennington county breeders secured first prizes at the following fairs: Norman county fair at Ada, Minn.; Polk county fairs at Crookston and Fertile, Minn.; Pennington county fair at Thief River Falls, Minn.; Grand Forks county fair at Grand Forks, N. D.; and the North Dakota state fair at Fargo, N. D.,

"It is hereby resolved: That the Pennington County Bankers' association express its interest in the efforts of the Pennington County Guernsey breeders and

"That it is the wish of the bankers of the county that the Pennington County Guernsey herds be exhibited at the Minnesota State Fair in 1921 and

"That in order to assist the Guernsey breeders in their efforts to promote interest in better live stock, The Pennington County Bankers' association pledge to defray all the expense in connection with such an exhibit at the Minnesota State Fair."

Holm Not Worried Over His Election Prospects

Judge Mike Holm of Roseau, candidate on the Republican ticket for secretary of state, was in the city for a few hours on Tuesday enroute to the southern counties where he will wind up his campaign. Mr. Holm has been somewhat under the weather during the past few weeks and has not paid much attention to politics. He says the matter is all up to the voters now and that he will have to take his chances. The Judge believes, however, that if the northern section does as well by him as in the primaries, he will be the next secretary of state.

Goodridge to be Scene of Republican Rally Friday

The issues of the campaign from a Republican standpoint will be discussed at Goodridge on Friday evening at a general rally. Miss Effie Hamry and Theo. Quale of this city, will be the speakers. This will probably be the last political meeting to be held in the eastern part of the county before election and it is expected to bring out a good crowd.

THE TIMES INVITES YOU TO BE ITS GUEST AT THE PRINCESS TUESDAY NIGHT

The Times will receive the election returns first on Tuesday night, having made arrangements for the complete Western Union service by special wire. Telegrams from all sections of the country will be flashed on the screen at the Princess theatre after 10:00 o'clock and will also be shown previous to that time at the regular performance at the Lyceum. This service will be maintained all night if necessary.

Besides the returns there will be free moving pictures, The Times publishers having made arrangements with Manager H. A. Brumund to run a special merit program whenever the returns do not come sufficiently fast to keep the crowd interested. There will be something doing every minute.

Results of the national and state election will be received by telegraph while the county returns will be received by telephone from the various precincts as soon as the results are known.

Come to The Times party on election night. The returns received there will be complete and authentic. It's free, moving pictures and all. Come about 10 o'clock as nothing of importance will be obtainable before that time.

WOMAN'S CLUB SPONSORS FINE LYCEUM COURSE

Arrangements Made For Appearance Here of Redpath-Vawter Entertainers.

Five Numbers Will Be Presented, the Date Range Being Nov. 18 to Feb. 22.

Proposal Certain to Meet With Hearty Approval on Part of All Citizens.

A strong campaign will soon be staged by the Woman's club for the sale of season tickets to the lyceum course of five numbers which is assured for Thief River Falls this winter through the efforts of that organization. Mrs. C. A. Nason, secretary of the local club, is completing arrangements for the necessary talent with the Redpath-Vawter management.

The lyceum movement, whose purpose is to bring clean entertainment, high class musical attractions and inspirational speakers from the outside world, has become firmly ingrained as a part of American life and there is hardly a city or town, no matter how small, in any part of the United States which does not boast of at least one well organized lyceum course during the year.

Exceptional Talent.

The Woman's club is to be congratulated upon the talent which has been secured.

The first number, the Redpath Concert orchestra, with Mr. Edward Barrow, tenor, represents one of the feature attractions booked by the Redpath people this winter. The orchestra is composed of artists on the violin, cello, flute, piano and clarinet. Mr. Barrow is associated with the best artists of two continents.

The Elsie Baker company, starring Miss Baker, the celebrated American contralto, will be one of the distinct musical treats brought to this city which could not be obtained in any other way than through a lyceum course. Many people have heard of Miss Baker through her concert records for Victor. With her will appear William Dureaux, well known cellist, together with a pianist of ability.

Dr. J. Q. Robinson will give his noted lecture, "The Face at the Window," for the third number. This lecture receives its title from one of "Ding's" cartoons picturing Bolshevism as a tramp peering into the window of a working man's home, where the mother and children cower in fear of him. Dr. Robinson has crammed the results of a full life-time into this message and he speaks from first-hand information.

Noted Humorist Coming.

The New York Lyrics appear fourth on the program. These lyric singers form one of the distinguished eastern mixed quartets which has made the East the mecca for good things in music. The coming of the

The Times Adds Another Man to Reportorial Staff

Dan R. Maue, formerly of Monticello, Minn., a young man with considerable experience in every line of the newspaper business, this week joined The Times staff in a reportorial capacity. He is an American Legion man, having been a member of the 151st Artillery during the war. Patrons of the paper will find Mr. Maue a most pleasant and likeable chap and one who will do his best to give any matter entrusted to him the proper amount of attention. The publishers will be thankful for any courtesies extended to him as their representative and otherwise.

STATE OUTCOME IS SUBJECT OF DECIDED DOUBT

Indications Favor Harding's Chances But Governorship is Liable to Be Close.

Cox May Carry Pennington County While Shipstead's Lead Here is Certain.

Remainder of Republican State Ticket Believed Safe, Hilton Excepted.

The political campaign of 1920 will soon be history. On Tuesday the voters will render their verdict and predictions as to what this will be are rife. Most of the prognostications are so palpably biased to conform with the preferences of the prophets that an impartial view is hard to secure. The Times, being an independent non-political newspaper, will briefly state the situation as it appears at this time from an absolutely impartial standpoint.

It is admitted that during the past two weeks there has been a decided swing toward Cox for president, but the Republicans got away to such a fine start and have kept the ball rolling to such admittedly good effect that it is hardly believed possible their opponents can now overcome the lead gained. While nothing in politics is absolutely certain, it looks like a victory for the Republican national ticket at this time.

Harding is by no means certain of carrying Pennington county. The Democrats have put up more of a campaign here than was expected and besides the regular party vote Cox will receive strong support among among those who favor the Nonpartisan state ticket. It is asserted by them that the farmers prefer Cox to Harding and with the heavy labor vote that the former will get in Thief River Falls, the chances of carrying the county are at least as good as those of his opponent.

State Not So Certain.

Minnesota will roll up about the usual majority for the Republican presidential candidate, but the party leaders are not so sure of the outcome as concerns the state ticket. One thing that makes the outlook uncertain is the action of the Democrats. Those who vote that party's ticket will elect the next governor, although he will in all likelihood not be their own candidate. J. A. O. Preus is being hard pressed, it is asserted, and may not make the grade. In this section Henrik Shipstead, the Nonpartisan nominee, is undoubtedly in the lead, while Hodgson, Democratic, will get a good vote. Many are of the opinion that in Pennington county at least Preus will be the third man on the ticket, Shipstead leading by a considerable plurality.

The remainder of the Republican state ticket will undoubtedly be elected with the possible exception of Hilton for attorney general. T. V. Sullivan, running under Nonpartisan auspices, is putting up a telling campaign and much of the effort made by the organization he represents is being expended in his behalf. The Democrats have a candidate of their own this year in the person of R. A. McOuat of Itasca county, and if he polls the entire party vote the result may spell disaster for Hilton. The other candidates on the ticket are in no danger and will undoubtedly all be elected, with L. L. Collins for lieutenant governor, leading in the count.

Steenerson's Fight.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson, as usual, has a fight on his hands. Mr. Steenerson is opposed by N. E. Thormodson, a Nonpartisan adherent running as an independent, who has been making a thorough campaign. Thormodson will carry Pennington and nearly all the other northwestern counties but the southern part of the district is expected to go for the present congressman.

The Nonpartisans expect to increase their strength in the lower house of the legislature. The senate is the same as two years ago and only contains a sprinkling of men elected on that ticket.

The present representatives—M. O. Sortedahl and Walter E. Day—are candidates for re-election in the Sixty-fifth district, composed of Pennington, Red Lake and Clearwater counties. Sortedahl is a regular and Day a Nonpartisan. As a running mate for the former, L. Jensen of Clearwater county, has been making a quiet campaign and will receive a good vote, particularly in his home county. A. J. Hemstad of Red Lake county, will receive the Nonpartisan vote and the indications point to his replacing Sortedahl, while Day will in all likelihood retain his seat.

In the county there are but two officials to be elected—clerk of the district court and judge of probate. For the former position Adolf Eklund has no opposition. The same condition applied to the judge of probate until this week, Lars Backe being the primary nominee without opposition. The situation is now somewhat changed, Peter G. Wold, former county commissioner, having entered the race at the last minute. He will be voted for by stickers or the writing of his name on the ballot and this has always proven a rather cumbersome way to get elected to anything. He is endorsed by the Nonpartisan league in the county, however, and may make the grade.

Switchman's Hand Caught; Four Fingers Amputated

While making up a freight in the Soo yards last night, Switchman Ivo L. Hall, 308 Conley avenue south, suffered a badly crushed right hand. From reports Hall was apparently making an effort to disengage an obstinate coupling preparatory to connecting the car with the remainder of the train when the engine backed slightly, catching and crushing his right hand. The injured man's lantern was extinguished and it was some few moments before his cries for assistance attracted the attention of members of the train crew. He was immediately rushed to the Physicians hospital, where he was attended by the railway surgeons. Amputation of four fingers was necessary, the operation being performed this morning.

Four Provinces Vote Dry; Is Hard on Bootleggers

Four Canadian provinces—Manitoba, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia, on Monday voted to prohibit the importation of liquor from other provinces. As a result they will be practically "bone dry," the liquor supply having previously been secured through importation. The city of Winnipeg voted wet by a majority of more than 5,800 but the strong rural vote more than overcame this. The vote was taken in accordance with an act of the Canadian parliament which, refusing to interfere with the rights of the provinces to manage their own affairs, provided for provincial plebiscites on the question.

FOSSTON NEXT ON HIGH SCHOOL LIST

Home Team Now Seasoned and Expected to Show Up to Better Advantage.

When the rival teams of Thief River Falls and Fosston clash on the gridiron next Saturday afternoon a hair-curling exhibition may be expected. The local boys fell down terribly when pitted against the Bemidji bunch on Tuesday and are determined that nothing of the kind shall happen again. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

While it will be impossible for Thief River Falls to gain the head of the class this season there is ample opportunity for finishing near the top. This game with Fosston is one of the hurdles that must be jumped if any kind of a showing at all is to be made and it is certain that every man will go into it to win.

There is considerable interest shown in football this year, the attendance being very good at all the games so far. The team has been playing in hard luck from the start but the jinx should be getting tired of following the outfit around. The lineup looks all to the good and hereafter will no doubt deliver the merchandise.

SEAL SALE STARTS HERE DECEMBER 10

Minimum Quota For Pennington County Has Been Placed at $1200.

"Save your pennies to make the dollars to buy Christmas Seals and Health Bonds and help save the lives of your fellow citizens by stamping out tuberculosis and other deadly diseases."

This is the appeal made by officials of the Pennington County Public Health association and heads of the 1920 Christmas Seal Sale committees. Preparations for the seal sale are underway and the goal of the health fund drive in this county is the largest per capita sale of any county in the state.

The minimum quota for Pennington county is $1200. Efforts of the Christmas Seal Sale committee are centered upon providing such a thorough sales organization and so attracting the enthusiastic attention and support of the public—who receive the benefit from the health work made possible by their contributions—that this county and our city will far exceed their quotas. The determination of officials of the Pennington County Public Health association is to have sufficient funds to so curb disease and reduce the number of deaths that this will be the healthiest county in the state.

The sale of Christmas Seals and Health Bonds will begin here December 1. The intensive selling drive will end December 10. This will be followed by the sale by school children.

Paving Machinery Arrives Ready to Start in Spring

Machinery for the spring paving program is beginning to arrive from the scene of recent activities at St. Paul. Other machinery will soon arrive from points in Canada. The main station of the bitulithic plant will undoubtedly be located adjacent to the siding just west of the Soo freight depot.

Sending Out Ballots.

The number of absentee ballots to be sent out by the county auditor for this election is unusually small, as the total will not exceed 30 or 35. The railroad men are the chief voters via the absentee ballot and it is not known as yet just how many will be requested.

LOCAL GUERNSEY WINS PRIZE AT NATIONAL SHOW

"Ciff," Owned By F. B. Conklin, Takes Fifth Against Best in Country.

Also Winner of Third Award at Big Exposition Held in Waterloo, Iowa.

Grand Champion at Six Different Shows in Minnesota and North Dakota.

Pennington county at the present time occupies a well-defined spot on the livestock map of the United States by reason of the record made by a Guernsey cow owned by F. B. Conklin of this city. "Ciff", the name by which this cow is registered, has been awarded a standing among the best wherever she has been exhibited. Starting out with the grand championship awards at Ada, Crookston, Fargo, Grand Forks, Mankato and Owatonna fairs, she was sent into the most exclusive company to be found in the United States.

Third at Waterloo.

The Waterloo livestock exhibition is one of the most important in the world and nothing but the best has even a chance at position. "Ciff," however, captured third prize in this event and became the most talked-of bovine in four states. At every appearance she was declared by the judges to be the best aged female entry in the Guernsey class and cattle judges of the highest standing, such as Prof. W. A. McKerrow and A. D. Wilson of the university of Minnesota, have no hesitancy in pronouncing her one of the very finest specimens that has come under their notice.

Iowa Cow at the Head.

At the Chicago show Iowa was given first place in state herds, Wisconsin second, Minnesota third and Illinois fourth. There were in the neighborhood of 30 cows entered, many of them raised by millionaires in different parts of the United States merely for show purposes. To be rated near the top of the list in such company is an achievement of which any cow and any district may well be proud.

So much impressed with the excellent qualities of "Ciff" were cattle experts from other sections that she is to remain in Iowa for the present. W. W. Marsh, the millionaire cattle fancier of Waterloo, will breed her free of charge to the champion bull, Cherub Prince. "Ciff" is now in charge of Prof. McKerrow, who will handle her on behalf of the state agricultural department.

Bankers Are Interested.

The Pennington County Bankers association, at the meeting last evening, decided to send a county Guernsey exhibit to the state fair next year. Such action on their part was suggested by The Times when it became apparent that stock of particularly high quality was to be found among Pennington county herds, but the advice was disregarded at that time. The herds of Mr. Conklin, Albert Johnson, H. C. Woolson and Stuart McLeod were particularly mentioned at the bankers' meeting and there are doubtless others in the same class. The herd bull owned by Mr. McLeod, for instance, is without question one of the very best to be found on a farm in the Northwest.

STRIKE OF FARMERS BRINGS WHEAT UP

Advance of Ten Cents in One Day Due to Stoppage of Shipments.

Chicago wheat prices made a sudden advance on Tuesday and trade authorities ascribed as one of the reasons a falling off in offerings from the Southwest apparently due to the farmers' strike. An extreme advance of 10 3-4 cents a bushel took place, December delivery touching $2.10¾ as against $1.99½ to $1.90 3-4 at the previous day's finish.

The strike or stoppage of selling by farmers was announced some time ago by officials of the United States Wheat Growers association as against continued cutting down of prices until it was contended the financial returns to the growers were below the cost of production. Monday was the day set for the strike to begin but no market effects were noticeable until Tuesday.

The exceptional strength which developed in the market Tuesday was encouraged to a considerable extent also by the fact that export buying on a large scale was noticed.

It is estimated that exporters had purchased on that day more than 1,250,000 bushels of American wheat and that Great Britain and France were buying in India, where of late famines have been reported.

Lot Owner Must Pay.

The city council, at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening adopted a resolution whereby the cost of putting in the sanitary sewer connections from laterals to lots will be assessed against the lots in question, such assessments to be incorporated by the county auditor with the regular real estate tax.

FLOCKING TO THE CITIES.

Of the 105,683,108 persons enumerated in the fourteenth census, preliminary tabulations show that 54,816,209 or 51.9 per cent are living in incorporated places of 2500 inhabitants or more, and 50,866,899, or 48.1 percent, are living in rural territory. In other words, during the ten year period covered there has been an increase in the urban population of 12,192,826 as compared with an increase of only 1,519,016 for rural territory. But the showing for the farming districts is even worse than this. If the comparison is extended to cover the two classes of rural territory it appears that the portion living in incorporated places of less than 2500 inhabitants shown an increase of 1,745,271 or 21.5 per cent, whereas that portion living in purely country districts shows an actual decrease of 227,255, or six-tenths of one per cent.

It is time the American people stopped and gave a thought to what this tendency will eventually mean. Ten years ago the rural or what is termed the farming population was about 7,000,000 million more than the urban or city population. During the decade the cities have grown about seven times as fast as the country districts. In plain English this simply means that the force of producers has been greatly reduced while the army of consumers has been more than correspondingly augmented.

A more serious situation could hardly exist and there is but one way to change it. The farmer's lot will have to be made more attractive. He will have to be assured a better profit for his produce or he will quit raising the food for the maintenance of our population. Even now it is predicted that the United States will have to import food, a condition not thought possible a few years ago. If the movement from the farm contiues the situation is bound to grow worse, and the movement will continue unless something is done to make the farmer's lot more agreeable and his toil more remunerative. He cannot be expected to feed the nation and receive therefor only enough to provide a bare livelihood. He wants some of the comforts and luxuries of life. He sees the city man drawing what to him looks like enormous wages for working at a pleasant task for eight hours a day and he compares the returns he receives—barely enough for his needs while he works twice as long and three times as hard. He grows dissatisfied and takes his chances in the city, figuring that personally he can be no worse off while the lot of his wife and children will be greatly improved. Very often—generally, in fact—he is mistaken in his views but he holds them nevertheless, and nearly everything he sees and hears confirms him in his attitude.

Instead new blood filling up the waste places and making them bring forth the food supplies necessary to feed the nation, the experienced farmer is moving off the improved farm and going to town. There can be but one outcome—the swelling of the consuming army and the crippling of the supplying agency.

The great question confronting the United States at this time is how to get more people onto the farms. Good roads, improved social advantages, better schools—these things will help but none will solve the problem. The only thing that will again make farming attractive is to so arrange matters that there will be a profit for the farmer in following the business.

HOW WILL THE FARMER VOTE?

There is no denying the fact that the Nonpartisan League vote is going to cut a big figure in the election on Tuesday, particularly in the Dakotas and Minnesota. This applies to state offices only, the league not having officially endorsed a candidate for the presidency.

Such being the case there is naturally considerable speculation as to how the members will vote when it comes to the national ticket. That any considerable number will return to the party with which they were affiliated before the Nonpartisan league was in the field is not likely, the indication being rather that past party lines will be ignored almost entirely. In this connection it is interesting to note what one of the leading Nonpartisan papers of the state, the Polk County Leader, has to say on the subject. It will be noted that care is taken to avoid any direct expression of preference:

"How will the Nonpartisan League farmers vote for president?

"Many observers profess to believe that the League vote will be cast for Harding because of dislike for Wilson. But Wilson is not a candidate. Personally, this editor does not see how any man progressive enough to belong to the Nonpartisan League can vote for Harding.

"A protest vote, such as we all would like to cast, is practically barred because the name of Christensen, farmer-labor candidate for president, is not on the Minnesota ballot. Few of us will vote for Debs, no matter how much we sympathize with the man. The Prohibition candidate will not get many votes because prohibition is a dead issue.

"It is an interesting problem. Should the Nonpartisan League vote go to Cox in any great numbers, and the Democrats poll a normal vote, Minnesota would swing into the Democratic column. And there are worse possibilities in store with Republican control of the federal government.

"The caliber of the Republican leaders in Polk county and in Minnesota are not such as to command the confidence of independent voters. We do not for the life of us see how Nonpartisan Leaguers can support the Republican ticket when that means bolstering up the power of the very men and interests which are making such an unscrupulous fight against their organization in this state.

"Taking no part in national politics, the Nonpartisan League and its publications have remained silent. One thing that may have influenced them is the fact that Hodgson is so much stronger a candidate than Preus that advocacy of Cox might hurt Shipstead. But Minnesota farmers are intelligent enough to vote a mixed ticket. There is no good reason why Leaguers cannot support Cox for president and Shipstead for governor.

"It is up to the membership to vote their own convictions. It will be interesting to note just what departures the electorate of Minnesota has made from partisan politics when election results are known."

THE PEACETIME SLACKER.

Any American citizens who fails to cast his or her vote on Tuesday next will have no complainit to make if things are not run in accordance with what they consider the best interests of the country and state in the trying time that is liable to be ahead of us. Failure to take sufficient interest in the persons and policies by which we will be guided for some time shows a lack of the qualities absolutely necessary in the best class of citizenry. Voting is not only a privilege, but also a duty one owes to himself and the nation.

Governor Lowden of Illinois, in a recent speech said that the person who fails to vote is a peace-time slacker, and he was right. The man or woman who is too busy or too indolent to attend to this important matter is not placing a very high value upon citizenship. In but rare instances is an excuse for failure presented that is sufficiently good to be acceptable.

The party or person for whom you cast your vote is not so important. The Times has sufficient faith in the stability of American institutions to feel that things will not go to the dogs no matter who is elected. The issues have been discussed in one form or another for months. The candidates and their attitude towards the big questions now confronting the people are well known. Every person will vote for the things considered best for the present and future welfare of the country. Opinions will differ as to the policies to be pursued, but this is inevitable and even desirable.

Go to the polls on Tuesday and express your preference by means of the ballot. The only time the ballot is not officatious in the United States is when it is not used.

ONE THING TO REMEMBER.

According to all reports, two of the present Minnesota congressmen are going to have the fight of their lives on their hands next Tuesday. One is Halvor Steenerson of the Ninth and the other Harold Knutson of the Sixth. Both are hard pressed by their Nonpartisan League opponents.

The situation in these two districts is somewhat different because of the legislation pending of particular interest to the people residing there. In the Ninth as well as in the northwestern part of the Sixth district the subject of drainage holds a large share of the people's attention and these two congressmen have been very active in promoting this work. To their efforts is due the fact that a survey has been made of the Red Lake river with a view to improving that stream so as to prevent floods and conserve power. It is certain that the re-election of Steenerson and Knutson will help this matter along much faster than is possible in case others are chosen in their stead.

It does not look like a particularly good time to change congressmen for either the Sixth or Ninth district. Steenerson and Knutson stand high with their party and even though the next house should be Democratic they will still carry a great deal more weight than would new men. These are things that the voter should take into consideration. No matter how strongly he may support the program of another political organization as a general proposition he has his own interests to consider and it certainly looks as if these would be best served by the re-election of the present representatives.

THIS MEANS ALL OF US.

Committees in all of the northwestern Minnesota counties are busily engaged in securing their respective county quotas for the Red River Valley live stock pavilion owned by 1500 members in eleven counties. When they come to see you, give them a lift, as a boost for live stock is of benefit to all farmers and townspeople as well. Twenty thousand dollars will be raised which will place the association out of debt, giving its members a substantial group of buildings that cost $70,000.

VOTE "YES" FOR AMENDMENT NO. 1

GOOD THING ALL AROUND.

If someone came along and offered to give the state of Minnesota ten million dollars worth of the best highways in the country every year for a period of ten years without increasing the taxes of the general run of citizens one cent, would anyone oppose such gift? Of course someone would have to pay for these roads, but suppose again that the people upon whom the burden would fall were willing to assume it and figured that they would be money ahead by so doing—then and in that case, who would be found in opposition?

That is exactly what Amendment No. 1 proposes to do. The state will have ten million dollars to expend for main thoroughfares, leaving the money collected through the one-mill tax and received from other sources to be applied to local highways. The money needed will be raised by a tax on automobiles, nothing in the way of direct taxation being necessary in order to carry out this great enterprise.

The farmer will be the principal gainer. His automobile, if he owns one at all, is generally of lower horsepower than the large pleasure cars found in the cities and as the tax is levied according to horsepower the latter will bear the heavier burden. In fact, under the Babcock law the cities will pay by far the greater share of roads which will benefit the farmer most. On the other hand the saving in gasoline, tires and general upkeep made possible by reason of the improved thoroughfares will more than cover the extra tax for the city man and he is consequently ahead of the game also.

No better plan for securing hard-surfaced roads has ever been presented. It is so arranged that those best able to pay will carry the heaviest part of the burden.

Vote for all the amendments on the pink ballot, but whatever you do, make a cross mark after No. 1. Do your share to help lift Minnesota out of the mud.

THE LITTLE LIFE-SAVER.

Within a few days a young lady of your acquaintance is going to call on you with the request that you purchase a sheaf of pretty little pictures about the size of a postage stamp. She gets nothing for selling these stamps and in doing the work simply to help a good cause. That also is the reason why you will buy them. The intention is that these little emblems shall be stuck onto the back of letters, parcels, Christmas presents, etc., but whether or not they are put to any such use is immaterial. The main consideration is the one cent they represent.

Pennington county this year is asked to buy $1200 worth of Christmas Seals to help in the fight against tuberculosis. This is ten cents per head for every man, woman and child in the county. The sum is not large, but as there will be a considerable number overlooked when the sale is being made it will be necessary for a lot of good fellows to come across to an extent considerable greater than the established quota. You are one of these.

A winning fight is being waged against man's most relentless enemy—tuberculosis—by the use of these little seals. Wonderful progress toward the irradication of the disease has been made during the past few years and the pennies represented by the little stamp have made the fight possible. In no other way can the sum necessary for carrying on the crusade be secured with so little effort, nor can the cost be more equitably distributed. We are all interested in the campaign and all are given a chance to help.

No matter how tired we may be of "drives" or solicitations for funds, here is one campaign we should be glad to stand for.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

If you don't vote don't holler if the wrong man wins.

Eatables are sliding down, and life would gallop along like a song if wearables and burnables would do the same.

One nice thing about lady suffrage is that if the wrong man wins you can blame it on your wife.

Scotland is going to vote on prohibition. Imagine a lad who pronounces it "whuskey" voting an ice water ticket.

Some lads kick because the farmers want $3 for wheat, but the same lads will pay $20 to a bootlegger for rye without a murmur.

The law says that doors on voting booths must be far enough from the floor to expose the legs of the voters to the knees. Horrors, with lady suffrage here too!

Some of the city hunters, who come up here for the big game season will be safe as long as the moose are not provided with ladders.

If paper suits come into fashion we know a couple of lads that we are going to give suits of underwear made of fly paper for Christmas presents.

If Amendment No. 1 fails Minnesota will be staked to two kinds of roads—bad roads, and worse roads. If it passes we will get good roads and better roads.

A Canadian paper in denying that they dislike Americans puts it this way. "Canadians dislike the kind of Americans that Americans dislike."

An architect says that no house should contain fewer than six rooms. He's right. Any family requires that much room to quarrel in.

The opposition says that Amendment No. 1 will benefit only certain classes. Sure. The only classes to be benefited are men, women and children.

Peace and Continued Prosperity

Cast Your Vote For

COX and Roosevelt

DO NOT cast your vote for men who are pledged to a policy of reaction.

Governor Cox has proven himself the friend of the workingman, the farmer and small business man. His record proves the sincerity of his utterances.

MR. FARMER—

Harding, the re-actionary candidate of the Republicans voted against fixing the price of wheat at $2.26, which was insisted on by President Wilson. Harding maintained that the farmer who made such demand was unpatriotic and next thing to a profiteer.

MR. BUSINESSMAN—

Gov. Cox stands for a square deal in business. He is owned by no interest except that representing all the people of the United States. He is himself a successful businessman and understands the movements of this important class. A glance at his record proves this.

MR. WORKINGMAN—

Gov. Cox is endorsed by the American Federation of Labor; by the workingmen of Ohio and practically every labor organization in the country. His record as governor is full of instances proving his sympathy with the man who works. He has been responsible for more laws in favor of the worker than any other governor in the United States.

MADAM VOTER—

Senator Harding voted and spoke against the prohibition amendment 30 times and only twice for it. He opposed Woman's Suffrage until it became evident that it would pass without his vote. He boasts of being a believer in compulsory military training. He is opposed to the United States joining a League of Nations to prevent war.

Harding has consistently upheld and defended every reactionary policy proposed during the past twenty years. Cox has espoused and defended every progressive movement in state and nation during the same time. A vote for Cox is a vote for peace and continued prosperity.

FOSSTON DEFEATED IN GOOD CONTEST

City Team Gives Excellent Account of Itself in First Contest of Season.

The Thief River Falls city team proved too much for the Fosston aggregation on the gridiron last Sunday afternoon and as a result the down state team went home with the short end of a 13 to 0 score.

Weather conditions were ideal for football and the fans enjoyed a fast, snappy game. Both teams were about evenly matched as to weight but Thief River Falls showed much better team work and their shifty backfield was too much for the Fosston line to stand against.

The game started with the locals defending the east goal. Fosston kicked off to Thief River Falls on the 30 yard line. A series of line smashes, end runs and forward passes carried the ball down the field and well into Fosston territory in a few minutes of play, Holzknecht, Hermanson and Guy Johnson carrying the ball. Fosston then held for downs and secured the ball. A forward pass and two line plunges failed to net the visitors any gain and they were forced to punt. The ball went out of bounds and was put in play by the locals on the 30 yard line. Holzknecht, Hermanson and Perry Johnson each circled left end for five yard gains and then Thief River Falls was penalized 15 yards for holding.

Hadrath Blocks Kick.

On the next play the locals fumbled the ball but recovered it. A forward pass failed and on the next play Thief River punted, Fosston catching the ball on their 40 yard line with no return. Fosston then attempted to punt but the kick was blocked and Hadrath fell on the ball for Thief River Falls on Fosston's 15 yard line. The first quarter ended here.

Locals Score Touchdown.

With the opening of the second Thief River kicked off to Fosston's for 5 yards. A line plunge failed to gain and a forward pass was incomplete. Fosston then held for downs. On the first play they punted to the 30 yard line. Guy Johnson then proceeded to rip Fosston's line to pieces by one smash after another with Hermanson, Perry Johnson and Holzknecht each adding a few yards. From the 5 yard line, Guy Johnson went over for a touchdown. Hermanson failed at goal. Score: Thief River Falls 6, Fosston 0.

Kick Returned Five Yards.

Thief River kiced off to Fosston's 10 yard line and the visitors returned the ball 5 yards. Two line plays and a forward pass failed and Fosston was forced to kick. The locals returned the kick to the 35 yard line. A fumble was recovered by the locals but two attempted forward passes failed and the first half ended with the score 6 to 0.

Locals Score Again.

Fosston started the second half strong. The locals fumbled the ball on the kickoff and Fosston recovered the ball. A forward pass gained 15 yards. Two attempts at the line failed and an attempted forward pass was incomplete. On the next play Fosston was thrown for a loss of 10 yards and Thief River secured the ball on downs. In a series of line plunges and end runs Thief River took the ball straight down the field for their second touchdown, Guy Johnson going over the line. This quarter was featured by a 25 yard end run by Holzknecht. Perry Johnson kicked goal. Score: Thief River Falls 13, Fosston 0.

No scoring was done in the last quarter and the game ended 13 to 0 in favor of Thief River Falls.

The locals lined up as follows:

Mr. Gillilan writes most of his poems on smoking cars and in hotel lobbies—real poems, too— as often full of pathos and tender sentiment as they are of the smile-inducing sort. He is a "just plain folks" sort of person. Most so-called humorists would readily pass for undertakers or professors of archeology, but Strickland Gillilan not only looks like a comedian—he is one.

Residents of the city and surrounding territory, who are conscious of the need of some of the good things in the way of uplift and entertainments, will do well to keen these dates oped for numbers of the course. Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifting back a quarter of a century, when I see myself in the little drug store I owned at Bolivar, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my friends and customers—what was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and upset the system of the user; which was due to the fact that they were not thorough enough in their action, some simply acting on the upper or small intestines, while others would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system. If this was accomplished, the medicine would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Nature's Remedy, which I truly believe goes further and does more than any laxative on the market today. The thousands of letters from users have convinced me I was right, and that the user of Nature's Remedy as a family medicine, even though he may have used it for twenty-five years, never has to increase the dose.

My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Nature's Remedy from the very first.

And now as I find myself nearing the age when I must bow to the inevitable and go to another life, my greatest pleasure is to sit each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I, who tell of having used Nature's Remedy for ten, fifteen and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefited by it.

It is a consoling thought, my friends, for a man at my age to feel that aside from his own success, one has done something for his fellow man. My greatest satisfaction, my greatest happiness today, is the knowledge that tonight more than one million people will take a Nature's Remedy (NR Tablet) and will be better, healthier, happier people for it. I hope you will be one of them.

BIG INCREASE IN TEACHERS' WAGE FOR PAST YEAR

Average Advance in Salary Roll For All Classes is Thirty-Eight Per Cent.

Superintendent Gunderson's Report Shows County is Following General Trend.

Total Cost of Operation and Maintenance For Year Not Far From $200,000.

A close examination of the annual report submitted to the state commissioner of education by County Superintendent George M. Gunderson shows a remarkable increase in salaries paid the Pennington county teachers. The average wage paid the teachers of the county during the year ending July 31, 1919 was $69.58, while for the year ending July 31, 1920, the average wage was $95.53. In other words teachers salaries were increased slightly over 38 per cent for the year. This fact undoubtedly is responsible for the filling of all vacancies in the schools of the county, many of which were closed during the preceding year due to an apparent lack of teachers.

Nearly 300 Employed.

The annual report shows an enrollment of 213 teachers in the high school and graded school districts and an enrollment of 75 in the rural and semi-graded districts. The total enrollment of pupils in all of the schools of the county was 3293, showing an increase of approximately two per cent over the enrollment for the year ending July 31, 1919.

Pennington county, comprising 80 school districts, now possesses 81 school buildings with a total valuation of $381,649.70. The sum of $32,396.49 was voted in by the county for maintenance of these schools during the year ending July 31, 1921.

STRANGE BOX CARS GIVEN GOOD CARE

Grain Carrying Roads Under Heavy Expense For Upkeep of These Tramps.

When a box car is in condition to haul grain it is fit to carry most any commodity. The Great Northern railway, being essentially a grain-carrying road, aims to keep its cars in shape for grain. During last winter and all of the summer the Great Northern shops kept an unusual number of workmen at work overhauling cars, with the result that all available cars were "kept up."

The Great Northern in fact is compelled to fill the role of philanthropist in the car repairing line. For instance the large portion of cars repaired and put in shape as grain carriers this year were cars from eastern lines and several million dollars were spent in fixing up these box cars. Many of the eastern cars made only one trip and then were called back to their own lines, these foreign roads of course benefiting by the repair work that was done by others. On the other hand several thousand cars of the Great Northern line now are on other lines. These lines, not being grain carrying roads, see no necessity in "keeping up" cars of other roads. Consequently the owner has to overhaul its own cars when they come back on the line from their tramping trips. Some of these cars are gone off the line as long as five years.

The average box car costs from $3,000 to $3,500 to build. It costs about $300 to $500 a year to keep each car in good repair. Last year it cost the Great Northern $8,000,000 for box car repairs.

Out-of-town visitors during the past week were: Mrs. Edward L. Elofson at Ardoch, N. D.; John Eliason at Alexandria and Mrs. H. F. Erickson and daughter at Mahnomen.

The traveling public will be pleased to note that the Soo line has established twenty-four hour service at the ticket office in the Thief River Falls station. Formerly two clerks working eight hour shifts handled the ticket sales, which necessitated closing at hours which inconvenienced those wishing to purchase tickets during odd hours of the day or night. On Wednesday of this week one more clerk was put on duty, thus securing the utmost accommodation in this respect.

HELP WANTED

American Legion Notes

To date forty-one French orphans have been adopted by American Legion posts at a cost of $75 each. Six were adopted within the last week, five of them by Eastern ex-service men. The preference was for boys and each of the six posts expressed its intention of contributing $75 each year to see their proteges through the expensive period of adolescence. Contributions for orphans are being received by National Headquarters of the Legion, in Indianapolis.

Former "Shell-Hole Quartet" men of the A. E. F. and before-taps warblers of the home forces will come into their own with the birth of the Argonne Post Glee Club, recently established at Des Moines, Ia. The modest Argonians, under the leadership of a woman director, expect to start on a nation-wide tour when the complete organization is effected.

When Legionnaries in Georgia rounded up 8 new posts in the week ending October 8, they obtained more than half of the posts chartered in the whole country for the week. Fifteen new posts raised the American Legion total to 9,783. Iowa followed Georgia with three posts while Indiana, Louisuna, Pennsylvania and Texas each annexed one post. During the same week twenty-four units of the Women's Auxiliary were added, raising the total to 1,362. Iowa led with four new units and California, Illinois and Ohio followed with three each. New York leads the Legion column with 934 posts and Massachusetts the Women's Auxiliary total by virtue of its 120 units.

White men of the conservative South marched behind a hearse containing the body of a negro soldier at a recent funeral conducted under the auspices of the American Legion of Austin, Texas. Travis post, No. 76 was the organization that came out a unit to pay respects to Will Hollen, a colored fighter who fell in France. As the post commander pointed out, creed, race and politics do not count in the Legion.

An amusement censor bureau has been established at Minnesota Department headquarters of the American Legion in St. Paul. The purpose of the department, according to Commander A. H. Vernon, is to assist Legion posts in obtaining high class entertainments and to condemn shows of poor quality. "Posts are requested to tell us whether professional shows, carnivals, etc., which play for them are good, bad or indifferent," says a recent announcement from headquarters, sent to all post commanders in the department. "This will serve to keep you posted on entertainments which are good and those which are not desirable.

Elaborate plans are being made by American Legion Posts all over the country for Armistice Day ceremonials at which Victory medals will be formally presented to post members. In a number of the posts an effort to co-operate with local civil authorities in the observance has been made.

Three important changes in government life insurance were recommended by the recent American Legion convention in Cleveland. If adopted they will go far toward removing existing dissatisfaction of ex-service men with the administration of the Bureau of War Risk insurance. The Legion has asked the government to reduce premiums, to bear the cost of the disability feature of the insurance and to pay the mortality loss occasioned by injury and disease resulting from military service. The decision now rests with the War Risk bureau and congress.

Banks Helping Ex-Service Men Secure Bonus Money

To date the banks of Thief River Falls hold between nine and ten thousand dollars worth of Minnesota state bonus claims for ex-service men of Pennington county. Every effort will be made to purchase sufficient bonds to cover these claims in order that the men may secure their bonus money at an early date rather than being obliged to wait until the next session of the legislature for payment of the same.

TAXES RAISED BY HARD TIMES

(Copyright 1917.)

Taxes are always heavy—to the man who has to pay them—but taxes in some communities are much higher than in others. If you have ever stopped to investigate the matter you have discovered that the lowest taxes are found in the most prosperous communities. And there's a reason.

The prosperous community has the lowest taxes because there is a large amount of wealth in the community against which the taxes may be assessed. There are prosperous merchants with large stocks of goods upon which taxes are levied. Property values are high and there are thriving industries which pay a large proportion of the taxes.

The higher the property values and the greater the wealth of the community the lower are the tax levies, for a lower tax on each hundred dollars of valuation is required to produce the necessary revenue for the administration of the city and county governments.

Other Taxes are Raised.

On the other hand, take a dead town. Property values are low. Merchants' stocks are small and they have little money in the bank. Industries which ordinarily pay a large part of the taxes of a community have closed down. There are vacant store buildings which were formerly filled with stocks of merchandise upon which the owners paid heavy taxes. Who pays the taxes that were once paid by the merchants, the manufacturers, the bankers and the men who had large holdings of high-priced property? The taxes to conduct the city and county governments, to maintain the schools, to build and repair the roads must be collected from someone. Who pays them? The man who owns his little home or the vacant lot or two upon which he has been planning to build his home, must pay double or triple the amount which he paid in the times when the town was prosperous, to make up for the taxes which are not paid now by the merchants, the bankers, the manufacturers, and the big property owners who bore the heaviest burdens of taxation when times were good.

The farmers in the country surrounding the town are also among the heaviest sufferers from the ebbing of the town's prosperity. A certain amount of money must be raised by taxation to provide for the expenses of the county. Roads must be built and kept in repair. Bridges must be built and maintained. Salaries of county officers must be paid. County institutions for the care of the sick and the poor must be maintained. In counties which contain one or more thriving towns, a large proportion of the taxes for the county are paid by the towns. The greater the wealth of the towns and the higher the property valuations, the lower the tax levy for the entire county. When the tax levy is low the burden placed upon the farmer is light.

Burden Falls on Farmer.

When the county contains no prosperous and wealthy towns, the greater part of the burden of taxation for the county falls upon the farmer. The value of the farmer's property does not fall in proportion to the value of the property in the town and the higher tax levy that results from the lower property values in the towns makes his taxes higher.

The farmer forgets at times that he is vitally interested in the prosperity of "his town." He thinks that it is up to the town to take care of itself and that it is up to him to take care of himself and he overlooks that fact that the prosperity of the town means as much to him as it does to those who live in it. The farmer who is inclined to overlook this fact has only to think of the matter of taxes and he is likely to change his point of view for taxes are one thing that neither he nor anyone else can escape, and they are one thing in which the farmer ordinarily takes a very lively interest.

How Farmer Can Help.

There is just one way in which the farmer can best promote prosperity in the town near which he lives and that is by spending his money in that town instead of sending it away to the far-distant city. Every time the farmer sends an order to a mail order house he helps to destroy the prosperity of his own community and to boost his own taxes. When he sends a dollar away from home he gets none of it back. When he spend a dollar at home, a part of that dollar comes back to him in some way. It helps the town where it is spent to provide a profitable market for his products and it helps the town pay a large part of his taxes.

The farmer is the one man in the community, above all others, who should have no love for the mail order houses for they are doing more to add to his troubles than any other one agency.

ere Question is Obviously Unnecessary New Voter Need not Tell Age.

lany questions have come in to the to headquarters of the League of men Voters as to whether women chers may vote at the coming tions and if so whether they uld vote in their home district in the district where they stay ng the school year.

o satisfy these questions the atey general was appealed to and rendered the following opinion: woman voter teaching in a dis other than the district of her nt residence may register by ursuant to the provisions of section 425, G. S. 1913 and may vote by mail pursuant to the provisions of chapter 68, Laws of Minnesota 1917."

Need Not Give Age.

The Attorney General further advises that if a teacher intends to make her permanent residence where she is now teaching she may vote in that district but she must satisfy the election judges as to the sincerity of her intention to make her new residence permanent.

Even more inquiries have come to the League of Women Voters as to whether women could be required to give their exact age at the polls and alarm was expressed in some quarters that if this requirement was insisted upon a considerable reduction in the women's vote would result. Once more the Attorney General came to the rescue with an opinion which should satisfy any uneasiness on this score. The opinion reads: "Where it is obvious that a prospective voter is over twenty-one years of age there should be no inquiry on the subject by the election board."

Exceptions to Rule.

What entry should be made by the election judges in the columns of the register headed: "Length of residence in the United States," "Length of residence in the state," in cases where the applicant is obviously over twenty-one years of age? In the Attorney General's opinion the proper entries to be made in such cases are: In the case of a citizen born in the United States, "over twenty-one years" "over six months" and "over thirty days." In the case of a naturalized citizen or of voters who were not born in the United States more exact information may be required. It then becomes pertinent to know definitely what length of time the person seeking to vote has resided in the United States, the state of Minnesota and the election district wherein he or she is a resident. But in normal cases of a voter born in this country, the data given above is sufficient to enable the judges to determine the qualifications of the persons offering to vote.

No Rush to Pay Taxes is Yet Evident Says Treasurer

County Treasurer Gullingsrud predicts a busy week for himself and assistants as the last of the month and the last day for the payment of real estate taxes draws near. He states that there has been no great rush to make payments up to the present time owing to the fact that the exceptionally fine weather has kept the farmers working and consequently at home. That the farmers are holding their produce for higher prices undoubtedly has some bearing on the situation as well.

AUTO-OWNER OR FARMER MUST PAY FOR ROADS

Former is Willing to Stand the Cost Imposed on Him By Amendment No. 1.

Will Mean the Addition of $10,000,000 Each Year to State Road Fund.

Opposition Disappears as Facts are Explained to Men and Women Voters.

Asserting that scattered opposition is fast disappearing as the proposition is correctly understood, Senator L. H. Nord, secretary of the voluntary campaign organization, is predicting the adoption of Good Roads Amendment No. 1.

"Minnesota taxpayers realize that the roads must be kept passable, whichever plan is adopted and that the big question first on the pink ballot Nov. 2, is simply whether Amendment No. 1 will be passed to allow automobiles and trucks to pay part of the expense," says Senator Nord.

From Where Money Comes.

"Good Roads Amendment No. 1 will furnish $10,000,000 a year of additional road money without increases in road taxes or big issues of bonds, which otherwise will be necessary. Motor vehicle licenses will yield more than $6,300,000 and the full allotment of federal aid will be obtainable. That money will be used to maintain and improve the 7,000 mile trunk highway system. It will permit, engineers state, the proper maintenance first of every mile, and also each year the graveling of 400 miles and the hard-surfacing of 200 miles on which traffic is so heavy that gravel surfacing is too expensive.

Counties-Towns Gain More.

"County and town roads will benefit to the same or a greater extent under the proposed plan," says Senator Nord. "They have less than $17,000,000 this year, exclusive of bond receipts, and the biggest part is being spent on main roads. Under Amendment No. 1 the counties and towns will be supplied with more than $15,000,000 of current funds—all state aid and tax revenue—to use on local roads alone. Because of the lighter traffic on the local roads, that big sum will make possible the rapid permanent improvement of all roads left to the counties and towns.

"Under the new plan more than $25,000,000 will be provided every year for work on Minnesota roads on the basis of present road taxes, and the full federal and state aid apportionments. It is generally appreciated that greater sums must be spent on the roads and it is just as plain that if Amendment No. 1 is defeated, road taxes must be raised and bonds issued and charged against the land—to the regular taxpayers.

Auto Owners Offer Help.

"While the average taxpayer is opposed to higher taxation for roads, the automobile and truck owners are willing to pay higher license fees if the proceeds are spent on the roads. They are satisfied that their savings on car depreciation and upkeep, especially on gasoline and tires, will return them cash gains every year besides assuring comfortable, all-year going. The man who votes 'no' on Amendment No. 1, says in effect to the motor vehicle owner: "Keep your money and we will pay more road taxes and struggle along."

Citizens taking that stand are few, the senator adds, and do not understand the proposed plan, having listened to misrepresentations. They are under false impressions that Amendment No. 1 will mean wholesale paving of state roads, big bond issues to be paid off by taxes on land, and so forth, while the contrary is true, as made plain in the foregoing.

Facts Easy to Get.

"As for the bond feature," continued Senator Nord, "Amendment No. 1 limits the amount of road bonds to $10,000,000 a year and to total of $75,000,000 outstanding at any one time. But a law authorizing county commissioners to issue a total of more than $20,000,000 of road bonds without a vote of the people will be of no effect after the day Amendment No. 1 takes force, if it is adopted. So it cannot be said that the proposed plan is backed by a scheme to float a big bond issue.

"All these features were carefully considered by the legislature of 1919 with the result that the members became convinced that no better plan could be framed and voted almost unanimously to present Amendment No. 1 to the voters. The legislative endorsement in itself should influence the average citizen to support the proposed plan if he is unable to obtain detailed information. Every community now has residents well-informed on the plan, however, and they are explaining away every objection offered."

TEACHERS HAVE GOOD MEETINGS; OUR TURN NEXT

Fine Attendance and Much Interest in Topics Presented For Discussion.

Thief River Falls and Pennington County Educators in Prominent Parts.

Next Session Expected to Be Held in This City During October, 1921.

The Northwestern Minnesota Educational association held its annual convention at Warren October 20-22 with an attendance of 467 members. The four days were devoted to general sessions, sectional meetings and round table talks, much being accomplished at each gathering. The Northwestern association voted to affiliate with the Minnesota Educational association, which organization recently revised its constitution with the hope that a state-wide organization of teachers would result. The affiliation of the two associations completes the state organization and places Minnesota well to the fore along educational lines.

The constitution of the M. E. A. provides for three standing committees: a committee on resolutions, a committee on appropriations and a committee on legislation, one member from each division to be elected annually to each committee. W. A. Ziegler, superintendent of schools at Thief River Falls, was elected to the appropriations committee; G. H. Sanberg, superintendent of the Crookston schools, to the legislative committee and David Johnson, county superintendent of Marshall county, to the committee on resolutions.

Pioneer in Movement.

"Scientific Tests" (with demonstrations), a paper read by Superintendent W. A. Ziegler, proved to be one of the most interesting features of the general sessions. It is now possible to determine the exact status of a pupil's ability along various lines by scientific tests, and because of the fact that Superintendent Ziegler has been one of the first to apply these tests along educational lines in the state his demonstration of the test for musical ability met with great interest and approval. Among other Pennington county teachers' papers were: "A County Teachers' Patriotic League" by George M. Gunderson, county superintendent of schools; "Practical Applications of the Montessorri Method," Susan M. Schmitt; "The Chief Points in the Failure of Pupils to Grasp Latin Grammar," Grace Iverson; "How Can a Foreign Language Best be Taught to Pupils Who are Deficient in a Knowledge of English Grammar?" Signe B. Svedal; "What Plans Can be Devised to Make Students More Interested in Science Work?" Gordin B. Melby, and a treatise on economics by Ruth M. Elliott.

Reception to Visitors.

A reception was tendered the visiting teachers by the city of Warren on Thursday evening, a musical program and a delightful lunch being the features of the evening. The Warren Juvenile band appeared several times on the program during the four days and well deserved the praise accorded them by all. Other entertainment features were the schoolmasters' banquet on Friday evening and the clash of the Warren and Crookston high school elevens on Friday afternoon. The latter was a well fought game and looked like a 0-0 tie until the last quarter when Crookston drop-kicked, resulting in a 3-0 score in their favor.

The 467 visiting members of the association voted the city of Warren to be royal hosts and hostesses, because of the agreeable and pleasant spirit of the reception accorded them. The entire expenses of the convention were borne by the city, acting in conjunction with the commercial club and other local organizations. The entertainment of the four days bore evidence to complete co-operation on the part of the citizens of Warren.

Through the courtesy of Superintendent Ziegler the convention was held at Warren this year instead of at Thief River Falls. At the business meeting Saturday afternoon, Superintendent G. H. Sanberg of the Crookston schools, was elected to the presidential chair of the association for the coming year; Miss Sedate Brown of Alvarado was elected vice-president and Superintendent Gunderson to the office of secretary and treasurer. As it is the custom for the association to elect a secretary-treasurer from the place for its next convention, Thief River Falls will be honored in 1921.

A Statement to the Voters.
(Political Advertisement.)

I have been informed that Mr. Sortedahl, who is a candidate for Representative from this District, has on several occasions stated that I supported Senate File No. 262 for a consideration. I brand this as a falsehood of the rankest kind and refer the voters to page 1079 of the House Journal for 1919, where the vote on this bill is recorded, and which shows that I did not vote for the bill at all, while Mr. Sortedahl did. There was no opposition to the measure in the House and it seems absolutely ridiculous that anyone should be accused of receiving a consideration for supporting a measure that was not opposed, even had I voted for it. I cannot but question Mr. Sortedahl's motive in circulating this absurd report, and hereby take the liberty to ask Mr. Sortedahl to explain, 1, why he voted to kill the primary election law; 2, why did he vote for the so called "Public Be Damned" law? 3, why he voted against state insurance under the Workmen's Compensation act and now claims to favor state insurance?

SALVATIONISTS TO OFFER TAGS NOV. 2

Sum Raised in This Way Will Be Credited to County's Regular Quota.

Minnesota is to have another candidate to vote for at the polls on election day, Nov. 2.

Announcement was made Saturday that all citizens of age will be given an opportunity to vote for the Salvation Army and the activities it represents at the voting precincts in every county in the state.

In other words, the Salvation Army will put on a unique Tag Day in Minnesota on election day, in which solicitors will be stationed at every voting precinct and those who subscribe to the Salvation Army's financial appeal for $268,050 will be given a tag bearing the inscription "I voted for the Salvation Army."

County financial chairmen and workers in many of the counties have already taken hold of the plan with much enthusiasm, and are formulating plans to have every precinct and voting booth in their respective counties taken care of.

"Aside from the fact that the tags or buttons will signify who has donated to the Salvation Army, they will also serve to show who has fulfilled his or her solemn duty of voting for the candidates for national, state and local offices," said Henry C. Hanke, chairman of the state advisory board. "It is bound to stimulate the voting in all districts by reminding those who haven't done so to get out early and cast their ballots."

All funds collected by the Tag Day workers will be added to the county quotas in the counties where they were received. It is hoped in this way to put most of the county apportionments over the top.

Editorial.

The Thief River Falls high school will be represented in the Interscholastic Debating contest by the debating forum which has been recently organized, instead of by the public speaking class, as last year.

The advantage of the new system is that it will be more representative of the school than it would be if the debating team should be selected entirely from the public speaking class. The debating forum will confine its activities solely to the question to be debated on, and the team will thus be better able to represent the school than if it should do its debating work as a side issue in the public speaking class.

Senior Class Meeting.

At a class meeting last week the Seniors were favored with a short talk by Supt. Ziegler, who is intensely interested in the welfare of the Senior class. Every Senior would do well in considering the words of advice which he gave to the class as a whole, because co-operation, which was the theme of his speech, is absolutely essential for the success of the class in any of its activities. He mentioned in particular the publishing of the Annual which he anticipated would be the best that has ever been put out by any class in this high school providing the whole class works in a unit, everyone assisting the staff in its work.

Annual Staff Meets.

Friday evening the members of the Annual Staff of 1921 had their first meeting at the high school, for the purpose of working out plans by which the whole school may be aroused to assist in the production of the Annual. The work to be pursued by the members of the various departments was somewhat outlined. It was also decided that the staff should meet every Wednesday evening.

The members of the staff are determined and there is absolutely no doubt but that they will produce the best annual that has ever been published in the high school.

Debate Forum.

The Debate Forum met at 7 o'clock last Tuesday evening under the direction of Mr. Pierce.

The members were given a brief survey as to what would be expected of them in this work and what their question for debate would be.

The local Forum will become a member of the Minnesota State High School Debating League, which gives our club equal showing with other associations of the leagues in competing for the state championship.

First will be debated the preliminaries followed by the inter-district debates and then the finals.

After the preliminaries the team winning will take part in what is known as the inter-district debate, staged between various districts.

Following the inter-district debate the winners of which will meet in St. Paul April 26, in a final grapple for the cup.

The members adjourned with a bright forsight into the club's future success, their last debate in St. Paul and winners of the cup.

Boys' Glee Club Meets On Tuesday Evening

Our efficient music instructor, Miss Johnson, is making good progress with her Glee clubs. There seems to be some trouble in getting the boys out evenings to practice, but she expects to overcome that within a short time. Miss Johnson is building the music interest up to a higher standard than it has ever been in the past and that is saying a good deal for the music classes, although she cannot do this alone, she must have everyone's co-operation and support. All that are interested in the music classes or Glee club, please turn out.

Junior Activities.

Last Thursday evening the Juniors tore down all the Senior decorations and banners, putting their own up in place of them. The Junior class is the liveliest class in high school. Two weeks ago the Juniors and Freshmen put up their banners on the flag pole east of the high school and they are still up. Now what's the matter with the Senior-Sophomore bunch? Are they dead? The Sophomores haven't even tried to put one up, while the Seniors only put theirs up temporarily. We ask you—how long did the Senior banner stay up? Just one day, and it wouldn't have stayed up that long if it had not been for the Juniors and Freshmen observing and obeying the school rule; that a flag stays up during school hours. Did the Seniors and Sophomores adhere to this rule? No! They took our colors down during school hours.

The Smith-Hughes students have tried to take our colors down but they only have succeeded in putting them up higher. The pole-rope was broken and they pulled on the end, so instead of pulling it down they only pulled it up further, for which the Juniors and Freshmen show their appreciation.

We also ask you—how long did the Smith-Hughes banner stay up? Just half a day. And who took it down? The Juniors and the Freshmen. The Smith-Hughes broke the school rule by putting the flag up at noon. They thought that it would be impossible for us to take it down, as they had put cement sacks over the trap door in the roof. But that's not the only way of getting on the top of the building. We mean the trap-door route.

We challenge the Seniors-Sophomores and the Smith-Hughes bunch to take down our banner and put up theirs. Ours has been up so long that it is almost worn out and if the other classes don't take it down, we'll be forced to ourselves. But listen, we will also put up a better one in place of it. Why don't you take it down? Where's your school spirit?

Remember this is a challenge from the two liveliest classes in high school.

Signed,
A JUNIOR.

Students Practice Yells.

Four bells and to the assembly. Our cheer leader, Edward Fiterman, was in charge. He took his place on the stage and ordered everyone to stand. It took some time for Edward to make all the students see and put forth all their pep, but toward the end of the period he had them all in a yelling trance. We are all anxious to see how he conducts them at the game Tuesday. The team undoubtedly will need their support.

Prizes Offered to Grade Schools.

One hundred and ten boys and girls of the grade and rural schools of Minnesota, are partaking in an Essay Contest on "Good Roads Amendment No. 1." The Highway Improvement Association of St. Paul will give two hundred dollars in cash prizes for the one hundred best essays on the subject "Good Roads." The essay should state the benefits of good roads and the good it will bring to the pupils community and also give reasons to vote "Yes" for Good Roads Amendment No. 1. Leaflets were given to the pupils explaining the amendment plan. The contest offer is to encourage the boys and girls to write about a subject of wide current interest and at the same time educate them on the Good Roads Amendment No. 1. The following are two essays out of six which have been sent in:

Good Roads.

One day as a farmer was coming into town in his new automobile right after a rainy day, he slid from one side of the road to the other. When he was not very far from town his tire blew out, so he had to jump out and try to fix it, but he saw that it was too muddy, so he had to go on to town. When he was not more than half a mile from town he bounced down into a large hole in the road and broke the axle of his car. This he could not fix so he went to the nearest neighbor and hired a team of horses to bring his broken car to town.

When the farmer got to the garage he saw posters all along the wall: "Vote 'yes' for Good Roads Amendment No. 1."

As soon as he saw the manager he said, "What are you putting those posters up for?"

The manager said, "If we had what those posters mean passed, you would not have so much damage done to your car."

The farmer began to wonder and thought that perhaps it may be a good plan so he asked the manager, "What is this for and what is it?"

"Well," began the manager, "this Babcock Amendment No. 1 for good roads is to better roads to every man's door."

"I don't see how they can do that," said the farmer.

"Yes, they can," said the manager. "The state betters the largest highways and this leaves the money to improve the others to every man's door."

"I suppose we will have to pay for it then," said the farmer.

"No," said the manager. "The car owners pay an average of $18.00 annually."

"Oh, well," said the farmer, "that won't amount to so much because we can save more than that on just repairs."

So that night the farmer went home with a happy thought on his mind and soon gave it to many others.

MABEL STOKKE.

Good Roads.

The purpose of Amendment No. 1 is to establish a main trunk highway. The people who vote must know all about the "Babcock Plan" and vote intelligently. A majority of "yes" votes on Amendment No. 1 will enable the legislature to establish a seven thousand mile system of main trunk highways extending over the entire state of Minnesota.

"Good Roads" will be a benefit to auto owners because it will save on tires and gasoline and will increase the comfort and conveniences of driving. The state will be responsible for the care of the main roads and the counties responsible for the care of the less important roads.

When you vote for Minnesota's plan you are voting for a greater Minnesota.

"Good Roads" will help link farms and towns together. It will establish closer communication between town and country people. It will help them to grow larger. The farmers are highly favorable of Amendment No. 1 because good roads passing through or near a farming community at once adds greatly to the value of the farm lands. It brings it in touch with the interests and institutions of the villages, towns, or cities near by. It will help to develop our resources; build up our institutions and promote our own great interests. The building of this 7,000 mile trunk highway system will not increase taxes except upon motor vehicles. It will enable people to use trucks instead of horses on all roads. Women are counted on to vote "yes" for the amendment because of its direct bearing on the cost of living and other problems in the home—because of the close relation between good roads and good schools, good churches, good citizens and good communities.

Northrup News.

Nine teachers from the Northrup school went to Warren Friday where they attended the Teachers' Convention.

Mothers' Day is being observed Thursday, Oct. 28, instead of Friday, the 29th, which had formerly been planned. The school rooms are being decorated in Hallowe'en decorations, made by the children, and invitations have been sent out to all the mothers.

One-half hour a week in each class is being devoted to play-ground work, each teacher taking charge of her own class.

Junior Red Cross activities have been resumed by the children and subscriptions to the Junior Red Cross Magazine are being taken.

Championship Chances For Football Gone

On Tuesday afternoon the local high school football squad took on the Bemidji squad. This game decided the district championship but luck was against the locals and they met with disastrous defeat.

The Bemidji team worked like a clock. They tried very few line plunges but resorted to forward passes, which they generally got away with. The outcome of the game could easily be seen at the end of the first quarter.

In the last half the locals held them down to two touchdowns, both of which were made by forward passing. The final score was 49 to 0 in favor of the Bemidji "Jack Pine Savages." The Bemidji squad is the same squad which played in 1917, with the exception of one man, every player but one graduating this coming spring.

Normal Department.

Miss Ober: "Give some reasons for having the Marble & Granite Works in Thief River Falls."

Gladys E. (aside in whispers) "Because there are so many bad people here and when they die they have to be kept down with something heavy."

Miss Ober: "Name some animals that do not live in the forest."

Miss Burns: "Weasels grown on the prairie."

The Girls in Group 1 of the Normal Department are making booklets on Farm and Farm Home Improvements, while Group 2 is making Hallowe'en decorations.

While visiting the Broom Factory the Normal girls were presented with a broom for the department. Now there is trouble over it; neither of the teachers want to claim it. We suppose it is because they do not want to use it.

Illustration given by Miss Perry:

In school the primary pupils were learning all about cows. One night one little boy came home and said to his Mother: "Mother, I want a glass of milk." "I'm very sorry but there isn't any milk left," said Mother.

"Why there is lots of grass in the yard," quoted the boy.

The Mother did not understand what he meant so asked what that had to do with the milk.

"Well can't we grind up the grass and get milk, that is what the cow does, isn't it?" said the boy.

Helen: "Yes, the Indians scalloped the white people around here in early days."

In Geography the Normal girls are learning something about our own town. I wonder how many of us know why this place was named Thief River?

Let no one point their finger of scorn at Thief River. It is an ancient name, hoary with the traditions of centuries and was without doubt, the proper title of this stream before Columbus discovered the New World. The first white man who set foot in this region found the lake and river so called and learned the Indian traditions of the origin of the name, learned how a grim Sioux murderer, long before his tribe had been driven out by the Chippewas, had concealed himself in the vicinity of the river and for years lived an outlaw's life of pillage and robbery, escaping capture though surrounded by the enemies.

About the year 1750, the Chippewas drove the Sioux (Dakotas) out of Northern Minnesota, although for years thereafter bands of Sioux warriors continued to roam this country as far east as Red Lake and to give battle to their hereditary enemies. The Chippewas translated the name but retained the meaning.

During this time the agents of the Hudson Bay Company penetrated into this region and in 1800 Alexander Henry, a fur trader, writes of "Lac Aux Valur's and "River Aux Valur's" that is in French, "Lake and River of Thieves."

Major S. H. Long of the United States army of 1823 headed an expedition which explored the Red River as far north as Winnipeg. On the map accompanying his report of this journey he notes, "Thief River," probably the first time the name was set down in the English language.

"Quiz."

No doubt every one is somewhat interested as to the origination of the queer word: "Quiz."

The word Quiz had its strange birth within twenty hours of time by a Mr. Brady of Dublin and of Irish birth.

Mr. Brady while talking to some person in Dublin made the wager that he could introduce a new word into the English language within twenty-four hours. His wager was taken up.

As a result Mr. Brady united the four letters q-u-i-z in the word quiz and had it written throughout Dublin on sidewalks, buildings, etc., and because of the questioning of the people as to the meaning of this word, it was given the meaning of questioning.

More Light on New Railroad Rates

STRIPPED of legal phraseology, the recent advance in freight and passenger rates means simply this—transportation service.

With the new rates, we can attract capital and give the service to your community to which you are entitled. Yet to the individual or individual family this rate increase is inconsequential.

To the public, these rate advances mean ample transportation for manufactured articles and products of the field, resumption of building activities and local improvements as well as a gradual lowering in the cost of commodities due to plentiful supply. Grain and foods of all kinds will reach points of purchase instead of being stored in elevators and warehouses.

Aside from the activities of so-called profiteers, the rate advance should result in more normal prices. We cannot govern the profiteer, but we can make his job harder by keeping the markets open and the supply of food stuffs plentiful.

That is what we will do now with the improved facilities made possible by our increased income. It cannot happen over night—the task is too great. There is much to be done. The Great Northern Railway will do its part: we ask the co-operation of all so that our work may be accomplished more quickly and your community benefited the sooner.

ROSEWOOD

Sorenson-Meyer.

William Sorenson of this place and Ella Meyer of Steiner were married at Thief River Falls last Wednesday and left the same day for Red Wing where they will spend a brief period visiting with relatives of the bride and will also visit the twin cities on their way home. The newlyweds will take up their abode on the groom's farm two miles north of town. Mr. Sorenson is a capable and intelligent young man who has been engaged at farming in this community all his life and all his friends join in extending their wishes for a very happy union. The bride is also well known throughout the community and is a woman with a sterling character, and the possessor of superior integral qualities which will make her a very desirable life companion.

H. A. Holmen and family, who has been farming a quarter section of land belonging to Martin Williams, east of this place, for the last two years, left last Saturday with their personal belongings and stock for St. Hilaire where they will in the future operate a farm which they have purchased.

Helmer Carlson arrived here by car from Devils Lake, N. D., last Sunday, for a brief visit with his folks and later left for Minneapolis by rail to attend to business matters for a few days.

The general election will be held next Tuesday, Nov. 2, at the Busy Bee school building, Dist. No. 137, four miles north of town. This is the only election place for this township. All U. S. citizens past the age of 21, both male and female, have the right this year to cast their vote on all political matters.

Jos. J. Shreder of Sauk Center has been in this community the past week securing new members for the Minnesota Farmers' Federation, and has so far been quite successful in his work among the farmers.

Jim Thompson left last Sunday for Crookston where he spent the day visiting with friends and returned home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Streble and family of Angus motored up last Sunday for a brief visit with the Sorenson and Haugen families.

Percy Hanson of Crookston is spending a couple of days over Sunday with his grandfather, P. Sorenson.

At the election held last Friday for the consolidation of school districts No. 2 and 41, Pennington county and 137 and 34 Marshall county, 51 votes were cast for consolidation and 72 against, thus retaining the present school facilities for another year or more. Weekly Market Review.

(By Quinn-Shepherdson Co., Minneapolis, Minn.)

Overshadowing other news the Great Britain labor crisis which, according to English dispatches, threatens their present system of government and is evidently occasioned by something more serious than a money difference, has noticeably weakened a growing optimism that the comparatively low prices were at the turning point, thoroughly liquidated and more than discounting our surplus crop.

But the reaction that was presumably due was forced to yield to the probability of restricted European buying of our surplus supplies and cancellation of purchases made resulting from foreign trade paralysis. The situation abroad, therefore, is generally considered of first importance, since we are a country with a surplus the value of which determines our domestic values.

Wheat and rye continue statistically strong or stronger, but the effect of the figures is offset by the general downward business trend, further depreciation of European money, timidity of buyers and more or less pessimism over foreign affairs. Australian wheat crop is reported the largest in years—144 million as against 47 million a year ago. Crop reports from Europe are very limited. Except for Germany, however, fairly satisfactory yields are shown but with advices that farm work progresses slowly on account of unsettled conditions.

In coarse grains also the question now is, "Who wants our 500 million surplus and at what price?" Just as sellers were difficult to find a year ago when prices soared to phenomenally high levels, it is now a difficult proposition to locate a buyer as prices daily sag lower. The weight of surplus is already in the show windows of terminal stocks.

Apparently the only probable prospects in favor of holders of grain are the low prices, (at some points having high freight rates corn makes a cheaper fuel than coal); the hope of prompt settlement of the British crisis, resumption of domestic and export buying which, on account of the present slow demand, should be later unusually heavy, continued light receipts from the country resulting in oversold markets necessitating new buying to meet December delivery contracts.

Crimped, not pasted

What's all this talk about Crimping?

Come, Lester, and you shall hear: There are three ways to roll a cigarette—wet it with your tongue, use paste, or crimp it.

But Spur is the only cigarette—note that word only—that has the crimped seam. No moisture as when you roll a cigarette—no paste as used by other makers.

Crimping makes Spur draw easier, burn slower, taste better. Looking at a Spur will give you the idea—and smoking one will give you the result.

And of course everybody knows that Spurs are blended from choice Turkish, fine Burley and other home-grown tobaccos. That's where Spur's good old tobacco taste comes from.

There's a lot more to be said—but write it yourself after you've enjoyed twenty Spurs from the neat-looking brown and silver package.

Additional Routes.

Whenever, either by reason of the creation of a new county, or by reason of the change of the county seat of any existing county, any city or village not a county seat at the time of the adoption of this amendment is lawfully constituted the county seat of any county, the legislature is authorized to add to the trunk highway system such additional routes connecting such newly constituted county seats with other county seats and other points in the state.

When after at least seventy-five (75) per cent of the total number of the miles of the routes embraced in the trunk highway system hereinbefore specified shall have been constructed and permanently improved, the legislature shall have authority to add new routes to such trunk highway system; provided, however, that no such new routes shall be added until and unless the funds available for the construction, improvement and maintenance of such additional routes shall be sufficient therefor in addition to the construction, improvement and maintenance of the several routes hereinbefore specifically described.

Section 2. There is hereby created a fund which shall be known as the trunk highway sinking fund. Said fund shall consist of the proceeds of any tax imposed on motor vehicles as herein authorized. The moneys in said fund shall be used for the payment of the principal and interest of any bonds which may be issued under the authority of this article; and any moneys in excess of such requirements shall be transferred to a fund which is hereby created and which shall be known as the trunk highway fund. The trunk highway fund shall be used solely for the purposes specified in Section 1 of this article, and when duly authorized by legislative enactment to reimburse any county for the money expended by it subsequent to February 1st, 1919, in permanently improving any road hereinbefore specifically described, in accordance with plans and specifications therefor approved by the commissioner of highways.

Section 3. The legislature is hereby authorized to provide, by law, for the taxation of motor vehicles, using the public streets and highways of this state, on a more onerous basis than other personal property, provided, however, that any such tax on motor vehicles shall be in lieu of all other taxes thereon, except wheelage taxes, so-called, which may be imposed by any borough, city or village. Any such law may, in the discretion of the legislature, provide for the exemption from taxation of any motor vehicle owned by a non-resident of the state, and transiently or temporarily using the streets and highways of the state. The proceeds of such tax shall be paid into said trunk highway sinking fund.

Section 4. The legislature may provide by law for the issue and sale of the bonds of the state in such amount as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of section 1 of this article, provided, however, that the amount of bonds which may be issued in any one calendar year shall not exceed, in the aggregate, ten million dollars, par value, and provided, further, the total amount of such bonds issued and unpaid shall not at any time exceed seventy-five million dollars, par value. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be paid into the treasury of the state and credited to the trunk highway fund. Any bonds so issued and sold shall be for a term not exceeding twenty (20) years. They shall not be sold for less than par and accrued interest and shall not bear interest at a greater rate than five per cent per annum. In case of the trunk highway sinking fund shall not be adequate to meet the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds authorized by the legislature as hereinbefore provided, the legislature may provide by law for the taxation of all taxable property of the state in an amount sufficient to meet the deficiency, or it may in its discretion, appropriate to such sinking fund moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Section 5. Any and all provisions of the constitution of the state of Minnesota, inconsistent with the provisions of this article, are hereby repealed, so far, but only so far, as the same prohibit or limit the power of the legislature to enact laws authorizing or permitting the doing of the things hereinbefore authorized."

PURPOSE AND EFFECT OF AMENDMENT.

The purpose of the proposed amendment is to establish and provide for the construction and maintenance of a system of roads and highways in the state of Minnesota to be known as "The Trunk Highway System." The effect of the proposed amendment, if adopted, will be to establish and authorize the enactment of laws, providing for the construction, improvement and maintenance by the state of the highways described in a general way in the amendment, which highways are to be more specifically and definitely located in a manner to be prescribed by law, but any such law must provide that in fixing a definite location of the various routes there shall not be any deviation from the starting point or termini described in the routes set forth in the amendment, nor shall there be a deviation in the fixing of the routes from the various villages and cities named in the amendment, and through which the routes are to pass.

If the amendment is adopted, the legislature will be thereby authorized to provide by law for the issuance and sale of the bonds of the state to raise money for the creation of a "Trunk Highway Fund" to be expended for the construction of the roads embraced in the trunk highway system. The legislature cannot, however, issue bonds in any one year exceeding in amount of the par value thereof the sum of $10,000,000, nor can the aggregate of all outstanding unpaid bonds ever exceed $75,000,000. Bonds cannot be sold for less than par or bear interest at a greater rate than five per cent per annum.

The adoption of the amendment will also confer on the legislature authority to levy a tax on motor vehicles, using the public streets and highways, on a more onerous basis than other personal property is taxed. The proceeds of such tax will be credited to the Highway Sinking Fund, which is to be used to pay bonds issued as above; any surplus in the Highway Sinking Fund not needed for the retirement of bonds to be transferred to the Trunk Highway Fund. Motor vehicles taxed by any law passed by the legislature under the amendment, will not be subject to any other tax, except that a wheelage tax may be imposed on such vehicles by any borough, city or village, if they see fit to do so.

In case the tax on motor vehicles is not sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the bonds issued, the legislature, in case of the adoption of the amendment, will be empowered to provide by law, for the taxation of all the taxable property of the state in an amount sufficient to meet the deficiency, or it may, in its discretion, appropriate to such Highway Sinking Fund any moneys in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 2.

Chapter 531, Session Laws of Minnesota for the year 1919, proposes an amendment to section 7 of article VI of the constitution of the state of Minnesota. Said section now reads as follows:

"Section 7. There shall be established in each organized county in the state a probate court, which shall be a court of record, and be held at such times and places as may be prescribed by law. It shall be held by one judge, who shall be elected by the voters of the county for the term of two years. He shall be a resident of such county at the time of his election, and reside therein during his continuance in office, and his compensation shall be provided by law. He may appoint his own clerk where none has been elected; but the legislature may authorize the election, by the electors of any county, of one clerk or register of probate for such county, whose powers, duties, term of office and compensation shall be prescribed by law. A probate court shall have jurisdiction over the estates of deceased persons and persons under guardianship, but no other jurisdiction, except as prescribed by this constitution."

The amendment simply proposes to substitute the word "four" for the word "two" so that the sentence prescribing the duration of the term of office of probate judges will, if the amendment is adopted, read as follows:

"It shall be held by one judge, who shall be elected by the voters of the county for the term of four years."

The purpose of said amendment and its effect, if adopted, will be to make the term of office of judge of probate four years instead of two.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 3.

Chapter 532 Session Laws of the state of Minnesota for the year 1919, proposes an amendment to Section 1 of Article IX of the constitution of said state. Said section now reads as follows:

"Section 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation personal property not exceeding in value $200, for each household, individual or head of a family, as the legislature may determine: Provided, that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

If amended said section will read as follows:

"Section 1. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subjects, and shall be levied and collected for public purposes, but public burying grounds, public school houses, public hospitals, academies, colleges, universities, and all seminaries of learning, all churches, church property, and houses of worship, institutions of purely public charity, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, shall be exempt from taxation, and there may be exempted from taxation household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer thereof, tools, implements and machinery and all real and personal property owned by county agricultural societies and used for holding agricultural fairs, to such an extent and in such manner as the legislature may determine. Taxes may be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations which taxes may be graduated and progressive and the exemption of a reasonable amount of income from taxation may be provided, and such taxes may be in lieu of taxes on any class or classes of personal property as the legislature may determine: Provided that the legislature may authorize municipal corporations to levy and collect assessments for local improvements upon property benefited thereby without regard to a cash valuation, and, provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any existing law providing for the taxation of the gross earnings of railroads."

The purpose of said amendment is to empower the legislature to enact laws, to such an extent, and in such a manner, as it may determine, exempting from taxation household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer, tools implements and machinery, and all real and personal property owned by county agricultural societies and used for holding agricultural fairs; and to authorize the imposition of graduated and progressive taxes on incomes, privileges and occupations.

The effect of the amendment, if adopted, will be to accomplish the purposes above indicated, to-wit: to authorize the enactment of laws by the legislatures,

FIRST: Providing for the exemption from taxation, to such an extent and in such manner as the legislature may determine, of household goods, wearing apparel, agricultural products in the possession of the producer, tools, implements and machinery, and all real and personal property owned by county agricultural societies and used for holding agricultural fairs.

SECOND: Providing for the imposition of graduated and progressive taxes on incomes, privileges and occupations.

PROPOSED LAW RELATING TO THE TAXATION OF RAILROAD PROPERTIES.

Chapter 533, Session Laws of the state of Minnesota for the year of 1919, proposes an amendment to section 2226, General Statutes Minnesota 1913, and provides that said amendment shall be submitted to the people of this state for approval or rejection at the 1920 general election. Said section now reads as follows:

"Section 2226. Every railroad company owning or operating any line of railroad situated within, or partly within this state, shall, during the year 1913, and annually thereafter, pay into the treasury of this state, in lieu of all taxes and assessments, upon all property within this state, owned or operated for railway purposes, by such company, including equipment, appurtenances, appendages and franchises thereof, a sum of money equal to five per cent of the gross earnings derived from the operation of such line of railway within this state.

On or before August 15, 1913, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending June 30th, next preceding, and the said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and be payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on September 1st, next thereafter.

On or before February 15, 1914, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending December 31st, next preceding, and said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on March 1st, next thereafter; and the payment of such sums at the times hereinbefore set forth shall be in full and in lieu of all other taxes and assessments upon the property and franchises so taxed; provided nothing in this act shall be construed as modifying any agreement entered into between any municipality within the state and any railroad company relating to the payment of local taxes or assessments.

The lands acquired by public grant shall be and remain exempt from taxation until sold or contracted to be sold or conveyed as provided in the respective acts whereby such grants were made or recognized."

If amended as proposed it will read as follows:

"Section 2226. Every railroad company owning or operating any line of railroad situated within or partly within this state, shall, during the year 1913 and annually thereafter, pay into the treasury of the state, in lieu of all taxes upon all property within this state owned or operated for railway purposes, by such company, including equipment, appurtenances, appendages and franchises thereof, a sum of money equal of five per cent of the gross earnings derived from the operation of such line of railway within this state.

On or before August 15, 1913, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending June 30th, next preceding, and the said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on September 1st next thereafter.

On or before February 15, 1914, and annually thereafter, each such railroad company shall make, according to law, a true and just return of all such gross earnings for the six months ending December 31st next preceding, and said tax of five per centum thereon shall become due and payable to the state of Minnesota in manner provided by law, on March 1st next thereafter; and the payments of such sums at the times hereinbefore set forth shall be in full and in lieu of all other taxes upon the property and franchises so taxed.

The lands acquired by public grant shall be made and remain exempt from taxation until sold or contracted to be sold or conveyed as provided in the respective acts whereby such grants were made or recognized."

Under the present law the gross earnings tax paid by railroad companies is in lieu of all other taxes and assessments upon property owned or operated for railroad purposes. Under the proposed amendment such tax will be in lieu of taxes only and railroad companies will become subject to assessments for local improvements in the same way that private persons and corporations, not paying a gross earnings tax, are subject to such assessments.

The purpose of said amendment and its effect, if adopted, will be to subject railroad companies, paying gross earnings taxes, to the payment of assessments for local improvements.

Yours respectfully,
CLIFFORD L. HILTON,
Attorney General.

FARMERS HOLD PRODUCTS FOR HIGHER PRICES

This Fact Conclusively Proven By Bank Condition Statements Everywhere.

Very Little Liquidation of Obligations Indicated in This Neighborhood.

Deposits Show Slight Falling Off With No Appreciable Reduction in Loans.

The outstanding fact conveyed by the bank statements published last week in Minnesota is that the farmers are holding their crops and consequently the liquidation usual at this time of year is not in evidence. A large percentage of the obligations held by banks fall due between Sept. 1 and Nov. 1 and the statements published at this time of year under ordinary circumstances show that there are an abundance of funds available. The opposite is true this year. Very few banks have been able to get by without borrowing money in order to maintain their reserve fund, but this fact must not be taken as in any manner reflecting on the general soundness of the institutions nor as an indication that conditions are in a bad way. The farmer has simply decided to hold his products for higher prices and as soon as he lets go the pendulum will swing the other way. His refusal to market grain has already had the effect of stiffening prices and the probabilities are that before long he will be filling the elevators.

Gain Over Year Ago.

The reports show that on Oct. 6—the date of the bank examiner's call—Thief River Falls banks held a total of $2,465,324.86 on deposit as compared with $2,225,430.50 a year ago, an increase of over a quarter million dollars. As compared with the last previous statement, issued on June 30 however, there is a falling off of $147,310.78. While this is unusual it is easily explainable and is directly due to the cause given above.

General liquidation is always reflected by a reduction in the loans and discounts column. A year ago the banks carried $1,848,740.76 in loans and discounts at the corresponding period while according to the statement this account stands at $2,304,354.69 at this time—a difference of $455,613.93. There has, however, been a reduction since the first of July of $57,372.51, the smallest amount recorded for the same period in a long time.

Situation is General.

Even the larger city banks reflect the seasonable change of position, the only effect of which is a noticeable tightening of loans. While this state of affairs has tendency to retard development in certain lines it comes at a time when there would naturally be a letup in any event, particularly in construction work. The winter season is at hand and there will be no general demand for funds for new enterprises before spring. By that time things will have adjusted themselves because of the enforced crop movement.

There has been an average yield of almost everything in all sections of the country but it is doubtful if it is sufficient to meet the demand. Under such circumstances holding off on the part of the seller is certain to raise the price and this is all that is necessary in order to get products moving away from the farms.

It is in ten distinct and natural colors and presents scenes from the Rocky mountains as well as from Europe, Asia, Peru, Egypt and other foreign countries.

The natives are seen in their natural habitat and environment, gathering the roots, herbs and barks that from the medicinal ingredients of Tanlac, packing them upon the backs of camels, elephants, llamas and other beasts of burden for transportation by land and sea to the immense laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, and Walkerville, Canada.

One of the most striking features of the display is the reproduction of the magnificent laboratory at Dayton. Here the artist has very effectively and impressively portrayed the popularity of Tanlac by introducing a group of people in all walks of life, who are looking at the Tanlac laboratory with expressions of confidence, plainly indicating their belief and faith in the medicine.

Another distinctive feature is the bulletins accompanying the display. They tell briefly and concisely of the marvelous growth and development of Tanlac, until today it has the largest sale of any medicine of its kind in the world. These bulletins also quote various standard medical authorities as to the therapeutic value and physiological effect of the medicine.

60,000 Bottles a Day.

From these bulletins one also learns that the new Tanlac laboratories at Dayton and Walkerville have a combined daily capacity of 60,000 bottles and that the medicine is now selling at the rate of approximately 10,000,000 bottles per year.

That Tanlac is a preparation of exceptional merit has never been disputed, which accounts for its tremendous popularity and large sales thruout the country. It is a powerful reconstructive tonic and body-builder and has a far-reaching and most beneficial effect upon the entire system. Many strong local endorsements from those who testify as to the benefits they received, have appeared in the columns of this paper.

The manufacturers of Tanlac are firm believers in newspaper advertising and have forcibly presented to the public the merits of their products in this way. Their total annual appropriation for newspaper space exceeds one million dollars. Their copy appears in practically all of the leading daily and weekly newspapers throughout the United States and Canada.—adv.

Carrying On

THE refining of petroleum has been revolutionized during the past ten years. Otherwise the present use of automotive machinery would be impossible.

In 1910 the average yield of gasoline from crude was 11 percent, while in 1919 this average had risen to about 26 percent, without in any way, impairing the quality of the product.

This tremendous advance was the direct result of applying the findings of scientific workers to the problems of industry, and in this work the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has taken a leading part.

The chemists and technical experts who have charge of the manufacturing activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana have been pioneers in the scientific refining of crude oil.

Their success is attested by the fact that the Company has been able to produce an ever-increasing volume of gasoline from the petroleum available.

The gasoline problem is important, but it can and will be solved by individual initiative, stimulated by fair and reasonable competition.

In the solving of this problem, the interests of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), the manufacturer of automotive machinery, and the public are one—greatly increased production is essential.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is straining every fibre of its highly specialized organization to increase the quantity of gasoline which may be taken from the crude—to maintain the high standard of quality it has always insisted on, and to do this without disturbing the output of other useful and necessary refined products of petroleum which it must supply.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

"Granny" Chamberlain

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

TITAN 10-20: World standard, most popular of all tractors. Equipped with economical slow-speed engine; operates on kerosene. Built for three plows; equally satisfactory at belt and drawbar work.

The President of France Pays Tribute.
President Deschanel is near the center of the picture, raising his hat; the gentleman with the cane is Monsieur J. H. Ricard, Minister of Agriculture. International tractors rendered invaluable service to France in wartime.

Europe Honors the Titan

THE Italian government some time ago purchased many American tractors to be sold to farmers in an effort to stimulate food production. Of these thousands were made by the International Harvester Company. We are now informed that not one International Harvester tractor remains unsold, but that the government still has on hand 500 of one kind, 250 of another, 475 of another, and 200 of still another make.

Furthermore, Italy could have sold a thousand more International tractors had they been available. Dispatches state that the Italian government, being very desirous of disposing of the less popular remaining tractors, is offering them at reduced prices.

There are factors of quality, reliability, and economy in International Harvester tractors which give them leadership the world over.

The 10-20 Titan tractors are cheaper today than before the war. A written guarantee is given with each tractor sold now to the effect, that providing a decline in price should take effect before next season, a refund of such decline in price will be made each one buying a 10-20 Titan tractor, so no one could wish for a better and more fair and square deal—because of the fact that the 10-20 Titan tractors are cheaper today than before the war an advance in price is quite possible before next year. Therefore buy today the best tractor at the best price and best proposition. Your Dealer,

Overwhelming Republican Victory in State and Nation

HARDING LEAD IN MINNESOTA EXCEEDS 275,000

Preus' Plurality For Governor Will Exceed 100,000—Entire Ticket Safe.

Republican Presidential Candidate Carries Pennington County Three to One.

Amendments All Adopted By Good Majorities—Steenerson is Re-elected.

Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, and his running mate, Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts have been swept into office in the presidential election by the greatest landslide in the nation's history. Late returns only increased the tremendous and unparalleled republican pluralities.

Not only did the republican party win the two highest offices in the nation, but it also obtained a large working majority in the senate and house.

Incomplete returns gave President-elect Harding 349 of the 531 votes in the electoral college, which gives him a majority of 257 over Governor J. M. Cox, his democratic opponent.

The unofficial results presaged a larger majority in the electoral college for Senator Harding than any since 1888, except alone the vote of 435 for President Wilson in 1912, during the "republican split."

The 67th congress will be almost overwhelmingly republican on the basis of the Harding landslide election returns. The senate will be republican by a majority of at least 12 and possibly 14, an increase of 10 or 12 over the majority in the present senate of two. Incomplete returns indicated also that republicans would control the house of representatives by a majority of 84.

Preus Elected Governor.

J. A. O. Preus, the Republican candidate, had a majority of 104,000 over Henrik Shipstead, Nonpartisan, at noon today and it is not likely that this will be cut down although there are still a considerable number of precincts to hear from. The results indicates that the women voted very generally for the Republican candidates and that many Democrats made a last-minute switch to Preus.

The entire Republican state ticket is elected by substantial majorities. Attorney General Hilton, who was reported to be closely crowded by Thomas Sullivan, the Nonpartisan

SUGAR BEET CROP AVERAGES 14 TONS

Shipments For Year Almost Completed and Larger Tract Already Contracted.

The hauling of this year's crop of sugar beets is just about completed. With the shipping of approximately 75 tons from the commercial club tract, 12 carloads (260 tons) will have been shipped from this vicinity to the sugar mill at Chaska. In comparison with other sections of the state, the average yield in Pennington county has been exceptionally high. The Barzen tract averaged 22 tons per acre. The average yield for the entire acreage was 14 tons. While $10 per ton was the guaranteed price, growers will undoubtedly receive from $11 to $12 for all beets shipped. Contracts for 200 of the 350 acres for which the Minnesota Sugar Beet company will contract in Pennington county for the coming season, have already been taken up.

Wife of Veteran Soldier First to Vote in This City

Mrs. S. T. Johnson, 716 Arnold avenue north, not only was the first person in Thief River Falls to cast a ballot in the presidential election of 1920, but was the first woman to make use of her privilege of equal suffrage with the men of the city. Thinking to avoid the rush at the polling places, she accompanied Mr. Johnson to the Auditorium previous to 6:00 a. m. Promptly at that hour she called for her ballot and in three minutes time handed it to her husband who was acting as judge for the Second ward. Let us hope that she voted "right"—whatever that may be.

S. T. Johnson served with honor during the four years of the Civil war and was wounded in action during the seven days battle before Richmond. Born in the state of Maine he came to Minnesota 37 years ago and for the past 33 years has been a resident of Thief River Falls. Mr. Johnson has been judge at election time for the last 20 or 25 years, missing but one time when he was serving as clerk in the village. He has undoubtedly cast more ballots, red, white or blue, into a ballot box than the combined total of any other three people in the city—and, though he is getting along in years, he expects to cast quite a few more as the years pass.

HUNTERS RUN INTO BAD PRAIRIE FIRE

Report Having Interesting Experience on Red Lake Indian Reservation.

Thief River Falls sportsmen while enroute for hunting grounds near Red Lake last Saturday afternoon, encountered a prairie fire of considerable magnitude on the Indian reservation. The party was in advance of the line of fire which stretched for miles across the prairies. Flames, propelled by a high wind, made short work of the abundant crop of prairie grasses and the party finally backfired a considerable tract to avoid any possible danger before proceeding on their way. The timber, which lies dense to the eastern part of the reservation, acted as an effective barrier once the fire had progressed to that point. Little damage resulted outside of hay cut and stacked by the Indian residents. Members of the hunting party which was made up by L. A. Lampert, W. W. Prichard, Jr., Tony Anderson, E. M. Schutt, G. W. Connell, H. W. Protzeller and H. O. Floven, interstate commerce commissioner, speak of the fire as a wonderful sight and particularly during the night when they were surrounded by a brilliant line of sweeping flames.

FIRST MEETING OF TEACHERS' LEAGUE

Interesting Discussion of Live Subjects at Hazel Saturday Evening.

The sectional public meeting of the Teachers' Progressive League of Pennington county held at Hazel last Saturday evening was a decided success from all view points. Fortunately the Farmers club rooms had been engaged so that the large crowd was well accommodated.

Miss Ilet LeSage, chairman for Section 4, called the meeting to order at 8:30, after which Superintendent Gunderson explained the purpose of the teachers' league. F. A. Tripp being absent from the county, Proffessor W. A. Ziegler elaborated upon the Smith-Hughes industrial school plan which is being operated at the Thief River Falls high school. Dr. Bjorken of St. Hilaire, took for his subject: "The Health of the School Child," and Theodore Quale, county attorney, spoke of the work of the child welfare board. County Agent J. J. McCann gave an unscheduled talk on the formation of boys' and girls' clubs and results accomplished by the same. Following these more weighty topics, a hallowe'en program was given by the school girls. Lunch was then served, after which the younger people in attendance remained to dance.

This was the first of the public meetings arranged for by the Teachers' Progressive league and because of the enthusiasm shown by those in attendance the plan will undoubtedly meet with the greatest of success. One of the main objects of the league is a greater co-operation between the rural and city teachers and parents of school children.

New Orchestra Receives Much Favorable Mention

Thief River Falls has a very creditable musical organization in Snyder's orchestra, which has been making a favorable impression upon local patrons of the terpsichorean art since its formation about three weeks ago. Heretofore the city has been obliged to go to outside sources for its orchestras for dancing or entertainment purposes—a rather lamentable situation in view of the fact that many other communities far smaller in size maintain not only one but several orchestras which render music suitable for all occasions throughout the adjacent territory. The new orchestra under the direction of H. S. Snyder, is made up of five pieces: Perry Froseth, trombone; P. G. Peterson, cornet; Clarence Dybvik, trap drums; Mr. Snyder, violin and Mrs. T. A. Rowan at the piano; all of whom show talent upon their respective instruments.

PRIMARY VOTE DOPE IS UPSET IN THE FINALS

Result of Election Conclusively Proves That Women Have Taken a Hand.

Preus and Steenerson Carried City Tuesday; Both Were Downed in June.

Harding Has Clear Majority, Proving Greatest Surprise of Contest.

City Vote on President.

Second ward	241	130	46
Third ward	153	76	56
Fourth ward	224	154	62
Total	880	503	226

The above tells the story so far as Thief River Falls is concerned. Now how do you explain it? According to the primary returns neither Preus nor Steenerson would be expected to make any such showing here and there is nothing to lead one to think that the sentiment at primary time was particularly friendly to Harding. The latter comes out of the city with a vote practically twice as great as that of his two principal opponents combined, something for which his most optimistic supporters were not prepared. The vote for the entire county is not yet available, but it is evident that this ratio will be very nearly maintained.

Women Voted Republican.

There is no getting away from the fact that the excellent organization work of the Republican women had a good deal to do with the outcome. They canvassed the city thoroughly, as did also their sisters of a different political persuation, but the arguments of the former must have been the most attractive. The result would indicate that a voting policy different from that pursued by the head of the house was often resorted to by the women. In no other manner can the complete reversal from the primary result be explained.

Primary No Guide.

Preus was given a plurality of 170 votes in the city on Tuesday. In the primaries he received 243 to Shipstead's 365. Had all the votes received by the Republican candidates in that contest been given to Preus, he would still be quite a ways short of reaching Shipstead's total. The latter at that time carried every ward but the Third and lost that by only eight votes, while now he fails to carry three of them.

Steenerson's case is practically identical. In the primaries he received 285 votes to 317 for Thormodson, losing the Second and Fourth wards, carrying the Third and breaking even in the First. Now he is the leader in every instance, has a clear majority of 171 votes and distances his principal opponent by 377.

Over 1700 votes were cast in the city. As the usual number is somewhere around the 1200 mark it is evident that the women turned out exceptionally well on this, their first opportunity to cast a ballot for state and national officials.

South is Cold and Wet; Returns to Thief River

Minnesota isn't such a bad place to live in after all. Ed. Osmondson, who has been in the employ of the Great Northern Drainage company at Plainview, Arkansas, has returned to Thief River Falls with the intention of locating here. Mr. Osmundson relates that the weather in Arkansas has been disagreeable, rainy and practically as cold as it is in this northern part of Minnesota at the present time.

Returns From Nine-Month Sojourn in Far Northwest

Peter Eberhardt returned last week from The Pass, Manitoba, where he has been for nine months building boats for the Wintons. He will visit with his family and old friends here for a short time and then intends returning for the purpose of constructing more ships. Mr. Eberhardt says that the country around The Pass is still very wild and is to a large extent bog, but that farther west there is excellent agricultural land. There is water communication with the outside world and the Canadian Pacific now runs three trains weekly to the town. Lumbering, boating and mining are the principal industries of the region, which is developing rapidly and prospering. The boats built by Mr. Eberhardt are of the stern wheel type and will be used for river traffic.

HALVOR STEENERSON

COURT SETS ASIDE HEDLAND JUDGMENT

Supreme Tribunal Finds Contributary Negligence on Part of Accident Victim.

The state supreme court handed down a decision on October 29 reversing the verdict found one year ago by the district court in the case of the Great Northern railway vs. the Carl Hedland estate. Carl Hedland was killed by a Great Northern train while attempting to cross the track at a point two miles north of Greenbush on June 25, 1919, and his heirs sued for $7,500. The district court in October, 1919, rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff but the Great Northern appealed to a higher court. The supreme court found the deceased guilty of "contributary negligence."

From evidence submitted, the deceased, Carl Hedland, was careless in making the crossing, as an approaching train could be seen from a distance of 58 feet. If he tried to make the crossing without looking for an approaching train he was guilty of negligence under existing state law, says the court. If he looked he could have seen the train. If he looked, saw the train and still attempted to cross, he was clearly negligent. If he approached the crossing at a high rate of speed without considering the approaching of a train, he was again negligent.

The courts go so far as to make a distinction as regards the crossing of railway tracks by horse-drawn or motor-propelled vehicles. Often a team of horses will become frightened at an approaching train, while in the case of an automobile the driver is expected to have his car under control at all times and particularly at crossings where trains may as a matter of course be expected.

DISCUSS PEAT AT WEEKLY LUNCHEON

Progress Made in Briquetting For Fuel Principal Subject Before Business Men.

The noonday lunches at the commercial club are gaining in public approval every week, judged by the continued good attendance, and with the advent of colder weather still larger crowds are expected. Last week oyster stew and crackers was the principal dish set before the hungry men during the noon hour, delicious pie rounding out the meal.

An expenditure before long of $250,000 by the federal government in developing peat possibilities was brought to the attention of the club by H. W. Protzeller, who has been perhaps more interested in this matter than any other citizen of this city and vicinity. Some time ago Mr. Protzeller, it will be recalled, had some peat briquetted for fuel and it is claimed that with the proper kind of a binder the peat would become a good seller at a price which would make it attractive.

In a copy of the Club Bulletin, just issued by the International Falls Commercial club, there is an article dealing with the briquetting of peat taken from Koochiching county land. The Peat Products Corporation of Detroit has sent representatives to International Falls to investigate the possibilities which are said to exist there and it may be that they will establish a plant in the neighborhood of Birchdale if the quantity of peat is such as to make it a commercial possibility.

With the idea of getting action which would make use of the peat in this vicinity, Mr. Protzeller was named as a committee of one to get in touch with the federal agents having the matter in charge.

The report of the committee who solicited the funds for the Minnesota Highway Improvement association will be found elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

Election returns, it was announced by the secretary, would be received by the club on election night, and the public was invited to attend.

Another noonday lunch was scheduled for today.

BOYS AND GIRLS LIVESTOCK SHOW HERE ON FRIDAY

Local Banks and Farm Bureau Co-operate in Putting on Annual Exhibition.

One Hundred Dollars in Prizes Will be Awarded For Best Lambs and Calves.

Free Trip to South St. Paul Stock Show For Three Highest Winners.

A combination junior live-stock show, which should be a big attraction for all livestock raisers of Pennington county, will be held in Thief River Falls tomorrow. The Citizens State bank and the First National bank, working in co-operation with the county farm bureau, have sponsored the two exhibitions which will be held as the culmination of the summer's work of boys' and girls' clubs throughout the county. The double event will take place in the Ramstad barn where a fine, clean, ventilated section has been reserved for the occasion.

Prizes for Best Lambs.

The Citizens' State Bank of Thief River Falls is awarding $50 in premium money to be given to members of the Pennington County Sheep club on their showing of spring lambs. The prizes will be awarded as follows: First prize, $8.00; 2nd prize, $6.00; third prize, $4.00; fourth prize, $3.00 and the next fourteen prizes at $2.00 each. The three highest exhibits will be given a free trip to the state show at South St. Paul on November 17, 18 and 19. Each contestant is required to send in a story to the farm bureau office on how they raised their lamb. From here the records will be sent to the state department where they will be held in competition with other contestants of the state.

A similar contest was held last year by the Citizens' State bank and officials were so well pleased with the results that they planned a bigger and better show for this year.

Prizes for Dairy Calves.

The premiums awarded by the First National bank for the best dairy calves in the county are given as follows: First prize, $10.00; second, $7.00; 3rd, $5.00 and the next fourteen prizes at $2.00 each. The best animal selected will go to the livestock show at Crookston on Nov. 12 and 13. From the show at Crookston two of the best animals will be sent to South St. Paul on Nov. 17, 18 and 19, there to compete with others of a prize winning class.

Judging Tomorrow P. M.

The two local banks which make the awards have acted in conjunction with the farm bureau in making these contests a success. The bureau organized the sheep and calf clubs, directed the selection of the lambs or calves and from time to time during the summer issued literature upon the proper care of the animals. Some excellent contestants for the prize money result.

The general public, and particularly all livestock raisers of this or nearby counties, are invited to observe the judging which will take place immediately after luncheon tomorrow afternoon at the Ramstad barn. Mr. Husby of Crookston will do the judging. All lambs and calves should be in the barn by 10 a. m.

Power Sewer Excavator Does Job in Record Time

The contract for 12 blocks of storm sewer throughout the paving district is nearing completion, only a few blocks remaining to be laid. Manholes and catch basins are in the course of construction and it is expected to complete all work before colder weather causes a delay in operations. The very efficient trench digging machine, capable of digging from 400 to 1800 feet of trench per day when no obstacles are encountered, has been the object of much interest during the past two weeks. Aside from the severing of an underground telephone cable by the powerful bucket chain, a break which left residents of the south side without telephone service until cable splicers from Fargo could make the necessary repairs, and the uprooting of a few old concrete culverts and walks which long ago ended their life service, the giant machine has had comparatively easy going.

Last Rally of Campaign Brings Out Good Crowd

Many voters, a goodly per cent of them being women, turned out for the Republican rally at the Auditorium on Monday evening. Mrs. Ida Sparks Clark, a conscientious citizen of the state of North Dakota, had an interesting message for the voters of Minnesota. Mrs. J. M. Bishop gave her first political discussion before the residents of her home city and was entitled to the storm of applause which followed. D. P. O'Neill gave a fiery talk on Amendment No. 1 and the other subjects which stood forth for consideration at the election just past. In accordance with a recent ruling of the state legislature, the Senator returned to Thief River Falls to cast his vote.

WOOL CROP BRINGS EXCEPTIONAL PRICE

By Pooling County Growers Have Shipped 30,000 Pounds Thru Farm Bureau.

Wool growers of Pennington county have shipped 30,000 pounds of wool to Chicago where it is being held in the national wool warehouse. Cars were loaded at Goodridge and Thief River Falls and shipments made through the farm bureau. Offers of 42 to 46 cents per pound have already been received whereas shippers through the equity have received but 18 cents. While there is no well defined organization of the wool growers, meetings have been held from time to time through the efforts of J. J. McCann, county agent.

Wool growers of Marshall county, which does not as yet have a county agent, having decided to follow this plan in marketing their wool, have requested Mr. McCann to take charge of the work. A meeting for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements was held in Warren on Friday night.

Watch and Money Stolen; No Clue to Guilty Party

While Ben Peterson and family of Rosewood were calling at P. M. Peterson's place nearby on last Sunday evening, someone entered their home and stole a gold watch belonging to Mr. Peterson and a pocketbook containing a small sum of money. No traces of the thief have been found.

Going Into Business.

O. W. Carlson is preparing to open a soft drink and lunch parlor in the building formerly occupied by the Home Cafe at the corner of LaBree avenue and Second street. Fixtures have arrived from Crookston and are being installed. "Curly" expects to be open for business by the last of the week.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO BEMIDJI ON ARMISTICE DAY

Elmer J. Eklund Post Members Decide to Help Neighbors Celebrate Anniversary.

Gracie Post and Bemidji Citizens Making Elaborate Preparations For Event.

Argeement Reached to Make Thief River Falls Scene of Celebration Next Year.

A committee of five members of the Bemidji American Legion post addressed members of the Elmer Eklund Post in an assembly at the Commercial club rooms on Friday evening. The visiting legionnaires extended to members of the local post and the citizens of Thief River Falls the most cordial of invitations to attend the Armistice Day celebration which will be staged in their home city on Nov. 11 and dwelt at some length upon the festivities arranged for the day.

To Charter Special Train.

After discussion as to ways and means the local boys voted to complete the arrangements for the special train to Bemidji on Armistice Day, committees were appointed, and the sale of round trip tickets put under way with a full head of steam. The special will leave Thief River Falls at 7:30 a. m. and return from Bemidji at 12 p. m. It is planned to take the local band along and make the presence of the Thief Riverites well known to the citizenship and other visitors at the neighboring city.

Big Day for Bemidji.

The Bemidji legionnaires began arrangements for their celebration of celebrations months ago, acting entirely upon their own resources. The Bemidji Merchants' association has decided that all business activities will cease for the day and there is every evidence that the time will be one of the biggest that this part of the state has ever seen. Registration for visiting service men will take place at the Elks' club between 9:00 and 9:30, following which will be the parade. The parade and ceremonies until 11:11 a. m. will be more of a solemnnature in keeping with the significance of the day and in memory of the buddies who rest in the soil of France. At 11:11 factory whistles will be blown and pandemonium break loose for the remainder of the program. A football game between the fast and heavy high school team of Bemidji, to which the Thief River Falls high school team went down in defeat some ten days ago, and some other team of their caliber will be called at 1:30. Immediately following the game 29 rounds of real boxing will take place at the armory. Guaranteed bouts are offered and some fast work will be seen. A supper and smoker with several good speakers will be tendered free of charge to all ex-service men at 6:30, following which the day will wind up with a dance at the auditorium. The dance will not be of the common, ordinary variety, for the Ladies' auxiliary of the American Legion has taken the matter in hand and plan for the gayest of carnival balls.

Celebrate Here Next Year.

While there was some discussion as to the advisability of trying to celebrate at home this year, members of the post finally decided to participate in the festivities at Bemidji, owing to the lateness of the hour and because of the co-operation expressed by the committee from that place. Governor Burnquist has proclaimed the 11th of November a holiday and it is generally supposed that by this time next year legislation will have made it a national and legal holiday.

Bemidji guarantees that, with the hearty co-operation of neighboring communities in their celebration for this year, they will "lay off" next year and unite in making the day at Thief River Falls one long to be remembered. The plan of a co-operative celebration rather than a number of smaller and half-hearted celebrations is a good one and members of the Elmer Eklund post will begin plans for a demonstration next year in ample time to put across something big.

The moral support of the American Legion by communities, state and country is forthcoming.

Tickets Already on Sale.

Round trip railway tickets can be purchased of any member of the local post. Owing to the slight additional cost of running a special train to Bemidji, a round trip rate of $5.79 is necessary. The boys are desirous of having Thief River Falls make a big showing at Bemidji, as this would induce a large number to return the compliment on November 11, 1921.

Proposition to Divide Marshall County Defeated

Reports from Warren are to the effect that county division has been defeated in Marshall county. No figures were presented but it is understood that the plan was decisively rejected by the voters.

THE ELECTION RESULT.

The big fight is over and it is to be hoped that the best men have won. It is hardly to be expected that everyone will be satisfied with the result, but the verdict of the ballots indicates that a very considerable majority of our people wanted things to go just the way they did.

There was at no time during the campaign any great doubt as to what the outcome would be. The Republicans organized early for a sweeping victory and let nothing stand in the way of its achievement. For that matter, the losers overlooked no bets themselves.

There were no clearly defined issues in the campaign. The league of nations failed to produce the expected result and the personalities of the candidates themselves are not such as to compel a very enthusiastic following. Governor Cox was forced to become to a certain extent the sponsor for the Wilson administration, and whether right or wrong, the people proved that at the present moment confidence in the President and in his party is at a low ebb.

Harding is an unknown quantity as an executive. His habits of thought and procedure are the opposite of those which have characterized Wilson. He has a serious job ahead of him and as he is a serious man he may fit in better than would someone of greater renown but different temperament.

It will be difficult to convince those who voted and worked for Cox's election that things are not going to the bad, but those who feel that way have not a very deep faith in the stability of our institutions. There are in all likelihood some trying times ahead, but this would be true no matter who happened to be elected president. Just continue doing your full share toward keeping things running smoothly and the administration will in all probability keep its end up.

As for the league of nations, that also will be taken care of. Harding at times said he was in favor of scrapping the entire layout but it is not likely that any such result will follow. The United States will join the league finally in any event, be it with or without reservations. The idea and intention are all right and the exact phraseology of a clause makes no great difference.

THE WOMEN VOTED.

Those who were so certain that the women of the country would not take advantage of the opportunity to vote even though the privilege were extended to them did not know what they were talking about. The women did vote and, to judge by results, must have voted pretty much one way.

However that may be, it is greatly to their credit that they evinced such unmistakable interest in the government of the country in which they live. Whether or not their choice of candidates was in every instance the right one is a matter of no importance whatever. It is probable that an occasional man might be found who is not so certain of his ground in this respect. The one big outstanding fact is that the women voted as soon as permitted to do so and did a very workmanlike job of it.

Election officials in Thief River Falls pay a high compliment to the new voters. They say that in rare instances were their services required to set one of them right and as proof that the women knew what they were doing it is pointed out that there was hardly a spoiled ballot to account for in the 1700 cast in the city.

It is altogether likely that the majority of women were guided in their choice of candidates by their menfolks, but even this is hardly sufficient cause to demand their disqualification. Most of us depend on what we hear and read for our opinions of issues and candidates and it is hardly to be expected that the women will so soon prove their superiority in this particular respect.

The new voters did wonderfully well and successfully refuted all arguments ever advanced against their enfranchisement. Particularly have residents of Thief River Falls a right to feel proud of the way in which the novices acquitted themselves at their first trial.

A WASTEFUL PROCESS.

How different does the conservation of fuel proceed in European countries as compared with the wanton waste in the United States. Any member of the late American Expeditionary forces can testify as to the former. France and Germany have been re-foresting their lands for upwards of 200 years. Any underbrush that may accumulate in any large or small tracts of timber is periodically cut, tied into bundles with willow withes, carefully piled and conserved as fuel. Trimmings of trees felled for lumber or other purposes are treated in the same manner. Large ricks of this fuel could be noticed in any section and many a tired and weather worn soldier can tell of an invigorating cup of hot coffee made over a fire hastily kindled from these twigs and mere brush.

The shortage of fuel in this country is going to produce a desperate situation before the winter is over; coal can barely be purchased at any price at the present time and yet railroads are daily destroying hundreds and possibly thousands of cords of first class fuel in a wholesale manner. Travelers up and down the state—no one railroad is alone guilty in this respect—can see at any time of day or night great piles of worn out ties being fired merely to get them out of the way. There may be some excuse for this but it would seem that it can be but an excuse—and no more. The transportation problem possibly figures in the case, but, tho the unserviceable ties could not be marketed in the towns or cities, farms and farmers exist along the right-of-ways who could undoubtedly make use of this excellent fuel. In the face of the dire fuel distress, the burning of these ties seems wanton destruction of a necessity of life and might be compared to the feeding of great quantities of fruit to the hogs in fruit producing countries or the dumping of other foods into the sea, which crimes have been perpetrated in some cases merely to hold up the prices.

The railroads are hardly to blame for this waste of a valuable product. The matter has been called to their attention and the answer is that if persons were permitted to carry off these worn out ties it would result in their taking the sound ones as well. The expense of seeing that the privilege was not abused would be greater than the benefit derived, according to the railroad men. This is in all probability true but it looks a deplorable waste nevertheless.

TOO MUCH JOHNSON

(The Business Printer.)

Ever hear of old man Johnson who rose in the great printing industry from devil to boss of a one-man shop and all within thirty years?

When he was a young man he did just what he was told to do—nothing more. If he was not told to do anything he sat down and did nothing. When asked to lend a hand in any undertaking he said: "Where do I come in on this? He always wanted to get before he would give. He was always afraid somebody would do too much work for the money they were getting out of their jobs. "You bet I won't do a darn stroke more than I have to."

"Too much Johnson," said the foreman and the old man got fired. Then a supply house set him up with a small plant—a dollar down and a dollar a week—and for twenty years Johnson has been struggling to hold the plant, and he nearly always scrapes up the dollar. Johnson gets nowhere—never will.

Johnson never knew that crop failures in the fields of service are unknown. He never learned that the first law of nature is for one to give before one gets. Harvests only follow seed sowings and cultivation. If we want more we must give more. Heaping measures of service bring heaping rewards. No boss determines a real man's salary; it is all up to the man.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

"Womanhood is our greatest asset," says a statesman. And it is a resource that must be husbanded.

Well, what have you done with all that money you saved since prices started to come down?

Wheat has been coming down, but the glad tidings haven't reached the ears of bread as yet.

If hunters follow the advice "Look before you shoot," they will prevent a lot of coroners' matinees this fall.

The charge that women will vote for only handsome men is a base libel. Look at the kind that most of them marry.

The league of nations is a lot like the bible. Everybody talks about it and hardly anybody reads it.

Baudette boasts a very peculiar cuss. Last week he bought a house and lot instead of buying an auto.

The cost of living may be coming down, but local bootleggers are still charging fifty cents for a drink of embalming fluid.

We are overwhelmed at our popularity this week. Every mail brings expressions of undying love from candidates we don't even know.

A Canadian undertaker recently killed a friend while hunting. Hustling for business is legitimate, but there ought to be a limit to it.

Whisky runners sent to Leavenworth this fall will escape the cold weather, but we would rather have our windows decorated with icicles than with bars.

Why Do People Advertise? Big Manufacturer's View

The Joseph Dixon Crucible company, manufacturers of lead pencils and allied articles, is one of the biggest concerns in the world. If there is a business anywhere that might be expected to get along without advertising it would seem to be one like that of the Dixon company. The managers do not find it so, however. Here is what they have to say on the subject:

"Why do people advertise? This seems to be a very natural question. The answer involves the discussion of a vital policy of this business—a policy that is fundamental.

If we were building a business for today our policy would vary from day to day with the temporary changes with which every business has to contend.

But we are building for the time to come and we hope that this business will become many times greater than it is today. Without the proper foundation it would undergo violent changes dependent upon temporary national, local or even imaginary conditions.

If we should permit ourselves to become inflated with self-confidence when business conditions are favorable, restricting our selling and advertising activities, and go down in the dumps when conditions are not so favorable, this business would not amount to any more than the existing conditions would make of it.

We say right now, without reservations, that we hope, regardless of how aggressive and efficient our manufacturing department may be, that it will never be able to catch up with our selling organization.

If our efforts should be halted in the middle of the road in times of liberal buying to wait on the manufacturing department; there might come a time when the manufacturing department would have to suspend operations while waiting on the sales organization.

With such a policy we would be running around in a circle, disorganizing one day and reorganizing the next.

The greater the demand for our product, the quicker the turnover for merchants; and the more frequent the turnovers, the larger is the volume of profit.

In this business advertising is a sales policy—the same as our policy maintaining a sales organization—and we might as well consider the elimination of one as the other. Neither will be eliminated, as this business needs both if we are building for the future.

We constantly have in mind that the American people are much more concerned in their own affairs than in ours, and if we should restrict our selling and advertising activities they will begin to forget us—and this would be our fault.

We are going ahead with the idea of increasing the present momentum in favor of our goods; and if conditions should turn face about, our dealers and ourselves will be in a better position to hurdle obstacles than if we originated a policy for each condition as it arose.

Weekly Market Review.

(By Quinn-Shepherdson Co., Minneapolis, Minn.)

The sudden fluctuations in the markets the past week reflect present disturbed business conditions and conflicting elements. Producer and consumer ideas are in sharp contrast, business in general unstabilized and sentiment for the moment may be said to be on the fence uncertain of the trend of future conditions.

One of the outstanding features of the week is the growers "strike" for $3.00 wheat. In view of the present production costs the determined effort to force up prices is astonishing to no one. That the producer should operate profitably for the welfare of the entire country seems manifest to everybody. In the not far distant days of continually rising prices there was agitation which proved futile to lower the costs of foodstuffs by forcing storage grains and commodities to the open markets. Domestic values of the surplus commodities were then governed by the value of our export sales; it is so determined now and will continue so long as we are a nation producing more than we can consume.

Our home consumption and needs, however, are unquestionably too large to justify the position of some of the trade in ignoring as quite unimportant the producers holding attitude. Home needs of wheat alone exceed 600 million bushels and it is reliably reported that already practically all of our exportable wheat surplus is shipped and sold. At the least European requirements from North America should this year normally equal 400 million (our total available North American surplus) plus any deficiency in the crops of the Southern Hemisphere.

We have continually regarded wheat as in a strongly entrenched position, contingent, of course, first upon the ability of Europe to settle down to business, accept, receive and properly distribute what she has already contracted and, secondly, upon the outcome of the wheat crops can be made within the next few weeks.

Coarse grains and rye will in all probability remain under the influence of the action of wheat. Statisticians estimate that the European rye crop this year falls short of last year by about 48 million bushels. On the basis of Europe's rye consumption last year it is estimated that a demand of 95 million rye from America is quite possible, against which we will have at the most 66 million available for export. In corn and oats however, it would seem that the large supplies now at primary markets will preclude materially higher prices for the immediate future at least.

Effective next Monday, November 1, trading hours for both cash and future grain in the Minneapolis exchange will be changed. On week days, with the exception of the Saturday closing hour, the hours thereafter will be from 9:30 a. m. to 1:15 p. m., on Saturdays the exchange to close at 12 o'clock noon.

Does Your Husband Come Home Tired, Nervous, Irritable?

Physician Says Thousands Of Men Are Breaking Down Simply Because Their Blood Lacks Iron—Tells How To Convince A Husband That He Needs NUXATED IRON To Help Make Red Blood, Strength and Endurance

"John, please take Nuxated Iron and be strong and well again."

"Simply because his blood lacks iron, many an American husband who ought to be feeling young, full of health, vigor and energy and in a position to shower his family with every comfort and luxury is actually struggling to make ends meet—a disappointed and discouraged 'old' man who will probably end up in a nervous breakdown or be carried off by his first illness," says Dr. H. B. Vail, formerly physician in the Baltimore Hospital and a Medical Examiner.

"Because man, in the rush and tear of modern life has so little time to think about his blood's condition and is often so slow to admit any weakness, the signs that his blood may be low in iron are often first detected by the watchful, loving eyes of his wife. Does your husband come home pale and fagged out and too tired to do anything or go anywhere? Does he complain about being overworked—the lack of opportunity today—some other fellow's luck? Does he find fault with the food, the home or the youngsters' behavior? Does he seem unable for one reason or another to get ahead and make big money as you and he once confidently expected?"

"Then it may well be true that his blood lacks iron, for the men with plenty of iron in their blood are the healthy, strong ones with the keen minds and the physical energy and stamina to overcome all obstacles—make their own opportunities—and force their way to big positions, power and wealth. My advice to the wife who believes her husband capable of big things in this world is to see that he builds up the iron in his blood and for this purpose I have found nothing better than organic iron—Nuxated Iron. By enriching the blood, creating new blood-cells, it strengthens the nerves, rebuilds weakened tissues, and helps instill new energy and endurance in the whole system. Nuxated Iron is used by over 4,000,000 people annually—used and endorsed by former United States Senators and Members of Congress—and in many cases to my knowledge, increases the strength and energy and endurance of run-down, nervous people in two weeks' time."

If your husband asks for proof that lack of iron is making him nervous, weak and holding him back in life, you can probably convince him with the following test: Have him see how long he can work or how far he can walk without becoming tired. Next have him take two tablets of Nuxated Iron three times daily after meals for two weeks. Then let him test his strength and see how much he has gained.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron, which is recommended above is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. [illegible] and the words Nuxated Iron are stamped into each bottle, so that the public may not be led into accepting inferior substitutes. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists in tablet form only.

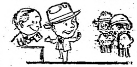
Here—you "Know-It-All"



ONCE in a while we run across a man who says, "Aw, they don't make cigarettes like they used to—one's as good as another now-a-days."

All right, we'll give that smoker any kind of odds he wants on Spur and win hands down.

Perhaps you are looking for that good old-time tobacco taste. Spurs are chock full of it. Couldn't help but be, with that jim-dandy blend of choice Turkish, fine Burley and other home-grown tobaccos.

Light up a Spur—take a long puff—and quicker than you can say "Jack Robinson" you will jump for a seat on the Spur band wagon.

Spurs have another surprise for you—they're crimped, not pasted. No other cigarette is rolled with the crimped seam, and you benefit by easier drawing, longer burning, better taste.

And here's extra measure—three-fold package of rich brown and silver to keep Spurs fresh and fragrant.

No use dodging—Spurs meet you at every turn.

This Is Better Than Laxatives

One NR Tablet Each Night For A Week Will Correct Your Constipation and Make Constant Dosing Unnecessary. Try It.

Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination means clogged bowels, fermentation, putrefaction and the formation of poisonous gases which are absorbed by the blood and carried through the body.

The result is weakness, headaches, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive liver, bilious attacks, loss of energy, nervousness, poor appetite, impoverished blood, sallow complexion, pimples, skin disease, and often times serious illness.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics—salts, oils, calomel and the like—may relieve for a few hours, but real, lasting benefit can only come through use of medicine that tones up and strengthens the digestive as well as the eliminative organs.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Relief will follow the very first dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the fullest benefit. When you get straightened out and feel just right again you need not take medicine every day—an occasional NR Tablet will then keep your system in good condition and you will always feel your best. Remember, keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) are sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

LEONARD IS NOW FULLY CONVINCED

Gained Eighteen Pounds Since Taking Tanlac and Says His Health is Fine.

"I have gained eighteen pounds since I started taking Tanlac and am now as well and sound as anybody," recently said Edwin Leonard, 234 7th St., North Bronx, Minneapolis, Minn.

"I was in a weak, run-down condition due to a bad case of stomach trouble that had worried me nearly two years. My appetite was fairly good but what I ate disagreed with me. I would bloat all up with sour gas and have the worst sort of pains in my stomach. I suffered also from constipation and my nerves were on edge all the time and I was never able to get much sleep. I fell off in weight and was simply playing out altogether.

"Tanlac has built me up until I feel like a different man and I am as strong as I ever was in my life. I have an appetite like a wolf and my big gain in weight shows how well what I eat agrees with me. I am not constipated now and my nerves are so strong and steady I sleep all night without waking up once. I am never troubled in any way whatever now and couldn't ask to be in better health."

WE CAN HELP YOUNG MEN

More than one young man has made a poor start in the business world because he under-estimated the importance of establishing a connection with a strong bank.

The young business man who is on friendly terms with his banker can go to him for advice; and he can turn to him for a good word when references are sought. Again, when a loan is required, it pays to have a bank connection.

If you are ambitious and really want to get ahead, your first step should be to open a bank account and keep adding to it.

We will welcome your patronage. At least, come in and get acquainted.

WOMANS CLUB TO STUDY CITIZENSHIP

Members Will Continue Posting Themselves on Questions Pertaining to Government.

The Woman's club of Thief River Falls held its regular meeting in the commercial club rooms on Monday afternoon with the exceptionally large attendance of 100 members. At this meeting the first lesson of the study program for the winter was taken up.

Election is past but owing to a slight misunderstanding of the work and purpose of the womans organization, the questions answered during the course of the study hour will appear herewith. The Woman's club is not a political organization. There may be a Woman's Republican club in Thief River Falls and there may be a Woman's Democratic club, but they are in no way a part or a branch of the Woman's club proper. The officers of the latter organization feel that better attendance at their study clubs will be obtained when once the nature of their discussions is understood. With a view to enlightening the general public the text of lesson number one follows:

Election in Minnesota.

1. How often are general elections held?
2. What are the qualifications of a voter in Minnesota?
3. What registration is necessary?
4. How does one join a political party?
5. What is the party primary?
6. What is its purpose and advantages?
7. What state officers are nominated at primaries?
8. If not nominated at a primary, how are they nominated?
9. What is the method of casting a vote?
10. For what officers may women vote in Minnesota?
11. What is the advantage of voting with your party at a state election?

Question number 10 was answered in an easily understood manner by a little play presented for the Woman's club by members of the Girls' Community club, many of whose members were in attendance at the meeting.

Lesson number two of the regular study program will be taken up at a meeting in the Commercial club rooms on the afternoon of November 15. It is hoped that a large attendance will benefit by the answering of the following questions:

Form of Government.

1. What great document outlines the government of the Union?
2. Give the history of its adoption.
3. Give the history of the Amendments.
4. What is the procedure for adopting an amendment to the constitution?
5. What is the nineteenth amendment?
6. Give an account of the one hundred seventy-three year struggle for its adoption.

It goes without saying that many of the men who have been voting and taking part in politics for years would be unable to answer a large percent of these questions which are very pertinent to the government of the state and Union.

A dramatization on voting was successfully given by the members of the Community Girls' club, which explained very clearly the manner of voting and how the polls are conducted. The cast consisted of the following characters:

Jane Jenson—Miss Florence Fjelstad.
Mrs. Percival Archibald Vandersluis—Miss Ella Pelto.
Mrs. Sylvester Reginald Smith—Miss Anna Quale.
Tina Olson—Miss Laura Stopple.
Little Girl—Miss Ruth Brown.
Exited Lady—Miss Meta Kiland.
Miss Coppet—Miss Louise Majeres.
First Judge—Miss Esther Gjertson.

HARDING LEADS IN MINNESOTA EXCEEDS 275,000 candidate, comes through with the rest although with a somewhat reduced plurality.

Steenerson is Safe.

Congressman Steenerson has been re-elected, increasing his primary lead in nearly every county. On a recent visit to this city Mr. Steenerson stated that in making his estimates he had given Pennington county to his opponent by 1000 votes. Thormodson's lead here is exactly half that figure. The big vote given the congressman in Thief River Falls helped hold down the lead of his opponent in the farming districts. At noon Mr. Steenerson's lead was reported to be 10,000 with one-third of the district to hear from.

Nonpartisans Carry County.

Shipstead wins in the county by almost two to one over Preus, the Nonpartisan candidates receiving substantial pluralities in nearly every precinct outside of Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Goodridge. Rines for state treasurer made the best showing, followed by Mike Holm for secretary of state and Louis Collins for lieutenant governor. The latter ran [illegible] votes ahead of Preus.

Walter A. Day of Clearwater county, present incumbent, and A. J. Hemstad of Red Lake county, have been elected representatives, defeating M. A. Sortedahl, who sought re-election and L. Jensen.

Amendments All Carry.

All the amendments have carried, there being an overwhelming majority in favor of Number 1—the good roads proposition. Pennington county gave substantial majorities for each of the propositions, the largest being for Number 4 which provides for the taxing of railroad property for internal improvements in cities and villages.

Only Two Contests.

On the county ticket there were but two contests. Lars Backe was opposed for Judge of Probate by Peter C. Wold, who made the run over the sticker route, while County Commissioner A. W. Hanson is returned from the First district, defeating A. A. [illegible]gaard, who also entered the race late to get his name onto the [illegible] ticket. Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund had no opposition as was the case with Robert McGinn and J. S. Roy, county commissioners.

Standing of the Candidates.

The total vote cast in the county was 3878 for president and 4116 for governor. Two years ago the combined vote of the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates was 1871 while this year it is 3173. Harding's gain over the vote cast for Hughes four years ago is 1275 while Cox falls 1512 behind that cast for Wilson at the same time.

Allowing a liberal number for natural increase, the size of the vote proves that the women of the county turned out in much greater numbers than was expected. The Socialist vote increased about 100 per cent in the four years.

Following is a record of the result in Pennington county:

American Legion Notes

Plans for Future Payment.

The bonus board will have all claims audited and ready for payment before the convening of the next session of the legislature, except those involving doubtful questions of interpretation of the bonus law as to persons entitled to the bonus. When these questions are more definitely sifted out, the American Legion will take steps to secure the most liberal interpretation possible for the benefit of ex-service men and women, either by fostering legislation interpreting the law, or by bringing test cases, or by both.

Soldiers Preference Law.

Legion posts are requested to report to Department Headquarters any violations of the Soldier's preference law. This law is the expression of the will of the people of Minnesota, and the department will take all necessary steps for its enforcement.

Position for Disabled Soldier.

A position for a disabled soldier as telephone operator, $60 to $70 per month, is open with the Wright Telephone Company, Waverly, Minn.

Victory Medals.

A big eleventh-hour rally will place a Victory Medal on every eligible person in Pennington county. Repeated instructions for obtaining medals for army men have been issued. Army, Navy and Marine corps members can secure their medals by presenting their discharges at the nearest recruiting station of their former department.

Vocational Training.

Every community has ex-service men who applied for vocational training or medical treatment, and who later failed to answer letters concerning their claims, sent them by the Vocational Bureau or U. S. Public Health Service, Plaza hotel, Minneapolis. Every man who has put in such a claim should write the department their desires in that respect, so that service may be rendered or their cases crossed off the Government's books. This will assist in proper attention being paid to those men who are in more dire need of training or medical treatment.

Telegram of Congratulations.

A telegram of congratulations was sent to Lieutenant Governor Collins by Thief River Falls "buddies" of the old 151st Field Artillery days.

Veteran Loses to Leaguer.

Livestock Valuation is Raised by Tax Commission

County Auditor T. P. Anderson has been notified that the State Tax Commission has raised the valuation of all livestock in Pennington county from 10 to 20 per cent above the county board of equalization's estimate. The real estate valuation of the county was also raised 15 per cent but on presentations made to the board by County Commissioner McGinn and Peterson this was reduced to five per cent.

Carrots Recommended By Expert as Winter Food

Nutrition authorities in the office of extension work with women, University Farm, strongly urge the storage of abundance of carrots for winter use. Research workers have found that carrots are rich in "fat soluble A," one of the classes of vitamines essential to health and growth. Carrots also increase the lime content of the dietary. In localities where lettuce cannot be obtained in winter, the regular use two or three times a week of carrots is advised by Miss Lucy Cordiner of the home economics staff of the university. The yellow rutabaga is also recommended.

IF YOU TRADE OUT OF TOWN AND I TRADE OUT OF TOWN, WHAT WILL BECOME OF OUR TOWN?
The Dollar You Spend in Thief River Falls Will "Come Home To Boost."

The Times "TRADE-AT-HOME" Campaign

Read these articles with care. They may present something you hadn't thought of before. Patronize the people who's ads. are here. They are your neghbors and will treat you right. The money you spend with them stays in circulation in Thief River Falls.

MERCHANTS MUST BUILD "BACKFIRE"

The forest ranger and the prairie farmer have learned that they must fight fire with fire. They know when the all-consuming forest or prairie fires are sweeping toward them their only hope of safety lies in the "back-fire." By kindling and carefully controlling a fire of their own they force the biggest fire to burn itself out, finding no further fuel on which to feed.

The merchants of the small cities and towns are learning that in waging their fight for existence they must adopt the tactics of the men of the West. The great mail order houses of the cities are the consuming flames which threaten to wipe out the retail merchants of the small towns unless the latter, realizing their danger, take steps to remove the menace. The retail merchants, as a whole, are beginning to realize that they must fight fire with fire and that to save themselves they must build a "back-fire."

Advertising is the weapon with which the mail order houses conduct their warfare on the retail merchants of the small cities and towns. The mail order houses do their advertising through their own catalogues and through certain publications which are known as mail order advertising mediums. A big mail order house spends hundreds of thousands of dollars merely on the preparation and publication of its bulky catalogues.

Business Built Upon Advertising.

The catalogue houses also spend thousands upon thousands of dollars in advertising in the mail order publications which look for their circulation to the people of the small towns and the rural districts. Advertising in some of these mediums costs as much as from $40 to $85 for a single inch, yet the mail order houses find it profitable to pay these high rates. Their business is built upon advertising and if they were denied the use of the mails for their advertising for a single month their business would be destroyed.

In advertising, the local merchants find the only weapon with which they can beat the mail order houses at their own game. This does not mean necessarily, only newspaper advertising, although that is the big gun in the battery employed by the successful merchant in his battle for trade. Advertising is a big word and it covers a big field. There is no longer to be found the man who does not believe in advertising. Every merchant believes in advertising of some sort. The placing of a display in a show window is advertising. The only difference between that kind of advertising and advertising in a newspaper is that where the one reaches dozens the other reaches hundreds. Attractive window displays are, of course, an important adjunct of any retail store. They serve their purpose but this purpose is only to attract the attention of those who may be passing by the store. There are other forms of advertising, such as personal solicitation; but printed matter must always continue to be the chief reliance of merchants in attracting customers to their stores.

Advertising Begets Confidence.

The buying public has learned that the store which takes the people into its confidence through its advertising is the one in which it may expect to get the best bargains and the most satisfactory treatment. It knows that the store which advertises consistently and regularly has the best and most up-to-date stocks because this store sells its goods more rapidly than the one which does not advertise and, therefore, is not forced to carry over old stock from one season to another. The public knows that the store which advertises can place lower prices on its goods because it turns over the stock oftener than the store which does not advertise and therefore does not have its capital tied up in slow-moving merchandise.

The mail order house does not get its business by merely letting the public know that it has dry goods or hardware or groceries or some other commodity to sell. It creates a demand for its goods by placing in its catalogue attractive pictures and detailed descriptions of the articles which it has to sell. The lure of the mail order catalogues lies in the fact that the merits, or alleged merits, of the merchandise offered are placed before the prospective purchaser in the most graphic manner. The local retail merchant has the same opportunity to do this that the mail order house has and can do it much more effectively than the mail order house can. The retail merchant can talk to the people of his community through his home newspaper and that is something which the mail order house as a rule cannot do, for the local newspapers through a sense of loyalty to their communities and their home merchants will not accept the advertising with which the mail order houses would flood them if they had the opportunity.

PREPARING FOR BIRD FANCIERS' FOURTH EXHIBIT

Annual Poultry Show Will Be Held in Auditorium on November 22, 23, 24.

Cash Prizes and Loving Cup Awarded By Banks For the Best Exhibits.

Will Be Made the Best Show of Its Kind Held in the Neighborhood.

Over $700 in premiums will be awarded on exhibits at the fourth annual show of the Pennington County Poultry association which will be held in the auditorium at Thief River Falls on November 22, 23 and 24. Premium lists featuring cash prizes, loving cups and special awards have recently been compiled and distributed. A large number of birds were exhibited at the very successful show of last year and a greater number is expected for the coming exhibition.

Exhibits From Great Distance.

The Pennington County Poultry association, now a member of the American Poultry association, the largest organization of its kind in the world, is attracting the attention of many poultry breeders throughout the northwest. Inquiries for premium lists are being received in great numbers. This show is open to breeders of the state and the entire United States and exhibitions of different breeds of birds from North Dakota, Minnesota and adjoining states are assured.

Loving Cup Sweepstakes.

The First and Peoples' State bank of Thief River Falls will present a silver loving cup valued at $50 to the owner of the highest scoring female bird shown. The Farmers' and Merchants' State bank will present a silver cup of like value to the owner of the highest scoring male bird. In addition to these handsome cups the poultry association will award five silver loving cups as follows: On the highest scoring cockerel, on the highest scoring cock, on the highest scoring pullet, on the highest scoring hen and on the highest scoring pen. Merchants of Thief River Falls will present specials in the way of premiums for the best display of each breed. Cash prizes totalling upwards of $700 will be awarded by the association.

There will be cash specials for long distance exhibitions; there will be a boys' and girls' department, and cash prizes will be paid for the largest and most uniform eggs. Premiums on rabbits and bantams will also be awarded. C. E. Brown of Crookston, will act as judge.

The complete premium list is a long one. Any poultry breeders, or those interested in poultry breeding, who have been overlooked in the distribution of premium lists can secure one by writing or calling at the farm bureau office in the basement of the city auditorium.

Fine Local Exhibits.

H. F. Erickson of Thief River Falls will display a prize winning line of Buff Orphingtons, birds that took ribbons at the Minnesota state fair last year and a cup at the Red Lake Poultry association show held at Plummer.

Dennis McGinn has been showing White Leghorns at the Winnipeg fairs and at the Minnesota state fair. He already has over 50 ribbons won by his exhibits at various shows throughout the northwest, as well as a silver loving cup won at the Plummer show.

C. M. Bueen, Thief River Falls, is one of the newer exhibitors but his Buff Orphingtons are rapidly coming to the top. Edward Battenfeld has some valuable Barred Plymouth Rocks. Many high priced birds of all breeds have been purchased by local breeders for the purpose of bringing their stock up to the higher-show level. Individual birds valued at $25, $35 and $45 are becoming numerous.

Improvement of Stock Aim.

The aim of the Pennington County Poultry association is to get rid of the mongrels and scrubs existing in any flock of poultry and to secure those birds which are producers only. There is a great deal of distinction even as to egg breeders and meat breeds. Better poultry has been talked for many years but it is the poultry shows which most effectively demonstrate the value of proper breeding and which will bring about a more profitable poultry industry in the shortest possible time.

Officers of the association are: President, L. H. Lawrence; vice-president, H. F. Erickson; secretary, J. J. McCann; treasurer, Mrs. H. C. Woolson; directors, K. T. Dalager, F. B. Conklin, Casper Weiner, Edward Battenfeld and O. B. Mandt.

Near-Whisky is Dangerous Even if Poured in Sewer

Over at Minot the other day the authorities confiscated some eleven-hundred quarts of the so-called "Majestic," a near Canadian rye, which, when being dumped into the sewer via traps in the basement of the county court house, yielded such fumes of ether that several persons employed were quietly put to sleep. The county sheriff is still in the hospital recovering from his case of anaesthesia.

Under Alterations.

The Lyceum theatre has been closed since Monday, alterations being imperative. The operator's booth and stairway leading to the balcony have been too small and inconvenient. Both are being enlarged and the booth being made positively fireproof. The theater will be opened for the Sunday matinee at 2:30.

UNUSUAL MUSICAL FEATURE PROMISED

Bel Canto Quintette Will Appear Here Under Auspices of American Legion.

The Bel Canto quintette, featuring Ida Hagen Pitman, dramatic soprano, will appear at the Auditorium on the evening of Nov. 12th, under the auspices of the American Legion. With each of the five beautiful young ladies a true artist and an unusual combination of beautiful instruments, the quintette offers a musical program par excellence.

Ida Hagen Pitman, pupil of Oscar Seigel, is a dramatic soprano destined to take her place among the truly great singers. She has her own accompanist and is ably assisted on the program by Vera Andrus, who plays her flute with consummate ease and skill; Edna Lee, whose violincello has aroused the emotions of many audiences and Fern Van Bramer, a harpist of splendid technique and ability. The tension of a purely musical program is relieved by Hazel Bryngelson, whose strong dramatic readings are long remembered by those who hear her.

The American Legion has been fortunate in securing a contract with the management of the quintette because of an unforseen open date and a train schedule which necessitates a change at Thief River Falls. The sisters, wives and mothers of the legionnaires have been requested to put on an advance sale of seats for the attraction, though tickets will also be on sale at Lambert's drug store.

EXPECT TO EXCEED SEAL SALE QUOTA

Chairman McCann Confident That Record For County Will Be Broken This Year.

Adequate provision for 21,000 active cases of tuberculosis and for 4,500 exposed children in Minnesota must be provided if the deadly "White Plague" is to be controlled in this state, Chairman J. J. McCann of the Pennington county Christmas Seal Sale committee, declared on receipt of reports from the Minnesota Public Health Association.

The quota alloted to this community to raise before Christmas Day to finance a continued vigorous fight against this scourge and other diseases is $1200, which is on the basis of 10 cents per capita. Confident that the public appreciates the vital necessity of providing more adequate facilities to fight tuberculosis, Chairman McCann predicts that this quota will be greatly exceeded.

Research by the Nation's leading health experts shows that at least one per cent of the normal population of every community in the United States has tuberculosis. Besides the 1,000,000 active cases in the United States, at least 300,000 children are constantly exposed to tuberculosis, health experts state.

Three definite policies advocated to control the disease are: first, the prevention of infection, especially from adults to children; second, the building of bodily resistance and third, the cure and restoration of the curable to working efficiency.

LIVESTOCK MARKET HAS BETTER TONE

Heavy Receipts on Monday Cause Cattle Drop, But This is Regained.

South St. Paul—Markets in all departments of the trade firmed up last week under the influence of materially lighter receipts and a broader shipping demand.

Good sheep and lambs came in for sharpest advances, the gain on better grades amounting to $1.00 to $1.25 for the week, placing best native limbs at $12.00, and choice ewes at $6.25. Among the strengthening elements were a decrease in aggregate receipts of sheep and lambs at western markets, improved prices and demand for the dressed product in the east, and a realization that this season's run of fat stock from the west is drawing to a close.

With heavy receipts of cattle last Monday, the market opened generally 25 to 50c lower, excepting on good and choice stockers and feeders. With lighter receipts subsequently, however, and a good shipping outlet and better dressed beef trade in Twin Cities, the market rallied and all of Monday's loss on beef steers and better grades of butcher cattle was regained, and practically all cattle were ready sale. Dakota rangers at $12.25 topped the week's market. Compared with a week ago, common and medium beef steers, with bulk at $6.50 to $9.00 are around 25c higher, as are butcher cows and heifers, bulk of which sold at $1.50 to $7.50, with a few choice kinds up to $9.00 or better. Canners at $3.00 to $3.50 and cutters at $3.50 to $4.25 are about 25c lower than a week ago, with common grades of stockers and feeders and bologna bulls showing a like loss. The latter class sold mostly at $1.25 to $5.75. Veal calves declined 50c for the week, closing top being $11.50, choice, good and medium stockers and feeders selling mostly at $6.00 to $9.50, closed steady to strong for the week. Receipts at the seven principal markets showed a decrease of around 50,000 head of cattle and calves compared with the previous week.

The hog market felt the reviving influence of a few outside orders last week and closed firm, with a more stable undertone. Tops at the close were around $12.25, with bulk of sales at $12.00 to $12.20. Best pigs closed at $12.00 to $12.25.

Boys Behave Better Than Their Dads on Hallowe'en

Dad is not to tell of the most terrible capers that he used to cut when Hallowe'en came around but all the same Johnny or Jimmie or Billie know that any capers cut by them will lead to considerable of a reprimand—maybe worse than that—from that same Dad. Times aren't what they used to be, possibly. Dad used to move hayracks to the neighbors ridgepole; ran off with a section of Grandma Jones' fence, or tied the milkman's cow way out in the other end of town in the grove. The boy of today confines his attention to plate glass windows, white crayon and other deviltries, guaranteed to provoke as much anger as those his daddie pulled but involving far less labor. Thief River Falls suffered lightly this year. A good many windows were well soaped and a wash tub or two found their way to a flag staff, (That last one listen like the doings of some of the old school) but Hallowe'en coming as it did on Sunday, may have had some effect on the night's work.

URGES OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

Proclamation Calls on Citizens to Celebrate Anniversary of Great War's Close.

Thursday, Nov. 11, has been proclaimed as Armistice day in Minnesota by Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, who urges all citizens to properly observe the day. The governor's proclamation follows:

"On Nov. 11, 1920, two years will have expired since the signing of the Armistice which meant the end of the World war.

"The event of which the eleventh day of November of each year will forever hereafter be remembered as the anniversary in the history of America and all the world. 'The armistice' says Foch, 'was tantamount to capitulation, and absolute capitulation.' After years of struggle, agony and sacrifice it ended the saddest of all human experiences in the greatest victory of all times.

"Now therefore, I, Joseph A. A. Burnquist, governor of Minnesota, in appreciation of the splendid valor and heroic devotion of the sons and daughters of our state who assisted in making the great triumph of human rights possible, do hereby proclaim Nov. 11, 1920, as Armistice day."

Northern Ducks Will Have To Hurry; Lakes Freezing

Many local nimrods have been spending chilly hours lying in wait for the expected flight of southbound water fowl and have returned with stories of excellent hunting but with small bags of game. The northern part of the state has produced poor duck hunting this fall but northern ducks and geese have been expected daily with the coming of the colder weather. Small lakes and marshes are freezing nightly and it is just possible that the expected migration may fail to materialize. Several hunting parties spent the week-end east of here in the Red Lake district, returning with the limit in the way of partridge or grouse. Partridge has been numerous in all localities this fall, owing to the two years closed season; in fact they have been so tame in some instances as to almost destroy the sporting element in bringing them down.

MR. SCHUSTER COMES TO THE FRONT.

Tells His Friends and Neighbors of His Experience.

Every Thief River Falls resident should read what Mr. Schuster says, and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?

Chas. Schuster, 622 St. Paul Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I can say they are just as advertised. My back has been bothering me for a long time and I couldn't bend over without pain across my loins. Some mornings I couldn't get out of bed my back was so sore and stiff and I was obliged to get up nights on account of kidney weakness. As soon as I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills I had relief and I have felt better over since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Schuster had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

Weekly Bank Review of Conditions in Minnesota

"Better roads and more adequate schools." This phrase seems paramount in nearly every county in Minnesota, judging from many reports received from bankers and publishers for the weekly review of Minnesota enterprise prepared by The Merchants' National Bank of St. Paul and the First & Peoples' State Bank of Thief River Falls.

County reports received during the past ten days have not indicated any marked change in financial or agricultural conditions. Marketing of hogs has been brisk in some sections, possibly influenced by stories of hog cholera in other sections of the Northwest. There have been numerous cattle and hog auctions but bidding has been very conservative. Tight money conditions have been responsible for the lack of competitive bidding.

Marketing of cabbage crops has been well under way. The crop was rather small and prices are not so high as last fall. Two pound potatoes have been on exhibition in many cities and village market centers. The potato crop was a bumper size but the sharp drop in prices proved a keen disappointment to growers.

Cement manufacturers in Iowa and other states have sent representatives throughout Minnesota to assure city officials, county commissioners and business men, that the 1920 shortage will be remedied and that sufficient cement will be available for needs of every description. The coal situation is somewhat improved, at least at the head of the lakes, according to the Duluth bank report. Two Harbors, which has a municipal dock, not only has an adequate supply but is publicizing the fact that its residents will receive their quotas at bargain prices.

Reindeer meat has made its appearance in city meat markets. The meat was obtained from Alaska. Yellow Medicine county experimented successfully with a peanut crop and the acreage probably will be increased in 1921. Husking machines were used by quite a number of corn growers this fall. Lyon county has become a leading fruit center and shipments have been made to dealers in several states.

Forest fires are practically all extinguished. Heavy rains in the Northern counties did the work. Damage included the destruction of a few hay crops. The north woods are attracting large numbers of hunters.

Minnesota's constantly increasing opportunities for home seekers and investors were again reflected by the bankers report. A homesteader who came to Pennington county 18 years ago with sufficient funds to buy one horse and two cows sold a farm for $11,000 recently and has other holdings of considerable value. In LeSueur county a farmer estimated that his land which he originally obtained for $1,100, was worth at least $40,000. Another farmer in LeSueur county who started on a small scale paid $10,000 in Iowa for a prize boar.

Mild October weather caused many fruit trees to blossom and some reports stated that "lilac bushes were threatening to bloom." Indians living in the rice lake district north of Duluth have declared that many signs of nature forecast a mild, open winter.

Get this Xmas guide-book to Period Furniture

Come in and let us give you a copy of "Edison and Music". Tells about the chief period designs—what they look like, what they stand for. Pithy descriptions. Beautiful illustrations. Just the information you want.

This Xmas let it be a Furniture Aristocrat

Let us show you what an exquisite thing a phonograph cabinet can be.

Every New Edison on our floor—no matter what its price—is encased in a genuine period cabinet.

Period Furniture is the world's most exquisite development of furniture. It originated in the 16th, 17th, and 18th Centuries. Europe was ruled by a Gorgeous Aristocracy. Fine living was the ideal of the day. An unparalleled race of artists, architects, and designers built palatial living-places for kings and nobles, and furnished them. The palaces of the nobility became treasure-houses of fine furniture. It was called the "Golden Age of Furniture."

So Mr. Edison had his designers go back into the manor houses of England, the chateaux of France and the castles of Italy. They adapted 17 designs from historic masterpieces. They preserved entire "the character and feeling of the best periods" in these superb phonograph cases for the modern American home.

No matter which Edison cabinet you choose, you get both the arts that make your house a cultured home—music perfectly RE-CREATED and furniture of purest period source. What finer gift for all the family?

ROSEWOOD

Auto Accident Saturday Evening.

A Ford touring car, run by John Nakken and containing besides himself, Messrs. Tom Thoreson, Otto Ranum, Selmer Sorenson, Alfred Raftseth and John Hanson, on their way to Thief River Falls last Saturday evening, capsized a short distance south of town, badly bruising several of the occupants and doing considerable damage to the car. Those receiving the worst injuries appear to be Mr. Ranum, who was badly bruised about the chest and had to be taken to Thief River Falls for medical attention the same evening and Mr. Thoreson who was severely bruised about the face and Mr. Sorenson being injured partly about the head. Concerning the cause of the accident, it appears that Mr. Nakken, who was at the wheel, had been going at a lively speed south of town where the roads are very nice and smooth and coming further down where the road makes a turn he had attempted to slow down, but found that the foot accelerator had stuck and reaching down to release it with his right hand holding the steering wheel with his left hand. While doing this, however, the turn of the road had been reached at a great speed and striking some partly frozen ruts the front wheels turned and with the speed of the car, threw it completely to one side where it made a somersault. The car which belonged to Mr. Nakken, was taken home with horses on Sunday and can be repaired with the purchase of a few new parts and the straightening out of others.

Pioneers of Tomorrow

AN ORGANIZATION is only as big as its personnel, and the personnel reflects the bigness and vision of the men who direct it.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been able to attract to its service men of ability, high ideals, and broad vision, because of its policy of selecting its executives from those who have come up through the ranks.

The men who are today the directing heads of the organization hold their position by reason of their thorough knowledge of the oil business, and because they have shown a profound understanding of our economic structure.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) foresaw the development of the automobile engine, and realizing the tremendous increase in the demand for gasoline which would result, prepared in advance to meet the needs of the people.

Ten years ago the average yield of gasoline from the crude produced in the United States was only eleven percent. Today the average yield for the country is well over twenty-six percent.

This increase is in large measure due to the foresight of the Standard Oil Company, (Indiana), and the advanced work done by the chemists and refining technicians in the Company's service.

The result of this vastly increased yield of gasoline has been the more rapid development of all types of automotive machinery, which, in turn, has enabled the farmers of America to increase their output of foodstuffs in the face of an acute shortage of agricultural labor.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is still working well into the future, and the men who are directing the destinies of the Company confidently expect to meet the needs of tomorrow as completely as they are meeting the needs of today, and to give a creditable accounting of their trusteeship to the 5124 stockholders, to the 23,000 employees, and to the public at large.

RED CROSS NEEDED TO CARRY ON WORK

Official of Organization Points Out Necessity For Extending Further Relief.

Mrs. G. B. Keenan, district representative of the American Red Cross, was in Thief River Falls on Thursday of last week in connection with preparations for the enrollment drive which will cover the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day. In an interview Mrs. Keenan stated:

"Few of the people in this or any other territory realize just what the scope of Red Cross activities is at present but we mean to keep hammering away on the subject in an educational way, and especially during the coming drive for enrollment of old and new members. We have listened to some inspirational speakers lately, workers who have just returned from the scenes of activities abroad. Utter poverty and want are extreme in many countries in Europe but the greater need is felt in the tiny countries, and it is to them that our attention will be devoted, for the powerful nations can and will find some method of relieving the suffering brought on by the war. It is estimated that there are in Europe today ten million war orphans, a figure which should give the world something to think about.

"But the greater activities are taking place right here at home, in our good old United States. Even from a selfish point of view the Red Cross could be considered a great asset. Out of the one dollar memberships 50 cents goes to the county organization and 50 cents to the national organization. In either case the money is spent just as the need arises. During the past two years $215,000 approximately, has been paid out in the State of Minnesota and, while I do not know just what Minnesota's quota was during the recent drives, I feel confident that it did not exceed this amount. Large sums have been paid for the relief of fire devastated districts and those invaded by epidemics. This fall many thousands of dollars have been paid into districts in North Dakota which were directly affected by the drought and grasshoppers. One county alone received $5,000 from the county chapter and $10,000 from divisional headquarters.

"It is the desire of the Red Cross to have a public health nurse in each county. The recent draft yielded figures relative to the fitness of our young men that are unbelievable. Healthy babies grow into strong and able young men and strong and able young men make good citizens. We also wish to place one social worker in each community, especially communities composed largely of a foreign element; someone who can acquaint these people with the English language; marketing conditions and school affairs—oh, there is much to be done right here at home.

"Our work did not cease with hostilities in the late war; in fact the war gave us an insight into true conditions existing in many parts of the country which would prove that our work has but started.

"We wish our members to feel that all are bound together as they would be in a church or any religious institution and yet the Red Cross knows no creed or sect. People sooner or later must realize that it stands for one great brotherhood of all humanity."

America Has Two-Thirds Of the World's Telephones

France has not as many telephones as Chicago. Greece has not as many telephones as some of the largest American office buildings. All Europe has only one-third the telephones that the United States has. In twenty years the number of Bell-manned and connected telephones in the Bell system has increased fourteen fold. In 1880 there was one telephone to one thousand persons—today there is a telephone to every nine persons. During the past year and a half more new telephones were installed in American homes and offices than are in use throughout Great Britain. America has only one sixteenth of the world's population but nearly two thirds of the world's telephoning is over the 24,000,000 miles of wire in the Bell system. The Bell system—that is the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Associated companies—which in the extent of its public service has no counterpart anywhere, has been built out of the savings of hundreds of thousands of thrifty men and women."

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRESS

Volume No. 2 Thursday, Nov. 4, 1920 Number 7

School Spirit.

On Tuesday, Oct. 26, our gridiron warriors suffered a disastrous defeat at the hands of our rival school, Bemidji. It was disappointing and discouraging but though we lost, it is very evident that we gained one of the most gratifying and uplifting results—Real High School Spirit.

Our faculty and some of the upper class-men have endeavored to the utmost of their ability to establish a feeling of school spirit and loyalty. They without a doubt have succeeded in their efforts to instill patriotism, and allegiance into the hearts of nearly the entire student body, judging from the way they responded to the call for Boosters on Tuesday.

The High School can be well proud of our present loyalty and spirit. You as an individual must feel proud and take pride in saying: "I did my bit. I am back of the school and will fight for her—to uphold her traditions and her activities." Now that we have gained this success, don't let it fall again—maintain the school "pep and unity." Put push and pull in every turn of your school affairs.

The turnout last Tuesday was one of the best the school has ever had. You as individuals made it such—keep it up.

We as members of the high school are proud to feel that citizens other than the alumni have such a keen desire to support our school activities. It is pleasing for us to know that our elders, whom we have grown to respect, have a feeling of loyalty and patriotism although they have never attended the Lincoln H. S., and that they desire to help us in school and future life. Be a booster, don't kill our present Pep.

The 1921 Prowler.

It is a usual thing for the graduating class of each year to work up and leave behind them a history which attempts to include all of the social and high school activities of the year. This history or book is generally known as the "Prowler."

The graduating class of this year is by no means an exception to the preceding classes. Already the Seniors are busily engaged in organizing and building up this history. Although the book will be slightly smaller than those of preceeding years, the quality will still be there. What the book lacks in quantity will be two-fold over enlarged in quality.

The class is endeavoring to get the material collected so that the book may be out and distributed around the school and city before the summer vacation, so that the class will have a chance to get all books sold and bills settled. The only way this can be done is by raising the cry which has been heard in years gone by, "We need the support and co-operation from every student in the high school. We want the book to be so good that we can look back upon it in years to come and say, 'I had something to do with the editing of that book and am proud of it.'" If the co-operation of the other classes is secured, the school and public can be assured of a slightly smaller but much better annual than has ever been put out by a class of Lincoln High.

Patriotism in High School.

Last Tuesday when the local high school played Bemidji we were sadly defeated. But we were not defeated in spirit. One of the largest high school crowds for a long time was at the game last Tuesday. There were nearly three hundred pupils and most all the teachers were present. The spirit of the students was splendid throughout the game. In spite of the fact that our team was being beaten the students stayed by them till the last whistle was blown. Never before has the high school shown such spirit and patriotism. Just because we lost we are not all going to stay away next time. We're all good losers as well as good winners.

The question which is to be debated by the debating league of Minnesota: "Open vs. Closed Shop," brings to mind a question about which little has been said, but which concerns us, as a school perhaps more than any other. What if the teachers should unionize and demand a closed shop? This would mean that no teachers could be hired unless they were members of the teachers' union. This union would have a complete monopoly of the educational facilities of the nation, and would wield a greater power than any organization in the world. That the teachers would misuse this power is not probable but a monopoly is always dangerous, as the officers at the head of the union might not always be of the best type.

On the other hand, complete control by the teachers would in a great many instances mean better schools. If the public was backward in providing for the schools, the union could dictate the policy of the district. It could fix the salaries of the teachers, make any changes in the educational system if desired, and could also demand improvements in accordance with its fancies, as it could simply order a teachers' strike and our state laws say we must have school.

A great part of this power would undoubtedly be exercised for the common good, but does not the public prefer to support their own schools, rather than be forced to do it by a teachers' union?

Athletics.

This year we are out for victory in the various athletic activities. So many times of late years we have ended the season with a splendid team that ranked at the top but were not awarded the championship on account of losing a late season game. This year we must go through with a clean slate.

To win championship takes character. It means self sacrifice. Everybody for the team; nobody for himself; and everybody giving everything he has. Every man will get a square deal, if he tries. Everyone will make his place on the result of his work. Experience counts heavily, but the final test comes in being able to deliver the goods.

To look down the list and think of winning from all seems a big job. It is a big job, but we can do it. Remember, it is only one game at a time.

The Forum.

The Debate Forum is progressing quite rapidly and the members are a busy bunch of students trying to reach the top where they are ready to challenge any other debating team in the state.

The question for debate will be on the Open vs. Closed Shop in the industrial system as stated by the Minnesota State High School Debating League. It is a question of nation-wide concern and of public interest, but which has not as yet aroused a great deal of sentiment.

The Forum is at present meeting on Monday and Thursday of each week, and will welcome any new members that wish to join the club, because they realize that the more members there are in the organization the more will they be able to get at all the material on the subject.

Turnout at Tuesday's Game.

The result of the mass meeting held Tuesday morning was the largest turnout the team has had for its games this year. We were anxious to see how Mr. Fiterman conducted his rooting squad and we were satisfied; he had lived up to our expectations. The crowd itself was a "hummer" and as for their yells—they will be remembered for some time.

School was dismissed early Tuesday afternoon and the students formed in a line and marched down town where they were joined by a large crowd of grade students. Yells were given on the corner and then the long line of enthusiastic football fans were marched to the grounds. They were there ready to meet the team when they arrived, with their peppy yells.

Between halves they formed a line and gave a snake dance, partly in order to keep warm.

Shorthand Contest.

The second contest between the two divisions of the first year shorthand class resulted in the "A" division getting the higher average (92), and thus retaining its lead over the "B" division. In the "A" section, Bertha Aaseby, Augusta Belswinger and Bessie Elofson ranked the highest, while among the "B's" Inez Sorlom obtained the best mark.

Personals.

Mabel Lonson returned to school last week after a month of illness.

Dottie Krafthefer left Saturday for Mahnomen, where she will spend a week visiting at her home.

Maebelle Swanson spent Saturday and Sunday at her home near St. Hilaire.

Lucy Phelps has been confined to her home for several days on account of illness.

Chester Dols and Arthur Stenglesen spent the week end at their homes at Rosewood.

Agnes and Ella Johnson visited over Saturday and Sunday at their home at Noble.

Miss Elliott: "Forrest, do you know anything about the character of George Washington?"

Forrest Ralston: "Yes, he was a surveyor."

An example of unstable equilibrium—Clarence Knudson in Modern History last Wednesday fell off his chair.

The annual staff held their second meeting Wednesday.

Esther Hadruth was taken home Wednesday from the hospital where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Found on the assembly blackboard, "Are you a class baby, Clifford?"

Why does Melby always meet the 9:37 train evenings?

Chester Dols leaves for Minneapolis Saturday.

"Lynn in class: "Sit down Knute, children should be heard, not seen."

"Pinky" Penney was a visitor in Journalism class Tuesday.

Mildred Hauglid was visiting at Angus over Saturday and Sunday.

Irma Marcoe was home over Saturday and Sunday, at Malcolm.

Rusty Anderson's war cry; "I'm ruined" is heard wherever "Rusty" may happen to be in the high school.

According to "Kip" Sorenson, Chas. Herron is a "Class Baby."

The chosen design of the Senior class rings and pins is now awaiting the orders of the individual classmen.

Ernest Zeh, "Gap" passed his eighteenth birthday Wednesday the 27th without much excitement.

Miss Patrick in English III: "What is the day after Hallowe'en called?" Clever boy: "The age of reconstruction."

Clarence Rice spent the week end at his home in Plummer.

"Curly" McDaniel, who had the serious experience of having a Bemidji "sapling" fall on his leg which resulted in a bruised and sprained ankle was confined to his home for a few days but is back at school again.

"Tipy" Evenson came out, or rather was carried out of the Bemidji game with five dislocated vertebrae and two strained muscles. "Some heavy bird," one of the carriers remarked.

Clara Oien spent the week-end at her home south of town.

Melvin Engelstad visited with his folks south of town over Sunday.

The nurses of Northern Minnesota will hold a conference at Crookston the first of November.

Miss Ruth Holton, assistant State Supervisor of nurses, visited here a few days last week with Miss Johnson, the nurse. Miss Holton has just returned from a three years' stay in Italy where she has been doing Red Cross work. Due to lack of appropriation from the state legislature, the state has had a state supervisor only. The Red Cross is paying the salary of an assistant, thus working in co-operation with the state to improve health conditions.

Miss Elaine Swanson visited Saturday and Sunday with Miss Johnson, the school nurse. Miss Swanson is a member of the northern division of the Red Cross. She will return to this city in about two weeks and will give a talk on Junior Red Cross work, its aim and purpose.

The following teachers will leave Tuesday evening to attend the Minnesota Educational association which is held annually for the purpose of explaining new methods of teaching and also to try to bring all schools to about the same standard. This convention will be held this year in St. Paul on the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th of November: Lorna Dodge, Signe Svedahl, Jane Morley, Ella Miller, Esther Johnson, Margaret Mealy, Ruth Friestedt, Florence Nylander, Margaret Jordan, May Bark, Ruby Ann Pierce, Vivian Swift, Grace Iverson, Irene Patrick, Ruth Elliott, Lillian Poppitz, L. Nathan Pierce, Miss Ober, Miss Perry, Mr. Melby, Miss Ryff, Supt. W. A. Ziegler.

Normal Department.

The normal teachers, Miss Perry and Miss Ober, will attend the M. E. A. convention in St. Paul, November 5-7.

Lucille Blascoe and Rose Oski are going to begin teaching in the rural districts on Monday of next week.

From all reports the Normal girls greatly enjoyed themselves at the Hallowe'en party given last Thursday. The room was gayly decorated with pumpkins, cats, witches and other weird emblems of Hallowe'en. The girls were entertained by games and stunts, and toward the close of the evening supper was served.

Northrup News.

Miss Johnson, the school nurse, has been giving the children physical examinations. She has examined all the pupils up to the fifth grade.

Clement Cloutier, a pupil of the fourth grade, broke his arm while playing on the school grounds. The arm had been broken a short time ago and was in the process of healing when the accident occurred.

Nine of the Northrup teachers attended the Warren convention.

All of the children have joined the Junior Red Cross and they received their Red Cross buttons last Friday.

Hallowe'en parties were held in each of the grade rooms last Friday after the afternoon recess. The rooms were cleverly decorated with witches, brownies, pumpkins and other suitable Hallowe'en decorations which had been made by the children. The regular school work was carried out in most of the rooms followed by such Hallowe'en amusements as peanut races and bobbing for apples.

Miss Bark will leave Tuesday evening for Minneapolis to attend the M. E. A.

Mothers' Day was observed last Thursday, Oct. 29. A great many mothers responded to the invitation which had been sent them.

Pep Meeting.

Friday at 3:30 a "pep" meeting was held for the last football game of the season. The local team played Fosston. Several yells were given by the high school and a great amount of enthusiasm was aroused among the students. Several of the football men gave speeches, these being: Penney, Zeh, Anderson and Captain Barzen.

Mr. Tommeraasen gave a short talk and explained the game to the students.

The meeting closed with a rousing yell from the students.

Thief River Falls Defeats Fosston in Final Game of the Season.

The Thief River Falls high school football team last Saturday made up for its disastrous defeat at the hands of Bemidji by overturning the dope and defeating our ancient rival, the Fosston high school team, by a score of 43 to 13.

The Thief River team entered the game with a determination to erase from its record the stain of their showing against Bemidji and displayed the effect of an undaunted spirit throughout the entire game. From the time the whistle blew, the outcome of the game was never in doubt. The Fosston boys put up a plucky fight, but were unable to withstand the ferocious onslaughts of the locals.

The game started with Fosston kicking off. With a series of line plunges, end runs, and forward passes Thief River Falls carried the ball continuously down the field toward the Fosston goal line. Anderson carried the ball over for a touch down within a few minutes after play started—Doland kicked goal. Thief River kicked off, and it was Fosston's turn to march, seemingly almost unmolested, towards our goal for a touchdown. A considerable change had been made in the Thief River line-up and their defense did not get to working perfectly before the second half. But did the warriors from the Lincoln high lose heart? Ah no! They caught Fosston's kick-off and started toward the Fosston goal line and did not cease their relentless hammering until Quarterback Doland had carried the pigskin over for another touchdown. Doland failed to make the goal. The quarter ended with a score of 13 to 7 in favor of Thief River Falls. Anderson and Penney each made a touchdown during the second quarter and Fosston one. Score, 25 to 14.

The Thief River Falls team came back strong in the second half and held the enemy for downs almost every time they got the ball in their possession, but were unable to score. Score 25 to 14.

In the last quarter the local warriors again got their offensive working and plowed through the Fosston defense for three more touchdowns, but failed to kick goals. Fosston was held during this quarter and did not score. The game ended with the score 43 to 14, in favor of Thief River Falls.

The feature of the game was that none of the local players were seriously hurt. Three Fosston players went home nursing more or less injured legs.

This ends the football season and we have a record that we may be proud of. We defeated our two strongest rivals, Crookston and Fosston and if it is decided that Bemidji is not in this district, we will have the district championship.

Hallowe'en Fun.

"Hey Fellas," shouted Jack, the leader of the gang; "Com'ere, got sumthin to tell ya."

So with whoops and yells the boys came running.

"Say Fella's, let's go over to our barn and then I'll tell ya."

They started and reached the barn in a short time. Jack climbed the ladder first, and when in the loft perched himself on a soap box and began.

"Com mon, let's be really political."

And, with these words the boys contented themselves with sitting on the bare-wood floor.

"The meetin'll come to order. I'm president."

The newly-self-appointed president presided over the meeting and so the Congress of the "Daredevil Gang" began.

"What do'ya want?" sang in Fatty Gibson, "I got ta git home early if I wanna go tomorrow."

"Boys do ya relize it's most Hallowe'en?"

"Ya," was the hearty response.

"Well, ya all know old man Jenkin what lives on Punkin Hill on the East Side?"

"Ya."

"Let's meet by the crick tomorrar night about 8 and den we'll talk. But don't forget yer soap and tick-tacks."

"No, we're not goin' without 'em."

"The meetin's adjerned."

So they parted.

The next night at eight the "Daredevil Gang" had a merry fire burning and the voice of Jack was heard above all.

"Aw shut up, yer always talkin."

The noise stopped and all around the fire were attentive boys waiting to be ministered unto by Jack.

"Well, fellos' if ya don't keep still the old man'll hear us."

And with another moment of silence Jack saw his chance and said, "Show yer tick-tacks en soap ya know 'seein is believin.'"

The boys anxiously brot forth from their pockets the ticks.

"Alright boys, I thought ya' nite fergit 'em."

"Don't ya tink we got heds a tall?" asked Skinny Bruce.

"Jim, ya tack the old straw hat he keeps in the barn on the front door and wait there fer us. Skinny ya harness the horse to the old serry in the back yard and tie him by the kitchen door. Fat, ya soap the window with me and meet us all by the front door. Now line up."

So they did and with Jack at the head the procession moved up the hill to Jenkins.

The appointed boys did their deviltry and within an hour they were together at the front door.

They tick-tacked the windows and ran. When Mr. Jenkins got up the next morning the yard was topsy-turvy and Mrs. Jenkins had to wash windows all morning.

"Ya gotta expect it," said Jenkins half-angered.

"But boys will be boys," said Mrs. Jenkins, laughing heartily.

Jokes.

No Need to Ask.

Little Elsie came home from the neighbors house, munching a cookie.

"Now, Elsie,' her mother reproved her, "how many times have I told you not to ask Mrs. Brown for cookies?"

"I did not ask her," answered Elsie calmly, "I do not have to; I know where she keeps them."

Clarence Knudson (looking at his watch)—"Well if we don't have church this morning there is fifteen minutes left."

Fellow Student—"What did he say?"

Student—"He told me to leave school."

"Cleon, what do you think that is—a sausage grinder? It is only a pencil sharpener you know."

Johnny—"Caution is when you are afraid; cowardice when the other fellow is afraid."

Merrill—"Your father is a shoemaker and still your kid brother wears torn shoes!"

Daniel—"That's nothin', your father's a dentist and your kid brother's only got one tooth!"

Miss Patrick—"What did you say?"

John H.—"Nothing."

Miss Patrick—"Of course, but how did you express it this time?"

What would high school be like without Benny Lind's "blushing countenance" and Toby Holmgren's "smiles."

The Senior ring and pin committee is having as hard a time selecting a class ring and pin as a young man buying a ring for his best girl.

According to Miss Johnson, the music instructor, the girls of the high school would prove good advertisements for a bake-shop; they have so many "rolls" and "puffs."

Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday.

Miss Elliot to John H.—"What was the matter with the quiz?"

John H.—"Oh! You didn't ask me any of the questions I know."

Ask Toby Holmgren what he was trying to do in Ancient History class October 21.

Found on an Ancient History quiz paper: "Ostracism and Salamus were sons of Solomon. Delos was a tyrant.

Miss Patrick in English IV class trying to explain various points in drama—"Haven't you noticed audiences laugh at a less humorous part of a drama much harder than they do at a very humorous part, especially after a very humorous part?"

Clarence Knudsen—"That's because of inertia."

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume 10 Thief River Falls, Minnesota, Thursday, Nov. 11, 1920 $2.00 a Year Number 40

FIRST EFFECTS OF AMENDMENT ALREADY NOTED

County Asked to Bill State For Cost of Constructing St. Hilaire Road.

One-Half of Estimated Outlay Paid By State, Balance By Goernment.

Cost of Maintenance Will Also Be Escaped By County Under New Order.

County Auditor T. P. Anderson on Friday received a communication from the Minnesota State Highway commission requesting the amount expended by the county during the past summer in the construction of State Road No. 1, which extends from a point just north of the village of St. Hilaire, thru the village to a point four miles south. The completed contract is for $21,000, of which amount $14,000 was spent during the past season, the road being incomplete as yet. It is the purpose of the highway commission to reinburse the county of Pennington for its portion of the expense on the road in question as soon as funds are derived thru the workings of Constitutional Amendment No. 1.

County Greatly Benefited.

Residents of the entire state might well "hurrah" and throw up their hats out of sheer joy at this small but vital bit of information. It means just this: It is an advance notice that the Babcock Plan is beginning to work out, that the highway commission is right on the job, and that good roads will certainly result because of the combination of the two facts.

Graveling of a considerable stretch of road No. 1, which is part of the Jefferson Highway, is necessary to its completion but the county is virtually relieved of further expense in this respect in addition to being reimbursed for money expended. The road was being constructed by the county with the aid of the Federal Government, the county paying one-half its cost and the government one-half. With Amendment No. 1 already beginning to take effect it becomes a national and state matter under the supervision of the county. Funds received thru reimbursement for expenditures already made may now be directed into improving other roads connecting with the main trunk highways which are to be built up and maintained thru funds derived by the state from a direct tax upon automobiles owned throuot the state.

Early Construction Possible.

In many instances the hard-surfacing of roads has been proceeding during the past summer with the view of reimbursement when the amendment would be passed. The Babcock Plan does not provide for the immediate construction of any one arterial highway, as it popularly supposed. Rather does it mean that allotments will be made to counties and districts at an early date and it is expected that construction will be under way as early as next spring in many cases. Nor does it mean that all arterial highways will be hard surfaced at once. Many will be properly graded, heavily graveled and maintained as graveled roads for an indefinite length of time. But—good roads there will be.

FLOUR AT LOWEST PRICE IN 4 YEARS

Sells at Less Than Ten Dollars Per Barrel at Minneapolis Milling Plants.

For the first time in almost four years flour sold under the ten dollar a barrel mark at the mills at Minneapolis on Tuesday. Quotations on family patents broke 35 to [illegible] cents, making the range of prices $[illegible] to $10 a barrel. Tuesday's decline in wheat was given as the cause.

Rallies in foreign exchange led to higher prices for wheat at Chicago on Monday. Opening quotations, which varied from a quarter off to one and a half cent advance, were followed by gains all around though interrupted transiently by a severe setback.

Subsequently deliveries fell to new low figures, the lowest in four years. The close was heavy, 6¼ to 7¾ cents lower with December $1.77 to [illegible]78, and March $1.75 to $1.75¼.

FAMOUS ORCHESTRA THE FIRST NUMBER

Lyceum Course to Be Opened By One of Country's [illegible] Organizations.

Next Thursday evening marks the opening date of the Redpath Winter lyceum course which is being brought to Thief River Falls for the winter through the efforts of the Woman's club. The woman's organization has exceptionally fortunate in booking attractions which will bring to the city all that is best in music and oratory, as this first number will go to prove.

The Redpath Concert orchestra presents one of the features of a program devoted principally to music. The orchestra is composed of artists on the violin, cello, flute, piano and clarinet, and will, with their varied numbers, bring pleasure to all who may attend.

Edward Barrow, tenor, who appears with the orchestra on Thursday night has been associated with many of the best vocalists on the American operatic stage, having alternated in concert with such artists as Schumann-Heinck, Evan Williams and Lillian Nordica. His appearance at Thief River Falls will bring a talent never before represented in this section of the state.

The Woman's club has spared no expense in securing the best in the way of lyceum attractions and it is hoped that the community will respond to the advance sale of season tickets in a manner which will guarantee a good attendance throughout the entire course. Season tickets and tickets for the first lyceum number will be placed on sale at Lambert's drug store the first of the coming week at prices reasonable and within the reach of all. An advantage lies in the purchase of season tickets in that reservations of seats may be made for the entire season at the present time.

NEW MAN IN CHARGE AT HOTEL BRUMUND

Louis Garvey, Formerly of Morris, Purchases Lease and Equipment.

The Brumund hotel changed hands this week, the new proprieor, Louis Garvey of Morris, Minn., taking possession on Tuesday. Mr. Garvey, who has purchased the hotel equipment only, will continue the business much along the same lines as previously, with but a slight change in the cafe service and hours of serving.

H. A. Brumund steps out of the hotel business to take a more active part in the management of the Princess and Lyceum theatres. Mr. and Mrs. Brumund have served the public at the Brumund faithfully and diligently for the past eight years. Previous to that time they conducted the Ogahmah hotel just across the avenue from the present Brumund hotel. They have retained their apartments at the corner of LaBree avenue and Second street, where they will make their home for the present.

Mr. Garvey is an experienced hotel man, having served with several of the leading hostelries in the twin cities previous to his becoming the proprietor of the Home cafe at Morris. Mrs. Garvey accompanied her husband to Thief River Falls, returning on Wednesday to Morris, where she will remain until their property there is disposed of, assisting her son in the management of the cafe.

Fair Board Secretary to Be Chosen Friday Night

The directors of the Pennington County Fair association will meet at the Commercial club rooms Friday evening at 8 for the purpose of electing a secretary and appointing several committees. It is also expeced that budgets will be made up for the various departments for the fair of 1921.

Many Teachers Attended State Meeting at St. Paul

Thirty teachers from the Thief River Falls schools attended the 57th meeting of the Minnesota Educational association which was held at St. Paul Nov. 3-6. Those teachers who were not able to attend the St. Paul meeting attended the Northwestern Minnesota Educational association convention held at Warren Oct. 20-23. Of the 57 city teachers many attended both educational meetings. This was a remarkable attendance in view of the fact that but four of the teachers from the city schools at Crookston were present at the first named meeting.

The four days of the convention held many good things for all who attended, including instructive meetings, exhibits, excursions, demonstrations and musical features. Ten thousand teachers from the state of Minnesota were in attendance.

W. A. Ziegler, superintendent of the city schools, was elected president for division 6, department of industrial and household arts, for the coming year and will prepare the next program for that section, which has to do with "Vocational Guidance."

First Recruit Secured Here Starts For Camp

Erwin Johnston of Nekoma, N. D., a nephew of Loren Johnston of this city, enlisted for a term of one year with the Fifth Engineers stationed at Camp Funston, Kansas. After a preliminary examination by Sergeant Hinkson, who is in charge of the local recruiting station, he left for Minneapolis on Monday to undergo a final physical examination, after which he will proceed direct to Camp Funston. Private Johnston is the first recruit to pass through the newly established recruiting station here.

Local Bakery Announces Cut in Price of Bread

Everything goes to show that the high cost of living is gradually coming down. In practically every line merchants are announcing cuts in price, the latest notable addition being Jung's Quality Bakery in this city. As will be seen by their advertisement in another part of the paper their bread will hereafter be sold at 10 cents for the small loaf and 15 cents for the large. This is a cut from 12 and 18 cents for the different sizes respectively.

JUNIORS HAVE FINE SHOWING OF LIVESTOCK

Boys' and Girls' Club Members Display Prize Animals at Annual Exhibit.

Entries Not Numerous But All Animals Show Breeding and Much Care.

Winning Specimens Will Compete at Crookston and South Saint Paul Shows.

Thief River Falls and all Pennington county may well feel proud of the excellent showing of spring lambs and dairy calves made by members of the Boys' and Girls' clubs at the combination livestock show held at the Ramstad barn on Friday. Some remarkable animals, deserving of the attention of livestock breeders thruout the state, were shown and ribbons and cash awards presented by the Citizens' State and First National banks of this city. Three of the spring lambs shown will be sent with their exhibitors to the show at South St. Paul on November 17, 18 and 19. The first five ribbon and prize winning dairy calves will compete for first place at the livestock show at Crookston on November 12 and 13 and will undoubtedly be sent from there to the South St. Paul show.

Fat Lambs Shown.

The spring lambs were judged from a fat lamb standpoint by Mr. Husby of Crookston. Had the judging been from the breeding or other standpoints, the prizes would probably have been awarded in different order. Cash prizes were hung up by the Citizens' State bank as follows: First prize, $8, Alfred Kilen, Kratka; second prize, $6, Frances Conklin, Thief River Falls; third prize, $4, Ruby Conklin, Thief River Falls; fourth prize, $3, Marcus Olson, Thief River Falls; fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth prizes of $2 each respectively to Pearl Conklin and Vivian Olson of Thief River Falls and Daniel Vaughan and Ethel Vaughan of Goodridge. The blue, red and white ribbons were awarded to the first three prize winners in the order named, the ribbon winners receiving the free trip to South St. Paul. The number of lambs entered was smaller than expected but all were of particularly fine quality.

Calf Showing Extraordinary.

The fact that several of the dairy calves shown were in a strictly show condition, while several were not, made judging extremely difficult, because show condition had to be taken into consideration with the animals' good points. In one or two cases calves would have undoubtedly have taken higher place had they been in condition.

The calves shown were Guernseys and Holsteins—breeds best fitted for dairy purposes. The cash awards were as follows: First prize, $10, Ruby Conklin, Thief River Falls; second prize, $7, Pearl Conklin, Thief River Falls; third prize, $5, Gorman Thompson, Goodridge. Prizes of $2 each went to Orton Olson, Marian Hunt, Marcus Olson and Gordon Hunt of Thief River Falls and Noble Urdahl of Goodridge. Only one calf in the second year class was exhibited, Frances Conklin of Thief River Falls making the showing and receiving the blue ribbon.

Several of the calves were very much out of the ordinary as to dairy type, particular mention going to the winner of the blue ribbon in the yearling class, shown by Ruby Conklin. This yearling will be shown at Crookston on November 12 and 13 and will undoubtedly go from there to the livestock show at South St. Paul later in the month. Expert judges have expressed their opinion that the calf shown by Miss Conklin will one day be entered in the national shows and take the highest of ribbons.

Results of Co-operation.

The Citizens State bank, the First National bank, J. J. McCann of the county farm bureau and the members of the Pennington county Boys' and Girls' clubs are to be congratulated upon the successful results of their co-operation in staging this livestock event; the two banks for their great interest in the development of the resources of the county and the offering of the premiums; Mr. McCann for his efforts in organizing the clubs and constant instruction as to the proper care of the animals; and the boys and girls upon the industry shown. In many cases lambs and calves gave evidence of many days preparation in fitting them properly for the event.

C. L. Hansen and A. J. Anderson offered further proof of their appreciation of the work of the county boys and girls by arranging dinners for them at the Evelyn and Brumund hotels.

Local Postoffice Holds Mail For Former Soldiers

Ex-service men leaving the city should notify the postoffice of their change of address in order that their mail may be forwarded. Very often matters of importance to these men come up and they are appraised of the facts either by the government or the officers of their legion post. Unless their addresses are known the postal department has no choice but to return the mail to the sender or dead letter office. Postmaster John Morgan has now in his charge mail for the following persons formerly in the service: Helmer Sorvick, Iver Sedig, John Henry Spencer, Ingvald Hesby, Aslak Evenson Norgard (2), Mina Hagen. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of these parties will be conferring a favor on them by informing Mr. Morgan where they may be reached.

FIRST LYCEUM COURSE NUMBER HERE NOV. 18; CARDS STAMPED WRONG

An error in stamping the date on which the Redpath Concert Orchestra — first attraction in the lyceum course—is to appear in this city may lead to confusion. The cards are stamped "Nov. 19," whereas the date is Thursday, Nov. 18. The ladies in charge regret that this mixup in the advertising matter occurred and hope that none will be misled by it.

MISSING YOUTH IS FOUND DEAD; STILL MYSTERY

Middle River Boy Buried Without Circumstances of Death Being Known.

Out Hunting Near Home With Younger Brother and Failed to Return.

Boy Suspected of Knowing More Than Has Thus Far Been Elicited.

Burial of the body of Arthur Schenkey, 15 year old son of Theodore Schenkey, who lives three miles east of Middle River, took place on Tuesday with the manner of his death two weeks ago still a mystery to the residents of Middle River.

The youth, accompanied by his nine year old brother, had gone hunting with a 30-30 rifle two weeks ago. Only the story of the younger brother is available for details of their expedition, and according to this tale Arthur gave him a quarter and told him to return home. The younger boy, according to his story, did so, and as he reached the house he heard a shot. The older boy failed to return home that night and the next day as his absence continued, the father of the boy became worried. He communicated with county officials and a posse was organized. Ninety residents of the little town of Middle River scoured the surrounding country for nine days searching for the Schenkey boy, and when they were about ready to give up their labors one of the members stumbled over his body in a thicket only 30 rods from the Schenkey home.

Shell Taken From Gun.

Suicide was the first theory but examination of the body and gun upset the belief that he had killed himself. The bullet which had killed the boy entered the top of his head and passed straight down through the brain and body, lodging in the abdomen.

Further examination showed the shell had been extracted from the gun, which was 19 feet away from the body. Death must have been instantaneous and it would have been impossible for the lad to have extracted the shell from the gun and cast it 19 feet away after the shooting even if it had been possible for him to have held the gun in such position as to cause the bullet to enter the top of his head.

Brother Questioned.

Suspicion, it is alleged, fell on the little nine year old brother who was the last person known to have seen the Schenkey boy alive. Close questioning before the coroner's jury following the inquest, however, failed to change his story about leaving his brother in the woods and returning home, and the jury was forced to return a verdict that the youth was killed by a rifle fired by a person unknown.

Heavy Poultry Shipments From This Section Daily

An average of 48 coops of poultry per day have been shipped from Thief River Falls during the past 30 days. These are figures given by local officials of the American Railway Express company which handles all poultry shipped out of the territory adjacent to this city. Practically all of these shipments have been products of Pennington county farms. On Friday last the electric line brought in from Goodridge alone, one entire carload; or 40 coops, of chickens, ducks, geese and turkeys, each coop representing a net weight of 150 pounds. All shipments are made to commission houses in the twin cities to supply the holiday demand.

Balmy Weather Deceives Pansies and Gooseberries

Wet, cold weather in Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas during the past few weeks; blizzards to the south of us in many cases; but spring still—or again—holding sway in Northwestern Minnesota. A. K. Dickson, resident of Thief River Falls, reports that on Sunday his half dozen gooseberry bushes were covered with buds and that pansy beds were breaking forth into bloom, both having been severely frozen earlier in the spring—or rather fall.

BETTER PRICES MADE POSSIBLE FOR SPUD CROP

State Marketing Director Shows How Potato Exchange Was of Help to Farmer.

Gives Instances Where Difference in Price Was 30 and 40 Cents Per Bushel.

Scope of Exchange May Be Extended to Include Many Other Products.

"With approximately one-fourth of the Minnesota potato crop handled through co-operative associations and the Minnesota Potato Exchange, the saving to the farmers of Minnesota who shared in the co-operation totaled approximately $274,000 this year.

"If all potatoes had been shipped through the association, saving to the farmers would have been $1,096,000. The co-operative associations obtained an average of 9.3 cents a hundredweight more for potatoes than the non-co-perative associations, and increased the price for all farmers in Minnesota by providing competition for other buyers."

Hughes Makes Report.

H. J. Hughes, marketing director of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, made the foregoing statement after tabulating reports from thirty-five county agents representing all potato producing areas of Minnesota. Twenty-two co-operative exchanges reported an average price of $1.01 1-3 a hundred pounds, while thirty-five non-co-operative sales agents reported an average of 91 4-5 cents a hundred pounds.

The margin between the co-operative and non-co-operative prices ranged widely, or up to 30 cents a hundred pounds in certain localities. The spread was smaller in vicinities where the co-operative provided keenest co-operation. Mr. Hughes estimates the merchantable crop of the state at 12,000,000 hundredweight. This means the potato crop which moved by rail. Almost two-thirds of the total crop is used within the state. The foregoing comparisons are based on the price level of November 1. Specific instances of the price spreads as quoted by Mr. Hughes follow:

30 Cents Difference.

"The co-operative price in Kittson county—$1.05 a hundred for potatoes sacked. 75 cents for potatoes in bulk by non-co-operatives. The spread in this case was 30 cents.

"The price for Early Ohios offered by the co-operatives at Lancaster was $1.40 and the price offered by the non-co-operatives at Bronson, which is nearby, was 95 cents and at Karlstad $1, which is a spread of about 40 cents."

Mr. Hughes said that other farmers get the benefit of the price raising caused by competition. A potato exchange in Polk county advised the headquarters of the exchange that the price offered by non-co-operatives dropped 25 cents in one day after the co-opertives stopped buying. W. C. Minke, manager of the local at Long Prairie advised the exchange that "We received as much in the 80 per cent advance paid by the co-operatives as the local non-co-operatives paid in full."

The Co-operative Exchange further provides for the grading of potatoes on a basis similar to the grading of grain. There are four grades: the Minnesota select, all large and of baking size; and grades one, two and three and field run. This makes it possible for the consumer to demand a certain grade of potatoes and the small potatoes and bruised potatoes are sorted out for potato flour factories and starch factories.

J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture, recently stated that the Twin Cities pay the highest prices and get the poorest potatoes in Minnesota. The reason for this is that the consumer has not forced the retailer to handle graded potatoes in the Twin Cities. Most of the supply sold in St. Paul and Minneapolis comes from nearby farms.

The Minnesota Potato Exchange has handled some apples, buying in carload lots and selling through the local exchanges.

It is planned to handle cabbages, onions and other products of like nature to the exchange and eventually to have the farmer dispose of all grains through a grain exchange and of livestock through livestock shipping associations. The livestock exchange has been even more fully developed than the potato exchange.

Woman's Auxiliary Convention.

Plans are being formulated by A. H. Vernon, commander of the Minnesota Department of the American Legion, for a state convention of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Legion, in accordance with the recent ruling of the Legion national convention granting authority to state executive committees to establish state organizations of the woman's branch. In Blue Earth County, Minn., Auxiliary units were organized for all seven Legion posts in one week. Minnesota is second in the number of units of the Woman's Auxiliary.

Recruiting Officer Here; Expects Many Enlistments

Lieutenant O. G. Hoans, recruiting inspector for Missouri, Kansas Nebraska and Minnesota, was in Thief River Falls on Friday. No recruits have as yet been received through the local recruiting station in charge of Sergeant Jack M. Hickson, though many are expected with the coming of winter weather. The past month saw more recruits taken into the army from the state of Minnesota than any previous month during the entire history of the state. Lieutenant Hoans is a former Crookston boy and a graduate of Crookston high school. The two recruiting officers enjoyed a very successful hunting trip on Friday afternoon, enabling the lieutenant to depart for Minneapolis with several brace of partridge.

Armistice Day.

There was no official observance of Armistice Day in Thief River Falls except by members of the American Legion. The intention was to go to Bemidji and help the post there celebrate but it was found that a sufficient number of our citizens would not be able to make the trip to make the chartering of a special train possible and the plan was abandoned.

LOCAL RED CROSS TO ELECT OFFICERS

Annual Meeting Will Be Held at President's Office Friday Afternoon.

There will be a meeting of the board of directors of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross at the office of T. P. Anderson, county chairman, Friday, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year and formulating further plans for the fourth annual roll call which starts immediately, to continue until Thanksgiving day.

The enrollment campaign will be staged with all the enthusiasm of the pre-war drives and those which took place during the memorable years of '18 and '19. No one in Pennington county needs an explanation of what the Red Cross is, either in times of war or peace, administering aid in case of fire or flood, or during epidemics of disease. Red Cross work during the time since the war ceased has been largely confined to extending aid in civil life both in the United States and abroad, acting in matters of voluntary relief and devising measures for sanitary regulations to prevent the spread of disease.

Buttons will be sold as during the past few years. These buttons, denoting membership for the year 1921, are sold at $1 each, thus enabling everyone to subscribe and putting all on an equal footing.

DECISION IN DITCH MATTER POSTPONED

Revised Report Requested By Court in Case of Judicial Ditch Number 44.

Hearing of objections to the proposed judicial ditch number 44, held before Judge Grindeland at the Pennington county court house on Friday was adjourned to December 6, pending a revised report by Engineer Joseph Baugh and the board of three viewers. The petitioners for the ditch, property holders of Smiley township, were represented by W. J. Brown. E. M. Stanton and Senator F. L. Cliff of Ortonville, represented the objectors, property holders of the town of Rocksbury.

Objections to the proposed ditch were raised on the grounds that Rocksbury township would not benefit materially by the great amount of excavating necessary to passing through the sand ridge which lies along the Soo line tracks in sections 10, 15 and 23. The new route proposed will carry the ditch northward on the township line to the Red Lake river above Thief River Falls, where the former ditch passed westward beneath the Soo tracks, emptying into the river below the city. Judicial ditch number 44, representing an outlay of 20 or 25 thousand dollars, when completed will secure drainage for the [illegible] lands in the town of Smiley. A portion of the route lies along the old Red Lake county ditch number 1.

Is Champion Wager-Winner of Campaign Just Closed

As a political prognosticator P. J. Keating of this city ranks high. To judge from the number of bets won by him he had the situation doped out about right. He made 12 bets and won every one of them. He took four different chances on Jake Preus' winning out by more than 50,000 majority and landed three more on the position that Harding would have more than 100,000 to the good in the [illegible]. Other bets made by him were that Harding would carry Ohio; that Hodgson would not be elected governor; that the Democratic candidate for governor would not carry five counties in the state, and that Shipstead would not carry Cass county. [illegible] range of bets included several [illegible] of cigars, new hats, new shoes [illegible] a new suit of clothes.

A Beautiful Play.

"Humoresque," the picture play which shows at the Lyceum for the last time this evening, is one of the finest productions put on the screen here for a long time. The story is natural and particularly well acted. Vera Gordon, who stars in the part of the mother, gives a most convincing portrayal and the remainder of the cast is of very high order. Not for a long time has a moving picture been so well received in the large cities.

PREPARING FOR FINEST OF ALL POULTRY SHOWS

Previous Exhibitions to Be Outdone By Display Here on November 22-24.

Cash Prizes, Special Awards and Loving Cups to Owners of Winning Birds.

Increase in Number of Entries and Varieties Already Assured, Say Officials.

The past week has furnished evidence that the coming show of the Pennington County Poultry association at Thief River Falls on November 22-24, is attracting the attention of the entire Northwest. Many requests for premium lists are being received daily from points in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and southern Minnesota. A large number of exhibits are consequently expected from these points and thousands of people will observe the different breeds of birds on exhibition at this show, which will rival any held in the Northwest. City hotels are already making preparations to handle the large number of out of town guests. Ribbons and premiums are being offered daily, it being impossible to include these in the premium lists which are already being sent out.

Premium Lists Increase.

The fourth annual show has reached the attention of the National Black Leghorn association with headquarters at Hempstead, Long Island, New York, their offer of a handsome special ribbon for the best male and one for the best female bird of that breed, having just been received. The Minnesota State Poultry association offers handsome sweepstakes ribbons suitably lettered for the best pullet in the American, Asiatic, Mediterranean, English, Dutch and Bantam classes. The Minnesota State Poultry Breeder's association will also offer a silver medal awarded for the highest scoring pen. The American White Plymouth Rock club offers special ribbons at this exhibition, one each for best cock, best hen, best cockeral, best pullet and best pen. All of these and many others are especially attractive and valuable prizes.

Local business men realize the significance of the poultry show being staged at Thief River Falls and practically all of them will present specials in the way of premiums, these specials ranging from articles of merchandise to silver loving cups valued at $50.

Rabbits to be Feature.

An interesting feature of the poultry show will be the rabbit exhibits. At recent state poultry shows and state fairs almost as many pens of rabbits were shown as of poultry. The rabbit industry has taken rapid strides in the past few years owing to the fact that the rabbit or hare can be raised for the dual purpose of fur and food. Rabbit fur commands a good price and is dyed and used for many purposes. The Belgian hare takes first place in the industry owing to the quality of his fur and his size. Prizes are offered for the best pens and individuals of the rabbit exhibits.

Bantams, the little more than ornaments, and game birds will also be features of the show.

Birds of all Classes.

The American, Asiatic, Mediterranean, English, Polish, Dutch, French and Oriental classes of poultry will all be represented; classes of which the average person knows but little and which include among others: Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Javas, Dominiques, Buckeyes, Brahmas, Langshans, Minorcas, Anconas, Dorkins, Sussex, Hamburgs, Houdans, Faverises, Malays, Sherwoods and Lakenvelders.

Bronze, Narragansett, Buff and Slate turkeys will be shown. Pekin Call, Noscovy, Aylesbury, Cayuga, East India, Crested White and India Runner ducks are listed, as well as Toulouse, African, Canadian, Emblen, Chinese and Egyptian geese.

Child Unconscious Five Days as Result of Fall

Blair Lampert, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Lampert, fell backward from a fence on election day, receiving a severe blow on the head. He did not seem badly injured at the time but on Thursday became unconscious and remained in that condition until Monday morning. The child was taking no nourishment, seemingly being in a state of coma. On Monday morning he regained consciousness, recognized his parents and asked for food. Physicians in consultation had decided that the boy's spine had been injured in the fall but it is now thought that a blood clot formed on the brain, consciousness being regained when the clot was in some manner carried away. He is steadily improving and there is every hope of his complete recovery.

Had Leg Amputated.

Oklee Herald: Clarence Knutson, who has been suffering for years from tuberculosis of the bone, finally had to have his leg amputated. The operation was performed at Warren last week. He is now reported out of danger and is rapidly recovering from the effects of the operation. As soon as his condition permits, he will go to Thief River Falls to spend two or three months at the Sanatorium there.

Having just returned from one of the most successful buying trips that it has ever been my privilege to make—and I have been at it for eighteen years—I am enabled to announce the greatest merchandising event we have ever offered. In this advertisement you will find quoted the greatest values we have ever been able to make. We hope that you will compare these prices with those quoted by others—mail order houses, local competitors or anyone else. It is certain that in at least nine cases out of ten you will find our prices lower.

We were right on the ground when the big eastern jobbers started their BIG RE-ADJUSTMENT DRIVES and we secured the best there was offered by such concerns as Marshall Field & Co., and Carson-Pirie-Scott & Co. of Chicago, and Wyman, Partridge & Co., of Minneapolis. The prices we are quoting in this big advertisement would never have been possible were it not that these big concerns let down the bars on high prices to an extent never heard of before. The fact that we do the larger share of the dry goods and ready-to-wear business in Thief River Falls and surrounding country placed us in a position to buy in quantities such as only the stores in the larger cities are capable of handling.

The continued loyal patronage that the good people of this section are giving us, instead of scattering their business with every Tom, Dick and Harry, means that we can continue to give these wonderful values in the future as in the past.

Remember that this store has always brought you the new things first. We have also brought you lower prices a long time before the other fellow was forced to come to it. There are stores that sit tight and hold their wares for the long price. Pass them up. Do your trading with a store that you know is RIGHT and that gives you all there is in it at all times.

Every price quoted in this big advertisement is a special value, but we have a few that are so extraordinary that I wish to mention them here. There are ladies' silk georgette waists, crepe de chene waists, a few jersettes and tricolettes, beaded, embroidered, plain and tailored—valued regularly at from $6 to $10. These were bought specially for this sale and have just arrived. Come and take your choice of one or a dozen at $2.95 each. Then be sure to see those large, fluffy, warm, aristocratic-looking new full-length fancy silk-lined coats with big fur collars that have been selling remarkably well all season at $85 and $100. Now take your choice for only $55.

Then we have the Sals Peco full length plush coats, fully lined. These are wonder-values at $25 each. The $35 mens-wear serge dresses are dreams at only $18.50 each, while those velvet dresses at $29.95 are such exceptional values that you will hardly believe your own eyes.

All this goes to prove that a store with the buying power of Loken's, and buying for spot cash, can get values such as business houses of a different class cannot touch.

Then there is that big shipment consisting of underwear bargains. I have never seen the like of it before—and you will agree with me. I'll tell you there are some surprises in store for you here commencing next Saturday and continuing through the following week.

Are you interested in Community or Rogers Bros. silverware for Christmas? If you are, we have values to offer that will almost make your heart stop if you have been in the jewelry stores and priced these articles first.

Now, I hope you will read every word of this big advertisement. It is the last one we will have to offer this year. Right after this sale we are going to get ready for the greatest and most beautiful Holiday Goods opening ever presented to the people of this section. Wait and watch for our announcements telling you all about it. These will appear in plenty of time to permit your attending the opening.

Hoping to see you all here during the last week of this greatest of all sales, I am

Cordially yours,
H. O. Loken

IDA HAGEN PITMAN A NORTHWEST GIRL

Famous Soprano With Bel Canto Quintette Almost a Home Product.

Although her work has kept her in the East for the past few years, Ida Hagen Pitman, who is being featured in the Bel Canto Quintette, which will play tomorrow night at the auditorium, is really a product of the Northwest.

She was born in a small town in North Dakota and received her early training in Minnesota and Dakota institutions, but at a very early age her voice was discovered and, after overcoming many obstacles in her path, it finally became the recognition she so well deserved. Her instruction and training have been from the best artists and this last summer was spent in the Adirondack mountains with a small class of Oscar Seagle's most promising pupils.

Miss Pitman is an artist in the true sense of the word. Her singing is as natural as the cooing of a babe, and unlike most musicians her work does not tire her. In fact, after a strenuous week of filling as many as ten engagements, her last song is even more spontaneous and impulsive than her first.

She is singing to unusually large audiences this season and it is anticipated that the auditorium will be filled to capacity tomorrow night.

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

Get your organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination working in harmony and watch your trouble disappear. NR does it or money back.

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver.

It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes this, that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided or overcome.

This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion, also suffer more or less from headaches, biliousness and constipation.

If you are one of the many unfortunate persons who cannot eat without suffering afterward, if you are constipated, have bilious spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) right today and start taking it.

Give it a trial for a week or two and just see how much better you feel. See how quickly your sluggish bowels will become as regular as clock work, how your coated tongue clears up and your good, old-time appetite returns. See how splendidly your food will digest and how your energy, "pep" and "ginger" revive. Just try it.

You take no risk whatever for Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is only 25c a box, enough to last twenty-five days, and it must help and benefit you to your entire satisfaction, or money returned.

Five million boxes are used every year,—one million NR Tablets are taken by ailing people every day—that's the best proof of its merits. Nature's Remedy is the best and safest thing you can take for biliousness, constipation, indigestion and similar complaints. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

SOMETHING GAINED.

In one way the result of the recent election was a repudiation of the principles and candidates of the Nonpartisan league in Minnesota, but looked at from a different viewpoint something may have been achieved by the organization even in defeat.

There can be no question but that the program for improved marketing conditions and the advocating of some plan by which the farmer will be better enabled to keep track of the trading situation helped in rolling up the unusual majority for Mr. Preus, the Republican candidate. He spoke all over the state and promised that if elected he would use his utmost endeavors to see that the conditions which now make farming a gamble, with the farmer holding the losing hand all the time, would be remedied, so far as it lay within his power to bring such remedies about. He promised a more or less definite program of action in the event of his success at the polls and was evidently taken at his word.

In this manner one of the main issues raised by the Nonpartisans was adopted as a plank in the platform of the Republican nominee. To this extent his election may be said to have been a victory for Nonpartisan principle. It embraces the one big problem now confronting the farmer and, with a promise that this would be taken care of, he drifted more or less generally back to the party with which he was affiliated before the Nonpartisan movement appeared as a factor in the politics of the state.

It is very much to be doubted that the farmers have gone back entirely on their league. Even though failing to elect their candidates for office, they see certain of the principles for which they have contended made use of by the successful parties and are thus justified in believing that they have not battled in vain. As is the case with almost any movement of a political nature in this country, the good points of the Nonpartisan league will in time be adopted and put into practice by the people most vigorously opposing the new party at the outset. It was so with the Populists and will be repeated in the case of any organization securing a sufficient foothold with the electorate to make itself felt.

Certain newspapers espousing the Nonpartisan cause are demanding a change at the head of the organization. The editors claim that the cry of "Socialism" directed against the leaders had the effect of turning away many farmers who would otherwise have been among its supporters. This assertion is well substantiated and is causing a demand that the organization be purged of this extreme element.

The marked drift toward co-operation in marketing on the part of the farmers, together with the support of such policy by state officials and others, will probably have the effect of further removing the cause for complaint now voiced by producers everywhere. Should such prove to be the case, the credit must in a large measure be given to the league. Had it not been that the organization made a political issue of the questions it is more than likely that no satisfactory solution would have been suggested by anyone.

Whether the league continues as a political factor in Minnesota or not, it can hardly be said that its advent has been devoid of results.

WE OWE THEM MUCH.

"Ten Thousand Minnesota School Teachers Attend the Annual Convention of the M. E. A."

An inspiring headline, that; one that should leave the citizens of our state with much food for thought—or putting it in the vernacular, one that should make them sit up and take notice.

Ten thousand teachers who are so devoted to their life of service that they very willingly underwent the discomforts of traveling to St. Paul and paid the expense out of their own flat purses in order that they might benefit by the experiences of others as told at the convention and thus be enabled to return to their respective schools better fitted to continue their service to your children and mine.

The way of the school teacher, be it in rural or city schools, has not been an easy one. The profession has appealed to a great many young men and women who have searched for a respectable life of service to humanity; but until recently their remuneration has been chiefly that respect to which they are so entitled. Their salaries are being raised at present to that which allows them to live and dress in the manner in which we all expect to see them live and dress. Many a young lady has stepped from a home of luxury and refinement with the desire to make her own way in life and has been forced to live in a cramped little room and to take her meals at boarding houses not of the best, simply that she might during the day conduct a room full of unruly boys and girls—yours and mine, again—to a better understanding of life and what it can mean. Her patience has been sorely tried during the day but she has emerged from her schoolroom with a smile on her face.

Hers has been a life of denial—denial of the things that women hold most dear—social activities. She has left her schoolroom on Friday night determined to seek such pleasures as might be offered and to subordinate her chosen profession to the more frivolous things, only to return to the same schoolroom on Monday morning with a smile on her face and in her heart a greater determination to hold her discipline and dignity as her duties as an instructor present themselves. She has at all times conducted herself in a manner which should be the best of examples for those in her charge.

And now she, with nine thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine others, has attended the fifty-seventh annual convention of the state educational body to the end that her service to the community by which she is employed may become greater. The nation is alive, as never before, to the fact that the salvation of the union and the cause of humanity rests upon an "educational citizenship," and the school teacher is keenly alive to the situation and willing to do her share—and more.

THE LYCEUM COURSE.

It was left to the Woman's club, and as usual that organization did a good job of it. Previous experiences with lyceum courses have not been such as to furnish a great deal of encouragement for those who believe that our people should have an opportunity of enjoying these excellent attractions, but the club went ahead and arranged for the appearance here of the best to be found, trusting to luck and hard work to carry the program through without incurring actual loss. A good guess was made this time, the sale of season tickets indicating that there will be no trouble from a financial standpoint.

The first number of the lyceum course will be presented at the auditorium next Thursday evening. The opening attraction is the Redpath orchestra, one of the most famous organizations of its kind in the country. The reception given these artists will be an indication of what the other features of the course may expect.

The entertainment will be worth more than the cost of an entire season ticket and there should not be an empty seat in the house. Not only are these artists entitled to such patronage on their own merits, but a large attendance would be an indication of approval of the course taken by the Woman's club in thus providing for our people something just a little different and a little better than the general run of entertainments.

You will feel kind of mean about it the next day if you fail to be among those present.

A SENSIBLE PROCEEDING.

Minnesota is going to try a new stunt in an effort to secure newcomers to settle on the vacant acres of the state. The plan proposed seems so simple that the wonder is it has not been thought of before.

The time to interest the immigrant is when he first lands and the immigration department proposes to have a representative on the ground to see that Minnesota's advantages are properly set forth. The idea is to station an agent at Ellis Island, the principal port of entry, to meet new arrivals and seek to direct the more desirable to this state.

Unless something is done to raise a ban against immigration there is certain to be a great influx during the coming year. It is predicted that prewar records will be broken, considerable apprehension is felt as to the best means of taking up this

Unless some policy is followed that will turn the flood away from the cities and toward the farms conditions will be made worse than they are at present instead of better.

It is probable that the more desirable of these arrivals would gladly take to the land if proper inducements were held out to them or someone in authority were on hand to explain the advantages of keeping out of the large cities.

While many who arrive here from the countries of northern Europe know just where they intend finally settling, there must be some with whom the bare fact that they will land in the United States has been a sufficient inducement to warrant their embarking. These will take the first chance of employment offered and thus help to further congest our overpopulated cities unless it can be proven to them that such course is against their own interests. This will be the task of the state's resident agent.

No matter how the experiment turns out, it is the most sensible yet proposed. The proper kind of a campaign along this line should bring results.

OBSERVATIONS

(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

The election is over. Now let us all FORGET IT.

If President-elect Harding wants a real secretary of war we would suggest that he appoint Jigg's wife, Maggie.

Christmas toys are coming down this year. The break generally comes when the neighbor's kids get a crack at them.

Everybody likes a game fighter and even Republicans will admit that Cox put up a real scrap.

The Dulth Herald shows the true American spirit when it says: "Harding was not our candidate, but he is our President."

The paper shortage could be relieved if the candy companies would put only a quarter of a pound in a box instead of a pound as at present.

Judging by the length of time it took the average citizen to vote Tuesday, straight ballots were almost as scarce as straight whiskey.

All men are said to be liars, but we take off our hats to the lads who said that the women wouldn't take any interest in politics.

A lot of candidates who went into office without much opposition two years ago went out of office Tuesday with practically none.

Sampson-Evenson.

An attractive wedding occurred yesterday afternoon at five o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Evenson, when their daughter, Ruth Susanna was united in marriage to Benjamin O. Sampson of Crookston.

The marriage service was read by Rev. T. E. Sweger, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, in the presence of only immediate relatives.

The bridal couple who were unattended, took their places under a pleasing archway of chrysanthemums and ferns. The bride's gown was a lovely model of brocaded crepe de meteor. A tulle veil, caught about the coiffure in cap effect with orange blossoms, completed her costume. The bridal bouquet was a shower arrangement of pink and white roses.

Immediately after the service a four-course wedding dinner was served.

Throughout the house large baskets and tall vases of roses were used.

The only out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Sampson, of Elbow Lake, mother and father of the groom.

After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Sampson will be at home at Crookston where the groom is owner and proprietor of a bakery. The bride is a popular young lady, having received her education in the local schools, later taking up millinery. JUNIOR CLUBS PRIZE WINNERS AT STOCK SHOW

Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Pennington County Enter Lists Against Neighbors.

Carload of Lambs, Dairy Calves and Poultry Makes Up This First Shipment.

Eleven Counties Represented in First Event of Its Kind in State's History.

A carload of livestock was shipped from Thief River Falls to Crookston this morning to be placed upon exhibition at the first junior live-stock show which is to be held in the new pavilion on Friday and Saturday. Exhibits by boys and girls, members of the various juvenile clubs of Kittson, Marshall, Red Lake, Pennington, Polk, Clay, Norman, Mahnomen, Wadena, Becker, Hubbard and Clearwater counties, will be shown. No senior exhibitors are allowed. Juniors—boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 18 years—must make the showings.

Pennington Well Represented.

The carload of livestock shipped from Thief River Falls this morning was made up of spring lambs, dairy calves and five pens of poultry. Grygla has entered three calves and three lambs for Marshall county and these are being shipped to Crookston with the Pennington county exhibits. Goodridge and Thief River Falls unite in making the showing for Pennington county, which is sending five dairy calves, three spring lambs and five pens of poultry, the two former named groups being the ribbon and prize winners of the junior lamb and calf shows which were held in this city last Saturday. Pennington county is expected to make an exceptionally good showing among the prize winning class.

Each county represented at the show is allowed to make the same number of entries in any one class, the expenses of exhibitors and transportation of exhibits to be paid by Red River Valley Livestock association. The animals which take high honors at the Crookston show will be sent to compete in the state show held at South St. Paul on November 17-19.

First Show of Kind.

This is the first live stock show of its kind ever held in Minnesota with a goodly portion of the state represented, with the exception of the state junior livestock show. If the plan meets with success this year it is planned to make it an annual event.

The show will be held under the auspices of the Red River Valley Livestock association, in co-operation with county agents, the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, the Northwest School of Agriculture and the boys' and girls' club department extension division.

THE AMERICAN SYSTEM VINDICATED.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

Despite the fact that this was one of the most momentous campaigns in American history, the voting went on as quietly as a church supper. The new elements and uncertain factors in the situation, such as the women's vote and the labor vote, marshalled into line with a quiet purpose but no uncertain decision.

There has been less of the spectacular in this campaign than in many former ones. There has been little band playing or shouting or waving of flags. But the result is just as sure and the intent just as clear.

It is surely an impressive sight to see the citizens of a nation of one hundred million people and more going quietly to the polls and delivering their judgment on profound issues in all good faith and with clear purpose. It augurs well for the future of representative government when such great issues can thus be settled. It is clearly demonstrated that there is no excuse in this Country for appeals to violence to attain political ends.

Now that the mighty referendum has been taken, the Country will as quietly adjust itself to the will of the majority. While this election in a sense marks the end of an era and the beginning of a new one, mighty issues still pend for decision. Questions of taxation, railroads, housing, new alignments of representation and problems of reconstruction, comprise a group of issues such as few administrations on coming into office have faced.

They will tax the wisdom of the most astute lawmakers and administrators and they demand the full co-operation of the people in their settlement. As Americans have proved that they value the ballot and appreciate its profound significance as a means of progress, so now they will prove patient and sincere as they face together the problems ahead.

Whenever public servants fail, Americans have a sure recourse in the ballot, and they have shown the ability to rise to its opportunity.

The whole great experience is new witness to the fact that representative government justifies itself in the spirit of fair play and good sportsmanship that it engenders.

Chance and Mischance.

It was in the latter part of October when Martin Borden and George Moreley were left alone to guard their father's lumber camp from invaders and to prevent fire. The proprietors had been called away for a few days and as the logging season had not yet begun, they had left their sons in charge of the buildings.

As the eventful eve of Hallowe'en drew near, the two boys lamented the fact that they could not this year indulge in any of their annual pranks. Their responsibility of caring for the camp made it impossible for them to leave their posts for even a short time. They decided however, not to permit this disappointment to dampen their enjoyment of the day.

Hallowe'en evening found George and Martin, after having made their last tour of inspection about the camp, comfortably placed by the kitchen stove with reading table and apples and nuts near at hand. There they lived over some of their former Hallowe'en gaieties, telling of their experiences and greatly enjoying the novelty and solitude of their situation.

In the midst of these pleasant memories, Martin raised a warning hand. Yes, a door had been slammed ever so slightly, and certainly must have been done by some visitor.

"It is probably only a tramp, looking for a place to spend the night, but I suppose we should investigate," said Martin.

"Maybe; but you have forgotten, Martin, that it is Hallowe'en. Perhaps that is some of our friends come to remind us of that. Anyway, we had better first make sure who is there."

So, determined to discover whether their visitors were friends or idle wanderers, they quietly made their way toward the building from which the sound had come. They found the door closed but heard low voices from within which they immediately recognized as belonging to a group of boy friends from the village four miles away.

"Keep quiet there," one of them was saying. "We'll just stay here until those fellows turn in. When the light goes out in the house there will be time enough to let those boys know we are here. Do you remember that time when Mart—?"

Here Martin was inclined to chuckle but George restrained him by pulling him aside.

"Say Mart, you can depend upon it that those fellows are up to something this time. I have an idea of upsetting their plans and turning the tables."

Here followed a short whispered conversation after which the two boys with beaming faces and happy hearts returned to the door of the shed. George deftly but quietly fitted the padlock on the latch and turned the key. They sprinted cautiously over the soft earth and were soon in the house. After collecting a few mysterious appearing articles they returned to the shed taking care that they kept outside of the range of the little square window in the shed. They arranged these articles to their satisfaction and Martin ran to the house and blew out the light.

When he returned he found George stationed near the door of the shed, convulsed with laughter. Martin joined him and listened appreciatively to the astounded words of the inmates of the shed.

"See here, what's the matter with this door? I can't get it open. Here Tom, you try it."

There was considerable scrambling and joking as they continued in their vain efforts to open the door.

"It's strange," said one, "the door was open when we came and there is no lock here so it could not have automatically locked itself."

"Oh well, it's plain to me that the Hallowe'en ghosts have been at work. How else can you account for it? Besides we are doomed to meet our fate here and remain until morning, as the light has been gone from the house for a long time and Mart and George have long been past hearing our weird screams," put in another humorously.

When the boys ceased their efforts to open the door, George crept up and unlocked the latch. Quiet reigned for some time when the boys began to tire of their tedious waiting and one of them exclaimed, "Here's for a last try at the door! All hands on deck, please!"

Immediately all jumped up, glad of a change no matter how hopeless the attempt appeared to be. When three had been counted, they all rushed simultaneously at the door and much to their amazement and chagrin, found themselves a considerable distance outside the door, huddled together on the ground.

As they looked about them, their astonishment increased for on all sides there was nothing but white, white, white!

"Indeed the Hallowe'en spirits have been busy here," cried one of them gaily, although somewhat taken back by the sudden changes in their situations.

At this point Martin and George could restrain themselves no longer, but burst unexpectedly through the white sheets which they had so cleverly and rapidly arranged around the trees and poles at the threshold of the door.

"Hello, boys," cried George blithely, "Mart and I will teach you how to molest the peace of two lonesome wayfarers in this manner! We did not expect you to come through the door with such force, though!"

"Come, boys, now that this suspense is over, let's tackle some of our Hallowe'en dainties in the house" called out Martin, leading the way to the darkened house.

PROGRESS MADE IN CONVERTING PEAT TO FUEL

Figures Show Percentage Received By League Candidates Greatly Reduced.

Women Generally Believed to Have Been Principal Factor in Heavy Slump.

Preus Gets Almost as Many Votes in City Now as in County Last June.

Whether or not the women voters were responsible is perhaps a little hard to figure out, but the fact is evident that the Nonpartisan vote in the county at the recent election failed to hold the percentage shown in the primaries. The same is true of practically every county in the state and the circumstance is causing considerable speculation. Pennington county was carried by Dr. Shipstead and those on the ticket with him by substantial majorities, but these did not come up to the primary showing by a considerable distance.

At the primaries 1782 votes were cast for the Republican candidates. Of this number Dr. Shipstead received 1316, or 73 per cent. At the general election last week 3931 votes were cast for governor and of these the Nonpartisan candidate received 2518 or 64 per cent.

City Reversed Itself.

In the City of Thief River Falls the slump was most noticeable, Dr. Shipstead's total dropping from 834 in June to 640 in November, and this in spite of the fact that the vote was greatly increased by reason of the women entering the contest.

On the other hand the Preus vote in the county on Nov. 2 was 1413 as compared with 466 for all opponents of Dr. Shipstead at the primaries, better than a three-fold gain. In Thief River Falls his vote jumped from 279 in the primaries to 415 at the general election. There were nearly as many ballots cast for the successful candidate in Thief River Falls on Nov. 2 as were received by the combined opposition to Dr. Shipstead in the entire county in June.

The number of counties carried by the Nonpartisans also fell off from 63 to 19 during the summer. Kittson, Polk and Norman in the northwestern corner gave majorities for Preus. Carlton, Lake, and Isanti were the only ones carried by the league in the eastern division while in the south central and western sections, Douglas, Swift, Chippewa, Kandiyohi, Renville, Yellow Medicine, McLeod, Scott, Sibley and Brown stayed by the Shipstead banner.

Comparison for County.

Following is a comparison of the vote at the primaries and general election for the different precincts in Pennington county. The primary vote shows the number of ballots cast for all the Republican candidates in June and not alone those received by Mr. Preus:

"IT'S WONDERFUL" SAYS MRS. BAKER

St. Paul Woman and Grand-Daughter Restored to Health After Attack of "Flu."

"I have never seen anything more wonderful than what Tanlac has done for my little grand-daughter and myself," said Mrs. P. F. Baker of 1221 Randolph avenue, St. Paul, Minn., in a statement recently.

"I had such a severe attack of the influenza that I was confined to my bed for three weeks, and after I got up I was so weak that when I walked around the house a little I became so exhausted I would almost fall over. I had lost nineteen pounds and was a mere shadow of my former self. My nerves were so badly shattered the least unusual noise would nearly run me distracted, and my stomach was in such wretched condition that after eating I always felt stuffy and nauseated. I had awful cramps in my stomach and frightful pains around my heart and across my chest.

"So many of my friends had told me of the wonderful results they had gotten from Tanlac that I began taking it myself and I started to improve and gain in weight right away. I have taken six bottles now and have gotten back eighteen of the nineteen pounds I lost and I am in absolutely perfect health. Everything I eat agrees with me and I am never troubled afterwards in any way whatever. My nerves are just as steady as can be and I am sleeping soundly and can attend to my housework now.

"Shortly after I contracted the influenza my little seven-year-old grand daughter was taken down with it, and as she had always been frail it went so hard with her that at one time we gave up hope for her recovery. This attack of influenza left her in a very weakened condition; she wouldn't eat anything and I felt uneasy about her all the time. As I had been taking Tanlac and getting such fine results I knew it would do no harm to let her try it and to the surprise of us all it has proved even more remarkable in her case than in my own. Today after taking three bottles she is the very picture of perfect health and is as strong and happy as any child I ever saw in my life. We are deeply grateful to Tanlac and will never be without it in our home."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's drug store, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, and at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm.—adv.

CHANGE IN VOTE SINCE PRIMARY IN THIS COUNTY

Has Within Ten Per Cent as Much Heating Value as Powdered Soft Coal.

Crusher Recently Established at Minneapolis in Successful Operation.

Experiments Show Pulverized Product Will Insure Great Saving in Cost.

Anything pertaining to peat development or utilization is of great importance to people residing in northern Minnesota and particularly in Pennington and other Northwestern counties. Experiments now going on give promise of resulting in the development of practical machinery for the pulverizing of the material and thus converting it into a valuable fuel product.

Experts in St. Paul, including several associated with state institutions, believe Minnesota's worries over the fuel problem will be greatly lessened in the near future through the conversion of peat into fuel.

Peat, these engineers say, commonly is known as an accumulation of vegetable matter, which has been preserved from decay by constant immersion in water, but which is a substance represented by a stage between wood and lignite, a low grade of coal. The oxygen content of wood is 40 per cent; of peat, 30 per cent; of lignite, 20 per cent; bituminous or soft coal, 10 per cent, and anthracite or hard coal, 3 per cent.

Still more significant, the engineers point out, is the cost of this fuel. It probably will be available for industrial concerns burning bituminous coal for less than half the price of soft coal.

Minnesota Converts Peat.

Peat is now being mined and converted into fuel for the first time in Minnesota, and possibly for the first time in the United States. Vast areas of the state, which the geological survey estimates at 7,000,000 acres are blanketed with peat bogs, and contain a potential supply of more than 6,000,000 tons of dry peat, sufficient to last 1,000 years.

The development of the peat industry was prevented by two causes, both of which have been overcome. They were the inability to remove peat from the ground by capable machinery and the need of suitable equipment to prepare it economically in condensed form for fuel.

The first obstacle was done away with by the invention of a machine that digs the peat, macerates it and spreads it out on the ground in strips to dry. The second impediment was removed by construction by a local company of a crusher plant here to pulverize the peat into powdered form.

Tests Show Heating Power.

Tests have been made with powdered peat by engineers at the University of Minnesota, and results have shown that but 10 per cent more pulverized peat is required to give the same heat as powdered coal. But the cheapness of the peat offsets this.

Pulverizing plants are to be constructed by the fuel company, which built the crusher building in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and other advantageous points throughout the state as soon as construction bids and plans can be consummated, it is announced. The Minneapolis plant has a capacity for turning out 500 tons of dry peat a day, and this amount will be increased when added facilities are installed.

"We cannot take out enough peat this fall to help the fuel situation materially," said F. E. Bryan, president of the company, which operates the Minneapolis crusher plant, "but all the machines that can be made will be put into the bogs next year."

Will Ease Coal Shortage.

Enough peat will be ready for burning as fuel before next winter, however, to materially ease any coal shortage, should one exist at that time, Mr. Bryan believes. In 1925, he explained, if no hindrances arise to prevent contemplated construction of other crusher establishments in the state, Minnesota will be independent of outside sources for fuel for industrial establishments and will have an exportable surplus.

The cost of the pulverized peat, Mr. Bryan estimated, would be under $5 a ton at the crusher plants.

Misses Olida and Olga Brenna of Middle River passed through the city yesterday and were guests of their sister, Mrs. John Gustafson. They continued to Fargo, where they will be employed.

ALL SLEIGHS TO BE OF UNIFORM WIDTH

Law Requiring 54 Inches Between Runners Will Go Into Effect on That Date.

Local teamsters are turning their attention to their sleighs. The law requires that all sleighs be of a standard width—54 inches from centre to centre—after January 1. The sleighs will then travel in the tracks and ruts of the wagons and autos, which fact it is believed will improve road service during the winter for all vehicles.

Drivers fear that it is going to be difficult to pass loads with the wider sleighs on account of ruts and that the latter will be cut to the dirt surface of the roads by the autos, thus making it hard lugging for their horses. Another objection seems to lie in the fact that wide bunker ends are left protruding when an ordinary wagon box is used. Local implement dealers last year purchased the wider sleighs but had them rebuilt at considerable cost before sales could be made. The text of the law is here with quoted in full:

"On and after the first day of January, 1921, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation in this state to sell any new or first hand draft sleigh to any person or persons residing in this state for use therein unless the runners of such sleigh shall measure from center to center not less than four feet six inches. And on and after such date it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to use upon any of the public highways of this state any such sleigh, after such date, unless the runners shall measure from center to center, four feet six inches."

Mild Winter Predicted But Get Your Fuel Early

Northern News, Spooner—This is the time of the year when the weather prophets get busy and already various predictions have been given that the coming winter is to be a mild one. Among some of the reasons given are that the muskrats and beaver are building their houses close to shore. That the robins and blackbirds are still with us. But do not take too much stock in these predictions. The best way to have a mild winter is to arrange to have your chimney well cleaned and a well-stocked wood pile.

"You Save Money" says the Good Judge

And get more genuine chewing satisfaction, when you use this class of tobacco.

This is because the full, rich, real tobacco taste lasts so long, you don't need a fresh chew nearly as often.

And a small chew gives more real satisfaction than a big chew of the ordinary kind ever did.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

Put up in two styles

W-B CUT is a long fine-cut tobacco.
RIGHT CUT is a short-cut tobacco.

IF YOU TRADE OUT OF TOWN AND I TRADE OUT OF TOWN, WHAT WILL BECOME OF OUR TOWN?
The Dollar You Spend in Thief River Falls Will "Come Home To Boost."

The Times "TRADE-AT-HOME" Campaign

Read these articles with care. They may present something you hadn't thought of before. Patronize the people who's ads. are here. They are your neighbors and will treat you right. The money you spend with them stays in circulation in Thief River Falls.

A Dead Town Is Always Shunned

"Stay away from that town. It's a dead one."

Do you want that to be said of your town? Of course you don't, for you wish, as a matter of local pride, if for no other reason, to have your town stand high in the estimation of the world. But are you sure that you are doing everything in your power to place your town in the position which you wish to occupy? That is the question that every person should ask himself or herself at frequent intervals.

When things are running smoothly, when times are good, and when it is fairly easy to make a good living for the wife and kiddies, it is so easy for a man to forget that those things do not come to a town as a matter of course, but are the result of the right kind of effort on the part of the citizens of the community. It is so easy for a man to grow careless and think that because this condition existed it will continue to exist without any effort on his part or that of the other residents of the community. That is why it is important for every one to stop and think seriously once in a while about what it would mean to him if the prosperity that makes life worth living for him should take wings and fly away.

Nobody Loves a Dead Town.

Nobody likes to live in a dead town. No one even likes to visit a dead town. That is why you sometimes hear that warning, "Stay away from that town. It's a dead one." The town which has the reputation of being a dead one suffers as if from a pestilence. Business men seeking new locations will have none of it. The live traveling salesman, even, will give it a wide berth. Those who live in it will get away if they can.

When a town is live and prosperous, local business is good, real estate values are high and stable, labor is in demand and wages are good, the streets are well lighted, the residents are protected from robbery and fire and good schools are maintained for the education of the children. When a town is dead, there is little money in circulation, store buildings stand empty with a "For Sale" sign hanging on the front door, there is little employment for the laboring men, the streets are dark, the schools are crippled.

What sort of town do you want to live in? There is only one answer to that question. You want to live in the live town and enjoy all the good things that come to the residents of such a community.

Answer Easily Found.

The only question then is as to how these prosperous conditions can be created or maintained and it is the easiest thing in the world to find the answer to this question.

If the people of a community will keep their money at home and keep it in circulation among themselves, they need have no fear of ever being compelled to live in a dead town. If the people will patronize their own business men instead of sending their dollars to the mail order houses, the prosperity of the community will take care of itself.

The local stores, to a very large extent, make every town. The taxes paid by the business men of the community are the principal support of the schools and public institutions. It is the taxes paid by the storekeepers, to a large extent, that make possible the public improvements, the fire protection, the street lighting and the many other things which make a town worth living in. The mail order house does not pay any taxes in the town from which it gets its money. It does not help to support the schools or the churches. It does not help light the streets or maintain the fire department. It is the aim of the mail order houses to drive small town merchants out of business, so that the people will be compelled to send to the cities for their merchandise and they are spending thousands of dollars every month to accomplish this purpose. If they should succeed, who would pay the taxes that are now paid by the local merchants? It's a certainty that the mail order house would not pay them.

Issue is Clear Cut.

Every dollar spent at home helps to make the town a live one.

Every dollar sent away from home to the mail order house helps to make the town a dead one.

The issue is a clear-cut one and is squarely up to every resident of the community, whether a resident of the town itself or of the country surrounding it. The man who does not care whether he lives in a live or a dead town, if there is such a man, need waste no thought on the subject, but the man who wants to live in a live town cannot get away from it. It is up to him to make his town a live one or a dead one.

RESULT IS MIXED IN NORTH DAKOTA

Frazier Re-elected and Nonpartisans Retain Legislature. Referendum Adverse.

Lynn J. Frazier, Nonpartisan league candidate, has been re-elected governor of North Dakota by a majority of about 4,000 over J. F. T. O'Connor, independent. The Nonpartisans also were successful in electing the following officials: Howard Wood, lieutenant governor; D. C. Poindexter, state auditor; William Lemke, attorney general; S. A. Olsness, insurance commissioner; J. N. Hagan, commissioner of agriculture; Frand Mulholland and C. W. McDonnell, railway commissioners.

On the ticket headed by Mr. O'Connor and supported by a coalition of anti-league Republicans and Democrats the following were successful at the polls: John Steen, state treasurer; Thomas Hall, secretary of state; A. M. Christianson, justice of the supreme court; W. H. Stutzman, railway commissioner; Miss Minnie Nielson, state superintendent of public instruction.

The league has a majority of one in the senate and indications are that they have a majority of five votes in the lower house.

Congressman Baer, Nonpartisan, was defeated for congress in the First district by O. B. Burtness of Grand Forks. Congressman George M. Young, opposed by the Nonpartisans, has apparently been re-elected in the Second district.

Combinations against league candidates were successful in Idaho, South Dakota, Montana and Colorado.

In the referendum asked to ratify a number of laws passed at the last session there was an adverse majority in nearly every case.

COST OF BOOSTING PAID BY CITIZENS

Babcock Amendment Put Across Because People Wanted the Roads Improved.

While but little concerted opposition to the Babcock amendment developed, there is much speculation abroad as to just who paid for the great advertising campaign which put the amendment across. Undoubtedly large sums were spent in keeping the matter of good roads before the people of the state. A trip into the twin cities over one of the few hard surfaced roads would have disclosed some novelties in the way of advertising. Huge painted signs carried the legend, "Do you like this road? If you do vote for Amendment No. 1 on November 2." After being bounced around over some of the muddy and badly cut-up country roads, the average motorist greeted these signs with a grin and knew that he was going to vote "yes" on November 2.

Souls of a pessimistic nature are positive that the advertising bills were paid by some party or parties who now expect to get a big slice out of the project, presumably contracting companies or manufacturers. Undoubtedly they did help, but a glance over the report of contributions submitted by the Thief River Falls Commercial club committee which took in hand the matter of raising funds for the State Highway association, will tell just where the bulk of the money came from. It is the citizens of the state who want the good roads and it is the citizens of the state who are paying the bills. Minnesota certainly has hundreds and hundreds of miles of poor and impassable roads at the present time, but once the Babcock plan gets to working, we can laugh at some of our eastern and western sisters who boast of their good roads and invite them up to Minnesota to play in a paradise traversed by a net work of real roads.

The passing of the good roads amendment was a question of advertising. It could not fail to pass except through negligence on the part of the voters or indifference on the part of those who have the privilege of voting, but who would not make use of that privilege through utter lack of interest in the welfare of the state and nation.

LARGE SUM WASTED ON FAKE REMEDIES

Only One Method For Curing Dreaded White Plague Is Known to Experts.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars were wasted by victims of consumption in Minnesota on fake "cures" during the last twelve months, according to a statement from the Minnesota Public Health association received her yesterday by heads of the 1920 Christmas Seal Sale committee.

From $16,000,000 to $25,000,000 is thus wasted every year by tuberculosis victims in the United States, according to an estimate made by the National Tuberculosis association after a careful investigation.

More than 1,000 of the fake "cures" have been exploited for gain throughout the nation in the last ten years, official records show.

Health experts state emphatically that there is only one known method of curing tuberculosis and that is by the application of fresh air, good food, rest and proper medical supervision. The best place to get this is in a sanatorium, although good results also are secured through proper medical care at home.

Funds obtained through the sale of Christmas seals are used to search out tuberculosis victims and see that they get proper care. The 1920 Christmas seal sale will start Dec. 1. Minnesota's allotment of the national fund is $250,000. County and local quotas are on the basis of 10 cents per capita, which makes that of Pennington county about $1200.

WAS ONE OF CENTRAL FIGURES IN SERIOUS AIRPLANE ACCIDENT

James Curran, Formerly of This City, Pilot of Machine Which McLaughlin Left in Making His Disastrous Trip.

George Curran of this city has just received the newspaper accounts of the accident in which "Tex" McLaughlin, the aviator, was seriously injured while making a flight at Syracuse this fall. James Curran, a brother of the Thief River Falls man, acted as pilot of one of the machines with which McLaughlin was performing his stunts, being in fact in charge of the one from which the dare-devil aviator was to leave in his climb to another, the latter in charge of Shirley Short. The account says in part:

"For 20 minutes the machines maneuvered over the field. McLaughlin climbed all over Curran's machine. He stood on his head, hung by one hand, and did all the other stunts with which he makes the crowd hold its breath. Finally he was ready for the 'changing planes' stunt, in which he climbs up the rope ladder from one machine to the other while both are making from 70 to 80 miles an hour, over 1000 feet in the air.

"Three times Curran and Short tried to maneuver so that the rope ladder hanging from Short's plane—the upper one—would swing within reach of McLaughlin, standing on the upper wing of the lower machine. Three times they failed. The wind, almost a gale at that height, blew the ladder out of reach.

"The fourth effort was successful—in one particular. McLaughlin jumped and grabbed the ladder. But before Curran could drop or Short could rise, the ladder dragged him straight through the arc of the propeller on the machine he had left."

McLaughlin was badly injured but held on. The story continues:

"With the propeller splintered, Curran had to land quickly. He shut off his engine and dropped like a shot bird to a field on the E. A. Powell farm." Curran himself came out of the accident unhurt, as did the other pilot, Short. McLaughlin, however, was taken to the hospital. The large muscles on the right side of his neck were severed and two or three vertebrae were broken and forced out of place. Neither of the pilots was able to explain the accident. Owing to the strong wind blowing the planes did not separate as quickly as they should although the same tactics were used as in other flights with complete success.

TRAIN 115 MILES LONG IS MONTH'S CAR SAVING

In the month of September, 1920, the statistics of operation of the Great Northern railway company show a trainload of 865 tons, a carload of 30.3 tons, and an average car movement of all cars on the line (including cars out of service for repairs) of 31.4 miles per day.

That this is a splendid record is revealed by a comparison with the results for the calendar year 1919 when the average trainload was 765 tons, the average carload 28.1 tons and the average car movement 23.7 miles per day.

Just what this improved performance means to the shippers and patrons of this road is shown by considering the fact that owing to the improved traffic performance the same business was handled with 55,000 cars on the line.

Ordinarily it would have taken 70,000 cars to handle this business had the operations been conducted as for the average of the year 1919.

The magnitude of this saving is apparent when it is realized that these 15,000 cars saved would make a solid train 115 miles long.

HOGS MADE GOOD GAIN LAST WEEK

Prices Advanced $1 Per Hundred—Cattle, Sheep Start Higher But Drop.

(Report by United States Bureau of Markets and Minnesota Department of Agriculture.)

South St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 8.—Election week found farmers and live stock shippers in many quarters too busy tending to their voting duties to market much live stock, and receipts dropped off both here and around the western circuit. The result was that prices were boosted in all departments but before the close of the week dropped back on cattle and sheep, the hog market alone holding its gain. Improvement of consumptive demand with higher prices in the fresh pork trade, lighter receipts and a good demand locally from shippers brought about an advance of $1.00 in hogs last week, bulk of sales at the close being $13.10 to $13.25. Best pigs closed at $12.50 to $12.75.

After a running start last Monday and Tuesday with prices generally 25 to 50c higher, due to light receipts and broad demand on the part of the shippers and speculators, the cattle market weakened Wednesday under the influence of more liberal marketings, and declined both Thursday and Friday until practically all of the opening gain was wiped out. Saturday's market, in anticipation of a liberal Monday run was weak to lower. The week's top for load lots was made on some Dakota Rangers at $11.25, with odd head on up to $12.00. Bulk of common and medium beef steers at $6.50 to $9.00, butcher cows and heifers at $4.50 to $7.50 closed weak to a quarter lower for the week. Canners and cutters at $3.00 to $1.25 were steady to weak, as were bologna bulls at $1.25 to $5.75. Best veal calves at $12.50 finished $1.00 higher. Stockers and feeders selling mostly from $5.00 to $9.50 were weak to a quarter lower. Receipts of cattle and calves at the seven principal markets, last week showed a loss of around 39,000 head compared with the previous week.

The sheep market after a higher opening, closed about 50c lower than a week ago, with best lambs around $11.25 to $11.50 and choice ewes at $5.50 at the close of the week.

STORE VEGETABLES FOR WINTER FOOD

With Care in Storing Supply Should Keep Until Spring Without Spoilage.

Urban and rural dwellers are confronted every fall with the problem of storing to the best advantage vegetables grown on vacant lots and in gardens. Shrinkage and decay take heavy toll every fall and winter.

R. S. Mackintosh, horticultural extensionist of University Farm, says that all vegetables should not be stored the same way in the same cellar. The storage best adapted to potatoes, beets, carrots, parsnips, vegetable oysters and other varieties of roots is the ordinary cool and reasonably moist cellar. Winter squash and pumpkins, on the other hand, should be thoroughly ripened and then put on shelves in a warm dry section of the cellar and near the heating plant. If stored in the ordinary cool, moist cellar they are likely to decay in a few months. Squash and pumpkins should not be piled up high. A well ripened Hubbard squash, says Mr. Mackintosh, stored in the manner here outlined, should keep until May.

In order to limit shrinkage as much as possible the root crops mentioned should be covered with dry sand or soil, dry leaves or straw or chaff as soon as they are placed in the cellar. Cabbage should be kept reasonably moist and on shelves so that the air can circulate around them. If sufficient shelving is not available they may be wrapped in paper and suspended from the ceiling. Most of the outer leaves should be removed.

The moisture supply in cellars can be kept fairly constant by having some sand or soil that can be moistened occasionally. A tub of water will aid in keeping vegetables from drying too much.

Onions placed in storage should always be kept cool and dry to prevent loss.

The Cost of a Hole in the Ground

COMMENTING upon the rise in the price of gasoline, a man who is unfamiliar with petroleum production writes:

"The Lord, who put the oil in the earth, charges no more for it than he ever did. It comes for nothing out of the ground when you dig a hole."

This is true, if it comes out of the ground without help. The greatly increased cost lies in digging the hole, casing it, caring for the oil when it comes out, and transporting and handling it on its way to the refinery.

Petroleum Age in its September issue says: "The cost of drilling and equipping a well at the present scale of prices for material and labor runs from Five Thousand Dollars for a shallow sand pumper to Seventy-five Thousand Dollars for the deep wells. A general average covering the entire country would run about Twenty Thousand Dollars per well."

One item which is often overlooked is the cost of drilling wells which fail to produce oil. It is estimated that from 20 to 30 percent of all wells put down are dry holes.

Yet, in spite of all discouragements, which included shortage of casing, difficulties of transportation, and the increasing expense of labor, on July 31st, 1920, there were eleven thousand wells drilling or under way east of the Rocky Mountains, with completions averaging about three thousand wells a month. Probably thirty-six thousand wells will be completed during 1920.

The total expense including investment in drilling tools, lease equipment and labor, is roughly estimated at one billion dollars.

Deducting two hundred fifty million dollars (25 percent) for salvage on equipment susceptible of further use, the net investment in new production for the year will be seven hundred fifty million dollars.

It is apparent that oil does not come "for nothing out of the ground."

Oil is usually discovered in spots remote from rail centers. The cost of pumping and transporting it to the refinery is a heavy charge. At the refinery charges begin to pile up, for refining oil is a true manufacturing process involving application of chemistry, the use of specialized machinery, and human labor.

All of these factors add to the cost of a product which Nature has given us.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been steadfastly applying the trained power of its organization to increasing the yield of gasoline from crude, and in achieving economies by large scale operations in refining and distributing its products.

ROSEWOOD

Shall We Have a Traveling Library?

Shall Rosewood benefit by the recent inauguration of traveling libraries for small villages, towns and communities in Minnesota? This question has arisen the past week and several of the community bookworms have answered it with "yes." The Minnesota traveling library is under the supervision of the department of education. Books are loaned at the rate of 25 or 50 volumes to the case and may be retained by the community for six months. Six books in any foreign language may be secured.

Mrs. A. S. Holm is heading this movement in Rosewood and it is to hoped that the entire community will give her its backing. A meeting will be called at Rosewood within a short time and all lovers of good reading matter should not fail to be present and give the undertaking their support. The appointed librarian has charge of all books and the place where the books are kept must be open for certain hours every week for the convenience of the borrowers.

And no one could tell the difference!

This test of direct comparison was made by Anna Case, world-famous soprano, before 2500 people, at Carnegie Hall, New York City, on March 10, 1920. See the three diagram sketches below:

First—Miss Case stood beside the New Edison and sang.

Suddenly—the lights went out, but Miss Case's voice went smoothly on.

Then—the lights went on again. Miss Case was gone. The audience gasped with surprise to find that her voice had been coming from the New Edison.

Mr. Santa Claus! Come in and hear the phonograph that did it

We want you to see it, listen to it, test it for yourself. This marvelous phonograph can give the family more pleasure than any other instrument you can buy them for Christmas.

Here is why:

This phonograph has actually proved that it can match the performance of the living artist,—and match it so perfectly that no one can tell its Re-Creation from the living performance.

It did this on March 10, 1920 before 2500 people at Carnegie Hall, New York City,—with Anna Case, the world-famed soprano. It did this on September 30th, 1919, before 2500 people at Carnegie Hall, Pittsburgh—with Marie Rappold, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company. It did this on November 5th, 1919, before 6500 teachers at the State Armory, Albany—with Mario Laurenti of the Metropolitan Opera Company. It did this over 4000 other times, with more than fifty great vocalists and instrumentalists.

You can read the facts of these amazing achievements in the leading newspapers of the United States and Canada. They are the talk of the music and scientific world.

And the phonograph? It's the Official Laboratory Model of the New Edison, "the phonograph with a soul". Every Official Laboratory Model in our store is an exact duplicate of the famous original Official Laboratory Model which cost Mr. Edison three million dollars to perfect. It is capable of sustaining the test of direct comparison; we guarantee this.

Get an Official Laboratory Model for Christmas. You will have the one phonograph which brings you the living performances of great artists exactly as those artists have given them. You know this is so! The proof has been given! The absolute, scientific proof!

Say the word,—and we'll save an Official Laboratory Model for you, and deliver it in time for Christmas.

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

Test It Yourself

You'll be able to recognize its superiority with your own ears—in every kind of vocal and instrumental music. Come in and see whether this isn't so. We'll gladly give you Mr. Edison's famous Realism Test.

Money Help

Ask about our Budget Plan. It shows you how to make best use of your Christmas money. It brings your New Edison for Christmas, and makes 1921 help pay. Careful, systematic spending always makes money go further.

Prices

There is no inflation in Edison Prices! "Edison stood the Gaff" to keep his favorite invention within the reach of everyone.

American Legion Notes

The Legion Flower.

Scarlet poppies should be worn on Memorial day and not on Armistice day, as was done last year. The official flower of the American Legion is intended as a symbol of mourning for our dead comrades and should not be worn at times of jollification such as Armistice day. An error in submitting a resolution to the National convention made it read "Armistice Day" where it should have read "Memorial Day."

Minnesota Leads Again.

Captain Packard, Minnesota Medal representative, writes that Minnesota leads in the distribution of Victory medals and credits the Legion post with this achievement for the state.

Woman's Auxiliary to Legion.

Committees have been appointed for the purpose of forming a Woman's Auxiliary to the Legion Post at Thief River Falls and it is hoped that the organization will be completed in time to enable them to be represented at the Woman's Auxiliary convention which will be held at the Curtis hotel, Minneapolis, on November 18 and 19. It is hoped that the foundation of the first state organization ever perfected by a department of the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Legion will be accomplished at this convention.

Profiteering in Bonus Claims.

Some investment companies are, in the opinion of various citizens of the state, attempting to hold up the ex-service men upon their bonus claims and making an unreasonable profit. There is no indication of any such action on the part of banks or investment companies in or near Thief River Falls. At the present price of the state bonus bonds, a charge of approximately $3.75 per hundred dollars is a fair discount and any larger discount is unfair and exhorbitant. The next session of the Minnesota legislature will undoubtedly provide for the payment of all bonus claims in full.

Legion Basket Ball.

Members of the local post gathered at the Commercial club rooms on Monday evening for the purpose of discussing plans for the coming basket ball season. It was voted to operate the team under a committee of five of the local business men, because of a decided lack of management shown during the past basket ball season.

A delegation of business men appeared with representatives of the Legion at the regular meeting of the city council on Tuesday evening, at which time the council voted to grant the Legion the use of the auditorium for the basket ball season free of charge. This will enable the post to operate through the winter season without possibility of a financial loss and possibly enable them to establish a fund for future operations.

Games are already being booked, though no actual dates have been set. There is much good material to choose from among the Legion men and it is expected that a good fast team will be able to win recognition in the northern part of the state. The first work-out will take place at the high school on Wednesday night.

Make Application Now.

O. J. Welum, army field clerk, is here from the Minneapolis recruiting office and will maintain an office at the Commercial club rooms during the next ten days for the purpose of taking applications for Victory medals. Bring in your service record and assist the government in the distribution of the medals.

Expresses His Thanks.

Chairman Wilhelm Michelet of the Pennington County Republican committee has received a letter from Clifford L. Hilton, attorney general of the state, expressing the thanks of the latter for the support given him during the recent campaign. Mr. Hilton asks that the women voters be particularly thanked as he attributed his success at the polls in a large measure due to the splendid vote given him by these newly enfranchised citizens.

Weekly Market Review.

(By Quinn-Shepherdson Co., Minneapolis.)

Fundamental conditions compared with the previous week, as we see it, are unchanged. The continued lack of European stability and the lack of new buying stimulous, remain the chief obstacles to a firmer tone.

The British strike seems to be only technically settled. Generally European finance is in critical shape. Future uncertainty is the keynote, the ruling sentiment.

An advance in course grain values continues to be under the handicap of increasing terminal stocks, and a sluggish, hand-to-mouth demand, values however, being considerably influenced by the action of wheat. The total U. S. feed crops are estimated to be 26 per cent greater than a five year average animal consumption. Huge crops of corn and oats of unequalled quality will sooner or later be seeking an outlet. For the moment there appears to be nothing tangible to encourage speculative buying or holding.

Canadian wheat crop figures have been officially revised to 293,881,000. The previous report was 289 million. Her oats crop is finally computed at 543 million as against 394 million last year. Definite figures for the new Argentine wheat crop are not yet available, but estimates are now being made of her exportable surplus which vary from 110 million to 180 million. Her total crop probably will reach 180 million, which, though smaller than last year, would exceed a five year average by about 20 million and which, together with an average Australian yield already presaged by recent beneficial rains, would insure an adequate supply for Europe.

Broomhall reports the United Kingdom as having sufficient breadstuffs at her ports to last until March, when deliveries from the continents of the Southern Hemisphere will be due. With North American exportable surplus of 400 million the Southern continents should supply Europe with her additional needs.

Assuming reasonably approximate correctness of the present estimated Argentine-Australian surplus, therefore, the hope of higher American wheat prices on the basis of export demand should be abandoned. Should the growers holding attitude prove fairly unanimous and effective, it is possible that a shortage of home requirements may develop. In fact the market seems to be now getting to a domestic basis. Receipts if maintained, while smaller than last year, will be more than adequate for home demands, but in view of the approaching demand for cash wheat to fill large export contracts, it is conceivable that stocks of wheat (156,832,000 bushels to November 1st as against 233,668,000 a year ago) may be reduced to a point that will bring about at least a temporarily higher level.

Does Your Husband Come Home Tired, Nervous, Irritable?

Physician Says Thousands Of Men Are Breaking Down Simply Because Their Blood Lacks Iron—Tells How To Convince A Husband That He Needs NUXATED IRON To Help Make Red Blood, Strength and Endurance

"John, please take Nuxated Iron and be strong and well again."

"Simply because his blood lacks iron, many an American husband who ought to be feeling young, full of health, vigor and energy and in a position to shower his family with every comfort and luxury is actually struggling to make ends meet—a disappointed and discouraged 'old' man who will probably end up in a nervous breakdown or be carried off by his first illness," says Dr. H. B. Vail, formerly physician in the Baltimore Hospital and a Medical Examiner.

"Because man in the rush and tear of modern life has so little time to think about his blood's condition and is often so slow to admit any weakness, the signs that his blood may be low in iron are often first detected by the watchful, loving eyes of his wife. Does your husband come home pale and fagged out and too tired to do anything or go anywhere? Does he complain about being overworked—the lack of opportunity today—[illegible] Does he find fault with the food, the home or the young ones? [illegible]

"When it may well be true that his blood lacks iron, for the men with plenty of iron in their blood are the healthy, strong ones with the keen minds and the physical energy and stamina to overcome all obstacles—make their own opportunities—and force their way to big positions, power and wealth. My advice to the wife who believes her husband capable of big things in this world is to see that he builds up the iron in his blood and for this purpose I have found nothing better than organic iron—Nuxated Iron. By enriching the blood, creating new blood cells, it strengthens the nerves, rebuilds weakened tissues, and helps instill new energy and endurance in the whole system. Nuxated Iron is used by over 4,000,000 people annually—used and endorsed by former United States Senators and Members of Congress—and in many cases to my knowledge, increases the strength and energy and endurance of weak, run-down, nervous people in two weeks' time."

If your husband asks for proof that lack of iron is making him nervous, weak and [illegible] him back in life, you can probably convince him with the following test: Have him see how long he can work or how far he can walk without becoming tired. Next have him take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times daily after meals for two weeks. Then let him test his strength and see how much he has gained.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which is recommended above is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. [illegible] and the words Nuxated Iron are stamped into each bottle, so that the public may not be led into accepting inferior substitutes. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists in tablet form only.

Editorial.

Now is the time, students, and the chance to begin some real work and show some real school spirit. We have all had almost a week's vacation and everybody has had a good rest without any worry about lessons.

If you haven't been making good the first part of the term, make the rest of the term worth while. Make your daily lessons easy by getting them every day and don't make yourself a slave to your lessons. Come out for basketball and work. This is the only way to make your school work and school activities full of pep.

Are you thinking about the annual?

The football season is no longer with us—the pig-skin has been safely stowed away—and basketball looms up healthily on the scene. Our boys have had a successful season with but one loss to Bemidji, a loss which was inevitable. The team has been an honest, clean bunch and have upheld the dignity of our school. Inexperience on the part of the members of the team was partly a setback, but with only three members graduating, the prospects for the ensuing year are better than ever before. We feel safe in believing that next year will find us champions in the state and our belief is fully justified. We are proud of our boys and stand loyally behind them.

Are you thinking about the annual?

The basketball season commences today. Basketball is a clean indoor sport and very easy to understand. Therefore, more men ought to be out for basketball than there were for football. There is mighty good stuff in this high school for a fine team and with the enthusiasm and pep of all the students, we can look forward to a peppy, clean basketball season.

Are you thinking about the annual?

During the unsettled period following the great war there seems to be a divided opinion as to its effect on the value of a high school education. The more broad-minded citizens of this country realize that the value of education is more manifest now than ever before, but there is also a tendency among a number of people to believe that the increase in the wages paid for unskilled labor makes a high school course simply a waste of time and money.

During the present time a miner or a woodsman can earn a greater monthly wage than a great many high school graduates are earning in a number of the professions. But is this a permanent change from prewar conditions, or is it merely a result of the war? The war caused a great shortage of unskilled laborers. The labor unions were enabled to force wages up to previously unheard of figures. Skilled labor also increased in value, but not in proportion to the unskilled. The question is, will this ratio continue to exist after our industrial world has returned to a normal basis and wages are again determined by the law of supply and demand?

The return to private life of the soldiers, as well as the great number of civilian war workers, has eased up the labor situation so that now the few shortages reported are caused more by the dictation of labor unions than by an actual dearth of men. Many employment agencies are already reporting a surplus of laborers in their various districts.

But there is also another element that must be reckoned with. What effect is the great immigration from southern Europe which is now well under way, going to have on our industrial life? The majority of these foreigners are uneducated laborers, who will grasp the first chance of employment that will provide a living. They will be hired in preference to our unionized labor, as they are not accustomed to the improved living conditions which our laborers have enjoyed during recent years and can subsist on a much smaller wage. It has always been the policy of employers to engage the cheapest labor they can secure. To meet this new competition the labor unions will have to modify the wages which they now receive from their employers. Even if the unions absorb a great number of the immigrants the time worked by each laborer will have to be reduced in order to maintain the present wage scale, so that the average earnings will be much less than they are at the present time.

The influx of foreign labor will have an entirely different effect on the demand for educated men and women. Instead of being a dangerous competitive force it will greatly increase the demand for trained men. The new laborers will require trained overseers; they will permit an unlimited expansion of our industrial system, as the ambitious young man will not be hampered by dangers of a labor shortage which might otherwise endanger a business venture. And last, but perhaps of the greatest importance, educated men and women will be needed to counteract and subdue the agitators who will surely accompany the Europeans to this country to promote the cause of Bolshevism.

So that instead of being worth less than it formerly was, every indication points to the fact that a high school course will be of far greater value in the near future. There will be a greater number of positions waiting for trained men, and high school graduates will be required to fill them. The opportunities open to educated men and women will be limited only by their individual ambitions and exertions, while the career of the untrained man will be determined entirely by the supply of labor available in the particular occupation in which he casts his lot.

A Senior's Revelation to a Freshman.

Senior: "Have you heard anything about the annual or "Prowler" that the Senors are going to put out?"

Freshman: "No not much. I 'spose it won't be much of a book anyway; only Seniors making it up."

Senior: "You weren't at the Booster meeting that was held a short time ago, were you?"

Freshman: "No, what was it for?"

Senior: "It was for the purpose of arousing enthusiasm and to create a spirit of co-operation among all the students in putting out the 1921 "Prowler."

Freshman: "Who were the speakers?"

Senior: "If you'll listen I'll tell you all about it."

Senior: "Well first, the Editor-in-chief, Dreng Bjornaraa, made a speech dealing with the fact that the work on the annual had begun by the Staff but it could not be a success worthy of representing this high school, unless it is backed by the support and co-operation of every student in school, who is able to contribute anything to its make-up. He pointed out that the urgent need is material. This speech was followed by a skit, made up by some members of the staff, which showed the results to the "Prowler" if there was a lack of co-operation and also if each individual contributed something. Edward Fiterman represented the "Prowler" who was 'passed up' by everyone and consequently was on the verge of passing away, but finally a little Freshman took pity on him and helped him with what he could and this started the rest of the classes to do their share and the 'Prowler' rose up in full vigor, leading the school in a yell for the 1921 "Prowler." In conclusion the business manager, Harold Smithers, gave a 'peppy' and enthusiastic talk, also urging for united co-operation and effort in getting in the material and finally when the book is published, to subscribe, get others to subscribe, and give any other financial aid that is possible. He also pointed out that one ought to be proud of assisting in the production of the book. Now, do you understand how it is to be done and what responsibility each one of us have in relation to it?"

Freshman: "Yes, I guess so, and I'll try to do my best too! I am sure that if every student understands it as I do after you have put it over to me, there can be no doubt but what it will be one of the best annuals produced by this high school!"

Getting Mother Interested.

"Well, I made the team," were the first words uttered by Joe Harris as he came in the house after being at school.

"The team?" exclaimed his mother, "what kind of a team have you made?"

"Why, the basketball team, that's the only game that's being played now," answered Joe.

"Well, I wish you would quit playing those foolish games and come home and study; you know it never hurts a person to study."

"Now, I don't really agree with you there," replied Joe. "If a person studies all the time, with no exercise at all, his marks will begin to fall down."

"I don't care," said his mother. "It's nothing but a rough game and you will get hurt sooner or later, and then perhaps you will know enough to quit; and as for exercise, I guess you get all that you want right out here in the back yard splitting wood."

"If you think it is such a rough game, I wish you would come and see our first game next Saturday."

After much talking, Mrs. Harris consented to go.

Joe was sure she would enjoy it, so Saturday night she went to see him play.

Several times the next day Mrs. Harris asked questions about the game and Joe thought she was getting interested, and sure enough she was ready to go to the next game they played.

Election at High School.

A diviation from the regular curriculum occurred last Tuesday, election day, when Mr. Pierce announced that a straw vote was to be cast by the students and faculty for president and governor. Supt. Ziegler also pointed out the importance of the day and the students' relation to future elections of similar importance. The result of the election was as follows:

For president—Harding, 183; Cox, 63; Debs, 7; Christensen, 4; W. W. Cox, 3.

For governor—Preus, 146; Shipstead, 66; Hodgson, 61.

The majority of the students have considered present politics quite seriously and this straw vote shows that they feel a change is necessary.

Chapel Period Friday Morning.

Mr. Ziegler opened chapel period Friday morning by making the announcement that there would be no vacation the next week which had been decided on at the teachers' meeting the evening before. The rest of the period was turned over for the "Prowler" boosting and singing.

Dreng Bjornaraa and Harold Smithers made speeches, both of them emphasizing the need of co-operation of the high school to make the Prowler a success. A skit was put on the stage for the purpose of emphasizing the same and it is expected that every student can see his own responsibility in making this the best and the biggest annual ever put out by this high school.

Want Ads.

By Mildred Bottleson — Someone who will supply her with money for which to buy movie magazines.

By Ernest Zeh—A little more excitement during the sixth period. Also someone who will help him keep his desk in order.

By Harold Smithers—A more elevated platform from which to render his speeches and solos, as it is impossible for him to give his audience the full value of his entertaining ability if he knows that he is not within the sight of everyone present.

By Senior Class—Better co-operation, boosters for the Prowler of 1921 and a system by which order might be instilled at class meetings.

By Russell Anderson—Some remedy or device which will keep the hair on the right side of his head from separating from that on the left side.

By Eileen Herron—A little advice on "How to Devote Your Spare Time in a Useful Way."

By Betsey Ness—Less appreciation of the work she did for the members of the Senior class when they were Freshmen.

By Miss Johnson, music teacher—A girl's glee club, consisting of a group of girls who can sing and read music, who do not dress their hair in a fashion that will hinder them from hearing correctly. It is impossible to teach music to deaf persons.

By a Freshman—A kind and considerate upper classman, preferably a Senior, who would be willing to teach him the art of studying during vacant periods.

By Mr. Molby—A little knowledge as to what the last year's chemistry class did with such app. as test tubes, (both hard and soft), glass tubing, burners and bottles.

By students in the southeast corner of the assembly—A little more time to get to classes, especially when going to the lowest story. If no more time can be allowed an elevator will be appreciated.

By Violet Krohn—Several undated class permits.

Attend Convention.

High school was closed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week to permit the high school faculty to attend the state convention of teachers held in St. Paul. Some of the grade teachers also attended but it was possible to secure substitutes so their schools were uninterrupted.

An unusually large number of teachers attended the convention. This easily indicates the progressivism and alertness of the teachers of our schools this year, because teachers who are willing to go to Minneapolis, pay every penny of their own expenses to attend a teachers' convention are of the progressive type. Another factor indicating the progressiveness this year is the atmosphere of the students in school. Students are becoming more and more desirous of making the most of their school work, for they are continually being urged and directed by well qualified instructors. The response on the part of the students is a very hopeful sign, indicating that Thief River Falls is making splendid progress. Not a single school in Northwestern Minnesota sent anywhere near so large a delegation of teachers to the convention as did Thief River Falls. We have a corps of progressive teachers who are rapidly pushing our schools into the front ranks.

Teachers who were unable to attend the state convention in St. Paul attended the convention at Warren recently so that every single teacher in the entire staff has indicated his or her progressiveness by attending a teachers' convention.

A Wild Dream.

While sitting in the den on the day after Christmas, I was roused from my reading by the mailman's footsteps on the porch. I rushed to the door and he handed me a large envelope with my name typewritten on it. I tore it open and out fell a piece of blue paper. On it was scrawled in scarlet ink the words, "Meet me at the grave yard at midnight or you'll be sorry," and no more. A great fear came over me. What could it mean? For hours I mused over that slip of paper. Suddenly I started and glancing at the clock saw that the large hand pointed to 10 and the small hand—was it possible—to 12!

"Should I go?" I asked myself.

I did not stop to answer my question, but slipped nervously into my coat and cap, and the next moment found me hastily making my way toward the graveyard. I had a curious feeling that I was flying—I stepped so lightly and rapidly. The next thing I knew I was sitting on a tombstone waiting for someone—I knew not whom.

Suddenly out of the darkness a tall black object loomed. In the faint light of the ghostly moon I saw its face was so deathly pale that I knew not whether this was man or corpse. With one bony finger he beckoned for me to follow.

Again I felt the peculiar sensation of flying through the cold night air. We passed many houses from whose windows reflected the Christmas spirit and revelry which was within. Why was it that others were so calmly sitting by their hearthfires, while I was following this hideous creature thru the blackness of the night?

Finally we came to an old tumble-down shack behind which tall pines rose, and the moaning of the wind through these made me shudder. Into this haunted house, for such it was, we groped our way. We climbed the creaking stairs and I followed the dark object as it went from one room to another, for what reason I dared not ask, for not a word had passed between us.

At the end of a long corridor I suddenly missed my companion, who, though fearful to look upon, was better than none in this haunted house. In vain I called, but the echo of my voice frightened me badly.

I was petrified with fear. The stair creaked. Then all was silent. My hair fairly rose when the sound of clanking chains came to my ears. The moments passed slowly after that, and a vague loneliness crept over me. Then with ghostly tread a figure draped in mystic white from the farther end of the long passage advanced slowly toward me. This was enough. With one shrill whoop I ran—then stumbled.

Suddenly it became light about me. I heard a cheery laugh.

"What are you sprawling all over my Christmas present for? Get up, lazy bones, and come out for a sleigh ride!"

Uncle George was right. I was indeed sprawling over his new tapestry easy chair. I had run a long distance—all the way from the other side of the room where my Christmas book lay with half the pages torn out.

Are you thinking about the annual?

BRUNSWICK
Method of Reproduction

The Ultona, an exclusive feature of The Brunswick. It plays all records, whatever make, exactly as intended, with the proper diaphragm and needle. At a turn of the hand it is ready. Note its simplicity. And that it is in-built, not an attachment.

The original all-record phonograph without attachments

Such is The Brunswick, and part of its fame is due to this great innovation.

Until the coming of this noted instrument, most phonograph owners had to be content with a one-record instrument. Brunswick made this idea out of date.

There have been many attempts to equal The Brunswick, but devices and attachments never bring the desired result.

The Ultona, as we picture above, is part of The Brunswick, in-built. And it plays every record at its best.

Another exclusive feature is the Brunswick Tone Amplifier, built entirely of wood. It has no cast-metal throat, as is usual.

This scientific amplifier, built according to acoustic laws, gives truer, richer tone. It reveals hitherto lost shadings.

Hear The Brunswick before you buy a phonograph. Note its unequaled tone, its superb cabinet work, its many betterments.

You will hardly believe all the good things they say about The Brunswick until you, yourself hear it. Come in today.

FOURTH ANNUAL POULTRY SHOW OPENS MONDAY

Rules of American Association Will Govern Every Detail of Competition.

Far-Reaching Importance of Event Hardly Realized By General Public.

Section's Fame as Poultry Region Has Spread and There Will Be Many Entries.

The Pennington County Poultry association is a life member of the American Poultry association and will hold its fourth annual show in the auditorium at Thief River Falls next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, under the rules of the National organization and in accordance with the 1915 edition of the Standard of Perfections. Handsome special medals will be offered at this show by the American Poultry association for the best cockerel in a group to consist of the American, Asiatic, Mediterranean, English, Polish, Hamburg, French, Game and Continental classes. A handsome medal for the best bird in the Bantam classes will also be offered. A beautiful three-year diploma is offered for the best male under one year in all standard breeds of land and water fowl.

Increased Exhibits Guaranteed.

The average citizen of Thief River Falls or Pennington county may not fully understand the significance and scope of this fourth annual poultry show. It is expected to outrival many of the shows held in cities much larger than Thief River Falls and will attract exhibitors from the entire Northwest.

About 500 of the new premium lists have been mailed to points in southern Minnesota, the Dakotas, Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa. Many of these have been sent upon request and many to poultry breeders who exhibited at the show of last year. The association directors state that premium lists will be forwarded upon request from the farm bureau office, Thief River Falls.

Over 200 entry blanks had been sent out before the first of the week, many being mailed each day. The number of exhibits will show a great increase over last year.

Merchants Donate Specials.

The poultry show is put on at a great expense to the association. Premium lists are a big item of the expense. Last year the association purchased 300 steel display coops at a cost of $400 in order to do away with the cumbersome wooden coops and to show the birds to the best of advantage.

For the second best display of each of the following named breeds the merchants of the city herewith named are awarding special premiums: Barred Plymouth Rocks, Carl Froseth; White Plymouth Rocks, Louis Cohn; White Wyandottes, Chas. Lieberman; Single Comb Rhode Island Reds, Shanahan & Sheedy; Rose Comb Rhode Island Reds, H. K. Strand; Brown Leghorns, Bakken & Crown; White Leghorns, E. L. Rolland; Black Leghorns, Hanson & Barzen; White Orphingtons, Lambert's drug store; Brahmas, Thief River Cafe; Cochins, Laird's Specialty Shop; Langshans, Jung Bros.

In addition to the above merchandise specials, the Farmers' and Merchants' State bank is offering a $50.00 silver loving cup for the highest scoring male bird at the show and the First and Peoples' State bank is offering a $50.00 loving cup for the highest scoring female bird. These cups must be won three times before becoming the permanent property of the winners.

Promise of Added Feature.

The directors of the poultry association have been making a great effort to secure a fish and game exhibit from the state of Minnesota to be placed with this poultry exhibit. Carlos Avery, state fish and game commissioner, went on record as being very strongly in favor of this added feature in view of the fact that northern Minnesota has never held such an exhibit. J. J. McCann, county agent, is in Minneapolis for the purpose of taking the matter up with the superintendent of fisheries, whose absence from the state has delayed the necessary arrangements.

This feature, if secured, will include exhibits of live fish common to the northwestern states, mounted large game and small live animals. If not secured for the show of next week, plans will immediately be made to guarantee such an attraction for the fifth annual poultry show to be held in 1921.

NO SECRETARY FOR FAIR BOARD NAMED

President Fuller Will Look After Clerical Work During the Winter Months.

The directors of the Pennington County Fair association discussed minor plans for the 1921 fair in an assembly at the Commercial club rooms on Saturday evening. It was generally supposed that a secretary would be elected for the coming year at this meeting but, there being little to require the services of a secretary at this period of the year, the election was indefinitely postponed. Herbert Fuller, president of the association, will temporarily assume the light secretarial duties.

The high board fence on the west side of the fair grounds and along the Jefferson Highway on the north will be torn down to be replaced in the spring by a modern woven wire fence. The present fence has long been an eye-sore, a nuisance and a builder of huge drifts of snow along a highway which carries a great deal of traffic winter and summer. The horse stalls in connection with the west fence will also be torn down and the lumber, which is of excellent quality, be used in the construction of a new stock barn.

A building program will be put in operation at a future date, depending a great deal upon conditions and cost of construction. The need of a new women's building is realized, but no action has been taken. The officials state that the matter will be allowed to rest until spring or such a time when a lowered cost of material and construction will make advisable the erection of a suitable and substantial building.

NOTED MISSIONARY TO HOLD MEETINGS

Native of Madagascar Will Be at Trinity Lutheran Church on November 28.

Rev. Eugene A. Rateaver, a native missionary of Madagascar, will speak at two meetings at Trinity Lutheran church on Sunday, Nov. 28. Morning services, at 11:00 a. m., will be in Norwegian and the afternoon service at 3:00 will be in English. A noon-day luncheon will be served and an offering taken morning and afternoon, the proceeds to go for foreign missions.

Rev. Rateaver was born a heathen, his father being of French descent and his mother a Malagasy. He was educated in the mission schools of Madagascar, later adopted by a missionary and sent to the United States to complete his education. He holds a B. A. degree from St. Olaf's at Northfield; an M. A. degree from the University of Minnesota and a C. T. degree from the Luther Seminary at St. Paul, where he is at present studying. After completing his education at St. Olaf's and the University of Minnesota, he returned to Madagascar and devoted himself to missionary work. At present he is on a two-year vacation, which he is devoting to studying in Minnesota.

Rev. Rateaver married a daughter of Rev. Schafnitz, city missionary of Minneapolis. He speaks many languages fluently and conducts services in French, Norwegian, Malagasy and English. During his eight years' service in the missions of Madagascar he worked into the interior from Fort Dauphin. Among many achievements of note is his formation of a native Malagasy band and orchestra.

MINOR DEFECT IN PUPILS EXAMINED

School Clinics Show Need of Greater Care on the Part of Parents.

In summarizing the work of the school health clinics held in various sections of the county during the school term of 1919-20, James A. Dahl, chairman of the health committee of the Teachers' Progressive league, reports that of 186 pupils examined all had minor physical defects. The report can not be considered a complete one—rather is it but representative, owing to the fact that many of the duplicate cards made out by county teachers were not forwarded to County Superintendent Gunderson's office. The physical defects were classified as follows: Eyes, ears, nose and throat, 89 cases; teeth, skin and pulse, 72 cases; defective or swollen neck glands, 25 cases.

It is hoped that the health clinic service may be extended to all sections of Pennington county during the present school term. In addition it is planned to re-examine those listed above in order to ascertain just what percentage of parents are desirous of remedying the defects of their children during the most critical part of life—the growing period—the same to be manifest by surgical or medical attention secured upon the suggestions of the examining physicians at the clinic of the past term.

Potato Shippers Dispose of 21 Carloads; Many Left

There will be meetings of the Pennington County Producers association at St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls early in the coming month. At present the association is chiefly a potato producers organization but in the future will undoubtedly broaden its scope.

To date 21 carloads of potatoes have been marketed this season thru the farm bureau and the producers association. Many carloads are still being held by growers and may not be marketed until spring owing to the low prices prevailing and to the inconvenience in shipping during cold weather.

All stores in Thief River Falls will remain closed on Thanksgiving Day. Open on Wednesday evening.

The public is urged to make purchases early in order to avoid last minute disappointment.

NEW OFFICERS FOR RED CROSS BODY CHOSEN

Mrs. H. W. Froehlich Elected President of County Organization For Coming Year.

Contiued Effort Will Be Made to Secure County Nurse For Permanent Post.

Plans For Carrying on Fourth Annual Roll Call Also Discussed at Meeting.

The board of directors of Pennington county chapter, American Red Cross, held a special session at the court house on Friday afternoon. Mrs. H. W. Froehlich was elected chairman for the coming year to succeed T. P. Anderson, Mr. Anderson being elected vice-chairman to succeed Mrs. A. W. Swedenberg. Mrs. E. M. Stanton and T. L. Melgaard were re-elected to their respective offices of secretary and treasurer.

Daniel Shaw, Rev. M. J. Noesen and Rev. R. L. Barackman were reelected as directors for the coming three years and T. J. Austad and Dr. H. W. Froehlich elected to succeed Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, promoted, and Rev. I. T. Austad, resigned, for a like period. Mrs. L. G. Larsen, Mrs. J. J. Richter, W. W. Prichard, Jr., John Bratrud and Dr. C. R. Crandall will continue as directors for the two coming years, and W. A. Ziegler, Miss Maggie Hill, Mrs. Andrew Craik, John Morgan and Mrs. E. K. Aasen will continue as directors for the present year.

The directors are strongly in favor of a county nurse for Pennington and every effort is being made to secure the proper person. Application for a nurse was made on the first of August but up to the present time it has been impossible to secure a responsible person, as there is an apparent shortage of young women in that profession. A great many counties thruout the state have been employing county nurses for several years and are positive that she is a wonderful factor in the physical up-building of the boys and girls. Her field of endeavor thruout a county is practically unlimited. Our sister county of Marshall has been greatly benefited by the efforts of the county nurse and heartily recommended the plan to Pennington county.

Automobile Necessary.

It was also proposed to purchase a small automobile for the use of the county nurse as her transportation must be paid and the automobile has proven the most economical method. The duties of the nurse would carry her into every nook and corner of the county. Her assistance in cases of need can not be over-estimated.

In many instances where Red Cross nurses have been secured by counties her calls have been misunderstood by the families to whom she would render assistance. They have at first resented her prying into their affairs, but once the results of her work have become known this feeling has disappeared and her services repeatedly requested. When Pennington county once becomes accustomed to her ministrations she will be looked upon as a permanent institution.

In preparation for the coming of a county nurse, Miss Swanson of the state chapter of the Red Cross is in Thief River Falls this week for the purpose of organizing classes in nursing in the four chapter branches. She will remain here indefinitely, and her work will be of great assistance in acquainting the residents with the policy of a community nurse. Miss Swanson also recommends a social welfare worker or a community recreation director for the county—one who would cooperate with all civic organizations in providing wholesome recreation for the young people.

Discuss Fourth Enrollment.

The report of the treasurer, T. L. Melgaard, shows the county chapter and branches to be in sound financial condition. Plans for the fourth annual roll call were discussed and it is possible that the method of conducting a house to house campaign will be abandoned for this fall. An effort will be made to re-enlist the support of every member, the future of the Red Cross activities depending upon a liberal response to this call.

The Red Cross chapter will be grateful for any calls from persons in need of assistance. An explanation of the situation would be necessary but this confidence would be sacredly respected and every possible effort made to render the desired aid.

MEMBER OF STATE, NATIONAL BUREAUS

Pennington County Farm Bureau Votes to Affiliate With Larger Organizations.

The directors of the Pennington County Farm Bureau voted to affiliate with the State and National Farm Bureau federation at a meeting held at the farm bureau office in the auditorium on Saturday evening. In consequence of this action the county organization is entitled to representation at the annual convention of the State Farm Bureau federation which is being held at the St. Paul hotel, St. Paul, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Ben Rosendahl, J. J. McCann, county agent, J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture for the state and former superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools, were unanimously chosen to represent the county at this convention.

Each county is entitled to one state federation director, Mr. Rosendahl having been elected. He will represent the county at all future meetings of the Farm Bureau federation, state or national.

The state federation in convention will discuss the membership drive which has been waged since the first of September with exceptional results and will listen to a report on the same. Work will be outlined for the coming year. It has been reported that some county farm bureaus have secured a membership of 90 per cent of the farmer residents of their county and that some townships have secured a membership of 100 per cent. Marshall county reports a total membership of 1500.

The Pennington County Farm bureau will start a membership drive early in the coming year, the exact date depending a great deal upon the condition of the weather and the availability of managers and assistants from the state organizations.

Three Hundred-Foot Well Supplies Water at School

Fresh drinking water is now being supplied at fountains in the Lincoln high school from the 300 foot well drilled during the construction of the Smith-Hughes industrial school building. A pressure tank and pump have been installed and placed in operation during the past week. It is planned to supply water for all purposes thruout the group of school buildings as soon as the success of the present system is assured. The school board at one time had practically purchased an elaborate pressure system at a figure around $1500 but thru the efforts of Superintendent Ziegler the present efficient pump and pressure tank were installed at about one-tenth that cost.

STEENERSON IN CABINET PLACE IS POSSIBILITY

Report From Washington States That Ninth District Congressman is Considered.

Long Experience as Chairman of Postoffice Committee in House in His Favor.

Appointment By New Administration Would Be Popular Throughout Service.

News of special interest to people of the Ninth district in particular and to the country in general comes from Washington, according to the Crookston Times, published in the home town of Congressman Halvor Steenerson. It is to the effect that Mr. Steenerson is being considered for the postmaster general's portfolio in the cabinet of President-elect Harding. The Crookston paper goes on to say:

"Mr. Steenerson, among the ranking members of the House, has been chairman of the committee on postoffices and post roads for the past six years, and as a member of that committee has been in touch with the department to an extent that well qualifies him for the place.

"Eighteen years continuously in congress has given him a familiarity with the practical side of governmental operation in its general aspects that is the lot of few congressmen, and as Postmaster General he would be able to bring into use a broad knowledge that would guard against the introduction of drastic and untried innovations, yet be capable of bringing the postal department of the nation to a high point of efficient service.

"That the appointment of Mr. Steenerson would meet with the strong approval of the department employes is assured, as he has long taken a recognized and effective interest in affairs pertaining to their welfare. This was well evidenced by the part taken by Mr. Steenerson on the program of the state convention of mail carriers held in this city last summer, as a result of which the loyalty to the postal department of that branch of its service was unquestionably further cemented.

"Confirmation of the report will be eagerly awaited not only by those who helped by their vote in again returning the veteran legislator to Washington, but as well by those who while not voting for Congressman Steenerson still readily concede him to be an able representative and a valuable upholder of the northwest's interests at the seat of government."

Winners at Livestock Show Leave For St. Paul

The group of Red River Valley young people who became entitled to go with their stock to the state junior stock show at St. Paul left Crookston Tuesday headed by A. J. Kittleson, assistant state club leader. The following, all of whom of course, were exhibitors and winners at the junior stock show of the valley counties, held here last week, comprised the party:

Elmer Schjeldrup, Plummer; Alfred Kilen, Kratka; Francis Welsch, Gryglа; Herbert Munson, Climax; William Whalen, Stephen; Teddy Carlson, Hallock; Earl Nicholson, Orleans; Clifford Marshall, Crookston; Amos Kasberg, Eldred; Evelyn Sheldrew, Grygla; Wesley Sheldrew, Grygla; Stephen S. Easter, Humbolt; Edith Alexander, Humbolt; Berdie Olberg, Clearbrook; Alvin Hanisch, Stephen; Orton Olson, Thief River Falls; Carl Ash, St. Vincent; Martin Anderson, St. Vincent.

GREAT TENOR WILL BE HEARD TONIGHT

Edward Barrow Special Attraction With Famous Redpath Concert Orchestra.

The Redpath Concert orchestra and Edward Barrow, tenor, appear at the city auditorium tonight in the first number of the Lyceum course which is being brought to Thief River Falls through the efforts of the Woman's club. This is a company of artists presented to lyceum and musical courses with every feeling of assurance for an unbounded success.

REDPATH ORCHESTRA

Strictly speaking this is scarcely an orchestra, but it forms a very beautiful musical ensemble. The instrumentation, selected with a view of adapting to a program the more melodious and beautiful of good music, is as follows: Violin, cello, flute, clarinet and piano. The artists are men and women of long and careful training and varied experience as concert artists, soloists, as members of big orchestras and light operas, and in musical comedy.

This is Mr. Barrow's first western concert tour, although he filled a season in light operas in the west. With an artist of his standing, comments and press notices are almost superfluous. In preparation he studied with some of the best masters of America and Europe, although he is an American and a resident of the city of Boston. He has been associated with some of the best artists and musical organizations of the two continents. His experience comprises the singing of ballads, oratorios, church music, with symphony orchestras and in opera. He has had much experience in both light and grand opera.

Tickets are on sale this afternoon at Lambert's drug store and the ticket office at the auditorium will be open after 7:00 this evening. Tickets for single lyceum numbers will be 50 cents. Season tickets covering the five numbers are two dollars.

WHIRLWIND DRIVE IS RED CROSS IDEA

Attempt Will Be Made to Close Campaign Up in Two Days This Week.

The local chapter of the American Red Cross will conduct a whirlwind drive for new members tomorrow and Saturday instead of prolonging the same over several weeks time as is being done in many localities. Mrs. Andrew Craik has been appointed chairman and will maintain headquarters at the Evelyn hotel. She will be assisted by Mrs. E. M. Stanton and Miss Elaine Swansan, field representatives for this district.

Booths will be placed in the Ogahmah, the Brumund and the Evelyn hotels. Booths will be in charge of Mrs. L. H. Lawrence and Miss Una Nelson. The Girls' Community club will have patrols throughout the business section.

A house to house campaign will be conducted on these two days. Districts have been alloted to the following ladies: Mrs. A. Holmberg, Mrs. G. C. Streeter, Mrs. W. A. Ziegler, Mrs. C. M. Atkins, Mrs. J. O. Sether, Mrs. E. O. Erickson, Mrs. Cady, Mrs. R. G. Cook, Mrs. Chas. Alexander, Mrs. T. P. Anderson, Mrs. A. G. Gabrielson, Mrs. E. M. Bennes, Mrs. S. E. Hunt, Mrs. L. Hermanson, Mrs. A. Sapero, Mrs. J. W. Hendry, Mrs. Andrew Craik, Mrs. C. B. Bradley, Mrs. John Cronkhite and Mrs. C. R. Crandall.

Any persons not solicited may secure a membership from Mrs. Craik at any time or the membership fee may be forwarded to her by mail.

It is hoped that Pennington county may go over the top in grand style in this year's enrollment drive and Thief River Falls must furnish the greater majority of the new members.

URGES FARMERS TO HOLD THEIR WHEAT

Says 20-Day Tie-up Would Force Price to Near Three Dollars Per Bushel.

If every farmer in the wheat belt would hold his wheat for 20 days the price would go to nearly $3 a bushel and remain high, Abe Slaughter, national organizer for the Wheat Growers' association of America said at Fargo this week. Mr. Slaughter is at the head of a delegation of seven Oklahoma farmers to organize the wheat growers of North Dakota.

After a conference these men will visit the various county seats thruout the state to form organizations for co-operative action on the part of all farmers in North Dakota.

Bankers in states already organized by the wheat growers are giving the farmers full cooperation in the plan to hold wheat, the representatives of the association say.

MARSHALL COUNTY AGAINST DIVISION

Proposition Loses Out By Two to One Vote on Election Day.

While it was early evident that county division had been defeated in Marshall county, the exact figures have only now been made public. The vote stood 1543 in favor of the proposition to 3659 against. Majorities for division were given as follows, the first figures being the number in the affirmative: East Valley, 78-6; Excell, 86-45; Holt township, 89-20; Middle River township, 41-26; Mud Lake, 50-8; Rollis, 79-25; Oslo, 45-39; Argyle village, 151-15; Grygla village, 1-57; Holt village, 4-121; Middle River village, 13-104; Stephen, 29-126; city of Warren, 37-434.

The vote on the amendments was as follows: No. 1, 3115 yes, 2971 no; No. 2, 3581 yes, 1698 no; No. 3, 2990 yes, 1755 no; No. 4, 4165 yes, 974 no. There were a total of 6940 votes cast in the county, Amendment No. 1 thus failing to pass there by 356.

Secure More Shorthorns.

Halvor Tofstad and Jens Letnes of Silverton township were among those who purchased Shorthorn cattle at the Marshall county sale held at Warren last week.

The affair was a great success from every point of view, a large number of cattle, hogs and sheep changing hands.

CALVES RAISED IN PENNINGTON WIN TOP PRIZE

Ruby and Pearl Conklin Head Winners at Junior Stock Show at Crookston.

Competing This Week Against State in Exhibition at South St. Paul.

Possibility That One May Be Entered at National Show in Chicago.

Dairy calves shown at the first junior livestock show at Crookston on Friday and Saturday of last week by Ruby and Pearl Conklin of Thief River Falls, were awarded first and second places and shipped to South St. Paul on Monday to compete for honors at the third annual junior livestock show of the state, held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. There is every possibility that one or both of these calves will take high honors for the state of Minnesota and travel on to the international show at Chicago in December. These two prize winning calves were first shown at the junior livestock show at Thief River Falls on November 5.

Crookston Show Great Success.

The first junior livestock show held at Crookston was a great success and it is believed that it will be staged as an annual event. Twenty-one calves were shown by boys and girls of 11 counties. Twenty-four fat lambs were entered, three of them being from Pennington county. The lamb shown by Frances Conklin at the Thief River Falls fair, where it took second place, was awarded fifth place at Crookston and will be shown at South St. Paul. Lambs shown by Alfred Kilen of Kratka and Orton Olson, which took high honors at the local exhibition, were awarded ninth and tenth places.

The expenses of the exhibitors and the cost of transportation to South St. Paul will be paid by state organizations fostering the livestock event. About $10,000 will be paid for prize and expense money for the entire show. A premium of $10 will be paid to all junior exhibitors whether or not their exhibits secure a ribbon or cup. This is in part compensation for their efforts. Honors and ribbons secure greater cash premiums respectively.

Two Thousand Exhibitors.

The third annual junior livestock show which is being conducted at South St. Paul, promises to be the largest one ever held in the middle west, according to W. A. McKerrow, livestock specialist with the University farm extension division. More than 2,000 boys and girls, from all over the state, have been preparing their animals for this exhibit of young beef and dairy cattle, sheep and pigs.

Three years ago only about 600 juniors were represented in the work of feeding stock. This year the number has increased to about 2,000 representing practically 65 counties of the state, Mr. McKerrow adds.

Pennington county is well represented at South St. Paul by boys and girls who have some of the finest animals that can be raised and when the results of the judging are known, it is expected that the county will continue to be in the International competition at Chicago. To say that the boys and girls deserve great credit is putting it far too mildly.

North Woods Filling Up With Big Game Hunters

Eighty-nine big game licenses have been issued to date for this season by County Auditor T. P. Anderson and many local business men and residents are absent to the north or east in quest of bear, moose or deer. And those who have gone and those who will go all have great expectations of bringing down the biggest specimen of deer or moose ever seen. Yes, and most of them will come back and present friends with venison or moose steaks at that, for a "silver" bullet often avails where the ordinary steel-jacketed or soft-nosed variety fails to do more than clip a few boughs off the pines or balsams.

Carlos Avery, state fish and game commissioner, has stated that 50,000 hunters will take part in the annual deer hunt of Minnesota this year. This sounds somewhat impossible, yet state records—each hunter must record his kill—show that over 10,000 deer were taken from Minnesota woods during the season of 1919.

Tax Receipts in October Averaged $3000 Per Day

Receipts at the office of County Treasurer John Gullingsrud for the month of October amounted to $103,352.50. This sum is in excess of previous months owing to the fact that the farmers did not market their produce and consequently did not pay their tax assessments until the last day of the quarter. The source of the above named amount was as follows:

Current Taxes	$ 98,416.32
Current Tax— Interest and Redemp.	732.39

Private Redemptions	588.58

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION ISSUED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

President Wilson has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation, saying that "in plenty, security and peace, our virtuous and self-reliant people face the future," and setting aside Thursday, Nov. 25, for the usual observance. The text follows:

"The season approaches when it behooves us to turn from the distractions and preconceptions of our daily life, that we may contemplate the mercies which have been vouchsafed to us, and render heartfelt and unfeigned thanks unto God for His manifold goodness.

"This is an old observance of the American people, deeply imbedded in our thoughts and habit. The burdens and the stresses of life have their own insistence.

"We have abundant cause for thanksgiving. The lessons of the war are rapidly healing. The great army of free men, which America sent to the defense of liberty, returning to the grateful embrace of the nation, has resumed the useful pursuits of peace, as simply and as promptly as it rushed to arms in obedience to the country's call. The equal justice of our laws has received steady vindication in the support of a law-abiding people against various and sinister attacks of war, now happily passing.

"In plenty, security and peace, our virtuous and self-reliant people face the future, its duties and its opportunities. May we have vision to discern our duties, the strength, both of hands and resolve, to discharge them and the soundness of heart to realize that the truest opportunities are those of service.

"In a spirit, then, of devotion and stewardship, we should give thanks in our hearts and dedicate ourselves to the service of God's merciful and loving purposes to His children.

"Wherefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fifth day of November, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and I call upon my countrymen to cease from the ordinary tasks and avocations upon that day, giving it up to the remembrance of God and His blessings, and their dutiful, grateful acknowledgment."

AFTER PRACTICAL RESULTS.

Will it soon be the aim of our high schools to turn out something besides doctors, lawyers, druggists and dentists? Of course every boy who has heretofore attended high school has not finally entered one of the professions mentioned, but the plan of education has been such as to predispose him toward one of these careers. His own inclinations in the matter have seldom been taken into account and he has had but little choice.

The Smith-Hughes system will change all of this if allowed to work out as its originators intended. Instead of forcing a boy to become a fourth rate lawyer he will be given an opportunity to make of himself a first class farmer. Instead of studying medicine when his natural bent is toward mechanics, he will be encouraged in learning all about machinery. And the facilities for following out such inclination will in each case be provided.

Thoughtful educators have long considered our high school system wrong. Boys—and girls, too, for that matter—have been turned out all of one pattern. All have gone through one process in the making, have been thrown out of the hopper in a mass and left to shift for themselves as best they might. The result has been that offices in cities have been overcrowded while important outdoor positions could not be filled with the right kind of men. A boy whose forebears have been tillers of the soil, perhaps for centuries, and who himself expects to follow in their footsteps, has been compelled to wade through four years of studies which can prove of no earthly use to him later in life. He has graduated from high school, it is true, but has finished his schooling but poorly equipped for the pursuit he would choose if his own inclinations were followed.

Another system is to be tried. A student will be given the opportunity of seeing that farming is as noble an occupation as is dentistry, for instance. The fact that he will not lose cast by following mechanics, if such is his wish, will be emphasized. It will be demonstrated to him that the world needs first-class engineers as badly as it does legal luminaries—and needs more of them.

It will be the aim under the new order of things to train boys for a life of usefulness and to teach them that there is no disgrace in being a worker. The plan will be to find the position in life for which the student is best fitted and then permit him to equip himself for that place. This will prevent the filling of lawyer's offices with young men who would be vastly happier and of more value to themselves and the world at the throttle of a locomotive.

GOOD SUGGESTION ANYWAY.

The Crookston Times is authority for the statement that Congressman Steenerson is being seriously considered for the position of postmaster general in the cabinet of President-elect Harding. The fitness of such appointment is so obvious that it is doubtful if it will be made. Cabinet members are not as a rule selected for their knowledge of the matters with which they will have to deal, but it may be that the incoming president will inaugurate a new system in this respect. If he does the American people will forgive a great many oversights and errors in other directions.

Mr. Steenerson has been in congress for twenty years. During practically all of this time he has been a member of the House committee on postoffices and postroads. When the Democrats have been in ascendency he has been the ranking opposition member and for two years has served as chairman. No one will attempt to gainsay that he is the best posted man on matters pertaining to our postal service that can be found in the entire country. He has the esteem of the rank and file in the service as well as the confidence of the authorities at the capital. If long years of conscientious application to duty and a continued study of the best methods of conducting the post-office department can be advanced as recommendations for the post, Congressman Steenerson has all other aspirants backed out into the cold.

His constituents in the Ninth district as well as the people of Minnesota generally would very much like to see this honor fall to Mr. Steenerson and will vouch for his good behavior and ability. But, as before remarked, these things do not generally weigh very heavily in cabinet appointments.

Another Minnesota man is mentioned for a high post. He is Senator Kellogg, whose name is connected with the appointment as minister to England. Here again President-elect Harding could go farther and fare much worse. The senator has the dignity, the ability—and the money—necessary to hold down properly a job of that kind.

Furthermore, Clarence B. Miller, former congressman from the Eighth district, is mentioned for governor of the Phillipines. Mr. Miller has made two trips to the islands and studied Phillipine problems first hand. He would make a first-class man for the place and Mr. Harding has our full consent to go ahead and make the appointment.

The above is a highly pleasing outlook so far as Minnesota is concerned. The state did pretty well by the Republican ticket but it is hardly to be expected that so many really good things will come our way.

THE FOURTH POULTRY SHOW.

For three years last past Pennington county has staged the best poultry show in the state. During that time the exhibition has grown in interest until now it is regarded as one of the really important affairs of the year. From a very modest beginning—there being only about 50 entries when the first attempt was made—it has developed until now more than 1000 birds are to be shown.

The show which opens on Monday should be the best held thus far. More birds will be shown, the prizes are numerous and valuable and the importance of poultry more generally recognized. The competition will be more keen and the quality of the entries very high.

The ordinary citizen can only indicate his interest in this event by his attendance. He may not be directly interested in poultry raising, but he should show a sufficient realization of the value of the industry to come and see what is being accomplished. In this manner he will lend his endorsement to the efforts of those who are trying to bring this branch of husbandry onto a higher plane.

Those who have not seen the previous shows will be surprised at the magnitude to which the business has grown. The auditorium will be filled with chickens, turkeys, geese and ducks of every imaginable kind, and there will be peacocks, guinea hens and rabbits to vary the effect.

Do not fail to take in the fourth annual Pennington county poultry show. To do so will be to miss something decidedly worth while.

FORCING UP THE PRICE.

There is no question but that the farmers of the country can force the price of wheat to a higher point if they refuse to sell until such point is reached. It will also be pretty generally conceded that such action on their part is justified by precedent.

No one has ever seriously considered the possibility of the farmers forming a union and holding their products until such time as they can sell at a profit. Such action on their part, however, would be no more impossible than are combinations on the part of those in other lines of business. The citrus growers of the southwest and the apple men of Idaho and Washington have shown just how successful such attempts can be, to say nothing of the many industrial combinations.

Thus another segment will be added to what President Wilson calls the "vicious circle." Farmers demand more for their wheat with the result that the laboring man who buys flour must have more pay for his work. In turn the man who hires the workingman is compelled to charge more for the product of his mill or factory. In the end it is doubtful if anyone is greatly benefitted while a ficticious standard of values has been built up. Under such conditions it is only a matter of time until the whole structure must collapse.

But the farmer is not to blame. His is the basic industry and it might with absolute fairness be maintained that upon his receiving a fair return on his labor and investment depends the stability of other industries. He cannot be expected to continue taking the worst of it indefinitely—not if he finds a way of preventing it. Whether or not the new idea will serve his purpose remains to be seen.

THE LYCEUM COURSE.

One would naturally suppose that when something particularly good in the way of entertainment is offered our people they would jump at the chance to attend. Such, however, has not heretofore been the case. Attractions of a really superior order have been brought here only to meet with a reception of which a backwoods village would be ashamed. We have none too many entertainments of this kind and it should be a treat when one does appear.

The Woman's club has contracted for a series of lyceum productions to be presented during the coming winter. The first will be seen at the auditorium this evening and it is to be hoped that there is a good turnout. The number is one of the best on the program, the musical troupe secured being one of the very finest in the country. The price of admission has been placed so low that there is no excuse for keeping away on that score. One would pay just about as much to go to a picture show.

Let's all turn out and start the course right. The sponsors are entitled to this much consideration on our part and we will besides have the pleasure of listening to one of the best musical programs ever presented here.

HE'S A GOOD MAN.

Northern Minnesota would probably favor the appointment of Otto R. Diercks as state auditor when Mr. Preus leaves that office to become governor. Mr. Diercks is almost a northern Minnesota product, having spent a good share of his time in Beltrami county. He is conversant with the problems of the man who is trying to dig a farm out of our vast cut-over regions and knows from first-hand observation just what is needed to help him along. His duties as head of the state timber department has brought him into contact with a large number of people and these speak of him in the highest terms. He is easily the peer of any thus far named for the post in point of capability, while in experience he has a decided edge. Mr. Preus has himself been state auditor for a long time and knows personally just what kind of a man will best fill the bill. The selection may safely be left to his judgment.

BUSINESS METHODS OF THIEF RIVER CONCERN ARE HIGHLY PRAISED

Writer in Leslie's Weekly Points to Case as Fine Example of What Can be Accomplished in Small Town.

The merchandising methods of at least one Thief River Falls concern has attracted national attention by reason of an article appearing in Leslie's Weekly of Nov. 13. It is written by Chesla C. Sherlock and is entitled, "Big Business in Small Towns." Mr. Sherlock's aim is evidently to prove that a merchant or professional man need not be located in a big city in order to become known outside his own immediate neighborhood and cites a number of examples. There are three such in Minnesota—the Thief River Falls concern, the Mayo hospital and the Hart store at Long Prairie. The former is not mentioned by name but there is no doubt but that Loken Brothers' store is the one referred to. These merchants may be somewhat surprised to find that their business last year exceeded one million dollars in volume and that a printing press has been installed but otherwise will probably not object to the advertising given their town. Mr. Sherlock has also taken the population figures for ten years ago and used them in his story. Outside of these few corrections it is certain that no one will object to the article which is as follows:

"In Thief River Falls, Minnesota, there is a country merchant who saved his business by using the mail-order idea. His town has a population of 3714 people. His business was drawn almost entirely from the surrounding country.

"During the winter months trade always fell off, due to the heavy snow and rigorous weather which made it impossible for country customers and those living in the outlying districts to come to his store. He felt certain that during that season of the year money was getting through his fingers and going to the mail-order concerns.

"So he bought a printing press and commenced to send out circulars carrying announcements from his mail-order department. Later he issued a catalog. He offered to take orders by mail and deliver by parcels post. Last year he did a business from his town of thirty-seven hundred people in excess of one million dollars.

"It wasn't merely a matter of printing a circular or catalog and mailing them—of course not! But the point is, the opportunity was there for a business that any city would be proud to claim as its own."

RANKS THIRD AMONG STATE HIGH SCHOOLS IN NUMBER ENROLLED

Only Rochester and Fergus Falls, Outside of Three Largest Cities, Have More Pupils Than Thief River Falls.

A report sent out by the state board of education this week for the purpose of calling attention to needed changes in the system of state aid distribution for high schools, shows that the Thief River Falls institution stands well up toward the top in the number of pupils enrolled. Only two other cities in the state, outside of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, report a larger number in attendance. Following is the order in which the cities appear, together with the enrollment in each case: Rochester, 426; Fergus Falls, 412; Thief River Falls, 369; Brainerd, 314; Crookston, 277; Owatonna, 266; Grand Rapids, 218.

There are 96 schools in which more than one-third but less than one-half of the pupils attending are non-residents of the district, and Thief River Falls is among these. Nineteen schools report that more than one-half the pupils attending reside outside the district, Middle River being thus situated.

District No. 12 of Pennington county (Goodridge) paid out $1886 for transportation last year, representing 19,700 child-mile days, which represents one child in attendance one day and hauled one mile. Of the amount paid out the state repays the district on a basis of 8 cents for each pupil, the total repayment being $1576, leaving the district an outlay under this head of $210.

The transportation account in District 18 (Thief River Falls) totalled $285 of which the district paid $133.

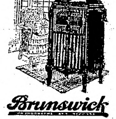
BRUNSWICK Method of Reproduction

The Ultona, offeerd solely by The Brunswick. An all-record reproducer that plays each make of record correctly. At a turn of the hand it presents the proper diaphragm, the proper needle. It does away with attachments.

The Brunswick Tone Amplifier. This all-wood amplifier conforms with acoustic laws and brings truer, purer tone. No metal is used in Brunswick amplification, so there is an absence of harshness.



Make This Comparison Before You Buy Your Phonograph

DON'T buy a phonograph, any more than an automobile, without a demonstration. Name isn't all nowadays, as it used to be, when phonographs were a novelty.

Music-lovers know real way to test—and that is by tone. The ear picks out superiority quickly. Naturalness is easily appreciated.

We encourage comparisons. We invite you to hear The Brunswick, then to hear others. We leave final judgment to you. And we rarely lose a sale, when a comparison is made.

This accounts for the great popularity of The Brunswick here and the nation over. It goes into the homes of the most critical because of its overwhelming merit.

It has numerous features unobtainable elsewhere. Such as The Ultona, the all-record reproducer. And The Brunswick Tone Amplifier, built entirely of wood, so as to end metallic sounds forever.

THANKSGIVING

THIS added significance will result in a notable celebration of Thanksgiving Day throughout America.

AS a nation and a people we may well be thankful for what three centuries have wrought and can confidently look forward to the future knowing that progress and security will be recorded so long as we maintain the principles for which our forefathers fought.

In That Vacant Space

IF, in your home, there is a vacant space where you plan to place a phonograph "some day," why not now?

Fill it with an Aeolian-Vocalion.
After supper tonight you would have all the pleasure that "something new" brings.

It is fun to operate a phonograph. It is twice as much fun if the phonograph is an Aeolian-Vocalion, because then you really do something besides making mechanical adjustments.

You play the Vocalion with the Graduola. It is play. There is no "learn how." The Graduola is a flexible, expanding "throat." You learned how to use a throat years ago.

An Invitation

A cordial invitation is extended to you to call at our store and hear the Aeolian-Vocalion and play it for yourself. It does not require any learning. The moment the Graduola is taken in hand, its use is instinctively understood.

American Legion Notes.

WILL DISCONTINUE DANCES BY LEGION

Failure to Make Expenses Given as Reason For Action Taken at This Time.

The carnival ball given by the American Legion post on the night of November 11 proved a success in many ways. The legionnaires had the city auditorium fittingly decorated in a novel and pleasing fashion, the elaborate setting for the orchestra being commented upon by all who were in attendance. Shaded lights, tri-colored festoons, flags, orange trees and stacked arms were used with unusual effect. Promptly at 11:11 p. m. pandemonium broke loose in memory of the significant event which took place at the eleventh minute of the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month just two years ago. Noise makers and streamers had been distributed just previous to the hour and the result of the demonstration was a general jollity and goodfellowship which extended thru the remainder of the time until the orchestra struck up "Home Sweet Home." The ball breaking up at an [illegible] hour, no refreshments were served other than a delightful punch, which was dispensed from a nook decorated in keeping with the rest of the building.

From the point of attendance the ball was somewhat of a failure, the tickets sold not warranting the outlay in staging the dance. A statement of receipts and disbursements will be found in this issue of the Times under "The American Legion Notes."

Officials of the Elmer Eklund Post state that owing to the repeated failure of the dances given by the post, dances will be discontinued for the winter. Of the many dances given by the post since its formation, just one dance paid expenses with a slight margin. Efforts have been repeatedly made to make the dances features in every way; good music has been secured, the auditorium decorated, and the dance properly advertised. But the public, the officials contend, have [illegible] responded. It has not been the [illegible] of the Legion to make great [illegible] of money on their entertainments, but in bringing them to Thief River Falls, it has hoped that expenses would at least be realized; instead of which the boys have repeatedly gone into their own pockets to help out on the financial end.

Consequently, for the time being, dances will be discontinued.

Fine Entertainment.

The Bel-Canto Quintette appeared at the city auditorium last Friday evening under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion and were enthusiastically greeted and encored by the audience. While the attendance was not as large as might have been expected because of the class of talent represented by the quintette, officers of the post are of the opinion, all funds from the advance sale of tickets not having been handed in as yet, that all expenses were paid with a slight margin remaining for the legion treasury.

The five young ladies of the quintette are all gifted with pleasing personalities. Ida Hagen Pitman, dramatic soprano, was enthusiastically greeted at each group of songs, probably appearing to best advantage in her finale. A different selection of songs might possibly have displayed the power and range of her voice to better advantage. Vera Andrews proved herself master of the flute, her "By the Brook" displaying the versality of the instrument. Edna Lee might well be commended for her mastery of the violoncello and for the ease and polish of her performance. Hazel Bryngelson's tragic reading was possibly ill chosen for the audience in attendance, but her selections from the "Norse Nightingale" were exceptionally pleasing and clearly proclaimed her nationality. Fern Van Bramer with her selections on the harp proved the favorite of the evening judging from the hearty encores.

Correspondence Course Offered Ex-Service Men

R. C. Coffin, assistant chief secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was in the city the first of the week in the interests of the correspondence course now offered to ex-service men. The service is free to such of the former soldiers as apply for it and covers a wide range of subjects. Scholarships are by allotment, a certain number being awarded to each county. Pennington county's quota has not yet been taken up and there is an excellent opportunity for those who wish to be included. The matter was left in the hands of C. David Gustafson, to whom those residing in the county may apply for full particulars. Among the courses are found engineering, agriculture, architecture, steam engineering and power plant requirements, science and mechanical courses, mathematics, electricity and inspirational and cultural instruction.

Proposed Auxiliary Represented.

Mrs. J. H. Hardisty and Mrs. J. M. Bishop are attending the first state convention of the American Legion Women's Auxiliary of Minnesota which is being held in Minneapolis today and tomorrow. They are representing this community in anticipation of the formation of a women's auxiliary to Elmer Eklund Post Number 117. The convention was called for the purpose of effecting a permanent state organization, adopting a department constitution, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before it.

State Commander Vernon of the American Legion has written to the local Post in respect to the meeting:

"The Minnesota Legion Auxiliary is in the limelight. The eyes of auxiliary members thruout the country are upon it. Like the pioneers of old, it is blazing a new trail for the auxiliaries of other states to follow.

"What breadth of vision, what strength of character, what nobility and what wisdom, will the delegates of your auxiliary unit bring to the convention which will lay the first cornerstone of the national organization of the American Legion Women's Auxiliary."

Financial Statement for Ball.

Following is a statement of receipts and disbursements, submitted by Harold Provencher, chairman of the dance committee, for the Armistice ball given by Elmer Eklund Post of the American Legion on last Thursday evening:

Auto Tips With Hunting Party; No One Badly Hurt

On Sunday morning the members of a hunting party eastward bound narrowly missed serious, and possibly fatal injury when the eight-cylinder Cole touring car owned and driven by George Loken tipped over at the sharp turn of the state road leading into Goodridge. The accident left the heavy car on the verge of the ditch along the road and but for the low rate of speed at which it had been traveling would probably have been of more serious consequence.

The party, made up by L. A. Lambert, H. W. Protzeller, H. O. Floren, E. O. Mogensen, G. W. Connell and George Loken, made an early start from Thief River Falls and had reached the turn to the left a short distance this side of Goodridge. It is a sharp turn and the driver had shut off the gas and put on the brakes but the road as it approached the turn was icy and the wheels slid along without materially reducing the speed. The road at the turn was free from snow and the car, having attained a slowing motion by the time it reached this gravel, was thrown over on its side in the middle of the highway. Mr. Lampert suffered a very slight injury of one hand.

Long poles were secured by the men and after half an hour's effort the 4,300 pound car was righted and, the engine being undamaged, the hunters proceeded on their way. Windshield top, fenders, runningboard and hood were badly crumpled up, but the car was well able to tow Ole Ihle's Ford minus one wheel, into Grygla, as the hunting party was returning with a fine bag of game later in the day.

Practical Upholsterer is Added at Evenson Garage

F. I. Johnson, an upholsterer of many years experience, has been secured by C. M. Evenson & Son and will be added to the force at the garage. Mr. Johnson, besides upholstering and repairing furniture of all kinds, will also repair and manufacture auto tops and side curtains.

There should be considerable work of this nature to be done in this neighborhood and Mr. Johnson will no doubt be kept busy. He was formerly connected with large furniture manufacturing concerns at Chicago and Peoria, Ill.

Fire Siren Will Sound At 6; Don't Be Alarmed

Residents of the city may expect to hear the siren fire alarm at six o'clock each evening during cold weather, as it will be given a tryout once a day to assure that it is in perfect working order. This plan results from the fact that the siren refused to work with much effect during the cold weather of last winter, its infrequent use allowing the mechanism to become clogged with ice and snow.

ADVANTAGES OF CITY AS WHOLESALE POINT ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Discussion at Commercial Club Luncheon Results in Stimulating Interest in This Important Matter.

The Commercial club proposes to sell meal or season tickets to the weekly club luncheons held every Thursday in order to stimulate attendance. The coming of winter weather has had some effect on the attendance of the last two noonday sessions but it is hoped that a greater popularity will result as the purpose and progress of the gatherings become known.

Many of the business men are already acquiring the habit of being present and participating in the to-the-point discussions which take place. The viands served are of the home-cooked varity and the serving takes place a la cafeteria with sufficient dispatch to keep no one waiting and to allow sufficient time for the discussion of any subjects brought up, without interfering with the business man's turn to his duties. Questions pertinent to the business and social welfare of the city are brought up at each luncheon and it is the desire of the Commercial club that each and every business man take an active part in the meetings.

The fact that this city is well situated as a distributing center is to be made known in a general way during the coming winter, according to plans now under way by the club. The matter came up at the club luncheon last week and H. W. Protzeller was named as a committee of one to secure such information as would be of advantage and to get in touch with the railway officials of the various lines so that these advantages might be given publicity thru their usual channels.

The decision of the Standard Oil company to establish one of their district warehouses in Thief River Falls is undoubtedly the first step of the large producers of the country to so re-arrange their business affairs as to secure the greatest efficiency obtainable in distributing their products. With the proper dissemination of the advantages to be derived by similar action, the Commercial club is taking on work which naturally falls to its lot and will result in much good to the city as a whole.

Another subject considered at the club luncheon last week was the matter of properly marking the various dangerous places along the roads of the county. Several accidents have occurred this past season which, it has been stated, might have been avoided if proper danger signs had been installed, thereby lessening the dangers. A committee composed of L. R. Johnston, G. S. Streeter and George L. Sterns was named to wait on the city council and the county commissioners in this matter.

Big Shipment of Poultry For Twin City Markets

The Peterson-Biddick company shipped a poultry car containing 18,000 pounds of live chickens, ducks, geese and turkeys to the twin cities yesterday for the holiday markets. This car contained upwards of 4,000 chickens alone. It was partially loaded at Bronson, the shipment being completed here. Reports from all sections of this northern part of the state indicate that poultry shipments are heavier than ever before, the year having been very favorable to the hatching and raising of young birds.

MOTORMAN TELLS ABOUT TROUBLE

Had Rheumatism So Bad Every Move Caused Pain—Tanlac Put Him on Feet.

"Tanlac deserves everything good that has been said about it," said Anton Fieber, 446 Bay street, St. Paul, Minn., motorman on the short railway.

"For three years I had suffered from rheumatism all over my body. I could hardly raise my hands to my head, and turning on and off the current and handling the brakes on my car caused me to suffer agony. I had very little appetite and I had awful cramps in my stomach after every meal. I often had sharp, shooting pains across the small of my back and my nerves were badly upset. I was troubled a great deal with constipation and every few days I would have a dull, mean headache.

"Several of my friends advised me to take Tanlac and it proved to be the very thing I needed. Although I have taken only three bottles the rheumatism has left me entirely and I never have a pain of any kind. I am hungry all the time and no matter what or how much I eat I never suffer from it afterward. I am not troubled with constipation any more, never have a headache and my nerves are in splendid shape. I don't think there is another medicine in the world that will begin to compare with Tanlac and I recommend it to others every time I have an opportunity."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, and at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm.—Adv.

"THEY SAID I HAD T. B. AND WOULD NOT LIVE THREE MONTHS"

Mr. Harold W. Schmidt, Box 96, Breese, Clinton Co., Ill., believes he has reason to praise Dr. Hartman's Remedy for Catarrhal conditions.

"I used Pe-ru-na eight months for Chronic Bronchial Catarrh. I do not get tired, feel like a giant, am six pounds over normal weight and able to work every day. In March, 1917, I contracted a severe cold with swelling and took to my bed. They said I had T. B. and would not live three months. After taking a couple bottles of Pe-ru-na and a box of Man-a-lin Tablets, could walk around and in seven months went back to work. My trouble was due to Chronic Catarrh of the nose and throat, which I had ten years, extending down into the bronchial tubes. "Pe-ru-na was my life saver."

BIG CATTLE RUNS SMASH RECORDS

Prices Showed Moderate Decline. Grades Steady—Veals Up. Hogs and Sheep Off.

South St. Paul—Record smashing receipts of cattle featured last week's trade at South St. Paul. The former banner day, Nov. 24, 1919, when 25,333 cattle were received, was eclipsed on Monday last week when 25,657 head arrived, and the week's marketings at 55,767 head shattered the former yard record for one week by more than 4,000 head. With this great influx of cattle locally, and liberal receipts at other points, marketing channels were temporarily clogged, causing uneven declines in cattle prices up to mid-week, ranging from 25c to 75c. By Thursday the congestion was cleared by the demand for cattle on shipping account, which continued on Friday and enabled salesmen to retrieve a good share of the early week losses.

The bulk of the common and medium grades of beef steers sold at the finish from $6.50 to $9.00 with best steers in the week's trade, some North Dakota rangers of good grade here Friday at $11.25. Butcher cows and heifers closed mostly from $4.50 to $7.00, with best butcher heifers, some Montana handyweights, at $9.35. Price range for canners at the close was $2.75 to $3.25, with average above the even money mark. Cutter cows are going largely from $3.50 to $4.25, with bologna bulls at $4.00 to $5.75 being unchanged for the week. Best veals advanced 25c, closing top being $12.75. Best stockers and feeders recovered the 25c loss sustained early and closed about steady with a week ago, while medium and common grades showed a loss of around 25c to 50c for the week's session.

Hog receipts increased and bulk at $12.00 to $12.15 Saturday stood $1.00 to $1.25 lower than a week ago. Best lambs around $10.75 closed fully 50c lower and ewes at $5.00 to $5.25, 25c to 50c lower for the week.

Dinner and Sale.

The Silver Creek Ladies aid will hold its annual Thanksgiving dinner and sale at the home of Gunston Knutson, 3 miles East and 4 miles north of Thief River Falls, on Thursday, Nov. 25. Services will be held on the same day at 11 o'clock by Rev. Ordahl.

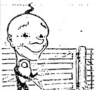
"Quality or Price---Which?"



In buying hardware there is an important thing to consider beyond price.

Suppose you had two crops of apple—one the gnarly, flavorless, windfall sort; the other the big, sound flavory red fellows that make you apple hungry to see.

Suppose someone offered to take both crops at the market price of the windfalls. Your answer would be "No."

Apply this principle to hardware. You wouldn't buy windfall hardware at any price. But you can't buy hardware from appearance. Unscrupulous manufacturers hide inferior material and workmanship with gloss, glitter, and varnish.

We sell honest goods at fair prices. From mouse traps to ribstone silos, we guarantee our goods to be of high quality and to give you the limit of wear and service.

We have such faith in our stock that we allow you to test it at our risk. You can take any article of merchandise from this store and if at any time it isn't satisfactory bring it back. The money you paid is yours.

OLD SLEIGHS NEED NOT BE REMODELLED TO COMPLY WITH LAW

Error on Part of Engrossing Clerk of Senate Responsible For Much Confusion—Applies to New Sleighs.

Senator O. A. Naplin has called the attention of The Times to errors in an article published two weeks ago in this paper in which it was stated that all sleighs used on the highways of the state after the first day of January, 1921, must be four feet six inches from center to center of runners. This would require the remodelling of practically every sleigh in the state and there has been much inquiry as to whether or not this would be necessary. In order to set its readers right on this matter The Times secured from Senator Naplin a copy of the law as passed. It is known as Senate File No. 31 and reads as follows:

"Section 1. On and after the first day of January, 1921, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, in this state to sell any new or first-hand draft sleighs to any person or persons residing in the state for use therein, unless the runners of such sleigh shall measure from center to center not less than four feet six inches. And on and after such date it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to use upon any of the public highways of this state any such sleigh, purchased at first hand, after said first day of January, 1921, unless the runners shall measure from center to center four feet six inches."

This was the bill as passed, according to Senator Naplin. In engrossing the measure the clerk omitted the words "purchased at first hand," thus making it appear that the law applies to all sleighs, old as well as new, when no such provision was intended. The attorney general has held that where the legislature's intent is clearly shown no error on the part of those into whose hands the bill may subsequently fall can have the effect of changing its purpose. This simply means that old sleighs need not be remodelled to meet the requirements of the law but that any new sleigh purchased after the first of January must be four feet six inches from center to center of runners. The law makes it a misdemeanor for a person or concern to sell any sleigh not meeting these specifications after that date but does not prevent anyone owning such sleigh from continuing to use it without going to the expense and trouble of having it remodelled.

CREAMERY REPORTS SLUMP IN RECEIPTS

Less Than Half as Many Fifty Dollar Patrons as in Month of September.

The report of the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery for the month of October, submitted by Secretary Peter Engelstad, shows a marked decrease in the size of monthly checks paid to dairymen. Only 36 checks for $50 or more were issued for the month, against 91 for the month of September. This decrease is natural at this time of year with the coming of cold weather and the lack of green fodder. Following are the checks:

P. Engelstad, $237.05; Hans Anton, $235.55; Henry Koop, $157.41; Jens Kierk, $142.42; Henry Pope, $140.13; R. M. Johnson, $82.63; Fred Copp, $77.57; John A. Sundt, $77.01; C. Christensen, $76.61; Henry Sande, $75.75; Mrs. Gutterud, $74.93; Joseph Oski, $71.98; Ed. Grundhous, $69.17; P. Hornseth, $67.43; A. J. Funnesdal, $67.22; Ole Skaar, $64.72; E. Edman, $64.69; Mrs. B. Three Leave For Hawaii To Join Field Artillery

Victor Norquist, Arthur Charbonneau and Shelferd Johnson have passed thru the local recruiting station during the past week enroute for the Hawaiian Islands and a three year enlistment with the 13th field artillery which is at present stationed there. All three young men passed the preliminary examinations with a good physical showing and left for Minneapolis on Monday night to undergo the final examination. The recruits are well known young men of the city, Norquist having been employed in the Soo repair shops, Charbonneau by the Holt & George plumbing establishment, and Johnson at the City bakery. The latter named is an ex-service man, having seen overseas service with the 387th Infantry.

Melvine Gould of Steiner, enlisted for a one-year term with the Tank corps, stationed at Camp Funston, Kansas, and will travel as far as Minneapolis with the other boys.

Sergeant Hinkson, in charge of the local recruiting station, accompanied Captain Ball and Lieutenant Hoans of Minneapolis on a deer hunting trip east of here, leaving on Monday. On the eve of his departure he stated that the station would be discontinued shortly after his return from the trip and expressed the hope that other premeditated enlistments would be made previous to the closing of this office.

Storm Sewer Completed; Ready to Pave in Spring

With the completion of the storm sewer this week the streets of Thief River Falls are in readiness for the paving program, work to start immediately the weather opens favorably and the ground permits. It is the intent of both city officials and paving contractors to push the paving work ahead as rapidly as possible when once under way. Visitors in the city at this time next year will see some remarkable changes and residents will be surprised at the prepossessing aspect of the business section.

Coolsaet Bros. & Drees of Marshall, Minnesota, to whom the contract for 11 blocks of storm sewer was let, appeared here about the middle of last month with their powerful machines expecting to have the work completed before this time or before cold weather should set in. Their expectations would have been fulfilled but for the fact that operations had to be suspended about the first of the month until the necessary tiling could be secured. Operations were also hampered by the lowering temperature which was coincidental with the first light fall of snow in this section. The 11 blocks of storm sewer were laid at an expense of $14,828.00, that being the contract price.

Sugar Beets All Shipped; Checks Soon Forthcoming

The sugar beet crop of Pennington county has all been marketed and checks will be forwarded from Chaska this week. The policy of the Minnesota Sugar Beet company is to make payments on the 15th of each month for beets shipped during the previous month and all shipments from this county were made during October.

Local producers are enthused over the sugar beet proposition and are going in for larger acreages for the coming season. A pleasing feature of the proposition lies in the fact that a plot of three acres or more allows the grower the privilege of purchasing a limited amount of sugar at prevailing wholesale prices.

Ditch Hearing Postponed To Await Viewers' Report

The ditch hearing at the Pennington county court house on last Saturday was adjourned to December 10, at which time the county engineer and the board of reviewers will submit their reports concerning the extension of county ditches number 1 and 10. It was deemed advisable to provide an outlet for ditch number 1 by dredging eastward to the Thief River instead of re-dredging southward to ditch number 10. Plans to clean out ditch number 10 at its eastern extremity are also being considered.

COMBINE AGAINST WHISKEY SMUGGLING

United States and Canadian Governments Determined to Stamp Out Traffic.

By a reciprocal arrangement between the United States prohibition enforcement department and the Manitoba police, the boundary line between the United States and Canada is to be disregarded in the fight against whiskey running. Rules which for years have interfered with complete co-operation between the police of the two countries have been eliminated and the crossing of the line is permitted by both sides. This, according to United States prohibition agents, is the only method by which to effectually cope with the liquor runners who are operating along the Minnesota and North Dakota borderline.

Contraband liquor to the value of $600,000 a day is coming over the Canadian border according to M. A. Hildreth, United States district attorney at Fargo, who advocates placing the boundary zone under military control.

All roads running north through Roseau are said to be traveled by whiskey runners. One of them, who is reported to have retired after making $100,000, is reported to have used three automobiles, one a fast machine in which he carried the liquor, while the others traveled empty, one ahead and the other behind. The liquor car ran without lights, while a blue light flashed from the rear of the first car was a danger signal.

New Red Cross Room.

The room on the second floor of the city auditorium which was formerly used as a work room by the Woman's club and the Red Cross chapter has been leased to the Christian Science church. This for a time left the two organizations without suitable quarters in which to conduct their weekly sewing and mending sessions, but through the courtesy of the firemen the large room in the basement of the building will now be utilized for this purpose. The firemen, who used the room for assembly purposes only, will hold their monthly meetings in the fire department building.

Editorial.

In order to stir up greater interest in debating, the English II classes were assigned as their English lesson Friday an oral argumentation on either side of the question to be debated by the Debating League of Minnesota: "Resolved that the open shop is preferable to the closed shop in our industrial system."

We are to have a debating team this year and in order to be a success it must have the backing of the school as a whole. An eminent authority has said that debating would prove to be more beneficial in later life than athletics. A football team in which the school takes no interest cannot be expected to make a notable record, and the same applies to a debating team.

Knute says: "What's the joke?"

The Prowler.

Are you, Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors, working to make the Prowler of 1920 the best ever put out? Are you taking enough pride in your annual to sacrifice a few moments for the good of your annual?

Snapshots and jokes would be very much appreciated and we would like to have them handed in right away.

With the co-operation of all the classes, the Prowler will undoubtedly be the best annual ever put out by the students of the Lincoln high school.

Knute says: "What's the joke?"

Don't Forget The Prowler

Students, are you doing anything for the 1921 Prowler? It is your Prowler, your publication, your representation of school and of school life, and you are therefore responsible in its production. Every student of Lincoln high ought to feel that he or she should do something to make it a book worthy of publication in this school. Now, if you are feeling this responsibility, I am asking you again, what are you contributing or how are you letting the Prowler get hold of your undoubtedly wonderful and brilliant ideas? I'll tell you what you can do. As you know there is a staff composed of various departments consisting of peppy and active people who act as collectors for material pertaining to their respective departments. If you have a good joke or anything that's funny, even a picture of yourself, see to it that it finds its way to the joke department. Here's a chance to get even with some of your fellow students by writing something humorous or pathetic (just so it's funny) about him or her. Surely most of you'll like to see your picture in the annual and especially in the 1921 Prowler but the only way you can obtain this very high honor, is by giving it to the Kodak department which will give it due space. There is probably nothing more appreciable in annuals than the snapshots contained of oneself and ones school friends. It is a most interesting collection but remember it must first be collected and put together and this you can very easily co-operate in accomplishing. Possibly some of you are favored with an inspiration now and then during which you feel that you could compete even with a Bill Shakespeare or Allan Poe. Make use of those precious moments and delight the Literary editors by a contribution.

Knute says: "What's the joke?"

Dear Fellow Students:

I am in search of suggestions and come to your aid. I want you to feel that you are a part of the high school annual—that I belong to you. My health, my life, my hopes, my ambitions and my fate lie in your hands. Each year a group selected from the Senior class have taken me in charge have nourished ~~and cared~~ for me, and have made a success of me.

This year I look not only to them, but to you. I am your yearly publication, and I shall bear in your heart a higher rate of interest than any investment. I am a servant of your will, my success lies with you. I come to you now for suggestions. I want you to throw light on what I have overlooked, to awaken interest in any department, to advise, suggest and emphasize what your hopes and ambitions wish me to be. Heed my call, sit down, write a few suggestions and drop it in the suggestion box. Your suggestions will be given serious attention, many faults shall be corrected and may the coming year prove the most successful, that I may be the best and brightest annual ever produced.

Signed,
"PROWLER."

Knute says: "What's the joke?"

Annual Boosters' Meeting.

A booster meeting was held in the high school assembly Monday morning to stimulate interest in the 1921 Prowler. The members of the staff who spoke emphasized the importance of their particular departments, and called on every student in high school to do everything in his or her power to make the 1921 Prowler outstrip the annuals of former years.

Mr. Pierce opened the program by introducing the senior class, after which he turned the meeting over to the Prowler editor-in-chief, Dreng Bjornaraa. The chief executive announced that the purpose of the meeting was to keep the annual in its proper sphere of importance. Miss Patrick, (senior class advisor), emphasized the fact that this is our annual, and that each one of us should realize that we are an important part of the machine that is to turn out the 1921 Prowler.

Of course we all agree with Marguerite DeCremer that humor is the spice of life and that the success of the annual depends to a great extent on the quantity and quality of the jokes that may be found between its covers. Doris Richter wants snapshots for the kodak department.

These speakers were followed by Miss Elliott, Junior class advisor. She brought the matter of discussion forcibly home by asking how many had really already contributed something for the annual. A great amount of material is wanted, so that the staff will have something from which to choose. Jordan Penney wants photos for the athletic department. He said that he felt sure that we can beat any annual put out if everyone tries.

Beatrice Sandum stated that it has always been hard to make the literary department interesting, and in this part of the annual is co-operation particularly needed. She expects the Sophomore class to furnish the majority of the articles for her department and promised that the Seniors would furnish the perspiration if the Sophomores would furnish the inspiration.

Realizing that a good joke is always effective, Mr. Bjornaraa told the following: "Three Freshmen were dressing in a cloakroom. Number 1 asked Number 2 if Number 3 were his brother. Number 2 said "No." "Oh," said Number 1, "I thought you looked so much together." The 1921 Prowler is not going to 'look together' with any other annual. It is going to be "different."

Miss Dix, Sophomore advisor, said that co-operation was the keynote to the success of the annual and expressed the hope that the Sophomore class would live up to the high expectations expressed by Miss Sandum.

According to Vernon Copp of the art department, everybody can draw something, and that something should be handed in to a member of one of the various staffs.

Miss Soards defined the miscellaneous department. It takes care of any material that does not properly come within the juridiction of any of the other departments.

Rose Oski spoke of the interest of the alumni department and said that all graduates were greatly interested in our annual.

Last, but not least, came Mr. Tripp, Freshman class advisor. He said that the Freshmen were usually given the last place, but they are not going to be the last to support the 1921 Prowler. In order to be a complete success, the annual will have to be put out earlier than in former years, and that means that work must be started at once. Mr. Tripp wound up the most interesting and helpful program by defying the other three classes to push the Freshmen out of the annual, as a former speaker said the upper classes pushed the Freshmen football teams off the field in the colleges.

Normal Department.

Rose Oski and Lucille Bliscoe returned from practice teaching in a rural school on Friday. Bertha Gunderson and Gladys Ellested will take their place for the next two weeks.

The Normal geography classes spent an interesting part of Friday afternoon in viewing moving pictures of New England and Yellowstone National Park.

Helen Quirk remarked the other day in geography class that we have hunting seasons now for deer and other fowls.

Florence Burns is going to try to convince the Normal girls this week that Canada is the only place to live. That's right Florence, stick up for your country!

Northrup News.

A new scale with a measuring attachment has been installed in the school so that the pupils can be weighed and measured each month.

Football and volley ball teams have been organized, but very little could be accomplished on account of the snow. The fourth and sixth grade football teams played the Washington fourth and sixth grades, but they were defeated in both games.

Miss Whipps was confined to her home several days last week on account of illness.

A new piano was installed in the school last week.

Misses Bark and Kleber returned from Minneapolis Monday morning after having attended the M. E. A.

Knute says: "What's the joke?"

Washington News.

The Washington pupils congregated in the lower halls of the school in a little celebration held in honor of Armistice Day. Two flag salutes were given by the upper and lower grades.

Did you ever have a lucky accident? Well Mary did in the Chemistry Lab. She burned off some of her hair on one side and as a result she was forced to dress her hair in a different fashion. To our surprise, the new style was really becoming.

By the way, Jordan Penney never stated his "various reasons" for not venturing to the front of the assembly when called on to talk. "Oh we know, Jordan, but we won't tell."

Mr. Melby: "I have here an empty bottle with water in it."

Senior Class Meeting.

Last Friday after school the Senior class had a meeting at which various things of importance to the class were considered. Mr. Pierce announced that he was willing to take charge of and direct the plays that will be given by the Seniors this year. He stated that he was confident that the class has a great number of members with dramatic ability so there is no doubt about the success of the plays that will be presented, if they are attended and supported as they should be. We are very fortunate indeed in having a dramatic coach so able and experienced as Mr. Pierce. He coached in the Hamline University class play, which received high honor in its presentation, last year.

It was decided that the individual Senior pictures should be taken before Christmas.

A committee was selected to plan a suitable entertainment for the Senior class to contribute as part of the elaborate program which will be given at the All-High-School and All-Faculty Masquerade party to be held in the near future. The Seniors are going to show that they can do their share.

Central Notes.

Central school observed the minute of prayer on Armistice Day.

The snow fall has stopped the playing of Volley ball and Association Football. It is intended to start basketball practice in a short time. Work of organizing the teams has begun.

There will be an unusually large graduating class this year as there are 118 pupils enrolled in the Eighth grade.

Much interest is being taken in the school and its work.

Sophomore Class Meeting.

The Sophomores had a class meeting Friday at 3:30 for the purpose of electing an annual sub-staff. The following staff was elected:

Editor-in-chief—Ole Helle.
Ass't. Editor-in-chief — Florentine Hance.
Kodak Dep't.—Nella Knudson and Lloyd Lonson.
Art Dep't.—Twila Glines, Craig Halvorson.
Literary Dep't.—Frances Cruzan, Olive Lonson.
Joke Dep't.—Kermit Anderson, Anthony Teske.
Miscellaneous Dep't.—Herb. Johnson, Lucille McGinnity.

The duty of this staff is to collect the vast amount of material the Sophomores are expected to contribute towards the success of the 1921 Prowler, and to deliver the most suitable of this material to the Senior staff.

Knute says: "What's the joke?"

Junior Class Meeting.

A Junior class meeting was called Friday afternoon for the purpose of electing an annual sub-staff.

The Freshmen, Sophomore and Junior classes each elect a sub-staff, these sub-staffs and the Senior staff put out the annual. By this plan it is hoped that the annual will be a school annual, not merely a Senior annual. The members of the Junior sub-staff are:

William Herrick—Editor-in-chief.
Lloyd Lonson—Ass't. Editor.
Joke Dept.—Pearl Shetler, editor; David Evenson, Ass't. Editor.
Art Dep't.—Violet Krohn, Editor; William McGinnity, Ass't. Editor.
Kodak Dep't.—Ruby Bennes, Editor; William McGinnity, Ass't. Editor.
Literary Dep't.—Shirley Anderson, Editor.
Miscellaneous Dep't. — Gregory Werstlein, Editor; Helen Langseth, Ass't. Editor.

The high school masquerade was discussed and a committee of three was elected to meet with the class president Monday afternoon and plan the entertainment to be given by the Juniors.

Armistice Day.

On Thursday morning, Nov. 11th, the student body was called together for the purpose of celebrating the second anniversary of the signing of the Armistice.

The meeting was opened with appropriate songs followed by a short talk by Mr. Pierce, after which ex-service men, Jordan Penney and Hugh McDaniel, gave talks on how they felt on Armistice Day. Jordan Penney, formerly a member of the A. E. F. gave us some idea as to the manner in which Armistice Day was spent by the service men in France. Hugh McDaniel gave a short talk on the way the soldiers were treated in New York City on Armistice Day.

Mr. Ziegler then gave a talk followed by a few appropriate songs which closed the chapel exercises.

Look Forward.

Leave the musty past, and see the new,
For the old is worthless to us now.
Lay the sadness off thy weary brow,
And turn to gaze at the road ahead,
This is the path which is thine to walk
These are the lands which thou passeth thru,
Listening e'er to the world's great talk,
And the sound of her voices all too few,
As you travel the road which you aye must tread.
Half of the way will be lily laid,
And the other half will be lined with thorns.
On one you walk joyfully, unafraid,
The other, sadly, as one who mourns.
Yet up above, in the vaulted blue
Where the wild birds swing in the dance of the sky,
They say there is one who watches you,
And loves with a love which will never die.
I know not whether this tale be true,
Or a fevered mind's wierd recreation,
But I know that the sky's deep blue
Is a work of triumph and exultation;
And the beauty and mystery of it all
Shows the hand of a master of creation.

Look Forward.

Basketball Season Here.

The basketball season has again continued its existence after a long absence since last April and was hailed with great enthusiasm last Monday afternoon when work was begun.

The dawning of the basketball season this year seems to have made an impression upon all the boys who play, and as a result there has been a large group attending the practice evenings thus far held.

In the present group of players there is enough basketball ability to build up a team that any high school can be proud of or any state be proud to hail as a State High School champion team.

Knute says: "What's the joke?"

Boys' Glee Club.

A Boys' Glee club has been started in high school. There can be no Boys' Glee club without the boys and there are certainly boys in the high school that can sing. At the last two or three meetings of the Glee club only a few boys were present. There can be no Glee club with only six boys in it and those six representing the rest of the boys that can sing.

A high school of this size should have a Boys' Glee club by all means. Other high schools in the state smaller than ours have fine Glee clubs and there is no reason why this high school can't have one too, and have a good one.

One fourth credit is given to all those who join the Glee club and live up to it, but just because a little credit is given don't come to fool away the time, but come with the idea of doing conscientious work, and this high school will have a Boys' Glee club they can be proud of.

Lyceum Season Tickets.

Season tickets for the five numbers of the lecture course, which is to be brought to Thief River Falls this winter, under the auspices of the Women's club, are now on sale at the reduced rate of one dollar ($1) per ticket for high school students. The course is especially good and will benefit anyone who hears it. Those wishing to invest in season tickets, see Mr. Pierce at once.

Keep Trying.

"My son," said an old gentleman to a boy who was trying to put a load of coal into the cellar with a tablespoon, "Surely you don't expect to put all that coal away with that little spoon."

"O yes I do," said the boy. "All I have to do is to keep trying."

ROSEWOOD

Emil Blomberg Injured.

As a result of becoming entangled in the balance wheel of a small odd job gasoline engine he was about to start, Emil Blomberg is at the Physicians hospital at Thief River Falls minus the greater part of his right hand thumb, a dislocated wrist and a broken radius bone in his forearm. It appears that Mr. Blomberg, who is a young farmer residing about one mile north of town, had on Wednesday afternoon attempted to start a small gas engine used to pump water, turn the wash machine and other small jobs, and in turning the balance wheel over with hand to start it, his glove had caught somehow and as the engine started with a jerk, it threw Mr. Blomberg against the opposite wall with the sad result named. Dr. C. M. Adkins of Thief River Falls was immediately summoned by telephone and responded directly, but on arriving discovered that the injury was of such a nature that home treatment was inadequate and took the patient along to the hospital where he now remains. It is later learned that the thumb and part of the hand will be amputated but that hope is retained for the successful healing of the arm and wrist.

What Do We Mean

There's always room at the top

We put Spurs on the market with our eyes open. We knew "There was Room at the Top—for highest possible quality at lowest possible price"—and we said so in print.

And now Spurs are perched at the top—but we didn't put them there. Smokers did it themselves. You can't keep a good thing down—and it didn't take smokers long to discover that Spur had something they wanted.

What was it? Just that good old tobacco taste—that quality of bygone days. Spur's blend is choicest Turkish, fine Burley and other home-grown tobaccos—and it's some blend.

Now—how about smoking a top-notch cigarette?

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Set this down, too! Spurs are crimped —not pasted. You'll see it on the ends of every Spur. You'll find it means better taste, easier draw, slower burning.

I Am "Granny" Chamberlain

"Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

Increased Efficiency Imperative

MR. H. H. HILL, Chemical Engineer of the Bureau of Mines, in discussing the future of gasoline, says: "It is up to the refiners to extract more of petroleum's useful factors from the crude."

This he says can be effected through efficient management and by improved methods of cracking and blending.

Mr. Hill thus expresses the opinion which has dominated the policy of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for many years and has enabled this Company to raise its efficiency peak year after year.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been a leader in developing processes to increase the yield of gasoline from crude oil.

The best known and most successful of its improvements is the Burton process, originated in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Speaking of the Burton Process, Mr. Hill says that

> "since it was first installed on a commercial scale it has produced approximately 40 million barrels of gasoline from heavy distillates, and has thus saved approximately 150 million barrels of crude that would have been necessary to produce an equivalent amount of gasoline."

This vast saving has been accomplished without sacrificing quality.

Red Crown, the motor gasoline, made and sold by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), is acknowledged by petroleum chemists and other authorities to be the standard fuel for motor cars. It more than meets Government specifications, which require an initial of not more than 140 degrees F; 20 percent off at 221 degrees; 50 percent off at 284 degrees; 90 percent off at 374 degrees; and a dry point (complete vaporization) at not more than 437 degrees F.

During the semi-annual test conducted in July 1920, the average for Red Crown Gasoline showed an initial of 102 degrees F; 20 percent off at 210; 50 percent off at 281; 90 percent off at 387, and a dry point of 427 degrees F.

This shows an initial 38 degrees better than Government specifications, which means easy starting; 20 percent off at 11 degrees better than Government specifications; 50 percent off at 3 degrees better than Government specifications; and 90 per cent off 13 degrees higher than Government specifications, which is more than made up by the 10 degrees difference in dry point.

This proves that, notwithstanding the greatly increased quantity of gasoline which this Company is able to take from the crude, it has in no way sacrificed quality, and is another indication that the large scale operations of this Company have worked to the distinct advantage of every user of gasoline.

NEW INDUSTRIAL PLAN IN SCHOOL GAINING FAVOR

Automotive and Agriculture Departments First to Be Opened to Students.

Probabilities Are That Railroad Course Will Be Added Within Short Time.

Practical Instruction By Competent Instructors Keeps Interest Keyed Up.

The Smith-Hughes industrial school being conducted at Thief River Falls in connection with the high school is rapidly gaining favor with the students and will undoubtedly become one of the most popular educational features for Pennington county and vicinity. Automotive and agricultural departments are now being featured, with the expectations of adding other departments as soon as opportunity permits. It is even possible that at some future date a railway school can be inaugurated, this being a division point and the logical place for such an educational institution.

Ground for the Smith-Hughes school building was broken in October, 1919, the structure being completed this fall. Much of the work was done by students, working under efficient management. Elevators and other minor fixtures are yet to be installed but the school is being operated with efficiency at the present time.

Auto and Tractor School.

The portion of the building devoted to the automotive department has the appearance of an orderly garage rather than a class room. A blacksmith shop is being constructed in the basement of the building. Tools used are not mere playthings but the most up to date that could be purchased. The shop or class room—in fact the entire building—conveys the impression of a well regulated place of industry. Automobiles with engines torn out and dismantled stand about or are being rebuilt in a thorough manner. The place can well be likened to a miniature Dunwoody Institute.

This course includes a detailed study of automobiles and tractors, starting with the Ford and later taking up the more complicated mechanism of larger cars and tractors. Local car owners are at present lending their cars to the department, which overhauls and rebuilds them as the course proceeds. Each boy—there are 12 at this time in the department—is required to devote 12½ hours out of each week to shop work in addition to his other studies. The entire course as given at present requires one year of application. The student must don overalls and get right into the dirt, the grease and the heart of the mechanism.

The purpose of the automotive course is two fold: It offers the pupil an opportunity of discovering whether or not he will go into mechanics as a life work, and it offers an opportunity of development along a line which can not but be of great service in this day and age when automobiles are so universally used and when power driven farm implements and general machinery are so rapidly coming to the fore.

Clarence Pope, graduate of the university of Minnesota, is in charge of the department. Mr. Pope attended school this past year in preparation for this branch of work.

Agriculture by Project Method.

A feature of all Smith-Hughes departments is the project method of teaching. It is necessary for every student in the automotive departments to bring about, study and complete some project. The latter named course includes projects in animal husbandry and supervised farm practice. During the past season pupils raised pure bred chickens, calves and pigs, carried on herd testing, kept milk and butterfat records and supervised general farm practices.

The agricultural department is supervised by F. A. Tripp, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where he took special work fitting him for his present position.

Schools Revolutionized.

The schools of the United States have been entirely revolutionized during the past few years. Old methods have had to go. Where public schools were formerly operated for the benefit of five per cent of the students—those who would eventually take up college work—they are now being operated with more thought to the other 95 per cent. The old type of school required that the student follow a prescribed course of training regardless of where his particular ability or tendencies might lean. Today the various courses offered cater to the individual, allowing him to follow to a large extent his desires and abilities.

The Smith-Hughes bill, named after the senator and representative who compiled it, was passed by the legislature early in 1917. Under this bill the Federal government initiates industrial schools and furnishes aid in the payment of instructor's salaries. The Federal government, the state and the community contribute equal amounts toward the support of the schools.

The new plan will practically revolutionize teaching in industrial departments. Formerly the student was compelled to digest the contents of some book written by an authority on the subject in hand and after leaving school was forced to apply these "book teachings" to the best of his ability. Under the Smith-Hughes plan the process is practically reversed. He must undertake some project, studying as he advances, thus acquiring a training which will lead to useful and gainful employment.

SCARLET CROSS IS FIGHTERS' EMBLEM

Adopted By Associations Working to Prevent Ravages of Tuberculosis.

The scarlet double barred cross, for eighteen years the international emblem of the fight against tuberculosis, has been copyrighted and hereafter may be used in Minnesota only by the Minnesota Public Health association and affiliated health organizations in every county which are combatting the deadly white plague.

This cross, known the world over as "The Cross of Victory" in the fight against tuberculosis, is the official emblem of the National Tuberculosis association and 1,100 affiliated health agencies. Authorization for its use has been granted the Minnesota public health organizations.

"The double barred cross stands for the control and elimination of tuberculosis," says a statement from Dr. C. J. Hatfield, managing director of the National Tuberculosis association. "In this sign, with organized community effort, tuberculosis will become practically unknown, instead of one of the most dreadful disease scourges of the ages as it is today."

The fight against the white plague and other preventable diseases in Minnesota is financed by the sale of Christmas Seals and Health bonds, which this year will be offered to the public in every community on December 1.

MORE WIFE BEATINGS FOLLOW BOOZE BAN IN CITIES, SAYS REPORT

Claimed That Former Heavy Drinkers Have Turned Surly and Are Taking Spite Out on Other Members of Family.

Statistics showing complaints of cruelty to wife and children have increased 298 per cent since prohibition arrived and more rapidly in the last six months than during the first half of the year were made public in the annual report of Albert E. Webster, superintendent of the Juvenile Protective association, of Chicago.

"Men who formerly drank heavily," the report reads, "have undergone a reaction which is expressed in surliness or abuse of the family." Other classes of complaints were also shown to have increased. Juvenile delinquency has increased 40 per cent; complaints against disorderly houses 80 per cent or about 70 per cent over the war period and complaints against runaway or immoral girls 100 per cent or 80 per cent over the war period.

On the other hand complaint against adults contributing to child delinquency on account of liquor has decreased 74 per cent since the 18th amendment went into effect. Prosecution for non-support has decreased 24 per cent. Disorderly conduct charges were cut in half and insanity charges were reduced 60 per cent.

Wheat Growers Joining Better Price Movement

Oklahomans, representing the National Wheat Growers' association, were in St. Paul on Monday enroute to Fargo which is to be their headquarters while organizing the wheat growers of North Dakota under their "fair return" banner.

The party is organizing the wheat growers of Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota to cooperate with those already organized in Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Kansas. Missouri also is to be organized before the first of next year.

Weekly Market Review.

(By Quinn-Shepherdson Co., Minneapolis, Minn.)

Any halt in the downward procession seems to be due only to a temporary, technical condition. The general public idea is still psychologically creating deflation in commodities of every description and grains, being directly affected by the strained financial status of Europe, are particularly sensitive to the main current of public opinion.

The problem of finding a buyer with real hard cash for our surplus grains remains the paramount factor. Pessimism thereby is not necessarily implied, but the fact should not be dodged. The trade looks forward optimistically to a more satisfactory outlet later, for, while it may be necessary for importing countries to enforce the strictest economy in buying, there is no indication of material reduction in world consumption and the normal domestic and export demand should eventually assert itself.

In coarse grains individuality is lacking. The weight of supplies is a handicap to advancing prices that for the time being cannot be overcome, and weakness in wheat, which is statistically in a tight position, therefore, only accelerates the declines in corn and oats.

Corn, however, is on a domestic basis with the novelty of some export business now being worked and this commodity appears to be thoroughly liquidated. With the possibility of a holding tendency more or less on the part of producers and the resumption of our normal domestic demands that cannot indefinitely permit continued postponement of feed and milling requirements, higher prices are conceivable.

Recent reports from Argentine estimate the wheat crop there as 160 million, which compares unfavorably with the production of last year, 214 million. Australia promises a larger yield than her previous crop, 130 million as against 48 million. On this basis, the total surplus of North America, Argentine, Australia and taking a possible 40 million from India, there is a visible exportable surplus available for European and non-European countries that aggregates 613 million. The total wheat requirements of the importing countries is authoritively estimated at 700 million. These figures however, have apparently little consideration since it is generally conceded that importers have already purchased in North America sufficient supplies to carry to the first of the new year when cheaper wheat from other sources will be available, and that a possible actual shortage will not be felt until spring and that moreover, the present weakness of foreign exchange and the unprecedented economic conditions abroad are dominant and may continue so.

Fundamental conditions, as we view it, are still opposed to any advancing values.

LOCAL POULTRY EXHIBIT SCORES GREAT SUCCESS

Event Draws Six Hundred and Fifty Entries From Three Northwestern States.

Thousands View Rabbits, Ducks, Geese, Turkeys and Chickens at Auditorium.

Local Exhibitors Make Great Showing—Prize Winners Not Yet Recorded.

The fourth annual show of the Pennington County Poultry Association which closed yesterday, drew over 650 entries, exceeding the number of last year by approximately 200. North Dakota, Southern Minnesota and Wisconsin were represented, several exhibits coming from as far as 340 miles distant. Practically every class of birds in the meat, ornamental and egg divisions were represented: American, Asiatic, Mediterranean, English, Polish, Dutch and ornamental bantams. Turkeys, ducks, geese and rabbits were also exhibited in numbers.

Thousands of Spectators.

The interest displayed by residents of the city, Pennington county and many neighboring counties, brought about an exceptional attendance. It is estimated that 5000 persons viewed the birds and rabbits on exhibition, many driving long distances across country and others coming in for a short stay between trains in the day time and evening. Interest in the poultry exhibits has been far more keen than in the live stock exhibits held here recently and bids fair to rival that of many county fairs.

Local Exhibits Show Improvement.

Many exhibits were entered by local poultry breeders and with an exceptional showing. The quality of these exhibits has greatly increased over last year and shows exceptional promise for the year to come. The officials of the poultry association express the opinion that the show of 1921 will show a progress as marked as that of this year. They will make every effort to have a fish and game exhibit in connection with the fifth annual poultry show, a feature that was almost secured for this year. It is also possible that the 1921 show will present an open class as well as a class for professionals.

One of the features of the show was the great number of sales and exchanges made among poultry breeders present. This is one of the great drawing cards of any poultry show in that it is a fine advertisement medium. The advertising value is looked upon as only second in value to the educational element present.

Winners Not Known.

Alvin Hoberg of the Poultry Department, University Farm, St. Paul, conducted the judging in a thorough, conscientious manner. The complete list of prize winners will not be available for several days as the show committee must complete the checking up of records. Some of the birds will be disqualified. Others are so closely tied for high honors that it will be necessary to proceed in strict accordance with regulations laid down by the American Poultry Association. Sweepstakes honors will be announced within a week's time.

Case of "Wolf, Wolf."

Someone, no one knows whom, claims to have heard cries for help originating from somewhere in the vicinity of the Soo trestle on Tuesday evening and many stories as to the drowning of several boys and girls have gone the rounds. At the time of going to press the Times has been unable to learn of any person or persons who are reported as missing and the story is apparently without foundation.

FIFTY VOICES FOR PHILHARMONIC CLUB

Organization of Vocal Talent of City to Fill Long Felt Need.

Through the interest of several prominent men and women of Thief River Falls a meeting of the musically inclined was held at the Commercial club rooms on Monday evening and a choral or philharmonic society formed. Officers were elected and rehearsals will start in the very near future. The formation of this musical organization fills a long-felt need and comes as the climax of several attempts of the past few years. Few cities of this size are without a philharmonic society.

Dr. O. F. Mellby was elected president of the society; W. A. Barnard, vice president; Miss Dora Holmes, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Nate Harris, librarian. The community is fortunate in having an able director in Miss Maude Johnson, music instructor in the city schools. She was unanimously elected as director of the new organization. E. M. Bennes, V. C. Noper, W. A. Barnard, Mrs. L. F. Fisher and Mrs. C. A. Nason were appointed to a committee of five, for the purpose of securing all musical talent within the city or immediate vicinity.

The membership fee was set at $1 per year, members to purchase their own music. Rehearsals will take place every Friday evening in the Commercial club rooms, which are admirable for that purpose. A committee of five was appointed to secure suitable sheet music, the first rehearsal to be on the evening of December 3rd. Directly after the holidays work on a cantata, an oratorio or possibly a light opera, will begin, it being the purpose of the society to stage at least one concert this season. Directly after the business session on Monday evening those present were given a short "try out" by Miss Johnson and it is her opinion that exceptional talent was present.

Thirty four persons attended the meeting upon request and became charter members of the choral union. Church choirs were represented and many who have done chorus work in other cities were present. The committee appointed on membership will make every effort to secure all vocal talent possible, and it is hoped that no one will be overlooked.

While much enjoyment will come from the formation of this society, it is not in any sense a social organization. Thief River Falls is richer by its formation. When the organization is complete 40 or 50 voices will make up the chorus.

PROMINENT CITIZEN DIES ON THURSDAY

John L. Durbin, Figure in River Industry, Passes Away After Long Illness.

John L. Durbin, for many years a familiar figure in the life of the city, died quietly at his room in one of the leading hotels here at noon last Thursday, following an illness of long standing. Services were held in the Larson chapel on Saturday evening under the Masonic Ritual and the body escorted to the Soo station for shipment to Minneapolis. In accordance with the last wishes of the deceased, the remains will be cremated.

Mr. Durbin was born at Spring Mountain, Ohio, February 27, 1857, coming to Thief River Falls in 1898, where he died at the age of 64 years from a complication of diseases. By trade a stationary engineer, he was employed by the Meehan Lumber company and later by the Winton Brothers Lumber company in the earlier days of the milling industry of this city. He was a familiar figure of the river life and in later years was engineer of the city fire department, retiring from active work about ten years ago. He resided at Thief River Falls continuously with the exception of about one year which was spent with relatives in Michigan. The nearest relatives of the deceased are two grandsons, Russell and Dale Durbin, who live with their widowed mother at Crystal, Michigan.

Mr. Durbin lived an exemplary life; was a staunch member of Masonic Lodge Number 236, in which he at one time held a minor office. He was looked up to as an authority on Masonic questions. He was also a member of Winslow Chapter Number 182 of the Eastern Star.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY MEETING ON NOV. 17

Mothers, Wives, Daughters and Sisters to Meet to Complete Organization.

Sisters, wives, daughters and mothers of ex-service men and members of the American Legion are urged by the local post to attend a meeting which will be held at the Commercial club rooms on Saturday at 2:30 p. m. for the purpose of completing the organization of a Woman's Auxiliary to the Elmer Eklund Post No. 117 of the American Legion. The only requisite to becoming a member of this auxiliary is a near relative, deceased or living, who served with the U. S. forces during the world war.

The purpose of such an organization will be to co-operate with the legion in the program for world-wide benefit which is being, and will continue to be, staged. Such an organization will be non-political and non-sectarian. Auxiliary posts are rapidly being formed in every state in the union. The Legion posts are doing their utmost to perfect the auxiliary organizations upon the belief that the American Legion will be successful in proportion to the success enjoyed by the Woman's Auxiliary.

Legionnaires are of the opinion that the formation of an auxiliary in Thief River Falls can best be secured by a large attendance of those eligible to membership at the meeting of Saturday afternoon; and that every sister, wife, daughter or mother of a former service man, deceased or living, [illegible] feel under obligation to attend.

Two Moose and One Deer Record Kill of Big Game

Of the big game hunters who have returned, Leonard DuCamp, W. J. LaBree and Julien Provencher have the biggest story to tell. The three brought down one fine deer and two bull moose, one of the latter being of exceptional size. The kills were made on the north branch of the Rapid river some eighty miles northeast of here. Owing to the fact that the swamps, where it is necessary to penetrate for moose, are not frozen and to the inaccessibility of the country along the branch of the Rapid river, the game can not be hauled out until colder weather sets in and the country becomes passable for a team.

STATE HONORS FOR "DIAMOND," GUERNSEY CALF

Conklin Sisters Win Second and Fourth Places in State Live Stock Exhibit.

Fat Lambs Shown By Brother and Sister of Grygla Win Recognition.

Northwestern Section Well Represented—Kittson County Boy Best Judge.

The northwestern part of Minnesota was well represented at the Junior Livestock show at South St. Paul last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and many honors went to boys and girls from this community. Ruby Conklin won second place and a cash award of $25 with her exceptional Guernsey calf "Diamond." Pearl Conklin secured fourth place in the same class and won $20 with the calf "Beauty." Grygla took honors in the fat lambs exhibit and a Kittson county boy proved to be the best stock judge. The boy and girl prize winners were all members of Boys' and Girls' clubs which are proving such a factor in the development of the resources of the state.

Competition Keen.

The calf, "Diamond," is from the prize Guernsey herd of F. B. Conklin of this city and was shown by Ruby Conklin at the local livestock show and Crookston, taking highest honors at both places. Eighteen dairy calves were shown in the Guernsey class at South St. Paul and competition was very keen. In view of the fact that the grand champion and the only competitor for the Conklin calf, won first place at the Minnesota State fair, first place in the state herd at Mankato, first place at the National Dairy Congress at Waterloo, Iowa, and second place at the International exposition at Chicago, points to "Diamond" as a future prize winner in any competition. The grand champion was several months older, or the outcome would have been in favor of the northern Minnesota calf. The judge of the dairy calf exhibits, Kildee, of Ames, Iowa, stated that but for the age and size of the grand champion, the Conklin calf would have taken the higher honor.

Pearl Conklin took fourth place with the Guernsey calf "Beauty," an exceptional showing in view of the calves on exhibition.

"Diamond" will be shown as a second year project at many livestock exhibitions next year and is sure of an exceptional record.

Grygla Makes Showing.

Six fat lambs were shown by boys and girls from Goodridge, Grygla and Thief River Falls, Grygla taking the highest honors in this instance. Forty-five fat lambs were entered in the state competition, six of these being from the above mentioned places. The lamb shown by Leslie Sheldrew of Grygla took third place and the lamb shown by his sister, Evelyn Sheldrew, secured fourth place. These lambs also took high honors at the local and Crookston shows.

Dairy calves will not be sent to the International show at Chicago this week, though the boys' and girls' clubs of Minnesota will be represented by the winner of the stock judging contest. Junior exhibitors were tendered a banquet at the Athletic club, St. Paul, on Friday night, a short program and presentation of loving cups following.

Best Live Stock Judge.

Record prices resulted from the beef type calves and fat lamb shows. The prize winning beef steer sold for 86c per pound at the sale which took place immediately after and in connection with the junior exposition. Fat lambs sold at prices from 11c to 34c per pound, the latter figure being paid for the winner of first place.

Carl G. A[illegible], of St. Vincent, Kittson county, won first place in the livestock judging contest at the University Farm in connection with the third annual junior livestock show. In addition to winning medals the boy will be one of a trio to represent Minnesota at the International livestock show at Chicago next week, competing with teams from other states. They will get a free trip.

ARTISTS IN FIRST NUMBER OF COURSE

Talented Musicians in Concert Augur Well For Future Numbers of Lyceum Course.

The city will be visited by exceptional talent during the course of the winter and the Lyceum Course booked by the Woman's club, if the musical given on [illegible]day evening by the Redpath Concert Orchestra is a criterion of what is to follow. The attendance more than reached the expectations of the sponsors and most of the admissions were on season tickets. Every number on the program from ensemble to finale was received with a spontaneous applause that assisted the artists in giving their best performance.

No words of praise are too high for the work of the concert orchestra and of Edward Barrow, tenor. Each member proved himself or herself an artist both in orchestrations and trios, and in solo work. Mr. Barrow's numbers were too limited to fully satisfy the audience. His rendition of "Gloria Te" (Peccia) was of a character to place him high among the greatest vocal artists of the country. Miss Roseland's piano solo, "Tremello" (Gottschalk), was greeted with enthusiasm as great as any other number of the program and her accompanist work betokened an artistry never before displayed in this city.

Miss Enoflicekova, violinist, is without a doubt the greatest artist on that instrument who has ever appeared in Thief River Falls. Her difficult and most beautiful selections were executed with an apparent care and technique that made them seem as nothing but "child's play" for her. Her solos were followed by that short, breathless silence on the part of the audience, which is the greatest compliment that any artist in any performance can receive. Thief River Falls is indeed fortunate.

The next number of the Lyceum Course will be presented on December 1. The Baker Trio, starring Miss Elsie Baker, the celebrated American contralto, will be another of the distinct musical treats to be brought to the community during this season.

HIGHWAY ENTRANCE TO CITY APPROVED

Blue and White Trail Entrance to City Follows Most Beautiful Avenue.

Members of the Commercial club in assembly at the weekly noonday luncheon last Thursday voted their approval of the present routing of the Jefferson Highway through Thief River Falls. This action was taken in order that the Board of Directors of Pennington county could incorporate the route traversed by the highway, in State Road Number 1 which is the Jefferson Highway. When action is taken by the county board, the roadways in question will be maintained by the state through the workings of the Babcock Amendment, with the possibility of their being paved at an early date.

The Jefferson Highway, then, enters the city from the south along the grade of County Ditch Number 10; proceeds along Riverside avenue thru the business section on Main avenue to Sixth street, and west on Sixth to the city limits. The beauty of this entrance into the city rivals that of any of the summer-resort neighbors to the south. The well kempt appearance of lawns and boulevards along Riverside avenue was commended by speakers at the noonday feast.

Today being Thanksgiving, the weekly luncheon was adjourned until next week Thursday.

LOCAL POST ADOPTS CONSERVATIVE PLAN

Officers Elected For Coming Half Year—Membership to Be Given Boost.

The following officers were elected for a term of six months at the semi-annual meeting of the Elmer Eklund Post Number 117, held at the Evelyn hotel on Tuesday evening: President, Oscar Smith, vice Fred T. Scanlan; first vice-president, George Loken, vice Carl Nelson of St. Hilaire; second vice-president, Gilmore Husby, vice George Werstlein; secretary, G. Howard Smith, re-elected; treasurer, Edward Brevig, re-elected. H. S. Snyder, Henry Froseth, Kenneth Wattem, W. C. Peterson and Dan R. Maue, chairman, were appointed to the dance committee to serve for a period of three months. John Brumund, chairman, Ray Johnson and W. A. Hall were appointed to a newly-formed show committee and L. H. Lawrence, chairman, Dan R. Maue and H. O. Chommie to a committee on basketball.

Entertainment Program Conservative.

Plans for the coming half year were discussed. Owing to poor financial results of dances given during the past year, dances and carnival balls will not figure as prominently among Legion activities during the months to come as they have formerly. A big New Year's ball will be staged and possibly one before and after Lent. The semi-monthly dances will be discontinued. The newly-formed show committee will arrange for such attractions as are deemed advisable in consistence with the conservative policy suggested for the season's activities. Tentative plans in this respect include a home talent play or a mammoth production along the lines of "The Days of Forty-nine."

An early completion of the Woman's Auxiliary organization was urged, that the Post and Auxiliary may co-operate for the advancement of ex-service men's interests in the locality and for the betterment of the community at large.

It was voted to raise the local membership dues to $2.50 for the year 1921. This will bring the total annual dues to approximately $5 as it is expected that state dues will be raised to $1.50 and national dues to $1.

Old members are strongly requested to renew their membership for 1921 and every effort will be made to secure new members in view of the fact that Legion support will be necessary to the four-fold Bonus bill which comes before the Senate at the coming congressional session.

After the adjournment of the business session a buffet luncheon was served and general conversation prevailed, the evening ending with a large group at the diversion common to ex-service men.

SCHOOLS OF CITY TAKE PART IN ADVANCED PLAN

Scientific Tests Being Conducted Under Supervision of University of Minnesota.

Average Record of Sixty Thousand Pupils Forms Basis For Present Standard.

Promotions in Grades to Be Made Semi-annually as Result of New System.

Scientific tests, about which much has appeared in periodicals during recent months, are being conducted in the schools of Thief River Falls. Of the fifteen hundred pupils at present attending public grade or high schools, approximately a thousand have completed these tests, making it possible to analyze the entire system and to locate any weak spots in the same.

Many of the larger cities have secured specialists to conduct such tests, and many others are making the necessary arrangements for them, but in comparison with the percentage completed, Thief River Falls stands high. The twin city schools are working rapidly but with a great deal of ground to cover.

Not An Experiment.

The present system of tests is being conducted by the superintendent of city schools, not as a hobby or an experiment, but under the direction of the University of Minnesota, as post graduate work. It is practically an outgrowth of the psychological tests as applied to the U. S. armies during the recent war. Sixty thousand school children from Maine to California and from Minnesota to Texas were recently given these tests for the purpose of securing a random standard of intelligence in all grades upon which to judge.

In accordance with this scale of measurement the incompleted tests in the schools here already show some grades above and some grades below.

Simple But Efficient.

The tests, which have been standardized by the Administrative Section of High School Conference, University of Minnesota, are remarkably simple, though far reaching in value. Various sets of questions, problems or figures constitute the entire system. The pupil of the third grade and the university graduate would be tested by the same set. A stop watch is used to accurately gauge the time. The third grade student answers as many of the questions as possible in a given length of time and the university graduate does the same, of course, going farther down the list and possibly reaching the last question. The number of correct answers constitutes the score for that test. The average of scores for the various tests when compared to the average adopted as the standard for the normal pupil or person, produces the desired information.

Semi-Annual Promotions.

As a result of the work the practice of promoting pupils at the end of each year will be discontinued, to be replaced by a semi-annual promotion. Each grade will consist of two divisions, an A division and a B division. Pupils will pass from the A division of any grade to the B division of the next higher grade at the end of the first or second semester's work, or from the B division of a grade to the A division of the same grade at the end of either semester. Pupils are not promoted over any gap. Each successive half will continue exactly from the point where the previous half left off.

The adoption of this plan of promotion will permit a child to start school at the beginning of the first semester in September or at the beginning of the second semester on January 17. This also applies to children who were not old enough to start in September but who would become old enough by the 17th of January. There are about 30 kindergarten children who will thus be old enough to enter the first grade at that time. Through this practise the child would not be forced to wait an entire school year.

FARMER URGED TO CUT PRODUCTION

American Bureau Federation Officials Declare For Price Level Restoration.

Advice to farmers to curtail production activities and wait for price adjustments was given in statements today by J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation and C. W. Hunt, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau federation. They declared the market price of many farm products was below the cost of production and, while not contemplating a farmers' strike, urged producers to "slow down" until prices adjust themselves.

"The farmer ought not take a 72 per cent reduction and be compelled to buy clothing and farm machinery at a 15 per cent reduction," said Howard.

"We believe there is no great surplus of foodstuffs. Wheat this year is under production, oats are normal, there is an over production of rice and corn, but all meats are short."

Hunt gave figures showing that the cost of production was higher than the market price in several cases. Wheat, which he said cost $1.88 a bushel to produce, was selling at about $1.50 and corn, costing the farmer $1, was selling at 50c to 60c.

"The market is showing some response already," he said, "and in 60 days there ought to be a readjustment in market prices."

Farmers Union Call for Strike.

A national producers strike at Kansas City, Mo., to combat the falling prices of farm products was urged in a call sent out recently by the National Farmers union to its local unions throughout the country. The union is said to have 800,000 members.

It was asserted American farmers have been robbed of $1,000,000,000 in reduced value of products now on hand.

Stag Party.

E. M. Bennes and O. D. Ostby entertained at a "stag" card party, 35 of their U. C. T. brethren at the former's home, 103 Markley Ave. S., last Saturday evening. A delicious lunch was served at 12 o'clock.

NOTED CONTRALTO TO APPEAR HERE

Elsie Baker and Company in Concert, Second Number of Lyceum Course.

The Elsie Baker company appears at the city auditorium next Wednesday as the second number of the Lyceum Course. The executive committee of the Woman's club wishes to point out that this one number is alone worth the price of admission for the entire course. Grand opera prices have been paid to hear Miss Baker and grand opera prices are paid to secure phonograph records made by her.

Miss Baker's work is well known to everyone, because of her large number of phonograph records made for Victor and for her transcontinental tour under the Redpath Bureau. Her contralto voice is big but very flexible and she sings without affectation. Her style is straight-forward, natural, and her songs are given with a musical insight and rich vocal quality that make them very effective. Her program will be varied enough to suit every taste.

With Miss Baker will appear William Durieux, well known cellist, who has appeared with the Lamoureaux orchestra of Paris, at the Rotterdam Conservatory and with Walter Damrosch, Victor Herbert and others in the states. A pianist of ability will accompany Miss Baker and Durieux.

In view of the fact that the Redpath orchestra met with such a hearty reception last Thursday evening, a full house is expected on December 1 and those who expect to attend are advised to secure seat reservations at an early date.

INITIATORY BALL ON DECEMBER 17

Elks' Ladies Make Use of Last Opportunity to Give Leap Year Festival.

At the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls lodge of Elks on Friday evening plans for the Leap Year and initiatory ball on December 17 were completed. The following program has been arranged:

At 8:00 p. m. on that evening the Elks' ladies will hold a reception and musical at the city auditorium followed at 9:00 o'clock by a card party. Dancing will start promptly at 10:00. A banquet supper will be served in the auditorium at a later hour. The ladies will assume complete charge of the reception, musical and card party. A committee composed of Mrs. G. W. Connell, Mrs. A. Sapero, Mrs. H. A. Brumund and Mrs. L. H. Lawrence, chairman, was appointed to carry out the plans for the above.

At 8:00 p. m. the Elks will conduct initiatory work at the Masonic hall, with the expectations of completing the same in time to participate in the dancing at 10:00 o'clock. A class of 30 or 35 will receive their tender young antlers. An attendance of approximately 400 persons is expected, many of whom will come from out-of town points. Superintendent Barnard has arranged to have a passenger coach on way freight 56 on December 17, to accommodate members of the lodge who reside along the north Soo line.

Two Elected to Auxiliary Committee From 9th Dist.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop of Thief River Falls and Miss Emma Holm of Barnesville were elected to the executive committee of the state organization of the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Legion at the first annual convention at St. Paul on November 18 and 19. Miss Holm was elected from the southern part of the 9th District and Mrs. Bishop from the northern part. Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. J. H. Hardisty represented the Woman's Auxiliary to Elmer Eklund Post at the St. Paul convention. The organization of the auxiliary here is at present in the progress of completion.

Second only to the success of the American Legion is the success of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion. Minnesota has been the first state to form a state organization but others are following suit and the formation of the national organization is not now far distant.

INDIANS' FUNDS MAY FINANCE RED LAKE TRAIL

Proposed Highway to Form Outlet For Red Lake Indian Reservation.

Possibility of Incorporating the Trail in Trunk Highways in Near Future.

Steenerson or Knutson to Submit Bill in Case Legislation Is Required.

An enthusiastic meeting of Marshall and Pennington county men interested in the proposed highway east from Thief River Falls to the Red Lakes was held at Warren Tuesday forenoon at which time Congressman Halvor Steenerson was at liberty to attend and confer as to the best methods to pursue to bring about the project.

The meeting was arranged by the committee appointed last August and of which B. B. Brett of Stephen is chairman. The matter of federal aid had been suggested at the summer gathering and the knowledge of Mr. Steenerson regarding the funds available under the Federal Good Roads act was thought to be of great importance for it was clearly realized that neither Marshall, Pennington nor Beltrami counties would be financially able to build the road at this time.

Two Plans Plausible.

At the meeting Tuesday it became apparent that two plans might be utilized in carrying through the project. One of these was to have the Indians living north of the lakes petition the Commissioner of Indian affairs for a road which would be an outlet for their products and which road would be the one desired by the residents of Marshall and Pennington counties. The Department of the Interior might then appropriate Indian funds for the road through the reservation and secure federal aid in the completion of the road. Again it was thought that the state might build the road under the proposed Babcock system of highways, using state and federal money therefor.

Legislation if Necessary.

It may be necessary to have special legislation passed by congress to secure the building of the road and if such a plan is determined upon by the committee having the matter in charge either Mr. Steenerson or Mr. Knutson, the congressman of the district in which the proposed road would be located, will introduce the bill. Although the measure might be brought before the special session of congress which meets next month, it is doubtful if it could be passed at that time and would probably have to lay over to the spring session.

Error in Tabulation.

The tabulated election returns as printed in the Times on November 11, show several errors as the metal was rather badly juggled in making up of that section. In view of the fact that many readers file these tabulated returns, they will be reprinted in an early issue.

Pastors of Note Here in Three Day Meeting

The Zion church of Thief River Falls will witness one of the most notable events of its history this week when the three day home and foreign mission meetings will be held over the three days, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. It is expected that pastors and men will be present from all sections of the Northwest. The gathering will be of great importance.

Prof. L. Lillehei of the Augsburg Seminary, Minneapolis, will introduce the general theme of the meetings which is Ef. 5: 11-2[illegible]. On Sunday there will be a lecture on "Baptism" by one of the professors of the above mentioned college. Rev. John Matson, pastor of the Zion Free church of Minneapolis; Prof. Carl Nordberg, Rev. J. Mortenson and Rev. O. H. Sletten, president of the Lutheran Free church, will also take part in the mission meetings. The program is in the hands of the organization committee of the Lutheran Free church.

RED LAKE BASIN PLAN WINS FAVOR

Bill to Provide For Regulation of River Due to Pass Congress.

Residents of the eastern part of Pennington county probably will be glad to learn that the proposed Red Lake river improvement bill, which would straighten, deepen and widen the Red Lake river from the outlet at the lake to a point near this city and also establish a controlling dam at the lakes, is due to be passed by the special session of congress in December, according to Congressman Halvor Steenerson.

The bill has been reported out favorably by the committee to which it was referred and all that remains is final action thereon. If the bill becomes a law it will greatly assist the Red Lake basin conservation project and will permit the continuation of the proposed surveys recently ordered in connection therewith.

Thanksgiving Day.

The country and nation is in a great unrest: The political situation has gone wrong for many a voter; high prices prevail in some quarters and too low prices in others; the labor question is still unsettled; production seems to be at a standstill; poverty and want peer in at many a door; the thought "humanity must have somehow gone wrong" has flashed through many minds. Yet after all, greater bounty and security exist than ever before and the same faith which brought our Pilgrim forefathers over the endless ocean wastes, in search of relief from the oppression of old world teachings, to the shores of this great continent three centuries ago, must eventually prevail over the present situation—will prevail. There can be no other way.

Thanksgiving Day.

At an expense of a few million dollars, engineers and topographers claim that the Gulf Stream can be so diverted from its present course as to warm the entire United States—a diversion to relieve us from the pastime of shoveling the snow from our walks.

"Co-operation for farmers in Minnesota is in the hands of its enemies. So much for the campaign promises of Candidate Preus and his colleagues."—Polk County Leader.

There is a possibility that the farmers will accomplish just a little bit more for their own interests by sticking just a little bit more to their non-political organizations, and directing a little bit more—oh, just a trifle more—energy toward their marketing problems, for after all they are the important issues as far as the farmer is concerned. The State and National Farm Bureau Federation has been accomplishing things in a quiet kind of a way, if reports on produce marketed through Farm Bureau branches are to be given any consideration. The Farm Bureau plan is rapidly gathering headway. The plan is built on the same order as the associated fruit growers organization of the West, which put the raising of fruit on a business basis and stopped gambling and waste.

Is money tight or not? Examination of a very partial list of good causes asking financial aid shows that the total sum they ask is $102,000,000. When we see if they get it, we'll be able to answer the question.—Collier's Weekly.

PE-RU-NA

For Coughs, Colds and Catarrh

Mr. E. W. Marshall, Brampton, Michigan, suffering from Systemic Catarrh involving Head, Nose, Throat and Stomach, claims a complete cure. His letter is convincing:

"For the past two years I have been troubled with systemic catarrh. I used several boxes of Pe-ru-na tablets and they have effected a complete cure. I do not hesitate to recommend Pe-ru-na for all catarrhal conditions."

Mr. Marshall is just one of many thousands who have been benefited by Dr. Hartman's famous medicine in the past fifty years.

It is by stimulating the digestion, enriching the blood and toning up the nerves that Pe-ru-na is able to exert such a soothing, healing influence upon the mucous membranes which line the body. It is a wonderfully effective remedy to restore strength after a protracted sickness, the grip or Spanish Influenza.

Thanksgiving Day

The Nortz Lumber Company extends Thanksgiving Greetings to its large host of friends and patrons, who through their loyalty and patronage have made this day one of genuine thankfulness for us.

Thanksgiving Day! Really the end of the year for the people of this section, for it is the time of the year the crops have been harvested, the granaries filled and plans are laid for another year.

And this year's Thanksgiving should be most cheerful for the world is taking on a more normal aspect; prices of all commodities are being lowered; the orgy of high living is passed.

"Our Budget Plan will bring the New Edison this Xmas!"

THIS is the time of the year when our Budget Plan is most helpful. You ought to come in right away and find out what it can do for you.

In the first place, it will put a New Edison beside your Christmas tree, (how the family will rejoice!)

In the second place, it will stretch your Christmas dollar so that you'll hardly feel the purchase.

The Budget Plan treats the New Edison as an essential of life, such as a home, and arranges payments on the sound "time" principle. It combines modern business practice with thrift.

This way of treating a dollar actually makes it go farther. Let us explain how the Budget Plan brings the longed-for New Edison for what an extremely ordinary gift would cost,—and makes 1921 thrift pay for the balance.

SHE IS DELIGHTED WITH THE RESULTS

Never Has Headache or Dyspepsia Now—Nerves Steady Since Taking Tanlac.

"I am so thankful for the benefits I have received from Tanlac that it is real pleasure to recommend it," said Mrs. Freda Nestle, Apartment 11 Kenesaw Apartments, St. Paul, Minn.

"About a year ago I had a general break-down brought on by nervous indigestion. My appetite was very poor and the little I did manage to eat always disagreed with me. I was so nervous that the clinking of typewriters, ringing of telephone bells and other noise around the office where I was employed almost drove me distracted and it was utterly impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. I had terrible spells of headache and often became so dizzy that I would fall. I kept getting worse until I had to give up my position and could not even do my housework.

"A friend who had taken Tanlac advised me to try it. I commenced improving right from the start and in a short while I was feeling like a different person. I now feel as well and strong as I ever did in my life and can do my housework with perfect ease. I have a splendid appetite and can eat three hearty meals every day and never suffer a particle afterward. I have gained several pounds in weight, my nerves are as steady as can be, and I can sleep like a child all night long. I never have a headache or become dizzy any more, and in fact am a well woman once more."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, and at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm.—Adv.

Take an NR Tonight

JUST TRY IT AND SEE how much better you feel in the morning. That "logy," headachy, tired, don't-know-what's-the-matter feeling will be gone—you'll feel fine.

TROUBLE IS, your system is clogged with a lot of impurities that your over-worked digestive and eliminative organs can't get rid of. Pills, oil, salts, calomel and ordinary laxatives, cathartics and purges only force the bowels and prod the liver.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and even kidneys, not forcing, but toning and strengthening these organs. The result is prompt relief and real, lasting benefit. Make the test. Nature's Remedy will act promptly, thoroughly, yet so mildly, so gently, that you will think nature herself has come to the rescue and is doing the work.

And oh, what a relief! You'll be surprised to find how much better you feel—brighter, better every way.

If habitually or stubbornly constipated, take one NR Tablet each night for a week. Then you'll not have to take medicine every day. Just an occasional NR Tablet after that will be sufficient to keep your system in good condition—keep you feeling your best.

BRUNSWICK
Method of Reproduction

The Ultona, an exclusive all-record reproducer, built as a part of the instrument, not an attachment, not a makeshift. But an invention which has upset all old ideas. Thanks to the Ultona, music lovers are freed from one-record phonographs, and may now hear all records, whatever make, played at their best.

See if you can find the equal of Brunswick tone

Hear The Brunswick, then make comparisons. That is our advice to every one who calls.

Thus we have gained such a tremendous following. For no music lover, however critical, can find an equal in tone, workmanship and finish.

The Brunswick brings to you new-day betterments, improvements you can't find elsewhere. No other phonograph has the Ultona. No other has the Brunswick Tone Amplifier. They are Brunswick patents.

And no phonograph is built better, for the House of Brunswick has been noted for nearly a century for its fine wood-crafting. Brunswick Phonograph cabinets are made by Brunswick, not bought here and there.

We invite you to come to any Brunswick dealer and ask him to prove our case.

Ask that he play your favorite selections. Then hear them on any other instrument. Let your ear be the judge. We never fear the verdict.

We've urged always that comparison be the basis of your purchase. And in over a half million homes there are Brunswicks that could never be replaced.

There is no record made that a Brunswick owner cannot play—and play better.

Over the Top With the A. R. C. Enrollment Drive

A complete report of the Red Cross enrollment drive was not available at a late hour yesterday, owing to the fact that county returns were not all in. Mrs. Andrew Craik, chairman of the drive, states that receipts will by far exceed those of last year, in spite of the disagreeable weather which prevailed on Saturday, the banner day of the short membership campaign. The outlying districts of the county are showing up very strong in comparison with last year.

Three hundred and twenty-five memberships were reported in the city. Goodridge has reported $60 which is a great deal more then Thief River Falls has done in proportion to the sizes of the two places. This gives a total turned in of $385, practically doubling the amount received in the drive of last year when the city yielded practically all of the memberships.

The solicitors from city or county are requested to turn in their money and names to Mrs. Andrew Craik, county chairman, not later than Saturday of this week.

Educational Films to Be Shown in County Schools

The Teachers' Progressive League of Pennington county has entered into a contract with Professor L. A. Leonard, authority on "Visual Education," whereby his series of entertainments will be brought to the school children and general public throughout the county. This entertainment consists of the showing of two moving picture films entitled "The Priceless Gift" (a health film) and "Little Jimmy" (a film with a moral.) The operator also carries illustrated songs, a stereopticon projector and shows illustrated songs accompanied by phonograph record music. The admission charged is 25c for adults and 15c for children. The films are of great educational value and the county is very fortunate in securing the services of Professor Leonard.

The following places are scheduled for an entertainment, on the dates designated: Tuesday, December 7, 8:00 p. m., St. Hilaire; Wednesday, December 8, Wylie at 2:00 p. m. and District Number 149 at 8:00 p. m.; Thursday, December 9, Erie at 2:00 p. m., and Highlanding at 8:00 p. m.; Friday, December 10, Goodridge at 2:00 p. m., and 8:00 p. m.; Saturday, December 11, Mavie at 2:00 p. m. and Silverton hall at 8:00 p. m.; Sunday, December 12, Thief River Falls court house at 2:00 p. m., and Monday, December 13, 8:00 p. m., at Hazel.

Why Go to California?

California has nothing on the northern part of Minnesota.

On the 22nd of November, last Monday, the Times office received a lilac twig all budded out and fairly ready to blossom, from the grounds of residence property on Horace avenue. Fruit trees are budding out as well and to such an extent that the first real freeze will possibly ruin the crop for the coming season.

The following entered the Physicians' hospital since last Thursday: Dale Ziegler, Mrs. H. F. Snyder, Mrs. G. W. Booren, Mrs. Lily Aga, Norman Aga, Theresa Althoff, Edna Haug, Agnes Liden and Bernice Halseth, all of this city; Bernhard Nelson and Mrs. G. Grindeland of Newfolden; Mrs. A. I. Enlistment Quota Reached.

Chas. Tveit of Trail enlisted for duty with the 5th U. S. Engineers stationed at Camp Funston and left Thief River Falls for final physical examination in Minneapolis on Monday. This completes the quota for the local recruiting station for the month of November. The local recruiting officers state that enlistments from the state for the month have exceeded by far those of any preceding month in the history of Minnesota during times of peace, 472 men having taken up service with Uncle Sam.

In That Vacant Space

If, in your home, there is a vacant space where you plan to place a phonograph "some day," why not now?

Fill it with an Aeolian-Vocalion.

After supper tonight you would have all the pleasure that "something new" brings.

It is fun to operate a phonograph. It is twice as much fun if the phonograph is an Aeolian-Vocalion, because then you really do something besides making mechanical adjustments.

You play the Vocalion with the Graduola. It is play. There is no "learn how." The Graduola is a flexible, expanding "throat." You learned how to use a throat years ago.

An Invitation

A cordial invitation is extended to you to call at our store and hear the Aeolian-Vocalion and play it for yourself. It does not require any learning. The moment the Graduola is taken in hand, its use is instinctively understood.

What Happens in the Dark?

The farmer receives on an average only about one-third of what the consumer pays for meats, grains, fruits, wool, vegetables and cotton. Somewhere between producer and consumer an enormous toll is added to the cost of farm-grown necessities.

The city consumer, not seeing the profit-taking along the road to him, blames the farmer for high prices. The local farmer, not knowing just what does happen in the dark, is at the mercy of the system. To turn on the light is one purpose of

THE FARM-BUREAU MOVEMENT

Your local farm bureau is an important link in the great American Farm Bureau Federation which is fighting the farmer's market battles for him. The Federation has no quarrel with honest middlemen or efficient merchants, but it does have with the gouging in-betweens, speculators and gamblers.

The Federation is demanding that the Government hasten to furnish official figures on the cost of producing farm crops so that the public may know and attention be focused on what happens in the dark.

Many other big, constructive plans that you are too busy to attend to are being pushed for you by the Federation, and THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN urges you not to remain neutral but to join your local farm bureau, if you are not already a member, and to help fight your own battles.

Out of wide national experience THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN advises this. Its editors and contributors travel 300,000 miles a year to study your problems and to put its shoulder to every good movement in your interest.

If you are not a neutral farmer we would like to count you among our subscribers. Send us $1.00 for a yearly subscription and we will mail you fifty-two big issues crammed with farm news, courage, smiles, many proven helps and well-tried plans, strong cartoons, good pictures, bully fiction—a total of 3000 pages of help and hope, of national service to farmers. Editorial.

Three hundred years ago on a cold bleak wintry day a small vessel sailed into a tiny harbor, on what is now the coast of Massachusetts and deposited its travel-weary passengers. These few passengers had buffeted the heavy seas of the Atlantic for the sole purpose of having a freedom in which they might worship in their own religion. The country at that time was a trackless wilderness with absolutely no white inhabitants. Here our travel-worn ancestors established their homes.

During the exceptionally cold and long winter a great many perished but as spring dawned all again seemed bright. The crops were put in but however midsummer found them facing a drouth which lasted for many weeks and threatened to destroy their crops. For weeks rain failed and the corn began to wither and die. It was then as before, in time of stress, they turned to the aid of God and after a day of fervent prayer rain began to fall, and again it seemed that their life in their new home would be a success.

So it happened that after the gathering of their crops, which were saved by the timely rain, set aside a day for thanksgiving to God who had saved them from starvation. Hunters were sent out and a great deal of meat, both venison and wild turkey, was brought in for the thanksgiving feast. Some of their Indian friends were invited. These Indians brought with them a large quantity of corn which is now known as pop-corn and also wild turkeys with cranberries which had been picked in the nearby bogs and marshes. Thus America celebrated her first Thanksgiving.

However, it was a great many years before it was observed as a national holiday. It was due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Sarah Josepha Hale, who after writing a great deal was successful in having it observed in 25 states and three territories. Later when the battle of Gettysburg was fought President Lincoln proclaimed that the last Thursday in November be set aside as Thanksgiving day.

Minnesota celebrated her first Thanksgiving in 1860. She celebrated it with turkeys that were really fat, cranberries from her own marshes, pumpkin pies from home-grown pumpkins and flour which had come up the Mississippi, and now as another Thanksgiving is approaching, let us celebrate it with the same deep feeling as it was celebrated years ago after their first harvest in the new and free country.

In order to get more practice in actual debating, the debate forum of the Lincoln high school met four times during the last week, instead of two times per week, as before.

The forum consists of a number of upper classmen, and from these the team consisting of three regulars and two alternates, must be chosen. After each of the members of the forum has given a thorough demonstration of his or her debating ability, the team will be chosen from those who will be best able to defend the side that we are to represent in the first debate.

After the team is chosen, it must work together in order to build up a thorough and impregnable argument. This requires a great deal of work and consequently as much time as possible. Therefore it is necessary that the team be chosen as soon as feasible, and in order to facilitate the selection of the team, the meetings have been more frequent of late.

The first debate comes on Dec. 17, when we meet Roseau. The debate will be held in Thief River Falls, as Roseau does not expect to get a large enough audience there to pay expenses. What side we are to take has not yet been decided.

We were all interested in the speech given by Supt. Ziegler in chapel Wednesday morning, in which he talked of the educational value of school activities and the importance of the support of the student body. Dec. 17th we meet Roseau in debate; contests in oration and declamation will soon take place. The question is, do we, as a school, take any interest in these various activities? Supt. Ziegler said that we are all interested in our school, or we would not be here; but do we take any pride in our school? If we did we would not be defeated by schools whose total enrollment equals less than half of our freshman class alone, as happened last year. The Red Lake Falls high school was determined to beat us. Every student was intensely interested in their team and a victory by their team. And the disgraceful fact is that they did beat us. Why? No other explanation can be offered than that our opponents had a stronger support from their student body.

A person's success in debating or oration depends a great deal on his enthusiasm. Can it be denied that the contestant will reflect largely the enthusiasm of the school as a whole? If a debator knows that the school he represents is deeply interested in the outcome of the contest, his possibility of succeeding will be much greater than if he feels that no one cares particularly whether he wins or loses. Of course we all want our team to win, but is this spirit actuated by a sincere pride in our school, or is it just a feeling toward the individuals who take part in the contest?

Another thing which should receive a greater support from the student body is the Lyceum course which has been secured for this city by the Woman's club. These Lyceum course circuits were originated for the purpose of giving the residents of the smaller towns an opportunity to enjoy a higher class of talent than the community can otherwise provide. The educational value of this kind of platform work is an important factor in their success, so why not take advantage of the rare opportunity offered by this Lyceum course to enjoy hearing some of the highest talent in the country, that will be both entertaining and educational?

The students of the Thief River Falls schools will enjoy a vacation today and tomorrow to observe Thanksgiving. The President has set Nov. 25 aside as a day for national thanksgiving. What is Thanksgiving, anyway, that schools are suspended and the President declares it a national holiday? What does the day mean to us, the students of the Lincoln high? Is it simply a day of vacation, on which we feast and enjoy ourselves? Thanksgiving day originated as we know, with the Pilgrims, who were thankful to the Creator for the manifold blessings that had been heaped upon them. That is, as a rule, still the object of its observance, and the President has called upon the people of America to use the day to look backward and bring to mind the many things we have to be thankful for.

What have the students of the Lincoln high school to be thankful for? First of all, we have the privilege of attending one of the most progressive high schools in this great and glorious country of ours, America. That alone is one of the greatest blessings in the world today. The world thruout the ages has striven for enlightenment, for education and here we have at our command the result of the struggles of mankind since the dawn of civilization. We are enjoying the greatest rights, privileges and opportunities of a democratic nation, which cannot even be compared with some of the other nations.

Fates like those that have fallen on many of the other countries of the world as starvation, plagues, war and the like, are, so to speak, nearly shut out from our doors and we, the Americans have the opportunity to progress in prosperity and happiness with little hampering by these menaces which are so detrimental to a nation's or a people's general welfare and content. So let us therefore be thankful on this Thanksgiving Day of 1920 for those things that make this country, this community and city what it is and that we have the privilege of living in this what we hope may be a new era. Let us not forget Him who should have all our thanksgivings and gratefulness to its fullest extent.

Thanksgiving.

Three hundred years ago, Thanksgiving day, is the anniversary of the first Thanksgiving set aside by the Pilgrims, one year after their landing, to thank God for their crops and so much of their safety as fell on them.

Today we give thanks again. We owe to the farmer and to nature the expression of national thanks. Thanksgiving today means pretty much the same as the first Thanksgiving three hundred years ago. The Pilgrims did not know what a coal shortage meant, but they did know what a food shortage was and we can be very thankful today that we have no food shortage. They did not dream of a great war, but they did know what a few arrows could mean. Birth struggle, love and death are not changed in heart by modern life.

If you could imagine Miss 1920 and Miss 1620 sitting down to a Thanksgiving dinner you would see that time has not greatly changed human instincts. The Pilgrims of 1920 prayed, while we of 1920 are more likely to forget the prayer and sit down to a Thanksgiving dinner and never even let a prayer enter our minds.

The Pilgrims that came to America, "the largest and strongest nation," no longer have a single formula, but now represent many people, many creeds and many habits of life. On this Thanksgiving day let us all set aside a few moments for thankfulness and gratefulness.

Personals.

Forrest Ralston was taken ill during the fourth period Tuesday and had to go home, but he is recovering nicely.

The Boys' Glee club practiced Tuesday afternoon. Some of the boys are taking a great deal of interest in the club, but there are not enough to make a good glee club. It is hoped that more of the boys will join, since arrangements have been made so that there will be no basketball practice on afternoons when the club meets.

August Langseth reports that Macbeth has had another interview with the witches.

On Tuesday evening at the Athletic Board meeting, Pearl Shetler was elected manager of the girls' basketball team and Hugh McDaniel was elected manager of the boys' team.

On Friday evening Irma Marcoe and Mildred Hauglid left for Angus where they will visit at the latter's home. They will return Sunday evening.

Ole Helle (in debate): "They take the men's dues for the union out of their pay envelope otherwise they would not be able to collect more than 25 per cent of them."

Edward F.: "That's just like our class dues."

Marshall R.: "Have you any personals for me today?"

Matt B.: "No; I've handed them all in."

Marshall: "What person did you hand them to?"

Matt: "I had to flop nickels to see where they would go; in the "Progress," in the "Prowler" or in the waste basket."

Miss Hoorn leaves Wednesday evening for her home at Fergus Falls where she will spend the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. Melby says General Rangle was defeated in his classes this week.

Clarence Knutson is spending considerable time hanging around the "Lab." Guess he intends to beat Melby to his job. (Within a few years.)

Miss Patrick and Miss Poppitz will leave for Crookston Wednesday afternoon where they will spend the coming holidays.

Robbie: "Money or your life!"

Curly: "Make it life. I'm rather hard up at present."

Marshall Race visited at the home of Clarence Rice of Plummer over the week end.

On Friday, Nov. 19, the English four classes accompanied by Misses Levit and Patrick, went to the public library where Miss Levit gave instructions on how to locate books and find material on school work.

They say that after a little more practice we will have one of the best boys' basketball teams in the state.

We have noticed that a few of the high school girls have come back to a pre-war status and have nobly cut out the puffs.

Signed, A Few H. S. Boys.

What was the cause for all of the upheaval in room 102 on Friday morning? Ask Morris M.

Reuben Aasland in Eng. 2: "He had broad shoulders in which his sturdy legs were fastened."

Junior Class Meeting.

The Junior class met Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of selecting a committee which will meet regularly and plan the Junior-Senior banquet. No definite plans have been decided upon as yet.

Jokes.

Mr. Melby requested that his chemistry class hand in their note books Wednesday.

Ruby Bennes, a chemistry shark, didn't have any notes and to tell the truth she didn't have any note book. However she got a note book and went to class. This note book was blank. Did she succeed in her bluff?

Teacher: "What was the plot of "The Merchant of Venice."

Modern Student: "He was arrested for profiteering."

Teacher: "Johnny, who discovered America?"

Johnny: "Ohio."

Teacher: "Now you know better than that. Columbus discovered America."

Johnny: "Well, Columbus was his first name."

Mr. Melby has a new book of "formulas" that he is connecting.

Howard Dolan forgot his "spats" this morning. We hope he doesn't catch cold.

Miss Johnson, music teacher, is testing all the high school voices so there will be some harmony in the music.

Geometry teacher: "What is a polygon, (poly-gone)?"

Howard D.: "A dead parrot."

Miss Leavitt is conducting the Eng. IV class in library work. "Under L you will find a large number of books on the different lives of Lincoln."

Father, (to the son that had just started school): "What is the shape of the earth, Johnny?"

Son: "I don't know."

Father: "What is the shape of my cuff buttons?"

Son: "Square!"

Father: "That's my everyday ones, but what is the shape of my Sunday ones?"

Son: "Round."

Father: "Well what is the shape of the earth then?"

Son: "Square on everydays and round on Sundays."

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM IS ORGANIZED

Last Tuesday the girls were out for their first basketball practice. It is the intention of the girls to make this year the best ever.

Mr. Tommeraasen is the coach this year. The girls are very fortunate in getting him. Miss Dix will be assistant.

Pearl Shetler has been elected manager of the team for the coming season. It is expected that many more girls will turn out for the next practice because this is going to be the best season for the girls in basketball.

Red Cross Nurse Speaks.

On Friday morning during chapel, Miss Swanson of the Junior Red Cross appeared before the high school students speaking in behalf of the Junior Red Cross organization and the work it has and is going to accomplish in the devastated and plague stricken countries of Europe and in bettering the conditions in parts of our own country. She cited various instances where a great number of poor and starving people, mostly children, of Europe, have been relieved and helped as a result of the work done by the Junior Red Cross. A great deal of domestic work has also been done such as furnishing hospitals for children, Christmas festivals among the poorer classes, equipments for play grounds and in some cases bought automobiles for the traveling nurses.

She emphasized the fact that it is our duty to the community to join this organization which is doing much in promoting the general welfare. Therefore we should all enroll within its ranks because the larger the membership and the funds, the more work can be accomplished.

Bread Club Organization.

The Bread club was started in 1914 in our high school, Miss Hoag being the first advisor. Each year this club sends one member down to the state fair, this member being the one who can bake bread the best. Before baking in the contest, nine yeast breads, three quick breads and a story on "What I learned as a member of the Bread Making club" are required. At the state fair they again compete in the final contest. While they are in St. Paul they stay at the University Farm and are taken to many different places both in Minneapolis and St. Paul. Miss Johnson is now advisor of the Bread club and there are thirty members. At the beginning of the year the old members have a reception for the new ones and then they have two or three other parties during the whole year. At the end of the school term the club leaves something to the high school. Anyone taking Domestic Science may belong to this club and may compete in the contest for the trip to St. Paul.

Freshmen's Meeting.

The Freshman class has responded splendidly to the Senior's call for support and co-operation in putting out the "Prowler" at a recent class meeting. A sub-staff was elected to collect material and to take care of all contributions coming in from the members of the class. The staff is as follows:

Editor-in-chief—Elsie Blair.
Ass't. Editor—Robert McGinn.
Literary Dept.—Melvin Engelstad.
Joke Dep't.—Herbert Keene.
Kodak Dep't.—Hazel Kraus, Harriet Morgan.
Miscellaneous Dep't.—Gladys Kolden, Clifton Connor.
Athletic Dep't.—Palma Langseth, Matt Barzen.
Art Dep't.—Clifford Storholm.

If the other classes follow the example of the Freshmen, there can be no doubt as to the success of the 1921 annual.

Athletic Board Meets.

A special meeting of the athletic board was held on Tuesday. The purpose of this meeting was to elect a basketball manager for the boys' and girls' team; also to have a standard number of conference games a player must compete in before he is eligible to wear a high school letter, either in basketball or football.

The members of the board decided that if a player competes in one conference game of football, or two conference games of basketball and is a help to the team during the season, he is eligible for a letter.

The basketball managers elected were Hugh McDaniels for the boys and Pearl Shetler for the girls.

The players eligible for football letters under the new ruling are: Ernest Barzen, Hugh McDaniels, Russell Anderson, Jordan Penney, Dreng Bjornaraa, Milford LaBree, Charles Herron, David Evenson, Craig Halvorson, Bernard Sundahl, Allan Fossum, Harold Smithers, Ernest Zeh, Roy Holmgren, Howard Dolan.

Central Notes.

On Friday afternoon, Nov. 19, Dr. Froehlich and Miss Swanson gave interesting talks to the students of the Central high school. Dr. Froehlich spoke on health conditions and the efforts that are being made to help the pupils establish correct habits and personal hygiene. Literature has been secured from the Minnesota Public Health association and distributed among the pupils. This consists of individual cards for checking the duties done and an honor roll for each room showing the total numbers of scores for each pupil. In addition to this the pupils were weighed and their weights will be taken each month.

Miss Swanson, the Junior Red Cross organizer, spoke of the Junior Red Cross and the work they have accomplished in different cities and counties.

A number of pupils of the Central school have season tickets for the Lyceum course.

Prowler Staff Increased.

Several additions have been made to the "Prowler" staff at these last meetings. It was found and deemed necessary to have what is called the compilation board consisting of three members and the advisor, who are to compile the annual, that is, prepare the "dummy." Those selected to work on this board were: Associate editor, Mary Vance, Betsy Ness, Hugh McDaniels and the advisor, Miss Patrick. In this way the task of putting together the annual becomes more organized and less difficult to contend with, because those on the board act as typesetters—they put the material together; while the rest of the staff and substaffs act as reporters, bringing in the ingredients which will go to make it up.

It was decided that, as there were indications of a large number of activities in the various musical organizations, it would demand a department by itself. Ruth Hudrath and Anna Hincik were put in charge of this branch—the music department.

The staff of 1921 is hoping and looking for considerable support from the alumni of this high school. Most of those who have graduated from this institution at some time or other, undoubtedly have a warm spot in their hearts and have a spirit of loyalty towards it and therefore it ought to be but a consequence that they show this by assisting in producing this memorial to the school or in other words, contribute to the Alumni department of the "Prowler." In order that this may be made more successful, Marion Miller and Carl Sundahl, both of '17 were selected to assist the other members of the Alumni department in their efforts to get pictures, jokes, etc., from the Alumni.

At the last staff meeting it was decided to have a candy sale, the proceeds to go to defray some of the expenses for furnishing certain necessary things for a few of the departments, to be held the day before Thanksgiving, when the students feel for eating candy, especially when it's made by some of the Senior girls.

Northrup News.

A number of cases of whooping cough and chicken-pox have detained some of the children of the lower classes from school. Miss Trogan's class has been especially small the past two weeks with about sixteen absences. Miss Hoyt and Miss Nepper have also had a number of absences. The children should be cautioned and should be given good care particularly during this slushy weather.

The children of Miss Nepper's first grade have made a very attractive Thanksgiving table. All the dishes and provisions for the dinner have been made of plasticene. Some of the plasticene has been colored, so it makes the dinner even more attractive. In some of the grades they have been making Thanksgiving booklets into which they have put the story of the Pilgrims. The grades have also begun practicing their Xmas carols for their programs.

The grades of the Northrup school have been having a marching contest. Miss Bark's class won in the first contest, which was carried on last week.

Mr. Tommeraasen visits all the grades at the Northrup every Friday to give instruction in physical culture and to see that the children are securing correct training.

Girl Scout Demonstration.

Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 16, the girl scouts of Holt, under the supervision of Miss Lawrence, gave an interesting display of what girl scouts learn to do. First the girls went through a few drills and recited the scout pledge and laws. Miss Lawrence then gave a short speech on the origin, growth and development of the girl scouts' organization. She also explained how to organize and what is the tenderfoot test, the second class test and what one must do before one gets a golden eaglet, the highest medal or badge any girl scout can get.

A display of all the badges was given, followed by several girl scout games. The program ended with the singing of about a dozen songs by the entertaining visitors.

The purpose of this demonstration was to arouse an interest among the high school girls in the girl scout organization. We hope that Thief River Falls may after a while, have at least one troop of girl scouts.

Kapers of the Kubs.

The High School Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving Day has come round once more,
And the students in high school are thankful for:
Evelyn Saugen gives thanks for her brains;
Matt and Mirt, that the roads are still good for the Haynes,
Alfred Dybvik, the young Beau Brummel of the town,
Is thankful that fancy neckties have come down,
While Mil D. gives thanks for the neat little pile
Of combings which help to do her hair up in style.
What Kermit, is thankful for seems quite a riddle,
But it's just that his hair doesn't part in the middle.
Allan Fossum is glad that Marie is quite tall,
And Viola, that all actresses are not small.
To have a nice teacher to smile with and chat
Is splendid, so Vernon is thankful for that.
Edward is thankful to hear that as yet
Mrs. Castle no suitable partner has met.
Marguerite is so grateful, her job seems to suit,
As queen of the Joke Box, she reigns with King Knute.
David Evenson thanks for the feast that draws nigh,
With visions of turkey and hot pumpkin pie.
But the student that's thankful far more than the rest,
Is the student that passed in his Civic's test.
Violet gives thanks for the Vamp power she wields,
One glance from her eyes and a new victim yields.
And Betsy, our prim little Puritan Maid,
Gives thanks twice a week for the Ladies' Aid.
Sortlundt and Holzknecht, our janitors meek,
Are thankful for just five school days in a week.
Now, you might think it simply a huge mystery,
What makes them so thankful, the kind Faculty.
But, you know, that they're just tickled green all around
For their job teaching school in this good, lively town.
While to subdue Senior-Corner with glance bold and fierce
Is the cause for Thanksgiving with L. Nathan Pierce.

—Poe.

Junior: "Dreng can take pictures."
Friend: Is that so?"
Junior: "Yes, he can take everything he lays hands on."

Little Kermit's Note-book.

"If I couldn't get help with my examples at school I would take them home and get my sister to help me, but if I came for help with an easy problem with a little catch in it and she would have a hard time to get it she would get a little sore about it, so my sister never helps me any more."

Jordan: "I made a date to take her to the show and then to the dance afterward."

Harold S.: "Gee, did you inherit a fortune?"

Miss Elliott (in American history): "What is a panic?"

Beatrice: "It's a shortage of money."

John Hendry: "Then I'm in a panic right now."

Cleon B.: "I put a drop of ammonia in my ink and it didn't spoil the value of the ink either, because ammonia costs money."

Ernest Zeh and Jordan Penney were having a conversation about the war, in which the principal topic was cooties.

"Jordan: "You know Zeh, that Noah could have been the best friend the soldiers ever had."

Zeh: "How's that?"

Jordan: "If he would have struck the two cooties over the head as they marched up the gang-plank."

Mr. Ziegler, in class: "Now when I call on you, don't sit there and not say a word. It doesn't sound good."
—Diogenes.

Crude Oil and the Automobile

In 1913 (when there were 1,000,000 automobiles in the United States) oil producers drilled about 25,000 wells. The average paid for crude was 95c per barrel.

In 1914 producers had a little discouragement. The price for crude oil fell off to 81c average, and they drilled only 23,000 wells. These wells, however, proved exceptionally prolific and crude prices dropped to an average of 64c a barrel (40c in the Mid-Continent field). As a consequence of the over-production, the bottom dropped out of the gasoline market and low prices prevailed.

The low prices of crude made exploration of new fields unprofitable, and in 1915 only 14,000 wells were drilled. This halt in production enabled demand to creep up on supply, and caused crude to advance until it reached $1.10 per barrel.

Encouraged by the better prices offered, producers put down 24,000 wells in 1916. The unprecedented demand aroused by the war caused petroleum prices to soar, and, notwithstanding the activities in the producing field, prices have continued to advance because demand exceeded supply.

In August, 1920, the number of new oil wells brought in for that month alone was 3,513—the highest oil production mark in the history of the United States. Yet so great was demand that Mid-Continent crude stood firm at $3.50, and Pennsylvania crude at $6.10 per barrel, the prevailing prices.

The market price for crude is not apt to go off appreciably while demand continues to increase as during 1920.

Since 1913 the number of motor vehicles in the United States has increased approximately 7,450,607, and the forecast for 1921 is 10 million motor vehicles in the United States.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is straining every fibre and sinew of its highly specialized organization to increase the yield of gasoline from crude petroleum.

How well it is succeeding is indicated by the fact that an eminent authority states that the Burton process, originating in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has produced 40 million barrels of gasoline from heavy distillates, and has thus saved approximately 150 million barrels of crude oil that would otherwise have been necessary to produce an equivalent amount of gasoline.

Weekly Market Review.

(By Quinn-Shepherdson Company, Minneapolis.)

Despite holders desperate efforts to check the downward movement, world-wide critical economic conditions and industrial depression outweigh what under more normal conditions would prove effective in enhancing prices.

It's the buyer's market at his own price. Imminence of a break in the morale of holders adds another load to the markets since receipts now are proving more than adequate. Stagnation in other lines of business creates a public sentiment making extremely difficult the task of lifting values.

On accumulating evidence of curtailed European consumption of breadstuffs due to substitution of coarse-grain flour and extension of milling extractions wheat loses more friends.

Pre-war European importations of wheat and rye are shown as 650,000,000 to 700,000,000 bushels. Broomhall reports a remarkable decrease from this basis, occasioned mostly by substitution. France, as an example, is cited. Her present wheat crop is estimated at 237 million, consumption 344 million with wheat milled at 70% extraction. Increasing the extraction to 80% reduces the consumption figure to 312 million, and substituting 10 to 20% of rye or coarse-grain flour the consumption needs are further reduced to 272 million, leaving only 40 million for import.

As repeatedly pointed out in the previous reviews, the import requirements are necessarily estimates subject to changing conditions and even the present lowered calculations of European imports may be further reduced through absolute necessity.

For the crop year ending next year Broomhall estimates European wheat imports as 520 million and of other importing countries 40 million, a total of 560 million, while in an exhaustive compilation of statistics the U. S. Bureau of Markets intimates 440 million will be ample. Late Argentine and Australian advices indicate wheat surpluses of 112 million and 110 million respectively which with the North American and India's estimates would aggregate from 650 to a possible 670 million exportable surplus.

Recognition of the Russian Soviet government by Great Britain is regarded as a matter of trade expediency and particularly to obtain supplies of grain. There is still nothing in the situation as we see it to warrant belief in permanently higher prices for any commodity.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

Buyer Protected By Advertising

(Copyright.)

Time was when advertising did not occupy the place in the world of trade that it does today. It has not been so very many years ago that the people were suspicious of advertising. They were inclined to believe that the merchant was trying to "fool" them with his advertising, that he exaggerated the value of the merchandise he advertised and took that method of trying to get them to buy goods that he could not sell by the old established methods of merchandising.

Those days are gone. The public now realizes that it is the greatest beneficiary of advertising.

Advertising has done more in a decade to establish certain standards to merchandise than could have been accomplished in a hundred years by any other agency. The manufacturer who a few years ago merely made and sold clothes now makes and sells the Black brand of clothes. The man who formerly just made hats now makes Black's hats. And so it is with everything that one buys today. The manufacturer, by his advertising, has built up his business around a trade name and if he is to continue in business, he must protect that trade name by maintaining such a high standard of quality that people, when they buy his products will know just what they are getting. The consumer, when he goes into a store today, does not buy merchandise blindly, with HOPE that it will prove to be worth the money. He buys standard goods that bear the trade-mark of the manufacturer and that are backed by the reputation not only of the merchant who sell them but the manufacturer who makes them. This has been brought about by advertising.

No Reputation to Protect.

All this applies to the retail merchants as a class but it does not apply to the mail order business. The man or woman who buys goods from a catalogue house is not protected by the manufacturer of the goods for the reason that most manufacturers who sell goods to the mail order houses do not place their names upon the goods and therefore have no reputation to protect.

The great majority of articles listed and illustrated in the mail order catalogues are included in what is known among manufacturers as "stencil" stuff. These articles bear the name of the mail order house which sells them instead of that of the manufacturer who makes them. It can readily be understood that any manufacturing concern which turns out goods that do not bear the name or trade-mark is likely to be a very unreliable institution. It is not building up any reputation on the quality of its goods for its products have nothing to distinguish them from the products of any other concern. With no reputation to sustain and no chance of creating a general demand for its goods the only concern of a manufacturing institution of this kind is to make stuff as cheaply as possible in order to obtain the largest possible profit on its products.

Same Price World Over.

These facts are chiefly responsible for the generally prevailing idea that the home merchants do not sell goods as cheaply as the mail order house. They do sell the same quality of goods that the mail order house sell as cheaply as the mail order house sells it but they cannot sell the standard guaranteed products of responsible manufacturers at the same price at which the mail order house sells its nameless, unbranded merchandise. Standard goods bearing a registered trade-mark sell for the same price the world over and the manufacturer's guarantee stands back of them when they are sold in the smallest village in the country just the same as when they are sold in the stores of the largest cities.

This is what the national advertising of the manufacturers has done for the consumers of the country. It has enabled them to go into their home stores and buy merchandise which they know from past experience or from the reputation and guarantee of the manufacturer will give them satisfaction. They are not buying blindly and hopefully when they buy from the merchants in their home towns. They are buying with the knowledge that they are getting their money's worth. When they buy advertised brands they are getting double protection, that which is afforded by the responsibility of the retail merchant and that which is given by the reputation and guarantee of the manufacturer. When they buy the unknown brands of goods that are offered by the mail order houses they are getting neither kind of protection.

OPTIMISTIC STAND TAKEN BY COUNTIES

Farmers of Northwestern Minn. Place Faith in Next Session of Congress.

Conservative optimism that argicultural conditions will be satisfactorily adjusted in 1921 and that the next congress will enact laws favorable to the farmer, was reflected by bankers in every section of Minnesota, who replied during the past week to a special questionnaire sent to them by The Merchants National bank of St. Paul.

The questionnaire, sent out with a view to obtaining authorative expressions from every trade center, sought the views of the grain grower and the cattle man as well as their bankers. There was a difference in opinion in a few counties, but as a rule all reports were of an optimistic nature.

"Farmers have put their faith in the belief that the Republican party will make them feel better and give them better prices. Farmers say price conditions cannot be worse; they have put all their faith for a better 1921," said a Lincoln county financier.

"Stevens county farmers are skeptical regarding immediate congressional assistance," said a banker and added that "Congress must show them."

A Yellow Medicine county banker replied to all questions optimistically. So did a banker in Marshall county. The latter took occasion to charge that "speculators" were responsible for breaks in grain prices. The Douglas county attitude, as expressed by an Alexandria banker, was similar. A banker in Cottonwood county said the next congress "has a wonderful opportunity to aid the farmer and to quiet unrest." He hesitated to forecast reduction in production costs unless the labor situation is adjusted.

"A number of farmers have sold their personal property but others believe that 1921 will bring prosperity," said a Traverse county man. He expects decreased production costs and aid from congress.

"Farmers hope congress will come to their assistance," said a Grant county banker. Farmers in this locality fear that high production costs will continue.

"Optimistis reports were received from St. Louis county—one from Duluth and another from the Iron Range. The Duluth banker said: "Our ideas are that the cost of productions will be lower next year and undoubtedly prices to the farmer will be lower. We believe that congress, meeting after March 4, will undoubtedly enact some legislation that will furnish protection to the American farmer."

"Our farmers have every hope of favorable action by congress," said a Red Lake banker. A Marshall county farmer was optimistic regarding 1921 prices, so far as economic regulation is concerned. But, in commenting upon the attitude of farmers toward possible assistance from the next congress, he said:

"This is their dream."

Clearwater county farmers are optimistic despite their 1920 setbacks. So are farmers in Polk and a number of others of the northwestern counties.

It was noticeable from the reports that grain growers throughout Minnesota have been complaining vigorously regarding imports of Canadian wheat. Many of these farmers will also agitate for government action to reduce grain speculation, if possible. Business conditions seem to be improving in cities and rural trade centers. Buying has increased slightly but is considerably below the volume recorded last November.

Red Lake County Reaches Limit in Road Bond Issues

Red Lake county will be bonded to the limit of $25,000 for road work on the Jefferson Highway according to a resolution that passed the board of county commissioners by unanimous vote at their regular meeting when $177,000 more bonds were authorized.

To date $73,000 worth of road bonds have been sold to pay the cost of building the ten mile stretch of the Jefferson Highway now under construction. The additional $177,000 bonds will enable the county to finish the job of grading and graveling the road to the Polk county line on the east side of Section 25, Town of Lambert.

By this method the board of county commissioners wisely decided to build the main part of Red Lake county's portion of the Babcock highway system now and let the state pay for it later, rather than let the state take is own course in constructing the roads.

LIVE STOCK AT YEAR'S LOW POINT

Prices Break Sharply as Avalanche of Stock Pours in. Hogs Under $11.00.

Cattle: A run of 19,000 cattle and calves locally proved in excess of the demand. The market was very slow in opening and generally weak to 25c lower on all classes of killing cattle, with the exception of canners and cutters. Veal calves opened steady, best selling at $12.00.

Hogs: Receipts 15,000. Market 50 to 60c lower. Range $10.00-10.60. Bulk $10.50-10.60. Best pigs $10.00-10.25.

Sheep: Receipts 18,000. Market slow, mostly 25c lower. Top lambs $10.00. Fat ewes mostly $1.25.

South St. Paul, Nov. 24—A deluge of more than 1,000,000 cattle, hogs and sheep, poured into market hoppers at the seven principal central slaughtering points last week, proved too much for the trade to digest, and markets in all branches of the trade sagged unevenly under the pressure of such excessive receipts, with prices receding to new low levels for the year. The heavy marketings were responsible for hanging up new one-week receipts records of cattle both locally and at Chicago.

The cattle market at times approached a condition of near-demoralization with trading highly uneven and in virtually unquotable state. Most classes dropped anywhere from $1.00 to $2.00 per cwt., with inbetween grades of killers and lower grades of stockers and feeders declining most. A few sales of beef steers on the shortfed order were recorded from $10.00 to $12.00, with a single baby beef animal going at $16.00, but the bulk of the common and medium steers are being disposed of at $6.00 to $8.00. Most of the butcher cows and heifers are selling from $4.60 to $6.50 with canners and cutters at $2.00 to $3.75. Best light veal calves sold at $12.00 at the week's closing.

Hog values were discounted a dollar last week in line with conditions at other points and prices reached the lowest level since early in 1917. Bulk at the close sold down near the $11.00 mark.

Sheep and lambs declined in sympathy with the general trend of live stock prices and showed losses last week of 50 to 75c, with best native lambs closing at $10.00 to $10.25, and fat ewes at $4.50 to $4.75.

INFLUENCE AND AID TO RETAIL GROCER

Elimination of Wholesaler Must Raise Prices Says Stuart of N. K. Fairbanks Company.

The following appeared in the Bemidji Sentinel of November 19:

"The wholesale grocer is a necessary and valuable link in the distribution of grocery products," says C. B. Stuart, vice president of the N. K. Fairbanks company, in commenting on the stand taken recently by a large soap manufacturer in eliminating the jobber and selling direct to the retail grocer. The wholesaler brings about a greater distribution of merchandise, thus increasing the volume and lowering the prices to the consumer. To eliminate him from the schemes of things would raise prices instead of lowering them," continued Mr. Stuart. "With the jobber eliminated, the retail grocer would have to buy more heavily and carry larger stocks. This would tie up his capital or restrict his assortments to a very few brands. He would be compelled to pay increased freight charges on goods delivered to him in the individual shipments instead of one consignment from the jobber. In addition, the grocer would be put to the added expense of establishing credit relations with many different firms from whom he must purchase merchandise instead of with one jobber. He would lose valuable time in interviewing many strange salesmen instead of placing his order with the jobbing salesmen as he does now. He would lose touch with the wholesale markets and the new merchandise offered because all manufacturers who previously sold him through the jobber, could not hope to call on all the retailers seen each day by the jobber's salesmen. We have never viewed the work of the wholesaler as simply a mechanical function in the distribution of merchandise. We know him as the discoverer and traveler of new territories, as the friend and banker of infant business. He is a strong, stabilizing influence helping to keep business on an even keel. We have found him very necessary in our business. We believe that the wholesale grocery business as a business is fundamentally right and economically sound. The tremendous growth of the jobbing business proves these facts beyond dispute. By loyal co-operation and support, it has aided our company in the development of its business and is justly entitled to our continued support. We have announced to the wholesale grocery trade that we will in the future, as in the past, distribute our products to the retailers through the jobbers."

TRAIN — AUTO CRASH PROVES FATAL TO FOUR

Carl Gjesdahl, Brought to Hospital Here, Dies Without Regaining Consciousness.

Father, Son, Brother-in-law and Nephew Killed Through Crash at Crossing.

Ford Car Driven Blindly Into Moving Train Despite Warnings of Trainmen.

Carl I. Gjesdahl, aged 20 years, died at the Physicians' hospital here early Monday morning, never having regained consciousness since shortly after injury received in the auto-train crash near Delorme station, south of Red Lake Falls, at 9:30 Friday morning. The cause of death was given as a fracture at the base of the skull. Fred Gjesdahl arrived from Crookston on Monday morning and returned with the body to that place the same afternoon.

The tragic death of four men resulted from a collision between the automobile in which they were riding and Great Northern train No. 135, bound from Crookston to Warroad. W. Riel, Oklee and Peter Bolstad of Cooperstown, North Dakota, were instantly killed and Andrew Gjesdahl, father of Carl Gjesdahl, who died here, succumbed to fatal injuries while the train, which was rushing the injured to the hospital, stopped at Red Lake Falls.

W. Riel was a son-in-law of the elder Gjesdahl. His remains were taken to Oklee, where interment took place. He is survived by a wife and infant child. The remains of Andrew Gjesdahl, his son Carl, and of Peter Bolstad, a nephew, were interred at Crookston. The two Gjesdahls are survived by Mrs. Andrew Gjesdahl and her son Fred.

Passengers See Car.

From the statements of passengers, Train No. 135 was proceeding on schedule time toward Red Lake Falls and traveling at a moderate speed. Practically everyone on board the train heard the regular whistle for the crossing, the three short blasts by way of repeated warning and the final and long shriek known among travelers as the "death shriek." Several passengers also claim to have seen the Ford car approaching from the west and apparently racing for the crossing. Others claim that the car was proceeding at a leisurely pace more in keeping with the slippery roads.

Engineer Milligan of Crookston stated that he gave the regular whistle for the Delorme crossing and repeated the warning upon being told by the fireman, the car approaching the track from the left side, that an approaching car had not slowed up. When collision seemed inevitable the long blast was given, to be directly followed by the crash.

Auto Thrown 25 Feet.

The automobile was being driven at a rate of from 15 to 25 miles per hour, according to Fireman Beede, and it was impossible to determine whether or not effort was being made to stop the car or to cross the track ahead of the train. The train was traveling due north and the automobile was coming straight from the west on a road that afforded a clear view of the track for a distance of over a mile. The top was up and the side curtains were on.

The fireman continues, "It is impossible to state whether the signals had been heard or whether the train was noticed. The front wheels of the car and the left hand side of the pilot came together and the car was thrown some twenty-five feet to the side of the track. The train came to a standstill within a very short distance."

Injured, Walks Without Assistance.

Passengers found W. Riel and Peter Bolstad dead, the elder Gjesdahl unconscious and Carl Gjesdahl sitting up in a dazed condition. The younger man was able to walk to the train with assistance. The Ford was an indistinguishable mass of wreckage. After a very slight delay the train proceeded to Red Lake Falls, Andrew Gjesdahl dying shortly after reaching there. The three bodies were left at Red Lake Falls and [illegible] time made into Thief River Falls where the fourth man was rushed to the Physicians' hospital in an unconscious condition.

Fred Gjesdahl, brother of the youth who died here, stated that the party of four left Crookston Friday morning bound for Oklee, the home of Riel; that the side curtains were on; and that as far as he knew, his father was at the wheel.

RED RIVER VALLEY GRAIN SHOW IN FEB.

Award Allotment For Farm Crop Exhibits at Crookston Show Doubled.

Interest in the farm crops exhibits at the Red River Valley winter shows to be held in Crookston in February will be given considerable emphasis this coming year through the direct connection being affected between the valley shows and the state shows held by the Minnesota Crop Improvement association.

The latter association last year donated $250 to the valley show to be used for premium awards. The secretary of the Red River Valley association has been advised that $500 will be alloted to the valley show this year for grain and potato awards. In consideration of this, the Development association plans to try and send all first, second and third prize winning exhibits at the valley show to the Minnesota Crop Improvement association's show, there to be entered in the competition.

As the requirements for exhibition at the Red River valley shows call for only two quart samples whereas the state show exhibits must consist of peck samples, it will be necessary for the owners of prize winning exhibits to have six additional quarts of the same kind of grain that can be added to the two winning quarts at the Winter Shows.

As grain and potato exhibits from the Red River valley have before carried off a number of the high honors at the Crop Improvement association exhibits, it is urged that growers give particular attention to their exhibit now so that enough grain of the same kind as is exhibited at the Winter Shows here will be saved to make up an exhibit for the state show.

WHEAT GROWERS TO MEET HERE DEC. 4

Farmers of County to Perfect Organization For Regulating Markets and Prices.

C. L. Hughes of Oklahoma, representing the United Wheat Growers association, conducted a meeting in the gymnasium at the city auditorium on Friday, about 15 or 20 prominent farmers of the community being present. T. K. Rynestad, a prominent farmer of this community, was elected secretary of the proposed county organization and a mass meeting of all wheat growers in Pennington county has been called for Friday, December 4.

The meeting will be in the gymnasium in the basement of the auditorium and will be called to order promptly at 1:00 p. m. for the purpose of perfecting a county organization which will be affiliated with the national organization of wheat growers. Officers will be elected and such business transacted as is necessary to perfecting the local association.

The primary object of the Wheat Growers association is to regulate the marketing and price of wheat. It is the plan of the officials of the national organization to handle the marketing of the farmers' wheat direct from the farmers' owned and controlled storage and to establish a national sales agency, which will have men selected by the local in every shipping point, to receive the grain for storage or for sale. Growers will pool their wheat whether stored on the farm or in the local elevators. The association will charge all growers who pool their wheat a small commission for handling and selling. A. C. Bailey, state organizer of Kansas writes: "This system will give the wheat producer the full value of his wheat, less the actual expense of shipping and handling and will give the profits that the grain dealers now are making to the farmer."

Native Missionary Speaks Here to Large Audience

Approximately 650 people listened to inspirational lectures by Rev. Eugene A. Rateaver, native missionary of Madagascar, at morning and afternoon meetings at Trinity Lutheran church on Sunday. Offerings and proceeds of the noonday lunch served by the ladies of the church amounted to $240, which amount will go to foreign missions. Rev. Rateaver was born a heathen and grew up under heathen influences, to be later adopted by an American missionary and sent to Minnesota to complete his education. It is apparent that a profound impression was created by his discussion of the missionary question from this different point of view.

NORWEGIAN TENOR HERE DECEMBER 9

Carsten Woll, Famous Tenor, Well Known Here; On Tour of Northwest.

Carsten Woll, famous Norwegian tenor and Esther Erhart Woll, pianist, will appear here in concert at Trinity Lutheran church on Thursday evening, Dec. 9th, under the auspices of the Young Peoples' League of that church. Mr. Woll's work is familiar throut Minnesota because of his great number of records made for the Columbia, Victor and the Edison. Many residents of Thief River Falls and vicinity are proud possessors of these records. Press comments on his work are very favorable. His vocal instruction was at the hands of many of the greater artists of Europe and America. He has appeared as soloist at numerous festivals and concerts all over the Northwest as well as in Chicago and New York. Mr. Woll, recognized as the greatest singer of Norwegian songs in America, attended the Millennial Celebration of Normandy, France, in 1911 as soloist. His program here will include both English and Norwegian numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. Woll appear here in a concert tour of the Northwest while on a sabbatical vacation of one year from St. Olaf's college, where Mr. Woll is professor of voice and Mrs. Woll teacher of piano.

ONE THIRD OF 1920 TAX LEVY PAID BY CITY

Interesting Facts Result From Comparison of Assessed Valuations For County.

Real Estate Valuations Take Remarkable Jump; Moneys and Credits Double.

State and County Tax Rates Show Decrease; City Pays 89.2 Mills.

Based upon the assessed valuations for 1920 the city of Thief River Falls pays one-third of the state and county taxes of Pennington county. The wealth of the county as assessed for 1920, which is a very conservative valuation, totals $7,173,087; while the wealth of the city totals $2,397,696, lacking a few thousand dollars of being one third of the former total.

The total assessed wealth of the county in 1919 was $5,638,295 and that of the city, $1,764,951. Thus a gain of approximately one and one-half million dollars valuation in the entire county and a gain of approximately half a million valuation for Thief River Falls.

Gain of Fifty Per Cent.

Real estate valuations for county and city have taken a remarkable jump. The present assessed valuation of Thief River Falls real estate is $1,276,194 as against the $1,080,566 of 1919. The present valuation of county real estate is $5,103,119 as against a 1919 valuation of $4,119,154. City personal property at a valuation of $461,163 shows an increase of $111,205 over the valuation of last year. County personal property at $1,057,706 shows an increase of $116,306.

The most remarkable feature brought out in a comparison of assessed valuations for 1920 is the abnormal increase in the "Moneys and Credits" wealth of Pennington county and Thief River Falls. A gain of approximately 50 per cent is shown in both instances. Moneys and credits as assessed for 1920 give the city a total of $660,316; the valuation for 1919 was $334,427. County moneys and credits jumped from $577,731 in 1919 to $1,012,262 this year.

Rates are Lower.

All of the above figures are taken from the tax records of T. P. Anderson, Pennington county auditor. The 1920 tax levy, payable in 1921, has been completed and the tax rates compiled. The state tax rate for taxes payable in 1921 is 5.42 mills, as against the 8.1 mill tax payable in 1920. The county rate at 11.58 mills also shows a decrease of 1.92 mills. With a city tax of 31.6 mills and a school tax of 40.6 mills, Thief River

1920 XMAS SEAL SALE UNDER WAY

Sale Chairmen Have Expectations of Reaching $1200 Quota For This County.

The Christmas Seal sale in Thief River Falls and Pennington county opened yesterday and those in charge have every expectation of reaching the $1200 quota before the first of the year. J. J. McCann, county chairman, will supervise the sale throughout the county, with Mrs. J. J. Richter in charge of this city. Seven hundred and twenty dollars was raised in the drive of last year through the hearty co-operation of citizens throughout the county and hundreds of school children.

A fund of $250,000, which has been determined as the least amount that will successfully finance Minnesota's fight against tuberculosis and other disease scourages next year, is the goal of the Christmas Seal sale which started the first of this month. To raise this amount will require the concerted effort of everyone. Quotas for every section of the state have been raised over those of last year.

The sale plan for the city includes an eight day campaign among the merchants and professional men, in which Mrs. Richter will be assisted by a large staff of workers. The sale is scheduled to close on December 8, after which seals will be placed in the hands of school children who will make every effort to place a goodly number in every home.

Mr. McCann has arranged to have an active worker in each town or village in the county take charge of the sale for that locality. Mrs. E. H. Dahl has been requested to take charge at Goodridge; Mrs. Wm. Korstad at Highlanding; Rev. A. K. Lockren in Sanders township and Miss Mabel Patterson at St. Hilaire. These chairmen will also place the seals in the hands of school children after December 8. Five hundred seals have been sent to each rural school teacher of the county and there is every possibility that all will be sold and more requested.

The greater amount of the proceeds of the seal sale remains in the county treasury for the purpose of financing clinics and other health work; the balance going to maintain the state organization and finance the sanitoriums of the state. The amount retained for county use is directly proportional to the amount resulting from the sales. The greater the amount received the larger the percentage for local use.

The activities of the county public health organization for the past year have included numerous baby and dental clinics of an educational nature. It is planned to add nutritional clinics in the near future. The extent of the work was made possible by the exceptional response to the Xmas seal sale of a year ago.

Alumni Reunion.

Plans are now being made by the officers of the Alumni association for a big annual reunion of the Thief River Falls Alumni to be given at the Auditorium some time during the Xmas holidays.

COUNTY ASSURED SERVICES OF NURSE

Upwards of $500 Assured For Red Cross Enrollment Drive; Complete Returns Not In.

Reports on the American Red Cross enrollment drive are still coming in from out-lying districts of the county but present indications are that the total paid up membership will carry the amount to upwards of $500. $425 has been received by the county chairman to date. St. Hilaire will conduct a campaign during the coming week and good results are expected.

Pennington county is assured of the services of a county nurse for the coming year. Application for a nurse has been in at Division headquarters for months but nurses cannot be secured to fill the many vacancies on short notice. Dr. Milan, house physician at the county sanitorium and W. A. Barnard, general superintendent of the Soo Winnipeg division, have been appointed to a committee of four who will supervise Red Cross health activities thruout the county during the coming year. Two other members are yet to be appointed.

Reports received from Northern Division Headquarters of the American Red Cross indicate that the membership enrollment will be as large in Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota during the fourth annual roll call as in previous years. Kittson county was the first in Minnesota to go over the top.

PROPOSE SIGNS FOR TRAFFIC CONTROL

City Council Conducts Survey of Streets Prepatatory to Providing Markers.

When the paving of the streets of Thief River Falls is completed next summer, the city will have a complete set of street markers, and traffic regulating signs, if present plans of the council mature. The street committee of the council has been directed to make a complete survey of the city for the purpose of determining just what signs are needed. "Keep to the Right" markers, either of stationary or movable type, have been recommended for street intersections in the down-town district. Streets and avenues are to be distinctly marked where such markings do not now exist and there is a possibility that those markers now used may be replaced by others of a more modern type. Low speed zones about the schools and other public buildings will undoubtedly be established and prominent metal signs used to caution the speeding motorist to "Drive Slowly." Warning signs at dangerous curves or roadways within the city limits are also under consideration.

In bringing the matter of suitable markings for thoroughfares up before the city council, attention was called to a fatal accident which recently occurred in Crookston. A car driven at great speed by a Red Lake Falls woman ran down and hurled to the curb a 12-year-old child who was on her way to school. The girl was instantly killed. Such an accident would possibly have been avoided had suitable signs warned the motorist that a public school was being approached.

CLAIM DAMAGES OF $1300 FOR INJURY

Trips Over Debris Left on Sidewalk by Contractors, Injuring Knee.

A claim for $1,300 damages against Coolsaet Brothers & Drees of Marshall, has been drawn up by Charles Alexander in behalf of his 14-year-old daughter, Edna, and submitted to the city council. It is claimed that Edna Alexander in passing along First street between LaBree and Horace avenues on October 16, sustained a serious injury to one knee when she tripped over debris left upon the sidewalk by the excavating machinery of the above named contractors, then operating in that vicinity on the construction of storm sewers.

It is not known whether or not the claim will be filed in accordance with the law and suit brought against Coolsaet Bros. & Drees. Though suffering a cut below the right knee which necessitated medical attention, the young lady has been about for weeks and is regularly attending school. Mr. Coolsaet, representing the firm of which he is a member, settled all doctor bills and offered to make other settlement in keeping with the injury several weeks ago, at which time the claimant had not considered the same necessary.

COUNTY FARM BUREAU WILL START DRIVE

Assured Assistance of State Men; J. H. Hay to Speak at Many Points in County.

Bureau Now Made Up of 225 Members; 1150 Residents Receiving Assistance.

Summary of Activities For Past Year Shows Exceptional Progress of County.

J. J. McCann, Pennington county agent, has been notified by J. S. Jones of the University Farm, who is in charge of the Farm Bureau movement throughout the state, that in all probability the Pennington County Fam bureau will be able to secure the assistance of state organizers for the coming week. M. L. Werner of Warren will act as captain of the membership squad, members of which will interview every farmer in the county. Six men will be sent here by the state department; the force will be augmented by the services of Stewart McLeod and Paul Engelstad.

J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture for Minnesota, will arrive in Thief River Falls on Saturday and will speak before meetings in many communities throughout the county. His first talk will be at Goodridge on Monday evening.

Working Plan of County Bureau.

The Farm Bureau movement is sponsored partly by the Federal government and partly by the state, working with county organizations.

A representative membership of two hundred and twenty-five citizens, three executive officers, eight directors and fifteen committee men make up the present Farm bureau organization of Pennington county. The officers and directors formulate the program that they wish to carry out in the county for the year and the committee men give assistance and advise to the Farm bureau director in the activities that they have to deal with in their respective communities.

The above number of members does not indicate only those who make use of the bureau, as eleven hundred and forty different residents of the county

Elsie Baker and Company Delight Large Audience

The Elsie Baker Trio appeared at the city auditorium last evening in a concert of exceptional merit. Attendance was large and great enthusiasm displayed at every number and repeated encores.

Miss Carley, who accompanied all numbers on the program in addition to playing several piano scolos, displayed a pleasing ease and grace that delighted everyone. Her rendition of the Sextette from Lucia with one hand rivals that of the most accomplished artists of the country.

Mr. Alfred Fasaus, cellist, masters his instrument with great technique and possesses the ability to cause it to sing or talk at will.

Miss Baker's pleasing personality coupled with her marvelous contralto voice drew many prolonged encores. Her annunciation is perfect. Her rich tones, especially those in the lower register, suggest the exquisite strains drawn from the finest of stringed instruments by a master hand.

The trio appeared here under the auspices of the Women's club as a number in the winter's Lyceum course. That organization is again to be congratulated.

MUNICIPAL COURT CASE CONTINUED

Parents Brought to Court Thru Non-attendance of School By Children.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Westphal and Mike Herron of Wylie, were summoned to appear before Municipal Judge Tarrant at the county court rooms Friday on a warrant signed by County Superintendent of Schools George M. Gunderson, to give cause for the non-attendance at the Wylie school, District Number 1, of their children.

The defendants pleaded many excuses, among which were: the existence of contagious disease [illegible] the Wylie school, an over-crowded school room, and that the children had physical defects which necessitated their irregular attendance. The first item was disproved by the fact that the school, being a joint institution of Red Lake Falls and Pennington counties, is under the supervision of the Red Lake county nurse, who made an inspection trip less than one month ago. The school room has been over-crowded but not to degree to warrant non-attendance. It is known that defects which would keep the eight children away from school do not exist and when a health clinic was suggested for them, the excuse was in a measure withdrawn.

Judge Tarrant continued the case over a period of 20 school days, pending compliance with the school attendance laws of the state by the defendants.

This is a case of non-attendance which has existed over two school terms. The families live within the two mile compulsory education limit otherwise the warrant could not have been served by Sheriff LaBree. Out of the 180 school days of last year, the Westphal and Herron children attended a very small percentage. Violet Westphal, 12 years of age, attended 106 days out of the 180, while Clarence Herron, aged 13, attended but 45 days. Notices have repeatedly been mailed to these families by Superintendent Gunderson, upon receipt of which the children would be sent to school for two days, this, in the opinion of the parents, sufficing to comply with the law. The children would then remain absent for a week or so until the school teacher could notify the county superintendent and he in turn issue another notice.

It is the opinion of Superintendent Gunderson that the matter of non-attendance of children within the school age has been coming to a head for some time, and that parents must realize that they not only are not complying with the laws in this respect but are doing their children a great injustice which can not be remedied as the years go by. Mr. Gunderson also states that the practice of allowing children to engage in some remunerative occupation rather than seeing that they go to school, is more prevalent in the city of Thief River Falls and the villages of the county than in the outlying rural districts.

WILL DEBATE FOR STATE LEADERSHIP

City High School Squad in Debate With Roseau on Topic of National Interest.

The debating squad of the Thief River Falls high school will meet the squad of the Roseau high school in this city on December 17 in the first debate of a series which will determine the state championship. Subject: "Resolved—That the Open Shop Is Preferable to the Closed Shop in our Industries." As a result of a try-out or preliminary debate between members of the local high school on November 23, Vernon Copp, Esther Soards, Edward Fiterman, Herbert Johnson and Lester Coyle will represent the schools of Thief River Falls in the state wide controversies. Three of this squad will enter into debate with the Roseau team on the aforementioned question.

Debating squads have been organized in all the leading towns and cities of the state. Competition will be conducted between the squads of congressional districts; the victorious squad to compete with the victorious of other congressional districts until the state championship is determined. Mahnomen, Ada, Crookston, Fertile, Roseau, Hallock, East Grand Forks, Breckenridge, Moorhead, Pelican Rapids, Fergus Falls and Red Lake Falls are the twelve cities representing the Ninth Congressional District, with whom the debating squad from the Thief River Falls high school will compete for honors.

L. N. Pierce, principal of the high school, will have charge of the local squad. Debating has been placed on a par with athletics and the enthusiasm shown is as great as that displayed over the football, basketball or baseball work. Each appointment to the debating squad on November 23 met with a storm of applause and class yells. As in the case of athletics, the high school monogram will be awarded to each member of the student body who shall qualify for the debating teams.

NARROWLY ESCAPES INJURY OR DEATH

Derby Anderson Gazes Into Muzzle of Gun Held By Deranged Canadian Soldier.

Derby Anderson, son of N. J. Anderson, escaped possible severe injury or death at the St. Barnabas hospital in Minneapolis on Monday, when he slammed the door shut in the face of Blaikie, a former Canadian soldier who is being treated there for a nervous disorder. Anderson, whose suspicions had been aroused by the queer actions of Blaikie, stepped to the door of his room to find himself looking down the muzzle of a 32 caliber automatic revolver.

Anderson, well known young man of this city, is undergoing treatment at the hands of the federal health service in Minneapolis for disorders resulting from military service during the period of the war. Blaikie is believed to be temporarily deranged from shell shock. Anderson was sitting up in bed when the Canadian soldier entered the room with leveled gun. Anderson thought that he was joking. Blaikie then left the room without saying a word and when Anderson stepped to the closed door he found Blaikie before him. Blaikie then went into his own room and Anderson called for assistance. Melvin Passolt, city detective, was shot when police were called to check the reign of terror started at the hospital by Blaikie.

When Passolt reached the hospital ward, Blaikie was lying in his bed, the gun in his hand. The detective walked over to him and reached for the gun. Blaikie suddenly lifted the weapon and fired, the bullet grazing the detective's cheek. Another inch in the wrong direction and Passolt would have been killed.

AUXILIARY TO LOCAL POST OF LEGION FORMED

Officers Elected and Charter Applied For; One Hundred Per Cent Americanism Aim.

Sisters, Daughters, Wives and Mothers of Deceased Ex-Service Men Eligible.

Women's Organization Plans Extensive Campaign to Further Interest of Local Post.

Organization of a Woman's Auxiliary to the Elmer J. Eklund Post No. 117 of the American Legion, was completed at a meeting held at the Commercial club rooms on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 27. Officers were elected; committees were appointed; and a charter applied for. Everything has been done which will put the woman's organization on a co-operative and working basis within a very short time.

Officers Are Elected.

L. H. Lawrence, representing the local post of the Legion, called the meeting to order as temporary chairman. The required number of persons eligible to auxiliary membership being present, officers were immediately elected. Mrs. Albert Johnson was unanimously elected president; Mrs. T. P. Anderson, vice president; Mrs. James Sether, secretary and Mrs. S. M. Poston, treasurer. Mrs. C. E. Crown, Mrs. J. M. Bishop and Mrs. D. W. Robertson were elected to the executive committee.

A constitution and by-laws as submitted for the use of auxiliary units by the state executive committee of the state department of the American Legion were read and adopted. Annual dues were set at $1, 25c of which goes to the state auxiliary. The first and third Wednesdays of each month were designated as temporary meeting dates. A second meeting was held yesterday afternoon in accordance with this designation, but a very small attendance resulted because of insufficient time having elapsed between meetings to acquaint the public with the plan and purpose of a woman's auxiliary.

A committee will be appointed on membership and every sister, daughter, wife or mother of American Legion members will be called upon in the near future with the object of securing a large membership. It is hoped that the attendance at the next regular meeting on December 15, which will be held in the Commercial club rooms at 2:30 p. m., will be well attended, as extensive plans call for immediate and concerted action.

An extract from the constitution as adopted for the Woman's Auxiliary by the state department of the American Legion and by auxiliary units throut the state, makes clear just who are eligible to membership in the organization:

"The mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of the members of the American Legion, and the mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of all men and women who were in the military or naval service of the United States at some time between April 6, 1917 and November 11, 1918 and died in line of duty, or after honorable discharge and prior to November 11, 1920, shall be eligible to membership in this Auxiliary."

It is not necessary that an ex-service man be a member of the local post of the legion in order that a mother, wife, daughter or sister may be eligible.

Is Non-Political Organization.

Woman's Auxiliaries to legion posts are rapidly being formed in every town and city of the state and the United States. Their purpose is to further the interests of the American Legion and all ex-service men; to promote one hundred per cent Americanism and to promote universal peace and good will; to commemorate the deeds of those who took part in the world war; to make easier the lot of those wounded in action or otherwise; and to erect memorials to those who gave their lives for the cause of humanity. The Woman's Auxiliary will be strictly non-political and non-sectarian. An auxiliary can properly be termed a branch of a unit of the American Legion.

Proposed plans of the local Auxiliary just formed, call for most hearty co-operation with the local post of the Legion. A committee has been appointed to work with a committee from the Post for the purpose of furthering social activities. The Auxiliary will lend co-operation in anything the Post may undertake; and it is the opinion of many concerned that great good will come thru the formation of this new organization. One of the first objects towards which the Auxiliary will direct its attention will be club rooms suitable to the purposes and activities of both the Legion and Auxiliary.

GUARD THE PRIMARY SYSTEM.

A great deal is being said just now relative to changing the primary law. Some are in fact advocating a return to the old convention system of nominations. The primary is a great power in the hands of the people and the members of the legislature will do well to weigh carefully any legislation that proposes to transfer this power from the voters into the hands of a chosen few. The Duluth Herald has the following to say regarding the primary:

Judge Hughes' remark in a speech the other day that it would be folly to take away the primary election system and restore the old convention system is a reminder that Minnesota must be on its guard once more against the scheme to do that very thing in this state.

It may seem incredible in view of the vivid demonstration America had this last summer of the way politicians in convention impudently ignore the public will, but plans to kill Minnesota's primary and restore the debased and discredited convention are well under way, and will be in evidence as soon as the legislature convenes.

The ostensible reason this time, as it was two years ago, is to protect the Republican party against the Nonpartisan league.

As to that, the Republicans seem able, with Democratic help when they need it, to prevent the Townley people from capturing their ticket under the present primary system.

And since the only thing that makes Townleyism dangerous is its popularity, which didn't turn out to be as great as most people had thought, it is impossible to guard election processes by artificial means against such influences without at the same time putting election processes in such "close corporation" control that ANY popular movement, however needed, could be balked.

And as to preventing the victory of undesirable candidates and causes, there are only two alternatives: First, to depend upon public enlightment and common sense, which has worked very well in this state so far; or, second, to shape the election laws so a committee of "our best citizens"—meaning, of course, those with the largest property interests—will act as a board of censors to exclude all candidates and causes that are not pleasing to them.

Minnesota's primary law needs a few changes, but they should be made by the friends of the primary system, not by its enemies. The legislative error that omitted the old law forbidding candidates beaten at the primaries to run independent should be corrected. The nine o'clock closing of the polls is too late, and the old hour of seven should be restored for both primary and general elections.

Otherwise, not much change is needed. Perhaps the Republican wish to keep voters in their own party primaries might be met; and yet in two successive elections the fact that Democrats could vote Republican primary ballots was all that saved the Republican party from falling into Townley's control. And too rigid party requirements would deny a voice in nominations to that increasing horde of voters who don't care enough about either party to tie themselves up in one or the other.

But whatever is done, the principle of the direct popular primary election should be protected and preserved. The rank and file should no more be denied a voice in making nominations than they should be denied a voice in electing public officials.

CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

Leading dailies which chronicled the death of the three men and fatal injury of a fourth at a crossing on the Great Northern tracks near Delorme station last Friday, also contained accounts of two other automobile-train crashes. The total casualty list for the three accidents was six killed and five seriously injured.

Appalling.

Deaths due to just such causes have been numerous during the past summer and fall, a newspaper rarely going to press without adding new names to the death toll taken at railway crossings. Nine out of ten of the fatal accidents resulted from a swiftly moving train striking an automobile loaded with passengers. Estates of the deceased in many cases have taken up the issue with the railroads in an effort to secure damages and many injured persons have attempted the same. In many cases the deceased or injured have been found guilty of contributory negligence which resulted in the death or injury. Too often the roadway parallels the railway tracks and the desire to race a swiftly moving train moving in the same direction proves strong enough to lead the driver of a car into taking chances. The average of grade or railway crossings which are really perilous when properly approached, is small.

But can the death toll go on? Highway officials realize that measures to insure life at these crossings must be taken; as do ro l.lrollimo of the country. Curves and grades in road or right of way construction cannot always be avoided and curves and grades make for dangerous crossings when no discretion is used by motorists in approaching them. Sooner or later electric warnings, with red moving lights for use after darkness, or closed and substantial gates must acquaint the driver of a car with the fact that a train is approaching. European countries long ago adopted this protection for their railway and highway traffic. The next few years must see a radical change in this respect until the ideal method, that of passing traffic under railroad tracks or above them by means of viaducts, is reached.

There's the South Hibbing postmaster who "talks the Chippewa language like a native." Most of us think of the profane language in connection with the postal service.

The child who asked for "accordian" shoe polish at one of the city stores wasn't so far off after all—they are made of the same stuff these days.

The house of Hohenzollerns is being punished—they are obliged to live on an annual income of $425,000 each.

"Slight Change in Fashions Revealed at Show by Live Models"—also a generous display of nether limb.

Headline: "Big Milk Drop Seen." Saw one the other day but it wasn't a very big one—only a quart.

It is claimed that prohibition puts an end to treating friends—an easy death.

A PLEA IN FAVOR OF RURAL CHILD

Many Children in Outlying Districts of County Have Never Seen Moving Pictures.

The following statement issued by G. M. Gunderson, county superintendent of schools, with respect to the showing of the educational moving picture films in the rural schools by Professor D. A. Leonard, manager of the Community Picture Service, is self-explanatory:

"Reports have come in from some rural school communities that several of the parents are opposed to the showing of moving pictures in the rural schools.

"Now the main opposition seems to be based on the fact that the churches of Thief River Falls carried on a campaign against the showing of films in the city. This, I believe is misunderstood, as by conferring with some of the pastors of the Thief River Falls churches, I am informed that the campaign was carried on against the showing of films on Sunday only, as this reduced the church attendance.

"Prof. D. A. Leonard, the manager of the Community Picture Service, has been a missionary, or carried on mission work. He has also, on several occasions filled pulpits in different churches. Therefore, this is sufficient proof that the pictures shown are not of an immoral character.

"Some time ago he held one of his entertainments in the Swedish Lutheran church in this city. After conferring with Rev. Larson, pastor of said church, and finding he has only words of praise for Prof. Leonard and his pictures, I feel that Mr. Leonard and The Community Picture Service can be recommended to schools, teachers, pupils and parents of this county.

"Mr. Leonard showed films to the teachers attending the Northwestern Educational Association at Warren. He gave a lecture on Visual Education at the Minnesota Educational associations' convention at St. Paul. As near as I can ascertain he gave entire satisfaction.

"The films he will show thruout Pennington county are in the interest of health and child welfare movements of the county. The teachers and parents are concerned about the health and welfare of the school child and in no other way can this be better brot home than thru these pictures.

"Prof. Leonard is doing this work, not so much for profit as the good it may do our schools, as will be noted by the price of admission charged that of 25c for adults and 15c for children. He is giving these entertainments with the approval of several of this state's most noted and able instructors. Several schools are placing the projectors or moving picture machines in their schools, to better their system of instruction. The Thief River Falls schools have already one of these machines and are contemplating the purchase of a second one.

"The teachers of the rural schools and myself are arranging for these entertainments. We have the best of terms: 50 per cent of the proceeds to cover the expenses of Prof. Leonard, 25 per cent for the Teachers' League, and 25 per cent to the local place where the entertainment is held, to cover rental of building, etc. If our series of entertainments prove a success Prof. Leonard is willing to apply all of the proceeds towards the purchase price of the machine for the future use of our rural schools. His expenses, of course, must be paid out of the proceeds.

"In visiting the several schools thruout the county and thru questioning, several of the pupils of our rural schools tell me they have never had an opportunity of witnessing a moving picture program. What a delight these pictures will be to these pupils. They will leave an impression upon their minds that they will never forget. Why do we not give these boys and girls a part of the pleasure that city boys and girls are enjoying continually? These rural boys and girls are just as bright, just as studious, and in most cases make as great a success in this world as our city boys and girls. Let teachers and parents and the rural population in general join hands in giving them this one pleasure by taking them to these entertainments and by attending themselves. Then another mission will have been performed by Prof. Leonard; a mission for health and happiness of our rural school boys and girls."

Seims-Kafka.

The marriage of Walter Seims, a former local young man who was graduated from the local high school with the class of 1916 will be of particular interest to many people of this city. The following item was taken from the Baudette Region:

"Walter Seims, who left Baudette early in the week, telling his friends that he was going to Duluth, treated them to a surprise Wednesday when the announcement of his marriage to Miss Stella Kafka was made. The happy event occurred at Roseau, Rev. C. W. Annestad performing the ceremony. The young couple went to Grand Forks on the afternoon train. They are both well known in Baudette. Mr. Seims has been employed by Wm. Rulien for the past two years, and the bride and her twin sister were also residents of Baudette for some time."

The newlyweds visited for a day in this city and left Tuesday evening for Fargo where they will spend a few days after which they will go to Minneapolis where they contemplate residing. AS PRICES SLIP BACK TO NORMAL.

There is a changed look on the faces of our store friends, these days—brighter, happier, more enthusiastic, when they see the goods we show and when they learn the new prices.

It seems like years that we had to face the startled look and then the patient expression of tired endurance as prices were quoted on all kinds of goods. We had the same experience every time we went to market. Every price seemed forbidding, and often impossible; but we had to pay the big prices, or fail to supply you with wanted goods. Those have been hard years on all of us.

But now those hard days are past!

We're fighting the way back to Normal in prices, and shopping, this month, is A GENUINE DELIGHT!

We are delighted to have such splendid goods to show you, and such low prices to quote you.

Back in the past is the painful time of "doing without things"; now the enjoyable time is here to POSSESS THE THINGS WANTED SO LONG, and secure them at PRICES IT IS SO GRATIFYING TO PAY.

In every section of our store THE NEW LOWER PRICES RULE. Many goods have been newly bought on the lower basis—others we have reduced in price at once, because we want to GET BACK TO NORMAL PRICES AT ONCE, and are willing to take the big loss that we knew had to come, and be ready to do profitable business again when these goods are gone.

Also, we realize that every dollar we lose becomes A BIG SAVING FOR OUR FRIENDS, and by taking the loss now, our customers may enjoy a full-season's use of the goods, instead of the half season, if we waited until January.

Only a few of the "Back to Normal" offerings are told about on this page. Our entire store is full of splendid economies on just the things you want.

Colds and Tonsillitis

There is no one but what he suffers from colds. A cold is a source of continual drain of vitality and every time the human organism is subject to it, the vitality and resistance is lowered.

TONSILS are glands of filtration and neutralization. They are constructed to perform certain kinds of work. Secretions are neutralized before being carried on to other parts of the body. The tonsils also eliminate a certain amount of toxic matter. But you say some people live without them. Yes, but some people also live without legs and arms. But that does not prove they are not necessary parts.

Your tonsils befriend you in many instances warding off disease, doing some other organs share part of the time.

If you are subject to colds and tonsilitis, whether you have one at the present time or not, you should see your Chiropractor, and have them restore your spine to normal condition.

Hardware Hits Toboggan.

A large ad on the last page of this issue of The Times calls attention to a great price-slashing sale of hardware at Hall Brothers store. These merchants are close students of market conditions and are the first hardware men in this vicinity to reduce their prices in accordance with the new order of things—prices in particular.

We hereby wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the illness and after the death of our beloved daughter and sister.—Mr. and Mrs. W. HE HAD SUFFERED SINCE CHILDHOOD

James Brodeck Says Tanlac Has Relieved Him of Lifelong Trouble—Feels Fine.

"Tanlac has benefitted me so wonderfully that I feel it my duty to tell other sufferers about this medicine," said James Brodeck, an employee of the Twin City Rapid Transit Company, living at 1021 2nd avenue south, Minneapolis, Minn.

"Ever since I was a boy I had been suffering from a bad case of stomach trouble, and often no matter what I ate it would entirely upset me. Gas formed on my stomach, and cramps came on that would fairly double me up with pain. I had to be continually taking a laxative for constipation, and I had such spells of dizziness that at times everything just seemed to fade away before my eyes. Sleep was almost impossible and I was simply miserable.

"My room-mate, who was in a similar condition, was getting such splendid results from Tanlac that I was induced to try the medicine myself. The first few doses seemed to soothe my stomach, and by the time I finished the first bottle my appetite had picked up so much I was eating like a trooper. I have taken four bottles now and am entirely free from constipation and dizziness. I haven't had a sign of a cramp since I first started on the medicine and I've gained seven pounds in weight. At night I sleep like a top and am feeling just fine. Since Tanlac has fixed me up so thoroughly, I'm sure it'll do the same for others and I only hope they will give it a fair trial."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's drug store, at Oklee by John H. Gassman, and at St. Hilaire by Enoch Sundholm.—adv.

Multiplying Motor Miles

THE number of motor miles traveled by the average American has been increasing steadily for a decade. During 1921 this mileage again will be vastly increased.

It is estimated that 10 million automobiles and trucks will be in operation by the end of 1921. The estimate for 1920 is 7,523,000.

The most intensive use of all kinds of automotive machinery is in the 10 Middle Western states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), and the major problem confronting this company is to keep its patrons supplied with all the gasoline and lubricating oils they require.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is acknowledged to be the largest individual producer of gasoline in the world, and its efficient system of distribution makes it possible for the remotest citizen in the 10 states served to get his requirements of petroleum products with a minimum of effort and expense.

Advanced methods of refining, originated in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) laboratories, have vastly increased the percentage of gasoline recoverable from crude oil.

The Company is striving to increase the yield of gasoline, and every effort is concentrated to the accomplishment of this result without sacrifice of gasoline quality. The efficiency of Red Crown Gasoline is an illustration of what has been accomplished.

The entire petroleum industry is working to multiply the motor miles which shall be available during 1921, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is leading in this effort.

Prospectors are seeking to discover new fields to drill. Producers are insisting on maximum output from wells already drilled.

Waste of oil in transportion is practically eliminated, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) efficiency in refining has vastly increased the average recovery of motor fuel from the crude available.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is co-operating in every way with automobile industry and the American motorist to multiply motor miles in 1921.

Editorial.

What encourages the publishers of the "Progress" more than anything else is the favorable criticism of those who have graduated from this school in former years,—people who can look back to the time when they were students here and compare it to the high school life portrayed in this publication. Letters like the following make us feel that we have really accomplished something. We realize that the "Progress" has its shortcomings, but the fact that an alumnus way out in the western rim of the continent is keeping in touch with her Alma Mater school thru the medium of our paper, makes us feel that we have at least partly succeeded.

The Staff of the "Progress", Thief River Falls High School, etc.
Friends:—

Aren't you proud to be responsible for the first Lincoln Weekly? I'm sure you are, for the "Progress" is quite an achievement and certainly a progression. It must be great to have a course in journalism—it makes the school more citified, I think, and it gives the literary aspirants-to-fame a chance to receive the best criticisms—that of friends.

I write to say that I enjoy reading your page in the Times for I know most of you, in spite of the fact that I was a senior when you present seniors were "frosh" and I'm still sufficiently interested in old Lincoln High to want to hear all about you all.

May the "Progress" grow and prosper.

Take a word of advice from one who knows, ye who are members of the "Prowler" staff—don't leave everything until the last minute or even the last month! It does not pay. Blessed be the name of "Prowler!"

Perhaps you will and perhaps you won't, be interested in glancing thru the paper of a real wild and woolly western college. I think some of the editorials are especially fine. If any of you are curious as to what this often-mentioned "Oregon Spirit" is, come to our U. of O. and see. It's indefinable, but it is wonderful and powerful.

With very best wishes for a successful year in all activities, I am

Sincerely,
FLORENCE FASEL, '18.

Thanksgiving Day.

Miss Jeanette VanRich stood before her mirror. She had just returned from her drive out to the club house. She wore a broad brimmed blue hat to match her dress. Dark brown curly hair peeped out from under the hat. Her eyes were brown and large and her cheeks were rosy. Her dress was blue satin, heavily embroidered. She carried a fur jacket in her right arm. To complete her costume, she wore silk stockings and beautiful sport oxfords.

She had had a busy day. Her maid had awakened her early so that she might attend Thanksgiving services at her church. After services she drove over to Maybelle's for lunch. Then came the drive to the club and now she must get dressed for the dinner at Mrs. VanSwell's.

While Miss Jeanette was enjoying herself in one way, Mary and John Major were spending theirs in another way. Mrs. Major had awakened Mary and John at eight o'clock, a little later than usual. After breakfast the children did their chores—Mary helping with the housework and John doing the outdoor chores. Then their mother told them to run along while she prepared the Thanksgiving dinner. When they returned their dinner was already on the table. The children took their places and grace was said. There was roast chicken with dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, rolls, cranberry jelly and pumpkin pie. This dinner had cost Mrs. Major almost all her hard-earned money. It was a feast for the children and they were so delighted that she soon forgot the cost. After dinner the children went coasting. It was getting dark but Mary wanted one more slide. She jumped on her sled and over the hill it began to glide. She was half-way down when suddenly she hit a rock and the sled turned over. Mary cried out and then lay still. Everybody ran towards her. John managed to get her on the sled and pulled her home. Mrs. Major ran out to meet them wondering what the excitement was. She lifted Mary and taking her in the house, laid her on her bed. A doctor was needed but Mrs. Major had no money.

"Mother," said John, "let me go down town, I'll begin selling papers now. Sometimes the men give me extra money. Perhaps I can earn enough for a doctor. Be patient mother and I shall succeed." With this John left his mother and sister.

"Dr. Black," announced Marie, Jeanette's maid.

"Tell him I'll be down in a moment. He may wait in the library," and with this Miss Jeanette went on with her toilet.

Fifteen minutes later Miss Jeanette entered the library and Dr. Black arose to greet her. He had never seen her look so lovely. Soon they started for Mrs. VanSwell's.

"Just a moment, Miss VanRich. I see John a poor little boy and I'd like to give him a little money. I wish I could do something more for the child. He looks so down-hearted," and he stopped his car.

"What's the matter, John? Here's a dollar. Get something you want," said Dr. Black.

"Oh, Dr. Black! I'll take the money this time. Do you suppose a doctor would charge more to fix my sister's broken leg?" asked John.

"Why son, has your sister a broken leg?" asked the doctor. "I'll come and fix it. Miss VanRich, I'll drive you over to Mrs. VanSwell's and then come back. I hope you won't mind."

"Oh, don't make me go to the party! I'd much rather go with you, please," pleaded Miss Jeanette.

"If you insist you may go. Jump in, John, and show us the way," commanded Dr. Black.

Within five minutes they reached the house. Upon entering John led Dr. Black into the bedroom. There Mary lay on her little bed, a quilt thrown over her. The bedroom was very plain. The wall paper was a light blue and worn. Pictures cut from magazines adorned the walls. A small table with a kerosene lamp stood in the farthest corner. In another corner was an old chair. A rag rug was spread on the painted floor in front of the bed. Dr. Black asked Miss Jeanette to wait in the parlor for him. He then closed the door. On the back of it were nails where Mary hung her dresses.

When Dr. Black left the room John hurried past him to his mother. Miss Jeanette motioned Dr. Black to follow her. They left the house quickly and quietly and the auto sped thru town to Miss Jeanette's home. Here she explained that she had given the child a check for one thousand dollars. "You are a wonder Jeanette," praised Dr. Black.

That evening when Dr. Black left the house his step was lighter and he was in a happy mood. Jeanette had accepted his proposal. It seemed that everybody was happy. Even Mrs. Major fearing the money to be charity, was thankful that her son had in his possession one thousand dollars.

Letter Shows Interest.

"Tuff River Falls, Minn.,
Lincoln High School

Dear Brother Jim:

You know Jim, this high school is some place. This is my first year and I'm called a Freshman, because I'm so hard-boiled, I guess. I always wondered why this school was called the Lincoln high school, so I asked a Sophomore the other day. He said it was called the Lincoln high school because Lincoln used to go to school here and it's called a high school because it is higher than any of the other schools. Then he laughed and that is all he said.

I went to a football game the other day and it's scandalous. I'll tell you how they play it. A whole bunch of fellers gets on both sides and stands on their hands and feet and then some guy starts yelling algebra, or arithmetic or somethin' and one fella throws the ball to some other fella and then everybody tries to kill the guy that's got the ball. Ya' know one guy got his stomach hurt and another got a headache and had to stop fighting. The whole mob would land on top of the poor feller with the ball and some guy would blow a little whistle and run out and pull them off from the guy with the ball. I didn't stay for the whole fight because I couldn't stand it any longer.

We had chapel one day last week and I thought we'd have to pray or somethin' so I skipped, but a Junior told me to be contrary was a superfulous coincidence, whatever that was and it made me scared so I went to chapel today. The basketball manager got up and raved for awhile and then called on the students to speak. They called me to speak and I got up and told 'em what a good class we had and how many cows we had on the farm and you should have heard them clap. I'll say it was some speech. Everybody looked at me while the rest were speaking. Oh, they know a good speaker when they see one.

I got a girl now too, her name is Tillie. She's got red hair and she's cross-eyed but gosh, she's pretty; she likes me too, don't see how she can help it. I'm pretty good-looking ya' know, 'cause a Senior told me so. All the girls like me but I just don't pay any attention to them.

The music teacher tested my voice today; I bet you she's figuring on having me sing. She says I'm a ten or eleven, I forget which. Well she knows a good singer too. Well I gotta quit now and study latin, you otta hear me talk latin; I can talk it better'n anyone in school I bet. It sounds a lot like swearin'. Most of the presidents spoke latin, so I'll bet Im going to be a president some day. Well, so-long Jim.

Yours respectfully,
OLAF JOHNSON.

Masquerade Party.

Yoo-Hoo Skinny, C'mon over and get all dressed up for the big all high school and faculty masquerade that is going to be given at the city auditorium Friday, Dec. 3rd, from 7:30 to 11:00 o'clock.

Everything from funny-faced Yama Yamas to Gentlemen of Colonial Days are anticipated. This, the greatest social event of the season, outside of the Junior-Senior banquet, has been an anticipation for the past few weeks and is at last a realization.

Each and everyone is expected to come masked and after a few numbers of entertainment which will be given by the teachers of the various schools of the city and also by the four classes in high school, all will form into a grand march and be judged as to the funniest and best boy and girl costume, for which worth while prizes will be awarded. Immediately after the grand march everyone will unmask and after a few numbers of dancing, will indulge in a delicious lunch and retire to their respective homes.

Debate Tryout.

The team which is to represent the Thief River Falls high school in the Minnesota Debating League was chosen from the debate forum Tuesday night, Nov. 23rd.

The tryout was held in the high school assembly. Each member gave a five-minute speech on one side of the state question, "Resolved, that the open shop is preferable to the closed shop in our own industrial system." The speeches were judged by Supt. Ziegler, Rev. Barackman and County Attorney Quale. The contestants who were given places on the team are: Vernon Copp, Herbert Johnson, Lester Coyle, Edward Fiterman and Esther Soards. Each school is allowed three regulars and two alternates.

The Thief River Falls high school is a member of the Minnesota Debating League. The state is divided into ten districts, equal to the congressional district. In the Ninth district in which Thief River Falls is located, there are ten debating teams. These teams will meet in elimination contests until one team remains undefeated. This team will then be district champion and will debate the champions of the other nine districts for the state championship.

It was for the purpose of selecting the debaters who are to represent the team in these contests that the tryout was held. We have fine material for a debating team and with proper preparation and support of the student body, the team should continue a long way on the journey of elimination.

Football Banquet.

The local high school pigskin warriors held their annual get-to-gether banquet on Tuesday at six o'clock in the Commercial club rooms.

No one who attended can complain of anything but perhaps a severe attack of over-eating which goes to make us believe that it is the cause for the numerous absences noticed in the auditorium on Wednesday morning.

The tables were nicely arranged and much to our disgust Mr. Bourbon centered the table with a very predominating sign hanging from his neck which read as follows: "Do not handle."

Toastmaster Smithers opened the delicious and elaborate dinner with a few interesting remarks concerning the past season; a toast, a wish of good luck and victory for the next year's team.

Throughout the dinner the District Champs discussed the possibilities of next year and adopted the slogan, "Get Big Bemidji."

After the last course was served, Supt. Ziegler was called on and gave a very interesting and exceptionally good talk on the future possibilities of the young man of today. Mr. Pierce entertained us in his usual good form with a review of the season and mentioned a few of the individual characteristics of our team on the gridiron.

Ex-Captain Barzen was next to be called to the floor and lived up to his already well-established standard as an orator.

Coach Tommeraasen gave out the official list of letter men for the past year as follows: Anderson, Capt. Barzen, Bjornaraa, Doland, Evenson, Fossum, Herron, Halverson, Holmgren, LaDree, McDaniel, Penney, Smithers, Sundahl and Zeh.

A meeting of the letter men was then called for the purpose of selecting a captain for the next year and without any hesitation Charles Herron, our star line-man was crowned king of the pigskin warriors for '21. As customary, Captain-elect Herron was called on for a speech and carried out this act with much care and gave a brief but interesting talk on his desire to make Thief River Falls the next year's state champions.

The well-spent evening was then closed by singing "The End of a Perfect Feed" and three rousing cheers for the success and good luck of our coming '21 team.

Senior Candy Sale.

The Seniors were in distress up to last Wednesday, financially, when it was decided to hold a home-made candy sale. All Seniors were given a choice of buying the candy or the sugar and a large quantity of sugar was brought. A number of girls of the Senior class "went to it" and some fine candy was turned out. Everything was held in readiness when the dismissal bell was sounded. The candy was soon disposed of and a net profit of something over fifteen dollars was realized. The money is to be used in buying photo supplies for the 1921 Prowler.

Supper Served.

On Friday Nov. 23rd, at the Lincoln high school, the Freshmen girls in the two cooking classes, assisted by Miss Johnson, entertained themselves with a supper. It was served in three courses, the first consisting of mashed potatoes, pork roast and brown gravy, Parker House rolls, pickles and jelly. The second course, consisted of apple la salade and crackers; the third of steamed pudding la sauce and cocoa. The cooking girls commenced to prepare their supper immediately after school and it was reported that the supper was well worth the time spent in preparation.

The dining room was artistically decorated in yellow and black and three tables were set for the supper. After supper was served the remainder of the evening was spent in conversation and story-telling in which the guests, Misses Poppitz and Brown, contributed their share in the entertainment.
